

Global CM 68

Chapter 68: The Heart of Godslaying! (2/5)_1

"A great item!"

Chen Mo had fully realized the strength of divinity during the Realm Breakthrough Assessment. Although the divinity of a professional wouldn't be as outrageous as in a copy, it wouldn't be much weaker either. Acquiring a random divinity would considerably augment his strength.

If it turned out to be an overpowered divinity, it would be invincible.

However, it was evident that the Heart of God wasn't suitable for direct consumption at this moment.

Although he had the ability to resurrect and wasn't afraid of being poisoned, this item was rare. If the 50% chance of being poisoned was triggered, getting poisoned would be a minor issue; wasting a good item was the real concern.

Since the item's description mentioned something about a mission, Chen Mo naturally wanted to take a look first.

It might just be related to the task of eliminating the evil energy.

[SSS-level Evil Energy Extermination Mission]: Requires the creation of god-grade Purifying Holy Water using ten different kinds of Purifying Holy Water to cleanse the evil energy of the Evil God!

"Ten different types of Purifying Holy Water?"

Chen Mo stroked his chin as he ruminated.

"I think they sell five kinds of Purifying Holy Water in the market; the remaining five are in high-level copies. One of them can be acquired in an assessment copy, and for the rest, I guess I'll have to enter university first."

Upon considering this, Chen Mo could only store the cloudy Heart of God for now.

He continued examining his Harvest. This time, both of his SSS-level Titles had leveled up.

The Godslayer Challenger had even triggered an additional Title Skill, which was incredibly strong.

[SSS-level Title—Godslayer Challenger]

[Title Level]: LV2

[Title Experience]: 0/1

[Title Effect]: All Attributes increased by 200 points, all damage to god-grade units increased by 200%, all damage taken from god-grade units reduced by 20%.

[Title Skill]: Godslaying Power, Godslaying Heart

[Godslaying Power·Golden Passive]: Even if it's a God, you'll show them you can kill them. All damage you inflict on god-grade units is treated as true damage!

[Godslaying Heart·Golden Active]: Choose any one divinity from a unit and neutralize it directly.
Cooldown: 1 minute. Only one divinity can be neutralized at a time.

[Title Introduction]: Even when facing a God, you can bravely initiate a challenge and slay them. Your power will eventually be superior to Divine Power!

Neutralizing a divinity directly—that's a wicked effect! It's not only useful against a BOSS, but it's also excessively strong when dealing with professionals. Someone works hard to get a divinity, thinks they're invincible, and then I can just neutralize it. How infuriating that must be for them!

The mere thought of such a scenario made Chen Mo eagerly anticipate the appearance of such people.

Looking at the Pioneer title next, although it had also leveled up, it was already at Level 3, and no new skills had appeared. However, that didn't diminish its strength.

[SSS-level Title—Pioneer]

[Title Level]: LV3

[Title Experience]: 0/1

[Title Effect]: All Attributes increased by 300 points, Experience gain increased by 300% when alone, and gain a 30% recovery effect of maximum life value and energy value per second.

[Title Skill]: The Pioneer's Light

[The Pioneer's Light-Golden Passive]: The glory of the Pioneer will illuminate all darkness, revealing all confusion around you. When you're alone, you can perceive all information (including invisible units) within a range of  $(30 * \text{Level})$  meters.

Current Effect: Activated (can be freely switched on and off at any time).

[Title Introduction]: As a Pioneer, you always advance alone, cutting a path through thorns and forging a road for those who follow!

The Pioneer title's other enhancements weren't extensive, but the per-second recovery effect alone had seen a significant increase. Recovering 30% of his maximum life value and energy value per second was a huge benefit, allowing Chen Mo to use his maximum energy value for the Huge Shield without reservation.

Now, at Level 11 and with the title's effects, his Energy had reached a high of 187,000 points. If he invested all of this into releasing the Huge Shield, the shield he created could withstand a terrifying amount of damage—over ten million.

Extremely fearsome.

With Chen Mo's current strength, he could disregard anyone below the second-transition. Even against second-transition professionals, he could crush the majority of them. Of course, if the other party managed to form an army array, they would still stand a chance. But in a one-on-one fight, or if the enemy lacked the numbers to form an array, Chen Mo could reign supreme.

He hadn't even reached the first-transition yet but already possessed the combat power to dominate at the second-transition level. The caution and importance the people of the Yongming Star System placed on Chen Mo were indeed justified.

Having composed himself, Chen Mo began contemplating his next combat power upgrade.

First, there were legendary-level materials. He either had to find them himself or buy them at an auction. However, legendary-level materials were scarce, so prices were bound to be high, and there would be many competitors. He doubted he had enough money to win any bids. He still had over ninety million, enough to try bidding for one. But he needed three different types of materials; bidding for just one in advance wouldn't be very useful.

If he wanted to further enhance his strength before obtaining legendary-level materials, besides leveling up, there was one simple method: raise his skill levels to 10. Although he didn't have many skill materials now, with the Token Synthesis Function and nearly a hundred million in funds, he could still easily synthesize skills to Level 10.

However, doing so would be a waste of money. A Level 10 Skill definitely couldn't be synthesized with a Level 1 Skill. If he synthesized his Level 1 Skills into Level 10 Skills now, when it came time to upgrade their rank later, he would either have to abandon the Level 10 Skills and use three new Level 1 Skills for the synthesis, or he would have to synthesize two more Level 10 Skills. The difference in cost between these two methods was colossal.

Until his Skills reached Gold rank, Chen Mo wasn't particularly keen on spending money on such Skill upgrades. He would only consider upgrading if he truly encountered a very tough situation where boosting Skill levels could help resolve it. Otherwise, keeping them at Level 1 for now was better.

He was reluctant to waste the money, yet he had no place to spend it. With nearly one hundred million, Chen Mo truly didn't know what to do with it. Maybe he should just give it all to Sister Yiyi.

However, Sister Yiyi hadn't returned home yet. He went to the Heavenly Trade Market to see if there were any items suitable for him. The Heavenly Trade Market listed items from professionals all over the planet. There were so many items that it was impossible to look through them all.

Chen Mo unknowingly spent over three hours browsing. However, the items that caught his interest were too expensive, and the cheaper ones were useless. He felt he had wasted his time.

He didn't notice it had already grown dark outside until he heard a CLICK as the front door opened.

"Mo, our landlord was very generous today! He sent us a basket of fruit—all of them are delicacies from a gourmet copy, things we can't usually get to eat. Come and have some!"

As soon as Liu Yiyi entered, she cheerfully called out towards Chen Mo's room.

When Chen Mo came out, he didn't pay any attention to the rare fruit. He pulled Liu Yiyi by the hand, sat her down on the sofa in front of the coffee table, squatted in front of her, took her hands, and said with a mysterious smile, "Sister Yiyi, from now on, you can eat whatever you want. We don't have to accept charity from others anymore."

"Huh?" Liu Yiyi was a bit confused. "Why is that?"