Chapter 245 Pulling the Red Thread_1

"Young Master Qin, why did you bring back such a busted car?"

Ning Weiqiang indeed did not disappoint Qin Fang, and soon sent over the Porsche that was essentially totaled. Qin Fang naturally sent it directly back to the Sawmill Factory.

Lei Zi and Shen Liang expressed considerable curiosity, even though they could tell that the car was an expensive Porsche.

"Don't even mention it, I borrowed the car from a friend and it ended up like this in an accident. The loss is over a million, I can't just throw it away, so I'm planning to bring it back for repairs..."

This was actually the truth for Qin Fang. Ning Weiqiang had already arranged the compensation with his friend, and although not outrageous, it did cost Qin Fang over a million. He also owed Ning Weiqiang a favor.

"Tsk tsk, that's over a million..."

Lei Zi and Shen Liang couldn't help but click their tongues, as they found it unimaginable that this nearly unrecognizable wreck of a car could still be worth over a million.

"Stop fantasizing. If this car hadn't won me over five million, I wouldn't have paid the compensation!"

Qin Fang said with a chuckle, which was also his actual thought, "Whenever it's fixed, I'll just leave it here. Whoever wants to drive it, just take it and go..."

"Then thank you very much, Young Master Qin!"

Lei Zi and Shen Liang looked at each other and immediately broke into joyful smiles.

Although the car was deformed, if it was repaired, even if still shabby, it would be a Porsche. Ordinary people couldn't afford to drive such a thing.

It wasn't that Qin Fang didn't want to keep it for himself to drive; it's just that the car was too conspicuous, and with its small structure, it wasn't Qin's preferred style. It turned out that he preferred the Hummers, Range Rovers, or Grand Cherokees he saw at Longquan Mountain. If he were to buy a car, he'd likely choose one of those styles.

However, the repairs had to be done slowly. The car was driven into the workshop, and Qin Fang, whenever he had some free time, would go fix it up a bit, or perhaps do a little modification, but he wasn't in a rush.

Things need to be handled one at a time, fortunately, the most important matter was entrusted to Chen Jiangnan, leaving Qin Fang quite leisurely. He continued his life at the university, going to class and sometimes visiting the library to read books.

Qin Fang had already devoured the Oxford dictionary, and now he had acquired very fluent English, sadly, other than himself, no one else knew about it.

Considering that he was about to interact with international lithium battery manufacturers, most of which were from Japan, Qin Fang, after mastering English, began to focus on learning Japanese.

As a former subordinate country of Dragon Country, the language of the Island Country didn't have a long history. There are still a lot of Chinese characters in current Japanese, so Qin Fang's learning pace was unexpectedly swift.

English class was the easiest course for Qin Fang. The English teacher Xia Yun was too familiar with Qin Fang; they sometimes even had meals together. With the connection to Fan Ning, Xia Yun turned a blind eye towards Qin Fang.

One day, when Qin Fang had no classes, he went to the library to read as usual. Later, he remembered that he had not taken his phone and went back to the dorm to get it.

The others had gone to their classes, and only Xiao Nan was in the dorm. As soon as Qin Fang entered, he noticed Xiao Nan quickly move his mouse, as if closing something.

"Second Brother, what are you up to?"

Qin Fang wasn't particularly interested, just casually asking while looking for his phone.

"No... nothing!"

Xiao Nan, who was usually quite articulate, unexpectedly stammered for a moment, and Qin Fang was slightly startled, "Come on, Second Brother, you weren't by chance secretly..."

While Qin Fang found his phone and raised his head to see Xiao Nan's unnatural expression, he immediately laughed and teased him.

"Get lost..."

It was only then that Xiao Nan returned to his normal self, promptly throwing his pillow at Qin Fang.

"That's more like you! All that squirminess had me thinking you were up to no good."

Almost out of a prankster's nature, Qin Fang casually cast a Mind Reading Technique on Xiao Nan, and to his surprise, it worked.

"Uh..."

Success this time unexpectedly revealed a fact that surprised Qin Fang; he began looking at Xiao Nan with a very strange gaze, a gaze so unnerving that Xiao Nan's hair stood on end.

"Fourth Brother, can you not look at me with those eyes? I'm not into that stuff..."

Xiao Nan, as usual, could still crack a joke even at a time like this.

"Hmm, I know! I never expected you to be into older women... How about our English teacher? I'll ask her out for you later?"

Qin Fang said with a series of odd laughs, and then dashed out of the dorm before Xiao Nan could throw anything more ferocious his way.

That night, Qin Fang sneaked over to Fan Ning's place under the cover of darkness. The two of them intimately embraced several times, then lay together on the bed and chatted. It was then that Qin Fang shared the secret he had uncovered with Fan Ning.

"Are you serious?"

