Chapter 701: I have another army array like this! (Five in One) _2

While they were considering strategies, Chen Mo and his group were not idle.

The moment they arrived at this Divine Domain, Chen Mo immediately looked towards a corner area where two Myriad Divine Power Troops were mutually restraining each other.

"Seniors, leave this Myriad Divine Power Troop to us. You can free your hands to deal with other troops from low divine power army arrays," he said.

After speaking, Chen Mo used the Eternal Stone provided by the seniors in his team to convert his out-of-tower abilities into ones usable within the tower.

With his Super Divine Flicker Skill, he could instantly teleport everyone around him anywhere within the Divine Domain.

In an instant, he teleported everyone in their army array to the side of the Yongming Star System's Myriad Divine Power Army.

Although this was supposed to be a joint attack by allied forces from other star systems against the Solar System, there was effectively only one Myriad Divine Power Army fielded by the enemy.

After all, even if other star systems were willing to sacrifice a top-tier powerhouse, they would never be willing to sacrifice a Myriad Divine Power Army.

Each star system possessed only one such army. If the personnel from their Myriad Divine Power Armies were sent into this combat zone and ultimately wiped out by the Yongming Star System, then in the Second Region, wouldn't the Yongming Star System become another invincible existence after the Solar System?

With other star systems no longer possessing Myriad Divine Power Armies while the Yongming Star System still had theirs, wouldn't the Yongming Star System be able to completely dominate them?

Even though they might find army arrays with higher divine power in the Second Region, that would take time. In the interim, if they were attacked by the Myriad Divine Power Troops from the Yongming Star System without having found stronger army arrays, what could they use to resist?

Considering this crucial issue, they had not dispatched their Myriad Divine Power Armies to fight alongside the Yongming Star System.

This was one of the reasons the Solar System had managed to hold out until now.

Otherwise, if every star system had dispatched its Myriad Divine Power Army, the attacking coalition could have simply amassed a large number of these armies and easily steamrolled the Solar System.

How could there have been any possibility of resistance then? Over such a long period, countless Divine Domains would have already been overrun.

Previously, they were reluctant to dispatch their Myriad Divine Power Armies because even if they helped the Yongming Star System conquer the Solar System, their own future in the Second Region would be dire.

Even now, they still had no intention of dispatching their Myriad Divine Power Armies.

This was primarily because doing so no longer held significant meaning. The Solar System now possessed an army array with tens of thousands of Divine Power points, an absolutely overwhelming force. Before an army array of this caliber, even more Myriad Divine Power Armies would be like ants trying to shake a great tree. The Solar System's side could eliminate them effortlessly; sending more would just be throwing lives away.

For instance, in the current situation, Chen Mo had mastered all the surrounding Army Formation Skills in just a brief encounter.

This was the power of the Chaotic Primordial Array.

It could utilize all existing Army Formation Skills from nearby army arrays to launch attacks.

Army Formation Skills were different from the skills of ordinary individuals. Their intensity was determined by a combination of all the attributes of the army array's members, making their power extraordinarily formidable.

And what Chen Mo had just replicated was an extremely powerful offensive Army Formation Skill.

With a mere thought from Chen Mo, an arrow imbued with terrifying Energy instantly began to form within their army array.

A torrent of Energy surged from all members of the army array, coalescing into a searing beam of light. Wherever the beam passed, the air seemed to rip apart with a sharp whistling sound. Then, the beam rapidly condensed into a colossal arrow, radiating an intensely dazzling light.

Seemingly unaffected by gravity, the arrow hovered in mid-air, emanating a power that induced shudders. Silver-white electrical arcs flickered across its surface, resembling a brilliant bolt of lightning.

As the arrow fully formed, a potent wave of Energy rippled outwards, causing the ground to tremble and fissures to spread across the earth.

The members of Chen Mo's troop gripped their weapons tightly; even they were awestruck by this immense power.

As the arrow pointed towards the Myriad Divine Power squad of the Yongming Star System, those previously arrogant and domineering enemies now felt the shadow of death. They stared in horror at the impending arrow as if witnessing their own doom.

When the Yongming Star System's Myriad Divine Power Troop saw Chen Mo's terrifying troop, possessing tens of thousands of Divine Power points, advancing on them, they had expected Chen Mo to issue some stern warnings first.

But who would have thought? This young man was all ruthless action and few words; he attacked immediately, planning to eliminate them before anything else.

Instantly, the faces of all members of this Myriad Divine Power troop turned incredibly pale.

"Captain, what do we do? This kid's army array, formed using chaos-grade abilities, has an array divine power of tens of thousands of points! Our army array is practically powerless before theirs. How can we possibly fight this?"

"Damn it! So this is the power of a chaos-grade ability... It's impossible to resist! Scatter, quickly! Every man for himself! Escape if you can, save whoever can!"

"Wait! No!!! Our Teleport ability has been sealed!"

"What?!"

Upon hearing that their Teleport ability was sealed, someone immediately tried to use a spatial transfer ability, but the result was the same.

All their space-related abilities had been completely sealed.

This was primarily due to the effect of Chen Mo's Super Divine Flicker Skill.

Ever since Chen Mo's Divine Flicker Skill had been upgraded to the Super Divine Flicker Skill, its effects were not merely limited to teleporting any number of people to any location at will. It could also, upon flickering to a new position, directly disable the spatial abilities of all hostile units in the surrounding area.

Chapter 702: I have another army array like this! (Five in One) _3

The deactivation criterion targeted spatial abilities below Above SSS-level. Currently, in this area, only Chen Mo possessed Above SSS-level and chaos-grade spatial abilities. Naturally, he easily sealed the spatial abilities of these people.

Unless these individuals possessed spatial abilities from the Eternity Series. However, spatial abilities of the Eternity Series were quite rare. These people simply did not possess them. After all, most abilities of the Eternity Series were linked to the utilization of divine element and Divine Power. They had very few other additional effects. At least in this first area, such abilities were hard to come by. Most of the items they carried were eternal abilities that could only affect divine element and Divine Power. At this moment, these could not offer them any advantage. They simply couldn't teleport away.

Seeing they couldn't teleport and their opponent was about to make a move, everyone could only prepare to flee back to their own Divine Domains as quickly as possible. If they could just cross the border between the two Divine Domains, they could evade the terrifying combat technique about to be unleashed by Chen Mo's tens-of-thousands-strong Divine Power Troops. After all, two Divine Domains were equivalent to two separate spaces; damage could not directly leap from one space into another.

"Everyone else can run, but not you!"

