

Genius 31

Chapter 31 Feifei's Invitation_1

"Sister Muxue, let me wash Qin Fang's clothes..."

It wasn't just this that made Qin Fang feel blessed. Tang Feifei even insisted on washing his clothes, and among these clothes were several pairs of his underwear... If their classmates knew about this, who knows how many would scream, "All the good cabbages are hogged by pigs."

In the eyes of many, Tang Feifei was undoubtedly a fresh and tender cabbage, but Qin Fang knew he was not the pig! Although he was somewhat looking forward to it, he was aware that this was just the first step of a long journey.

"No need, I'm almost done washing. You two go ahead with what you need to do..."

Xiao Muxue smiled softly, blocking the approaching Tang Feifei, and spoke with kindness.

"Okay, then I'll keep you company and chat..."

Tang Feifei was only putting on an act; she really wouldn't enjoy washing Qin Fang's clothes. She immediately squatted beside Xiao Muxue with a grin, and they started chatting. Noticing Qin Fang standing there dumbfounded, Tang Feifei hummed, "Didn't you say you were going to wash your face and brush your teeth? Or do you plan to go out like this?"

Of course, she said this with a contemptuous roll of her eyes.

"I'm going, I'm going..."

Qin Fang acted like a rich young lady's personal attendant, scurrying off to carry out tasks as soon as she commanded.

When Qin Fang returned after washing his face and brushing his teeth, the two beauties who were previously a bit hostile to each other were now as close as sisters, laughing and talking in the small house, and Qin Fang's clothes were already hanging outside to dry.

"Ladies, it's getting late. We should set up our stall..."

Looking at the sky, it was already past eight in the morning. They had spent quite some time on breakfast, indeed they could not delay any longer!

"Set up a stall? What stall... Didn't I tell you we aren't setting up a stall today?"

Tang Feifei asked in surprise, her expression a bit odd. Then, looking at Qin Fang with a puzzled face, she muttered in confusion, "Did I really not mention it?"

"It's all your fault, you made me angry, and I forgot all about the important stuff..."

In the end, Tang Feifei concluded that she might not have mentioned it after all, and couldn't help but roll her eyes at Qin Fang again, laughing and scolding harshly. Qin Fang could only smile helplessly and refrain from commenting.

"Okay, don't be mad! Let's talk serious. I came over early to ask you to accompany me to a gathering..."

Tang Feifei was just saying it casually and didn't take it to heart. She immediately smiled sweetly at Qin Fang.

"A gathering..."

Hearing this word, Qin Fang's expression darkened.

Although he was still young, he had been to a few gatherings and had his share of experiences. It was either showing off girlfriends or flaunting wealth. Now that Tang Feifei brought it up, he felt quite reluctant.

Qin Fang was well aware of his own preferences, he really didn't care much for these boring gatherings.

"Don't get the wrong idea, it's just Li Yao, Fang Min and a few others. Summer vacation is almost over, and soon we'll all go our separate ways. They are going to universities in different places, so they want to have a get-together before parting, to have a barbecue at Bai Yushan..."

Seeing Qin Fang's grimace, Tang Feifei spoke cheerfully, her eyes fixed on Qin Fang as if she was ready to pounce and bite him if he refused.

"I see, alright then..."

The girls Tang Feifei mentioned were all their high school classmates and got along well with her. Qin Fang was now considered Tang Feifei's "boyfriend," so with Xiao Muxue looking on, he nodded and agreed, knowing at least these girls were all nice people.

"Yay, that's great..."

When Qin Fang agreed, Tang Feifei immediately made a "V" with her hands and cheered happily.

In fact, Tang Feifei hadn't mentioned that the girls had asked her to bring a male companion in addition to the barbecue and swimming.

Tang Feifei was pretty and cute, naturally attracting many suitors, but unfortunately, she wasn't too keen on those guys. She was relatively close to Qin Fang, who wasn't the type to make a move on her, so she thought of asking him to accompany her. Moreover, by some strange twist, she had become Qin Fang's "girlfriend" in name, which made it even more justified.

"Then hurry up and change your clothes; we'll leave right away..."

Eager to leave because of a misunderstanding, Tang Feifei was about to drag Qin Fang away, but then she noticed Xiao Muxue next to them, looking embarrassed.

"I'm sorry, Sister Muxue, I forgot about you..."

Xiao Muxue was still wearing Qin Fang's clothes, and if they left, not only would she have nothing to change into, but even eating would be a problem.

"How about I go buy you some new clothes with Qin Fang..." Tang Feifei offered very proactively as she realized Xiao Muxue's embarrassment.

"No need, you guys go have fun. The weather is so hot, the clothes will dry quickly... I'll go buy them myself later!" Xiao Muxue smiled and pointed to the clothes that were drying.

"But still..."

Even though what Xiao Muxue said made sense, Tang Feifei still felt it wasn't right and wanted to argue when Sister Pan, looking sleepy, came out of the house, "Huh, Xiao Qin, Feifei, you're still not out at the stall at this hour..."

Sister Pan had a shop at Nanmen Market, and she usually didn't go very early; she would go for breakfast after Qin Fang and the others set up their stall, but surprisingly, she found Qin Fang and Tang Feifei still at home, not at the stall, which made her wonder, "Sigh, looks like I have to pay for my own breakfast today..."

Qin Fang was unaware of Sister Pan's thoughts but remembered that Tang Feifei, Xiao Muxue, and he himself hadn't eaten breakfast yet, and he was indeed a bit hungry.

"Sister Pan, Feifei and I have something to do today, so we're not setting up the stall... You two must be hungry too, I'll go make a couple of bowls of ramen for you..."

Qin Fang wouldn't forget an opportunity to please the ladies, so he immediately said cheerfully to Tang and Xiao, and then seeing Sister Pan halt, added, "Sister Pan, I'll get you a bowl too, you must be hungry!"

Though they weren't setting up their stall, the real challenge with ramen was the noodle-pulling technique; everything else was pretty straightforward and could be easily done in a home kitchen.

"Just a little more and my Noodle-Pulling Skill will level up to Intermediate..."

Looking at the Proficiency level, Qin Fang muttered to himself, noting that the Beginner Level progress bar was nearly maxed out.