Chapter 51 - Fierce Policewoman Ning Yumo_1

Despite Qin Fang's swift actions, the speed of the car was obviously much faster than him, let alone a car that was speeding.

Before even reaching the scene, Qin Fang already spotted two cars squeezed together, especially the front one, from which two people hurriedly climbed out, not even glancing at the situation inside the rear car before sprinting away.

"Damn, do you have to do that? You are the ones who got hit, not the ones who hit someone, why flee..."

Such a scene naturally didn't escape Qin Fang's eyes, and he couldn't help but criticize in his heart.

The two people's pace was quite good; by the time Qin Fang caught up, they had already fled about two hundred meters away.

"Wow, Porsche versus Santana... This is really awesome!"

Qin Fang had noticed the state of the car from a distance; the front one was a very ordinary Peugeot, looked a bit old, and clearly had been in use for some years.

As for the car that caused the accident, it turned out to be a Porsche sports car, which appeared to be brand new, probably just recently purchased. Qin Fang wasn't exactly sure about the price of the sports car but knew it was definitely a luxury car worth millions.

Millions in value had collided with a car worth just tens of thousands, leading to a tragic outcome; the Peugeot was fine, only the rear had been hit pretty badly, the entire trunk was severely deformed. As for the people, those two had already fled, which clearly meant they weren't seriously injured.

The Porsche wasn't doing much better; the hood was raised high, releasing puffs of smoke, and was also considerably deformed. As for the person inside...

"This million-dollar car is impressive, such a harsh impact, but with airbags protecting them, there seem to be no injuries..." When Qin Fang arrived, he noticed all the car's airbags had deployed, and he could vaguely make out a person protected by the airbags—a girl dressed in a bright, sexy gown. Despite the violent collision, Qin Fang couldn't see any injuries on her.

"Can you still move?"

Qin Fang left his bicycle aside and opened the door of the driver's seat of the sports car, lightly tapping the girl's arm and asking.

"So, you're not dead yet..."

When Qin Fang tapped her, the girl seemed to have become aware and moved her arm slightly, but still seemed unable to move under the protection of the airbags.

"Good, you're not dead... A rich girl who can afford a Porsche shouldn't be worrying about swindling some money from a poor guy like me!" Qin Fang thought to himself and immediately reached out to push away the airbags, trying to rescue the girl.

And honestly, the effect of Qin Fang's recent upgrade, Strength +5, really showed itself in that moment. Whether there was a problem with the design of the Porsche's airbags or some other reason, the girl couldn't move because she was stuck, but with one strong effort, Qin Fang gradually pulled her from the car.

"Huff~~ Huff~~"

As Qin Fang forcefully pulled the girl out, she immediately gasped for air, her pale face slowly regaining color. Qin Fang then noticed the girl was about twenty-three or -four years old and quite beautiful. Even compared to Tang Feifei and Xiao Muxue, she did not fall short, with the addition of a few mature and charming traits.

"Where are they?"

However, once the girl got her breath back, she immediately gathered her skirt with one hand and stepping in her strappy high heels, she went towards the front car. Finding it empty, she came back to Qin Fang's side and asked with a formidable expression.

"Err... they ran away!"

Qin Fang frowned slightly, and his impression of the girl plummeted, his verdict: A beautiful but haughty and arrogant rich girl.

"Huh, you look kind of familiar..."

However, the beauty in the sexy dress frowned at Qin Fang's reaction but then blinked twice and stared at Qin Fang's face, as if recognizing him from somewhere.

"Sorry, I don't know you..."

Unfortunately, although the beauty was stunning, the impression she left on Qin Fang was terrible, and seeing that she wasn't injured, he decided to ignore her and went to the roadside to pick up his bicycle, ready to ride away.

"Oh, I remember now, your name is... Qin Fang, right, Qin Fang! You are Feifei's classmate..."

Just as Qin Fang was about to mount the bike, he heard the beauty's words, almost causing him to fall off the bike.

"Who are you?"

Anyone calling out his name and knowing Tang Feifei clearly knew him, but Qin Fang took another look and still didn't remember her.

"I'm Ning Yumo, Feifei calls me Sister Ning, and I happen to be your lifesaver..."

The beauty let out a charming laugh, instantly giving off an allure that somewhat mesmerized Qin Fang.

"My lifesaver? You mean Feifei's Sister Ning, the beautiful policewoman?"

At the mention of this, Qin Fang was momentarily stunned, immediately recalling something Tang Feifei had told him. It was a beautiful policewoman who, while on duty, had by chance discovered an injured Qin Fang lying unconscious in an alley. She confirmed that he was alright before calling Tang Feifei to come and take care of him.

"Yeah, it seems you're not someone who forgets a debt of gratitude. You still remember me... By the way, which way did those two from the car run?"

Ning Yumo nodded. She had saved Qin Fang by mere coincidence and, being a police officer, viewed it as duty rather than a reason for self-importance. She proceeded to ask about the whereabouts of the two individuals from the car.

"After the collision, the two just got out of the car and ran, down this road all the way..."

This road leading back to Ninghai from Baiyu Lake wasn't very wide, and the traffic flow wasn't heavy. Most people would take a slight detour to the Ring City Expressway to return to Ninghai. Since Qin Fang was on a bicycle, he naturally couldn't take the expressway, so he had to take this road instead.

Along this road, one side was farmland, and on the other side lay a line of low hills stretching a long distance.

"They ran off... Lend me your car!"