Seeing the enemy scattering and preparing to flee this Divine Domain, Chen Mo, however, gave a faint smile and flickered, appearing beside a thin, short-haired man from the Yongming Star System.

"Thinking of leaving with the Myriad Divine Power Army?"

As soon as he spoke, the other's pupils involuntarily contracted in fear. He possessed an extremely high-tier information-cloaking ability and also carried numerous Chaos Fragments. The chaos aura from the Chaos Fragments, combined with his extremely high-tier information-cloaking ability, was meant to ensure his information was perfectly concealed, preventing those from other Star Systems from discovering he was the one possessing the Myriad Divine Power Army.

He never expected that his identity would be seen through by the other party after just a brief encounter.

Recognizing the person before him, the man's expression turned exceedingly ugly. "Chen Mo!"

Upon seeing Chen Mo, most people felt the urge to kill him. The sound of the great path had previously stated that chaos-grade treasures could be dropped. If Chen Mo's ability to form a Divine Power Army tens of thousands strong was the Chaos Supreme Treasure mentioned by the Heavenly Dao, then whichever Star System obtained it would soar to prominence. But now, the biggest problem was how to kill and plunder from someone who had already successfully assembled a Divine Power Army tens of thousands strong.

The answer was: simply impossible.

Unless they deployed their sleeper agents in the Solar System to assassinate him before his army array was complete!

As mentioned before, quite a few people in the Solar System had been corrupted. Chen Mo had already swept through Earth using his Mind Reading Technique and hadn't found many corrupted individuals. In truth, most of those corrupted were active within the Tower of Eternity. However, these corrupted individuals were those who had lost hope initially. Later, after a heaven-defying newcomer like Chen Mo appeared on Earth, these corrupted individuals gradually had a change of heart and no longer wished to betray their own Star System. After all, if our own Star System had a chance to rise, perhaps even becoming stronger than the enemy's, why would we abandon our homeland to become dogs for the other side and bring trouble upon ourselves?

This led many of the corrupted individuals to decisively realign themselves with the Solar System. However, a small number among them were completely unwilling to expose their hypocritical facade. They feared that the image they had cultivated would be shattered and dared not reveal their past corruption. As a result, they effectively had a weakness that the Yongming Star System could exploit. This faction could be utilized.

What the people from the Yongming Star System did not know, however, was that Chen Mo possessed an illogically powerful Mind Reading Technique. This ability disregarded rank; regardless of one's rank, it could directly read their thoughts. This was the domineering aspect of a reward exclusive to a Heavenly Dao event. If such individuals appeared near Chen Mo, they would inevitably be exposed instantly, rendering them incapable of any treacherous act against him.

At this moment, the people from the Yongming Star System were already contacting this group. And Chen Mo's Mind Reading Technique had, of course, thoroughly seen through the thoughts of these individuals.

Discovering that there were still vermin in the Solar System at this point... Chen Mo was at a loss for words.

Human self-interest is difficult to change. Even when faced with the greater good of their people, and even when their race is at a juncture of life and death, some will still choose to betray that greater good to preserve themselves. Chen Mo couldn't be bothered to pass judgment on such people.

From an individual standpoint, their struggle for survival was neither right nor wrong. But from a broader perspective, these people were traitors, running dogs, and degenerates—they had to be eliminated!

As for how to deal with these individuals specifically, after I return and root them out, I'll hand them over to the three Alliance Hierarchs for disposal.

After gleaning some intelligence through mind-reading, Chen Mo finally made his ruthless move!

The arrow, long poised high in the air, could finally be restrained no longer and shot straight towards the Yongming Star System's Myriad Divine Power Army.

WHOOSH! A streak of lightning tore across the sky. BOOM! In an instant, the entire landmass trembled violently, and the Divine Domain world was engulfed in an incredibly dazzling, intense light.

Chapter 703: I have another army array like this! (Five in One) _4

In the brilliant light, the Yongming Star System's Myriad Divine Power Troops, which had originally faced Chen Mo's forces, vanished in an instant without a trace. It was as if they had never existed, dissipating into thin air like a dream.

This scene left everyone present dumbfounded, their eyes almost popping out of their sockets.

They watched the stunning assault, unable to believe what was happening before their very eyes.

Even though they had anticipated that Chen Mo's Divine Power Formation Troop, possessing tens of thousands of Divine Power points, would be formidable, they never imagined it could obliterate a Myriad Divine Power Army in a single move.

Initially, the opponents weren't so fragile; they might have even withstood one blow before perishing. However, they chose to disperse their army array, hoping to allow more of their members to escape. This decision was the very reason they were wiped out in a single devastating strike.

When in an army array, members cannot stray too far from their leader, severely restricting their movement radius. To enable them to escape freely, their commander had no choice but to disband the army array.

Of course, the primary reason was that even if they had remained in the army array, they could not have withstood the attack from Chen Mo's monstrous Divine Power Formation Troop.

One hit would have undoubtedly shattered their army shield, and a second would have annihilated the entire army array.

They figured it was better to scatter and take their chances at survival.

However, Chen Mo had replicated an overwhelmingly powerful Army Formation Skill, and with a single move, he vaporized them all.

Not even a fragment of a corpse remained, let alone any chance of on-the-spot resurrection. With no bodies left, resurrection was impossible even for those who possessed such an ability.

The scene of Chen Mo annihilating a Myriad Divine Power Army in a single move left everyone present utterly stunned. The remaining mixed forces of the Yongming Star System and other extraterrestrial powers were thrown into a panic, fearing they would be next.

If even a Myriad Divine Power Formation Troop, an incredibly powerful type of army, was so effortlessly crushed, did they stand any chance at all?

Moreover, the Solar System boasted not only Chen Mo's monstrous Divine Power Formation Troop but also another Myriad Divine Power Formation Troop.

If these two forces launched an attack, it would be a complete and utter massacre against them!

With the appearance of such a monstrously powerful army array, news immediately flashed to the high command of the Yongming Star System and all other star systems.

Everyone was massively shocked. This was the worst news they had received so far.

Everyone knew Chen Mo possessed a chaos-grade treasure, but no one had expected it to be so overwhelmingly powerful.

It was basically an invincible treasure in the first region, impossible to counter.

Instantly, shadowy figures descended into the meeting room of the Yongming Star System's high command. These were the top echelons from all other major star systems, those destined to share the same future second region as the Solar and Yongming Star Systems.

"Gentlemen, given the current situation, I believe no one present can claim to be uninvolved," one began. "I proposed from the very beginning that we dispatch our Myriad Divine Power Formation Troops together. This would have allowed us to swiftly conquer the Solar System's Divine Domain and eliminate them from this competition early on. You were all hesitant, and now look at the mess we're in. What do you suggest we do now?"

