

Genius 67

Chapter 67 Admission_1

...

"Qin Fang, I haven't made your acquaintance yet!"

Taking a deep breath and expelling the pent-up air in his chest, Qin Fang then took the initiative to extend his hand.

"Ning..."

Seeing such a change in Qin Fang, the young man was a bit surprised but still extended his hand very politely. Just as he was about to introduce himself, Tang Feifei and Xiao Muxue walked over, with Tang Feifei excitedly calling out, "Brother Qiang..."

Upon hearing this nickname, Qin Fang noticed the handsome guy's face immediately fall, and then he looked at Tang Feifei with a bitter smile, "Feifei, I've told you many times, just calling me Brother Qiang is fine, there's no need for that 'Xiao'..."

"Tsk, you've been called that for over a decade, and it's not like you've lost any flesh over it!"

Tang Feifei shot back with a contemptuous look and then walked up to Qin Fang quite naturally, "Qin Fang, this is Ning Weiqiang, just call him Brother Qiang, he's Sister Ning's younger brother..."

"Brother Qiang..."

Qin Fang smiled, beginning to wonder about the relationship between Tang Feifei and the handsome guy opposite him since they seemed very familiar with each other. It all clicked when Tang Feifei clarified things, and he hadn't expected that this person was actually Ning Yumo's brother.

However, he wouldn't dare to be as mischievously informal as Tang Feifei and properly called out "Brother Qiang" instead. It couldn't be helped; ever since a certain movie, the term "Xiao Qiang" had taken on a new meaning, to the helpless dismay of many passionate young men.

"Hmm, you're not bad, kid, I like you," Ning Weiqiang nodded and then thought for a moment before taking a card out from his person and tossing it to Qin Fang, "My phone number is on there, if you run into any trouble, you can give me a call..."

After saying this, he turned his head to have a brief exchange with Tang Feifei, essentially conveying the same message, and then promptly took his leave without giving Qin Fang much chance to get closer.

"Don't overthink it, we all grew up together in the same compound, his dad is the secretary of the Provincial Political and Legal Committee, and works alongside my dad..."

Even though Ning Weiqiang had left, Qin Fang's puzzled expression lingered. Tang Feifei then whispered Ning Weiqiang's identity to Qin Fang, essentially revealing Ning Yumo's status as well.

With that, Qin Fang understood why Ning Weiqiang's appearance had such an intimidating effect on everyone, even keeping the campus security officers from acting rashly. After all, the secretary of the Provincial Political and Legal Committee was in charge of the entire province's political law work, so how could these lowly security guards dare to offend his son!

Naturally, Ning Weiqiang's own charisma was quite remarkable. Even on their first meeting, Qin Fang could feel his extraordinary aura.

...

"Task 'One Against Hundred' completed, completion level 60%, evaluation: mediocre, rewards calculated based on completion level."

"You've earned 60 Experience Points!"

"You've earned 60 Skill Experience Points, please confirm the skill option to add."

"You've attained the title 'One Against Hundred'!"

The appearance of Ning Weiqiang had prevented the group fight from escalating further and it dissolved completely. When everyone had dispersed, Qin Fang's task was declared complete, though not particularly impressively, so the various rewards were doled out based on the level of completion.

"Title: One Against Hundred, when fighting against multiple opponents, you have a certain chance of triggering group damage. Damage value and critical hit rate fluctuate with personal attributes."

Seeing the use of such a title, Qin Fang did not know whether to cry or laugh, it was decent at best and merely better than nothing.

...

The group fight was merely an accident. When everything calmed down, the campus entrance returned to its usual state. Students from each department were busy with their own tasks, and Qin Fang, Tang, and Xiao quickly found their department's registration area. After registering and arranging their dormitories, they parted ways to their respective accommodations.

However, Qin Fang's statement from the first day of registration had already spread, and tough guys daring to face off against twenty or thirty people alone were rare in the university. What made people even more envious was that Qin Fang had the company of two beautiful women who were absolutely qualified to contend for the title of Campus Belle.

