

Genius 30

Chapter 30 Girlfriend_1

...

"I've already seen it..."

Tang Feifei wanted to retort, but seeing Qin Fang look at her with such sincerity, she hesitated with her words. Recalling the years she had known Qin Fang, she didn't think he was that kind of person, otherwise, he would have made a move on her first, not some girl she had never met.

"Alright, go ahead! I just hope you won't disappoint me too much..."

After thinking it over, Tang Feifei still decided to give Qin Fang a chance to explain.

"Come, sit here first. This is a bit complicated, let me tell you slowly..."

Seeing that he had finally persuaded Tang Feifei, a smile appeared on Qin Fang's face. Then he took Tang Feifei's hand and led her to a bench not far from the side of the road. He carefully wiped the somewhat dirty bench with his arm, even going as far as to scrub a spot with his big shorts, just to make sure that the dust wouldn't dirty Tang Feifei's snow-white short skirt.

Tang Feifei watched Qin Fang work silently and thought he was rather silly, but... "Silly and kind of cute!"

"Why bother with all that, just speak up. I'm leaving if there's nothing important..."

However, just thinking about that girl who had spent the night in Qin Fang's room, looking no less beautiful than herself and yet completely without clothes, flames of irritation ignited in Tang Feifei's heart, and Qin Fang's little gestures of affection were immediately overshadowed.

"Alright, I'll talk, I'll talk..."

By that time, Qin Fang had pretty much finished wiping the bench and quickly pressed Tang Feifei down to sit, before he began recounting the events of the previous night, "This whole thing started after we closed up shop and went home... Just like that, Xiao Muxue came back with me! My little place is so small, so..."

"Basically, that's what happened, nothing at all occurred between me and Xiao Muxue..."

Qin Fang laid out everything that had happened the previous night to Tang Feifei. As for the secret of eating baozi to recover blood, he naturally glossed over it, merely mentioning that he had been stabbed with a knife. It wasn't very serious, just a bit of blood loss.

"Really, nothing happened?"

"Really, absolutely nothing! I'm injured, look, the wound is still here..."

Qin Fang wore a bitter smile, and after hesitating for a moment, he lifted the hem of his T-shirt to reveal a scabbing wound on his waist.

"Alright then, I believe you!"

Tang Feifei listened quietly to Qin Fang's story and felt that it must be true. Looking at the wound on Qin Fang's waist, although it was already scabbed, given its length and freshness, she was completely convinced.

"I didn't expect this Xiao Muxue to be quite pitiful too..."

Women are a strange breed of creature, one moment full of hatred, cursing the other person as a Fox Spirit in their hearts, but the next moment finding them extremely pitiable, wishing to embrace them and cherish them like treasures.

"I was thinking last night about discussing with you today; it's definitely not appropriate for Xiao Muxue to stay at my place..."

Qin Fang might not have been completely insensitive; he chimed in at the right moment, instantly making Tang Feifei feel valued and erasing the last bit of dissatisfaction in her heart.

"That's really not appropriate! That Chen Pangzi is so bad; we definitely can't let her go back there. Living there isn't suitable either. How about this? I'll talk to Sister Pan, let Xiao Muxue stay with her, or find another place for her! As for Xiao Muxue coming to work for me... since our stall is short-staffed anyway, why not let her help out and take the opportunity to annoy Chen Pangzi... Hehe, aren't I so wicked?"

Having forgiven Xiao Muxue for her sudden intrusion and learning about her somewhat tragic life, Tang Feifei's sympathy overflowed, solving all of Qin Fang's troubles at once. Especially after saying all this, she seemed to realize that such words should not come from the mouth of a lady like herself, then smiled at Qin Fang adorably and said.

"Not wicked at all, not at all! You're a good person..."

Qin Fang nodded eagerly like a pecking chick, expressing complete satisfaction with Tang Feifei's arrangements.

"Now that we've sorted everything out, can we go back? I haven't even washed my face or brushed my teeth..." Qin Fang finally placated Tang Feifei and said with a suffering expression.

"Oops, if you hadn't mentioned it, I wouldn't have noticed. Wow, that's a big one..." Tang Feifei joked with Qin Fang, then didn't say much more and followed him back.

Perhaps because of the misunderstanding that occurred today, the relationship between the two seemed to have inadvertently become closer. There was no longer the stiffness and caution from before; instead, they became more familiar with each other, to the extent that Tang Feifei didn't pay much attention to the fact that Qin Fang had been holding her hand the whole time.

When they returned home, Qin Fang and Tang Feifei were talking and laughing, and just then they saw Xiao Muxue washing clothes. Perhaps because of the earlier misunderstanding, Xiao Muxue, regardless of the scorching weather, wore a school uniform Qin Fang no longer used and put on a pair of his large boxer shorts, ensuring she would no longer have wardrobe malfunctions, even though such attire still made Qin Fang somewhat embarrassed!

Xiao Muxue was almost done washing the clothes when Qin Fang and Tang Feifei came back. Seeing the two's gestures and expressions, and noticing their gaze on her, Xiao Muxue blushed, looking a bit embarrassed.

The clothes in the basin were Xiao Muxue's personal garments, but there was also one article Qin Fang found very familiar—it seemed to be... his underwear! His face changed color instantly, a mix of embarrassment, a bitter smile, and speechlessness.

"I was just washing clothes and saw that yours were dirty too, so I thought I'd help you wash them..."

Noticing the shift in Qin Fang's eyes, Xiao Muxue spoke somewhat shyly. After all, she had stayed at Qin Fang's place for a night, and he had even saved her. Although repaying him by offering herself was unlikely, helping him to wash some clothes was no big deal.

"Muxue sister, my name is Tang Feifei, Qin Fang's... girlfriend! Thank you for helping Qin Fang with the laundry. He loves to be lazy and always waits for a pile the size of a hill before he does any washing..."

In fact, Tang Feifei's own face exhibited a brief change of expression. However, after seeing Xiao Muxue's look, Tang Feifei rolled her eyes, holding Qin Fang's hand which she now switched to hooking his arm, cheerfully spoke to Xiao Muxue, all the while keeping a watchful eye on her.

"Qin Fang has helped me so much, washing a few clothes for him is nothing!"

Xiao Muxue seemed very indifferent, displaying no change, as if she and Qin Fang were complete strangers.

But Tang Feifei faintly noticed Xiao Muxue's gaze turn briefly vacant the moment she stated she was Qin Fang's girlfriend. Although Xiao Muxue recovered quickly, Tang Feifei was confident she hadn't misread such a subtle detail.

And it was precisely because of this minor change that Tang Feifei's attitude towards Xiao Muxue shifted from sympathy to a bit of wariness, although she was still generally friendly.

Meanwhile, Qin Fang watched the two beautiful girls in their veiled skirmish, dumbstruck, while internally muttering: Since when did Tang Feifei become my girlfriend...

"But this way... Hmm, it's nice!"

It must be said, Qin Fang actually harbored a little anticipation for this.