The Yongming Star System's leadership, already furious with these factions for disrupting their grand army array, seized the opportunity to verbally tear into them.

An executive from another star system retorted, "What's the use of saying all that now? Time can't be reversed. However, I still have a plan."

Hearing that this executive still had a solution, the others immediately grew interested. "What is your esteemed suggestion?" one of them inquired.

Considering the monstrous army array the enemy now possesses, what other plans could possibly work?

"My friends, we're all in the same boat now, so let me speak frankly," the executive continued. "We were initially unwilling to dispatch our Myriad Divine Power Armies for reasons everyone here is well aware of!

We were afraid that if our Myriad Divine Power Armies were lost here, the Yongming Star System, by retaining its own Myriad Divine Power Army, would gain an overwhelming advantage over us.

Now, it's confirmed that the Yongming Star System's Myriad Divine Power Army has been destroyed. Based on past experience, any star system that loses its Myriad Divine Power Army requires at least a ten-year Cooldown to rebuild one.

During these ten years, if none of us possess Myriad Divine Power Armies, then we'll all be on an equal footing.

My proposal is this: all our star systems should dispatch their Myriad Divine Power Armies this time. By launching strong attacks from various directions simultaneously, the Solar System will be overwhelmed and unable to defend effectively."

Previously, everyone hesitated to dispatch their Myriad Divine Power Armies, fearing that if they lost them, the Yongming Star System would dominate. That concern is now moot, as the Yongming Star System's Myriad Divine Power Army has been destroyed.

Meanwhile, most of these star systems have already achieved absolute dominance within their respective first regions. The Myriad Divine Power Armies of their competitors in the same region have already been wiped out by them.

Therefore, whether they possess Myriad Divine Power Armies or not no longer impacts their ability to secure victory in their own first regions. This means they can now afford to commit these Myriad Divine Power Armies to the conflict between the Yongming Star System and the Solar System.

Chapter 704: I have another army array like this! (Five in One) _5

"Are you suggesting that we can adopt an offensive strategy, using a large number of Myriad Divine Power Armies to seize the Divine Domains?"

"Correct. After all, victory lies in acquiring ninety percent of the Divine Domains, not in defeating the enemy's star system. Even if they possess the strongest army array, if they fail to capture the Divine Domains faster than us, their powerful force will still face inevitable failure."

"This method seems feasible. Currently, their forces consist of just one top-tier army and one Myriad Divine Power Formation Troop capable of rivaling ours. One top-tier army simply cannot manage both defense and offense. As long as we are careful not to let them destroy too many of our Myriad Divine Power Formation Troops, we can seize 90% of the Divine Domains first, thereby eliminating the Solar System from the competition!"

The higher-ups of the Yongming Star System were delighted by this plan. After all, this plan involved sacrificing the supreme battle prowess of other star systems, which, of course, they were more than happy to accept. Regardless of the outcome of this battle, none of these individuals possessing Myriad Divine Power Armies would be allowed to leave. Now that their Yongming Star System no longer had a Myriad Divine Power Army, how could they let people from other star systems retain such abnormal levels of combat power?

Their plan was quite good, but they were unaware that Chen Mo had yet to reveal his true strength.

「Inside the Solar System's Divine Domain.」

Because the Yongming Star System's Myriad Divine Power Formation Troop was instantly annihilated by Chen Mo's Divine Power Formation Troop, which wielded tens of thousands of Divine Power, the remaining alien United Forces immediately became even more vulnerable. Before dying, they hoped to launch a counterattack and take down some of the Solar System's low Divine Power armies with them. But this was clearly impossible. With one Myriad Divine Power Formation Troop and Chen Mo's army—possessing tens of thousands of Divine Power—watching intently nearby, how could they possibly have a chance to attack the other low Divine Power armies? The moment this thought occurred to them, Chen Mo's army and that Myriad Divine Power Formation Troop attacked simultaneously. With two armies possessing overwhelmingly powerful army arrays attacking, these underlings naturally had no chance to resist. They were instantly slaughtered on the spot, dropping a large amount of items.

"Too strong!"

No one had the time to pick up the items; everyone was staring at Chen Mo, utterly shocked by his abnormal army array. But what they didn't realize was that Chen Mo could form two such abnormal army arrays all by himself.

He had not yet unleashed his outer incarnation. Zhui Yi could also do anything he could. Since he possessed the Chaotic Primordial Array, Zhui Yi naturally did as well. Although there weren't many members with high Divine Power, Zhui Yi could still easily recruit individuals with one or two hundred Divine Power to form an army array with nearly twenty thousand Divine Power. So, the Solar System actually still had a hidden army capable of overwhelming a Myriad Divine Power Army.

"Chen Mo, your contribution this time has been monumental. Without you, we might have once again lost our Divine Domain. Our Myriad Divine Power Army's army shield has been battered to the point of nearly shattering. If the battle had continued much longer, we probably wouldn't have been able to hold on."

The captain of the Myriad Divine Power Army excitedly flew over to Chen Mo, a wide smile on his face as he spoke.

"Senior, with such a formidable enemy before us, this isn't the time for such talk. Let's hurry and reclaim our lost Divine Domains, and try to seize as much more as we can. The Yongming Star System has already lost its Myriad Divine Power Army, which means we now have an additional overwhelming army array on our side. Furthermore, I can also form another army array with over ten thousand Divine Power. Imagine two such army arrays, each with over ten thousand Divine Power, working alongside one Myriad Divine Power Army. With that setup, we wouldn't need to worry too much, even if the opposing star system dispatches numerous Myriad Divine Power Armies. A single army array with over ten thousand Divine Power might struggle to handle battles on all fronts, but two are different; they can completely block the enemy's retreat."

The difference between one and two might seem like just a single unit, but their actual effectiveness differs greatly. "If the enemy knows you possess a top-tier Divine Power army array, what will they do? They will definitely lurk around the border regions of the Divine Domains every time, ready to flee the moment they spot you. With just one such army array, you won't be able to block them in time. But with two, it's a different story. You can simultaneously enter two Divine Domains. No matter which border the enemy crosses, another overwhelming army will be waiting for them. Escape will be impossible; only death will await them! This is the main difference. To go from being led around by the nose to achieving consistent kills, all that's needed is one more such unit."

Everyone had originally thought that Chen Mo forming such an incredibly abnormal army was already heaven-defying enough. However, to everyone's surprise, he once again made an astounding claim: he actually had a way to form another army array with Divine Power exceeding ten thousand points.