Fan Ning was slightly taken aback upon hearing this, clearly not quite believing it.

"I swear it's true! Second Brother is just too tight-lipped. If I hadn't stumbled upon it by chance, he probably would still be keeping it from me..." Qin Fang said indignantly.

As it turned out, his mind reading technique had been successful, but he had also discovered some secrets about Xiao Nan—for instance, that Xiao Nan was indeed a hacker, and not just any hacker, but one whose skills ranked within the top several dozen in the country.

It was because of his own habits that, upon entering Ninghai University, he had done a sweep of the campus network. By chance, while searching for vulnerable computers, he accidentally accessed Xia Yun's webcam, and at that moment, she was on the other side, watching adult movies and pleasuring herself...

Xiao Nan had a thing for mature women, with a strong preference for those who were married. This was the reason he, despite his wealth, did not pursue the beauties at school but instead got involved with the rich young lady from Elite Salon.

After that incident, Xiao Nan occasionally used his skills to take a virtual stroll through Xia Yun's room, knowing she was his English teacher, which only intensified his urges...

"How about we set them up? Sister Yun is quite pitiful, living all alone..."

After hearing everything Qin Fang had to say, Fan Ning immediately suggested a plan.

"Aren't you suspicious that Xia Yun might be..."

Qin Fang was somewhat tempted, but then he remembered their suspicion, which made things complicated.

"Actually, with Xiao Nan in the picture, if Xia Yun really is a spy, she might be more likely to slip up..." Fan Ning didn't seem too worried, thinking the plan could be quite effective.

"Xiao Nan has a silver tongue. With those two together, they definitely won't be sneaking around like us. Xia Yun will have less time to focus on me..."

Qin Fang fell silent for a moment and then nodded in agreement. After all, this could be helping a brother fulfill his dream and didn't seem like a bad thing. Besides, Xiao Nan wasn't very strong-willed, and while Qin Fang didn't usually pry into his friends' secrets, he knew he could easily find out if he really wanted to.

If Xia Yun truly had a hidden agenda, she might try to use Xiao Nan's hacking skills and might even leak some information. This could make it easier for Qin Fang to catch her in the act.

Of course, the best scenario would be if Xia Yun had no issues at all, which would put Qin Fang more at ease.

Thus, Xiao Nan and Xia Yun were unsuspectingly calculated against by the couple Qin Fang and Fan Ning.

"Invite me to dinner? When there's no cause for charity, it must be a swindle or theft!"

Xia Yun was somewhat surprised as she looked at Qin Fang and Fan Ning. She was the only one who knew about their secret relationship, and she was aware it should not be made public, but Qin Fang and Fan Ning were so openly inviting her to dinner, which piqued her curiosity.

"Sister Yun, please don't get me wrong. This is just to thank you for taking such good care of Ning Ning all this time. We would like to invite you to dinner to express our gratitude..." Qin Fang said with a cheerful smile, appearing very sincere.

"Well, alright! Where is the place? I'll head over there myself later..." Xia Yun thought about it and then nodded her agreement.

"No need for that, you know my relationship with Ning Ning isn't convenient, so let's go to the city center. I'll drive us there!"

Fan Ning was quite wealthy—judging by how casually she tossed a 100,000 yuan red envelope to Qin Fang. On the other hand, Xia Yun was just an ordinary college teacher, so Qin Fang planned to drive both of them to the city center in Fan Ning's car.

"Like this... Wouldn't I end up being the third wheel?"

Xia Yun hesitated for a moment, then looked at Qin Fang and Fan Ning with a hint of a smile.

"How could that be! We're specifically coming to thank you..." Qin Fang had his story well-prepared, they were just taking her along. But for the return trip later that night, it would have to be Xiao Nan.

"Then, okay, I'll go change..."

In the end, Xia Yun agreed and went back into her room to change clothes.

"I'll go start the car then..."

Qin Fang used starting the car as an excuse to go downstairs and then called Xiao Nan.

It was easier to convince Xia Yun, but Xiao Nan was more stubborn. Right now, Qin Fang had something over Xiao Nan, and even though it would soon be useless, he still managed to leverage it to get Xiao Nan to agree.

Qin Fang drove Fan Ning's Beetle, speeding toward the city center with Fan Ning and Xia Yun. On the way, they saw Xiao Nan driving by in his BMW Z4, but Qin Fang deliberately dodged out of sight to avoid being noticed. This way, it would be more of a surprise.

It wasn't just Qin Fang who saw Xiao Nan; Fan Ning noticed him too. She caught on when Qin Fang suddenly swerved, realizing there had to be a reason, and spotting Xiao Nan's car, she couldn't be mistaken. She then understood Qin Fang's intention and, distracting Xia Yun by chatting with her, managed to prevent Xia Yun from seeing.