After collecting his dormitory keys from the accommodations office, Qin Fang headed straight to his dormitory. Renting outside was just a temporary solution for a place to stay, and now he could save some rent money by living in the dorm.

It's not that Qin Fang was stingy, it's just that the noodle shop required more financial investment at the moment, so saving every bit helped in accumulating some initial capital for Qin Fang's future plans.

"Oh, Boss Qin..."

Upon reaching the dormitory entrance, he found the door open. Qin Fang stepped inside and was immediately struck by the sight of a huge, old backpack that felt oddly familiar. Before Qin Fang could recall why, a roommate who just came out of the bathroom looked up, saw him, and exclaimed with surprise.

"Fang Dacheng..."

Qin Fang was also startled. He hadn't expected such a coincidence in this world. The brief encounter they'd had only three days before, where they'd merely exchanged a few words, and now, they were meeting again as roommates.

"What a coincidence, I didn't expect this..."

Fang Dacheng wore a simple and honest smile on his face. Ninghai University was huge, with over forty thousand teachers, students, and staff combined. The odds of two people who weren't very familiar with each other meeting were quite slim, let alone becoming roommates by such a twist of fate.

"Yeah, it really is a coincidence! Don't call me boss, it's weird, just call me Qin Fang..." Being a student after all, Qin Fang himself felt quite awkward being addressed as a boss directly.

"Hehe!"

Fang Dacheng just smiled simply, and at that moment, someone else entered the room.

The dormitory Qin Fang and the others were assigned to was a standard six-person room. The conditions weren't particularly good, but still quite decent. In Fang Dacheng's words: "It's much nicer than my home."

Apart from Qin Fang and Fang Dacheng, there were also Shen Yang from the Northeast, Gao Ming from Shu, Xiao Nan from Southern Guangdong Province, and Xi Xiaojun, who was almost a fellow townsman from Yangcheng in Jiangnan Province.

"Guys, it's a destiny that we six brothers from all corners of the country can walk together, and we're going to spend four years here. So I propose that for our first collective activity tonight, let's go drinking together, what do you say?"

Once everyone was more or less settled in, Shen Yang, the tallest and strongest in the dorm, made the suggestion. Owing to his imposing physique, the other five unanimously elected him as the boss.

"I have no objections!"

"I agree!"

"No problem..."

The four, including Shen Yang, quickly expressed their agreement, leaving only Qin Fang and Fang Dacheng silent. Then the four looked over at them.

"Qin Fang, how about you?"

Compared to Fang Dacheng, who exuded a very unsophisticated aura, Qin Fang, after being groomed by Tang Feifei and Xiao Muxue, could now be considered somewhat handsome. Naturally, they asked him first.

"I... okay, no problem!"

Qin Fang had intended to decline since he still had business to run at his shop, but considering it was the dorm's first collective activity, he nodded in agreement.

"Dacheng, don't refuse, let's go together!"

Not only that, but Qin Fang also grasped Fang Dacheng, who seemed about to refuse, and spoke very earnestly.

"But..."

Fang Dacheng had his reasons for hesitating, which Qin Fang understood, and the others could somewhat guess as well.

Xiao Nan from Southern Guangdong immediately stepped up and said, "Don't worry, Dacheng, I'll cover all the expenses tonight..."

As someone who arrived at university driving a BMW on the first day, he really wasn't short of money. Besides, he was quite a decent person, lacking the pretentiousness of a typical rich second generation and had quickly become familiar with Qin Fang and company.

After much persuasion, they finally convinced Fang Dacheng, and Qin Fang's group set off together, heading to the liveliest part of the college town, Lanyuan...

Just as Qin Fang and the others were laughing and walking out of the campus, they happened to be seen by Li Feng, who had just finished the enrollment process. After a moment's hesitation, Li Feng slowly followed Qin Fang in his car and made a phone call, saying something.

By the time he hung up, a sinister cold smile had already spread across his face...