All those who heard this couldn't help but wear astonished expressions.

"You rascal! You just can't stop saying shocking things, can you? You actually have a way to form another Myriad Divine Power Army?"

Inside Chen Mo's army array, an elder with extremely high Divine Power looked at him with a mixture of disbelief and profound admiration. For the Solar System to produce such an outstanding member of the younger generation was truly a great blessing. It could be said that he had singlehandedly changed the entire tide of the battle.

Chapter 705: I have another army array like this! (Five in One) _6

"Chen Mo, are you joking? The Heavenly Path's Hint only said you obtained one Chaos Supreme Treasure. Do you have a second one of this kind?"

"Every Chaos Supreme Treasure should be unique. I indeed don't have a second one of this type," Chen Mo said with a laugh.

"Then how are you going to form a second army array with more than 10,000 Divine Power?"

Upon hearing that Chen Mo didn't have a second Chaos Supreme Treasure of this caliber, everyone immediately grew curious about the method he'd mentioned for forming another army array with over 10,000 Divine Power.

Chen Mo didn't keep them in suspense; with a thought, he summoned Zhui Yi.

In an instant, Zhui Yi, who looked like a child, appeared before everyone.

Since Zhui Yi possessed the same abilities as Chen Mo and both were enveloped in Chaos Energy from the chaos tester, no one could probe his information.

They simply looked at him curiously and asked, "Who is this child?"

"His name is Zhui Yi. He can also form the same army array as me. However, the Divine Power of those who join needs to be high enough. I wonder if our Star System can gather enough individuals with sufficiently high Divine Power."

"If you're talking about a basic Divine Power over 100 or 200, that would be difficult to find in our Star System. But if you mean amplified Divine Power reaching 100 or 200, that's not hard at all. We could gather another 99 people for you right here."

Delighted with that response, Chen Mo said, "That would be perfect."

Indeed, there's a significant difference between basic Divine Power and amplified Divine Power. To form an army array, the total amplified Divine Power merely needs to exceed 10,000 points. Finding such individuals is quite easy.

With a large group of people, each possessing around 200 points of amplified Divine Power, stepping forward, Zhui Yi's extraordinary Divine Power Formation Troop was quickly assembled.

The total Divine Power Strength of this troop reached 25,000.

It was enough to completely dominate an army array of 10,000 Divine Power.

Seeing another extraordinarily powerful Divine Power Formation Troop appear, one that far exceeded 10,000 Divine Power, even the people from the Solar System felt a chill.

It was the chill of being utterly overwhelmed.

If our enemies possessed such extraordinary strength, we wouldn't even know how to resist. We'd probably lose the will to fight entirely.

At this point, many people from other Star Systems were feeling the same way.

Upon learning that Chen Mo possessed such an extraordinarily powerful army array, they were at a loss as to what to do.

If we hadn't antagonized the Solar System before, we might have considered surrendering, perhaps acquiring a few Stars Citizenship Conversion Cards to survive by changing our star system allegiance. But now, having clearly provoked the Solar System and nearly driven them to annihilation, and with them holding such a massive advantage, even if we wanted to submit, it's impossible. Having come this far, we can only brace ourselves and continue down this path to ruin. Our only hope is to find a way out of this desperate situation, to snatch survival from the jaws of death.

This was reflected in the plan they had devised.

So what if the Solar System has one top-tier army array? Once we dispatch all our Myriad Divine Power Formation Troops, we'll have hundreds of second-tier army formations. As long as these armies don't encounter that top-tier army array, they can still wreak havoc. And even if we do encounter it, as long as we secure our position in advance, standing at the border of two Divine Domains, what can the opponent do? If they advance, we can simply take a small step back and hide in the adjacent Divine Domain. Even if the opponent pursues by stepping across, we can just step back again, can't we? Playing a game of cat and mouse—how hard can it be?

Indeed, if the Solar System truly only had one such top-tier army array, they could indeed be significantly hampered by such tactics.

They would be left with little recourse but impotent fury.

But unfortunately, that wasn't the case...

「Soon, a large number of individuals commanding Myriad Divine Power Armies from the Yongming Star System began to arrive.」

「Meanwhile, the Solar System had already begun efforts to reclaim their lost Divine Domains.」

Because the Solar System possessed three Divine Power Armies, each exceeding 10,000 Divine Power, they held complete dominance. Reclaiming the lost Divine Domains was incredibly simple.

However, at this point, deploying these three armies, each with over 10,000 Divine Power, for an overwhelming assault was unnecessary, as all troops in the surrounding Divine Domains had already retreated in fear.

We're not fools. With a Divine Power Formation Troop exceeding 10,000 Divine Power and an even stronger army array potentially about to attack, why would we remain? To wait for death? Any single army array with over 10,000 Divine Power could annihilate all the weaker army formations garrisoned in a Divine Domain. Therefore, staying was futile. It's better to retreat immediately and redeploy our forces where they can be useful.

This meant that when Chen Mo and his group advanced to a neighboring Divine Domain, they found it completely deserted.

In fact, this was preferable. They wouldn't need to leave their main forces behind to clear out enemies; they only needed to crack the checkpoints within the Divine Domain to occupy it.

If a Divine Domain had just changed hands, the checkpoint configurations within it would be different from the previous owner's and would need to be cracked anew.

Even if the Solar System had been the previous owner of this Divine Domain, the moment it fell to the Yongming Star System, its defenses had to be deciphered again.

For others, cracking a Divine Domain's checkpoints required first understanding their content, then sending this information back to their think tanks for research and decryption.

However, Chen Mo didn't need to go through such trouble. His Moluo's Brain was equivalent to having a top-tier think tank personally available.

There was absolutely no need for him to seek external think tanks to help crack the Divine Domain's checkpoints.

After he and Zhui Yi each led their teams into a Divine Domain, they both utilized their Moluo's Brains to rapidly analyze the checkpoints within.

Their cracking speed was even faster than sending the problems back to Earth for the think tanks to solve.

Soon, both had deciphered the methods to crack the checkpoints in their respective Divine Domains, easily and quickly reclaiming two of them.

"What's going on? Two Divine Domains lost one after another! How could it be so fast?!"

This cracking speed was something the people from the Yongming Star System had utterly failed to anticipate.

Although they had no personnel present in these Divine Domains, the number of Divine Domains they held was linked to their foundation within the tower. Now, they had suddenly lost control of two. Furthermore, these were Divine Domains near where Chen Mo's exceptionally powerful teams had just appeared, and they had been cracked with astonishing speed. This confluence of events inevitably led to some ominous speculations among them.

Chapter 706: Unexpected (Two in One) _1

Seeing the leadership of the Yongming Star System grow visibly uneasy, the leaders from other star systems immediately asked, "What's wrong?"

"For some reason, we lost control over two of our Divine Domains."

"Didn't they send a few small teams to frantically test the puzzles in the many Divine Domains you control? Isn't it normal that they cracked them?"

"It's not those previously mentioned ones. These two Divine Domains were ones we only recently took from the Solar System. We had just finished deciphering them and replaced them with new puzzles, but unexpectedly, they were quickly retaken by the Solar System."

"Oh? These two Divine Domains you took from the Solar System, could they be near where Chen Mo's mighty army formation troop is located?"

"Exactly!"

Upon hearing this, everyone present felt a sense of unease.

It's plausible that with good luck, one could quickly solve the puzzles within a Divine Domain. But for two to be solved instantaneously and taken over so quickly was somewhat strange.

"Let's not dwell on this now; let's focus on forming our Myriad Divine Power Army and attacking!"

Although they found the situation peculiar, discussing it now was pointless. Even if they knew something was amiss, the enemy controlled Chen Mo's mighty army formation troop, which possessed formidable strength. They had no means to contend with them and could only suppress their concerns, so they focused on what they could do now.

Despite the fact that every Large Star System had sent their Myriad Divine Power Armies, forming a Myriad Divine Power Army wasn't something done overnight. The total Divine Power of all team members needed to reach ten thousand points to qualify.

While the Yongming Star System was more powerful than the Solar System, assembling so many Myriad Divine Power Armies still significantly strained their personnel. They had to recall virtually everyone from their Divine Domains. Eventually, they were barely able to form ninety-eight Myriad Divine Power Armies. They had personnel remaining, but not enough to fully form an additional Myriad Divine Power Army. This shortfall required other star systems to send people to fill the ranks. Ultimately, they managed to assemble ninety-nine Myriad Divine Power Armies.

At this point, these star systems opposing the Solar System had pushed themselves to a dead end where they could only fight with all their might; they no longer cared about making more sacrifices.

With these ninety-nine Myriad Divine Power Armies fully formed, they prepared to launch their assault to seize the Divine Domains.

By their estimates, the Solar System only had one Myriad Divine Power Army that could block one of their teams. As for the other enemy unit—a Divine Power Formation Troop with tens of thousands of Divine Power points—even if it could destroy one of their armies, as long as that army retreated quickly enough and employed evasive tactics, the enemy unit couldn't effectively stop them. They only needed to assign a few Myriad Divine Power Armies to tie down these two enemy formation troops. Then, the Solar System's remaining forces would be no match for them, doomed to be easily defeated. Taking control of these numerous Divine Domains would not be a difficult task.

However, just as they completed the formation of ninety-nine Myriad Divine Power Armies, the high-ranking officials of the Yongming Star System grew even more worried.

"There's definitely a problem. While we were assembling our forces, they quickly captured several more Divine Domains. Even though we had withdrawn our personnel from these Divine Domains, allowing them free rein, the puzzles designed within shouldn't have been broken through so quickly. Their speed of conquest is absolutely abnormal!"

"It seems things are far trickier than we imagined. The Solar System has never captured Divine Domains at such a terrifying pace before. This definitely has something to do with that freak, Chen Mo!"

"Hold on, they always seize control of two of our Divine Domains very quickly. Even if this Chen Mo is a monster with special methods to rapidly capture Divine Domains, he can't possibly be in two places at once, capturing them simultaneously, can he?"

The high-ranking officials from the Yongming Star System were somewhat perplexed by this. However, even if the enemy could capture Divine Domains at double the rate (two at a time), Yongming and its allies, possessing over ninety times the number of conquering armies, still held an absolute advantage in overall offensive capability and had no need to fear.

Once the situation was clear, the high-ranking officials of the Yongming Star System and other star systems immediately dispatched all their Myriad Divine Power Armies, beginning a fierce assault on all Divine Domains not belonging to the Yongming Star System. Once they entered an enemy's Divine Domain and obtained its puzzle, they would promptly send the puzzle back to their allied star systems' joint think tank for deciphering. In this way, their puzzle-solving speed wasn't much slower than Chen Mo's.

Soon, the Solar System became aware of the crisis.

「Base of the Solar System Tower.」

"What's happening? Why has a plethora of Myriad Divine Power Armies suddenly emerged? Have these Aliens gone mad? They've even deployed their core forces?"

"It seems Chen Mo's mighty army formation troop has truly pushed them into a crisis of annihilation. They no longer care about their foundations; they only want to eliminate us from the competition as quickly as possible."

"The current situation is indeed difficult. With so many Myriad Divine Power Armies attacking simultaneously, even with Chen Mo's mighty army formation troop, we probably can't cope."

"Indeed, it's quite challenging. We need to think carefully about how to deal with this!"

Chapter 707: Unexpected (Two in One) _2

Whether in the combat command center or the Base Control Room, both supervisors showed worried expressions as they consolidated the relevant information and sent it to the three Alliance Hierarchs.

On Ling Yue's end, all troops on the front lines were recalled at top speed. After all, the enemy had now confirmedly dispatched a large number of Myriad Divine Power army arrays. Their low Divine Power army arrays stood no chance against army arrays of this caliber; facing them was no different from suicide. A low Divine Power Formation Troop facing a Myriad Divine Power Formation Troop was like a Myriad Divine Power Formation Troop facing Chen Mo's tens of thousands Divine Power Formation Troop. There was no possibility of resistance.

While issuing the retreat order, Ling Yue simultaneously had someone relay the message to Chen Mo and the others on the front line.

Upon receiving this news, Chen Mo wasn't surprised. Possessing the True Moluo's Brain, his cognitive ability vastly exceeded that of ordinary people. He could more or less predict the enemy's actions. It was entirely expected that they would deploy a large number of Myriad Divine Power Formation Troops at this stage.

In fact, the more the enemy did this, the better. After all, as the saying goes, it's easier to deal with a tyrant than a pesky devil. He wasn't afraid of the enemy amassing their forces; rather, he found the prospect of them dispersing their personnel to launch scattered attacks more troublesome. That would be even messier to deal with.

"Senior Ling Yue, teleport me and Zhui Yi, our two Divine Power Formation Troops, to the Divine Domain close to the location where the enemy's Myriad Divine Power Formation Troops have appeared. I'll take care of them."

"Zhui Yi? Who is that?"

Zhui Yi had been summoned by Chen Mo after he reached the front-line battlefield. Ling Yue, having never met Zhui Yi, naturally didn't immediately understand who Chen Mo was referring to.

"The people in the Base Control Room should know," Chen Mo replied directly.

"Alright!"

In the current situation, they could only rely on Chen Mo's tens of thousands Divine Power Formation Troop to hold the line. However, even with the presence of Chen Mo's powerful army, Ling Yue still found the situation extremely challenging. Because a single super first-class army, when facing so many first-class armies, probably wouldn't be as effective as needed. At this moment, her mind was racing, desperately trying to figure out how to delay the enemy's Myriad Divine Power Formation Troops' overwhelming onslaught.

However, when she communicated Chen Mo's request to the Base Control Room, the supervisor there was somewhat surprised. Because when they activated the base's power to transfer the positions of their star system members' armies, they were astounded to discover that the Divine Power Formation Troop to which this Zhui Yi belonged was also a tens of thousands Divine Power Formation Troop.

"What's going on? How do we have two Myriad Divine Power Formation Troops?"

However, when they relayed this news back to the three Alliance Hierarchs, Jiang Yun and the others already knew Chen Mo possessed a duplicate-like entity. Even though they knew this, they were still surprised that Zhui Yi could also possess such an absurd army assembly capability, just like Chen Mo. At this point, they naturally and immediately had the personnel in the tower act according to Chen Mo's instructions.

Soon, Chen Mo's and Zhui Yi's two Divine Power Formation Troops were teleported together to the Divine Domain currently being invaded by the enemy. As long as their armies had not entered a combat state, the Tower Base could freely conduct large-scale teleportation adjustments for them.

With the deployment of the Tower Base Control Room, Chen Mo and Zhui Yi had been teleported together to a Divine Domain adjacent to the Divine Domain currently being assaulted by the enemy. A Divine Domain controlled by their Star System could be directly teleported into only if their armies were engaged in combat there, like the Divine Domain Chen Mo's forces had just air-dropped into. However, if a Divine Domain controlled by their Star System was already having its chokepoints breached by the enemy, direct teleportation into that Divine Domain was impossible. They could only teleport to an adjacent Divine Domain and then proceed to the Divine Domain being occupied.

As Chen Mo and Zhui Yi's two armies arrived at the front, the three Divine Domains surrounding their current Divine Domain were all in the process of being captured. They just hadn't been successfully captured yet, as breaching the chokepoints within a Divine Domain required a certain amount of time. This time it took was also what the Yongming Star System forces most feared regarding Chen Mo's arrival.

One could see that within these Divine Domains currently being captured, Myriad Divine Power Formation Troops, sent as reinforcements from other star systems, were attempting to breach the chokepoints at the border where that Divine Domain met the Yongming Star System's Divine Domain. This position allowed them to evade at the first opportunity if they detected Chen Mo's forces arriving. Of course, this tactic might work against one formidable enemy, but not two.

As Chen Mo and Zhui Yi, leading their two tens of thousands Divine Power Formation Troops, entered the Divine Domain being occupied by the Myriad Divine Power Formation Troops dispatched by the Allied Forces of Various Star Systems, the Myriad Divine Power Formation Troop in that area immediately detected them. Their speed was truly extreme. Even though Chen Mo and Zhui Yi, upon entering, immediately used their Super Divine Flicker ability to teleport directly beside them, the enemy had already slipped through the border barrier and entered the adjacent Divine Domain.

Impressive, their reaction speed is truly fast, Chen Mo thought. It seems they were indeed constantly prepared for my attack.

Their hit-and-run tactics didn't hinder their progress in breaching the chokepoints of the Divine Domain Chen Mo was currently in. They would only become more proficient at breaching chokepoints they had already cleared. As soon as Chen Mo's army departed, they could immediately return and continue.

Chapter 708: Unexpected (Two in One) _3

Therefore, they were not really concerned about Chen Mo's attempt to capture them. The aliens had already prepared nearly half of their Myriad Divine Power Army units to delay Chen Mo. Chen Mo alone would have been hard-pressed to deal with even half the number of these Myriad Divine Power Army troops. After all, no matter which Divine Domain he chased them into, aliens in other Divine Domains would continue to break through. He would need to continuously move between different Divine Domains to stop them from advancing in each. However, a single team's mobility is extremely limited, and ultimately, they wouldn't be able to significantly hinder the aliens' progress.

Their counter-plan was sound, but unfortunately, an unexpected event occurred!

As they hid in the neighboring Divine Domain, Chen Mo naturally and immediately led his team in pursuit. The moment Chen Mo's team pursued them, the aliens, clearly anticipating this, immediately executed a first-transition. They crossed the nearby Divine Domain boundary and returned to the Divine Domain they had just left.

They were still smugly thinking they had tricked Chen Mo. However, they never imagined that just as they re-entered their previous Divine Domain, a sky-obscuring light would blaze before them. Simultaneously, the ground began to tremble. Before they could understand what was happening, a terrifyingly huge arrow smashed down on them!

BOOM! In an instant, their army shield was completely shattered.

"What's happening! This troop..."

Everyone was too shocked to react at first. While they were still perplexed, another dreadful arrow arrived. The second attack, launched by Zhui Yi leading a 25,000-point Divine Power Formation Troop, had already landed.

Instantly, under the terrifying amplification of Divine Power, this group of aliens was reduced to a pile of ashes.

Even as they died, they couldn't understand what had happened. Chen Mo wasn't in the enemy troop before them, so why did this troop also possess an army array exceeding 10,000 points?!

Due to the horrifying nature of their deaths, they didn't even have time to relay the news to their respective Star System's upper echelons. Moreover, since these individuals died within a Divine Domain controlled by the Solar System, the Yongming Star System couldn't receive news of their deaths immediately either.

Currently, according to the intelligence networks of the Large Star Systems, this particular alien army array's operational progress still indicated they were attacking the Divine Domain where Zhui Yi was located.

Just as Zhui Yi finished dealing with that group, Chen Mo returned to this Divine Domain.

Trying to play hide-and-seek with me, huh?

Through Zhui Yi's shared memory, Chen Mo discovered that those aliens hadn't managed to send back any information. The situation had been too sudden and shocking for them to do so.

Naturally, this was for the best.

Chen Mo glanced amusedly at the pile of loot that had dropped, then looked at Zhui Yi and said, "We still have work to do. According to intelligence from higher-ups, dozens of Myriad Divine Power Formation Troops have appeared this time. We're going to be busy."

At this moment, the members of both their teams were exceptionally excited. Never before had Myriad Divine Power Formation Troops seemed so fragile! They were now part of the Solar System's top-tier forces!

Naturally, many felt greatly honored and thrilled. This was particularly true for most members of Zhui Yi's team. After all, Chen Mo's squad consisted mostly of powerhouses, so their composure was more stable. In contrast, those in Zhui Yi's squad had rarely had the chance to truly take on significant responsibility for the Solar System. Now that they had such an opportunity, they naturally felt a great sense of honor.

After Chen Mo's forces eliminated the Yongming Star System's Myriad Divine Power Formation Troop, he wasn't in a hurry to occupy the adjacent Yongming Star System's Divine Domain. He knew that if he did, news of the anomaly here would be immediately relayed to the Yongming Star System.

His current strategy hinged on the element of surprise; he planned to ambush and eliminate several more Myriad Divine Power Formation Troops before considering other actions.

A Divine Domain is quadrilateral, with each one bordering four other Divine Domains. The Divine Domain to the left of Chen Mo's current location belonged to the Yongming Star System, and the one above him also belonged to the Yongming Star System. The Divine Domains below and to his right were Solar System territories. At this moment, the Solar System-controlled Divine Domain below was also being invaded. So, he naturally and immediately led Zhui Yi to intercept them!

Chapter 709: Astonishing Number of Death Information! (Two in one)_1

When Chen Mo and Zhui Yi arrived in another neighboring Divine Domain, the Alien Coalition Army reacted almost identically to how they had in the previous one. As soon as they sensed a terrifying Divine Power descend, they immediately crossed the boundary barrier of the Divine Domain they were in and retreated into their own.

Where did these guys learn guerrilla warfare from?

Seeing this, Chen Mo couldn't help but laugh.

He replicated his actions from the previous Divine Domain. The moment he passed through the boundary barrier, those aliens indeed darted back in.

This time, Zhui Yi acted faster, firing two terrifying Divine Power arrows in quick succession, effectively silencing them.

The Myriad Divine Power Army, once the most dominant force, had now become something that could be instantly eliminated. It was no wonder all the Large Star Systems felt such a strong sense of crisis. They now regretted not making such a drastic decision sooner; otherwise, their Star Systems wouldn't have been dragged into their current predicament.

But self-preservation is a common human failing. Initially, they believed they could eliminate Chen Mo by merely deploying one five-stars professional from each Star System, a loss they considered easily acceptable. They naturally wouldn't have felt any heartache over it. All their top combat forces could be held back to contend for the second region later. However, they hadn't anticipated their opponent being so outrageously strong; the Demonization Brigade, composed of five-stars professionals, was sacrificed for nothing.

They were then forced to resort to further measures, dispatching the top powerhouses from their Star Systems. This step was already a significant concession on their part. Yet, out of habit, they still chose to hold back, reluctant to deploy their Myriad Divine Power Army.

If they had employed such methods to launch a strong attack on the Solar System from the very beginning, Chen Mo likely wouldn't have had the chance to grow to his current strength. But then again, who could have foreseen any of this? The cost of directly deploying individuals wielding Myriad Divine Power Armies to this battlefield was truly immense; even the most elite Star Systems could not sustain such losses. Only when pushed into a desperate corner would they genuinely consider this final option.

Even if they regretted it now, upon careful reflection, they knew it would have been impossible to make such a decision from the outset. Although the higher-ups of the Yongming Star System verbally blamed the indecisiveness of other Star Systems for the current situation, they themselves were acutely aware that expecting these Star Systems to immediately dispatch individuals wielding Myriad Divine Power Armies was nothing more than a pipe dream.

As Chen Mo and Zhui Yi teamed up once more to silently eliminate another Myriad Divine Power Army unit, the Alien Coalition was now left with only ninety-seven such armies. This number was still terrifyingly large. For the Divine Domains the aliens were attacking, the Solar System—aside from dispatching its own Myriad Divine Power Army unit to hold off one enemy group—dared not send forces to intercept the others. They could only allow the invaders to conquer their Divine Domains as if walking into an undefended land. If this continued, the Solar System would undoubtedly be unable to hold out.

Chen Mo and Zhui Yi also hastened their efforts.

「Ten minutes later.」

Thirty percent of the Alien Coalition's Myriad Divine Power Army units had been eliminated. Now, only sixty-six units remained.

With such a drastic reduction in their Myriad Divine Power Army units, even the Alien Coalition, however slow its reaction time, began to realize something was wrong.

Although on the surface nothing seemed amiss, ten minutes had passed. Several groups had supposedly been provided with the solutions to clear their target Divine Domains, yet the Yongming Star System Tower's Base Control Room had received no reports of these Divine Domains being conquered. Logically, these few Divine Domains should have been under their control by now.

Based on this, they immediately sent out messages to inquire why the conquest progress was so slow. However, the replies they received were utterly unexpected.

"The Heavenly Path's Hint: Sorry, the professional you tried to contact is dead and cannot respond to your message at this time!"

Upon seeing this message, the Base Administrator who had sent the inquiries felt his heart sink. The leaders of those units had all added him as a friend before their departure for better management and message relay. He had initially assumed their progress was merely stalled by some intractable problem; he never, ever imagined they were actually dead!

This revelation utterly shocked the Base Administrator.

And it wasn't just one such death notification; several arrived almost simultaneously. These were the death replies from the leaders of the exact groups he had expected to have conquered their Divine Domains long ago, the very domains that remained uncaptured.

Seeing several such messages arrive, the Base Administrator was completely baffled.

According to the plan they had previously established, these individuals shouldn't have met with any mishaps. Even if something had gone wrong, how could they have perished without even having the time to send back a single message? What on earth could have happened to cause all these units to lose contact so bizarrely?

Unable to determine the cause for the moment, he had no choice but to report this critical matter and promptly issue a warning to all remaining individuals commanding Myriad Divine Power Armies.

"Attention, everyone! We have received reports that multiple Myriad Divine Power Army units have perished under mysterious circumstances. We have not yet received any relevant intelligence and are unsure what exactly has transpired. Please take all necessary precautions and report back immediately if you encounter any abnormal situations."

Chapter 710: Astonishing Number of Death Information! (Two in one)_2

Following the broadcast of this message by the Base Administrators of the Yongming Star System Tower, messages, each more despairing than the last, began to pop up one after another.

Initially, he assumed the trouble was limited to the few groups that had obtained the method to clear the Divine Domain's trials but had yet to succeed. However, to his dismay, his mass message prompted the Heavenly Dao to reply with dozens of death notifications.

He hadn't tallied the losses before, but when he did, the numbers utterly stunned him! A staggering thirty-three holders of the Myriad Divine Power Army had died! That meant only two-thirds of the original forces were alive now. This was outrageous! To think so many top-tier units had perished so silently!

This prompted the Alien Coalition Army to immediately organize a crucial discussion: How could the Solar System silently annihilate so many Myriad Divine Power Formation Troops?

At this moment, Chen Mo was still on the offensive.

However, when he attacked a group of thirty-four Myriad Divine Power Formation Troops this time, they were already prepared.

Previously, whenever Chen Mo arrived at a Divine Domain, the Alien Coalition Army stationed there would immediately flee, paying no attention whatsoever to Zhui Yi's accompanying troops. After all, the Divine Power of Chen Mo's troops was overwhelming. Beside them, any other Divine Power Formation Troop was like a firefly next to the sun, completely overshadowed and invisible. Consequently, all Alien Coalition Army forces had completely overlooked the existence of Zhui Yi's troops. This was why their previous targets had died so silently. No one would have expected that, apart from Chen Mo's troops with their tens of thousands of Divine Power, another force existed capable of instantly annihilating their Myriad Divine Power Formation Troops. Furthermore, Chen Mo's side had the advantage of meticulous planning against an unprepared enemy, and his kills were so swift that it was naturally even more difficult for them to transmit any information.

This time, however, even though Chen Mo had arrived, this particular Myriad Divine Power Formation Troop did not retreat immediately. They had just received orders from their superiors to observe and find out what was so unusual about the Solar System's forces. As they lingered to observe, they finally discovered another army accompanying Chen Mo's exceptionally powerful army. However, before they could gauge the strength of this accompanying army, Chen Mo had already led his own supremely powerful Divine Power Formation Troop to attack. This forced them to flee in haste. But, at least during their retreat, they managed to send back this vital piece of information.

"He's appeared at my location! I haven't figured out all the details, but I saw he has another unit with him!"

Although they now knew Chen Mo arrived with another unit, why the previous Myriad Divine Power Formation Troops had perished so silently still remained a baffling mystery. Even this Myriad Divine Power Formation Troop, which had just briefly encountered Chen Mo and Zhui Yi's forces, hadn't suspected it. They knew of Chen Mo's extraordinarily powerful army, but they couldn't imagine the Solar System possessed *another* such abnormal army.

As Chen Mo pursued them through the barrier, they quickly retreated into their original Divine Domain. Simultaneously, they prepared to get a good look at the army Chen Mo had brought with him, intending to report their findings swiftly.

The moment they slipped back into that Divine Domain, a blinding flash of light, preceded by a radiant streak, met them. Before they could react, two streaks of light slammed into their position. The first arrow shattered their army shield; the second obliterated their entire Myriad Divine Power Formation Troop.

「At the base of the Yongming Star System Tower」

The Base Administrator, who had just been communicating with the commander of this Myriad Divine Power Formation Troop, received another terrifying message.

[The Heavenly Path's Hint: I'm sorry, the professional you're contacting has already passed away and is currently unable to reply to you!]

What!? Dead again?

Previously, he had no idea how or when the others had died. Although he sensed something was amiss, he hadn't been overly shocked. But now, he was truly shaken to the core. This time, he had given them advance warning. Theoretically, this Myriad Divine Power Formation Troop should have been prepared, ready to send back information. Yet, they were annihilated without sending back any timely information. This clearly demonstrated that the enemy's kill speed was terrifyingly fast! Even without complete intelligence, when this news reached the think tank, they quickly pieced most of it together.

If Chen Mo had brought another army, that army either possessed extreme control abilities or immense offensive power. If it only possessed powerful control abilities, it could theoretically hold their Myriad Divine Power Formation Troops in place, preventing escape, allowing Chen Mo's exceptionally strong army to eliminate them. However, this hypothesis couldn't account for the sheer speed of the kills. After all, if they were merely restrained and then killed by Chen Mo's army, they would have had ample time to send back a warning. But these annihilated Myriad Divine Power Formation Troops had all been wiped out with baffling speed, too fast to even send a message. This indicated they were killed instantly! If so, the other army Chen Mo brought must possess such devastating power. Only if the Solar System deployed two armies of this caliber simultaneously could such a feat be possible.

Once all impossible scenarios were eliminated, whatever remained, however improbable, had to be the truth. Although the aliens were stunned by this conclusion, having eliminated all other possibilities, they were forced to accept this seemingly impossible one. After all, the enemy hadn't just swiftly annihilated one Myriad Divine Power Formation Troop; over thirty had now been lost. If only one or two had fallen, it could be attributed to some special consumable item. But with so many destroyed, it had to be a display of consistent combat strength.

What!? How could the think tank arrive at *this* conclusion?

When the Alien think tank reported their deduction, all the high-ranking officials looked extremely grim. It was already incredibly abnormal and problematic that the Solar System possessed one army with over 10,000 Divine Power. How could the Solar System possibly field a *second* such army?

If the Solar System had a second such army, could they produce a third, or even a fourth? What would be the point of this war then?

"Gentlemen, what do you think?"

"Since the think tank unanimously agrees this is the only possibility, then it must be true. We are facing the worst-case scenario. The Solar System now possesses at least two armies with Divine Power far exceeding 10,000 points, and one Myriad Divine Power Formation Troop. These two armies, with Divine Power far exceeding 10,000 points, can annihilate our Myriad Divine Power Formation Troops in an instant. If they attack together, they can pick off our forces one by one, leaving no chance of escape."

Damn it! What in the world is going on with the Solar System? How can a supposedly weak star system, with only a single Life Planet, be so troublesome and monstrously powerful!

"If the enemy truly possesses such strength, what should we do now? Continuing to deploy Myriad Divine Power Armies seems like the worst possible strategy. We only have just over sixty Myriad Divine Power Formation Troops remaining. Conquering their Divine Domains will take time, and it's highly unlikely we can succeed before they wipe out all our remaining Myriad Divine Power Formation Troops."

There's no other choice. We have to split them up.

"What does the think tank say?"

"The think tank's recommendation is to disperse and pillage. In each Divine Domain, one individual will be left to attempt to clear its trial. A Myriad Divine Power Formation Troop will lie in ambush in a nearby Divine Domain. If any low-Divine Power armies from the Solar System approach, they will be eliminated. If an exceptionally strong army like Chen Mo's appears, the individual attempting to clear the trial will be sacrificed, and a replacement will be sent in later. Since the Myriad Divine Power Formation Troops would be hidden in adjacent Divine Domains, they wouldn't be so easily discovered and destroyed. This strategy, at least, offers a slim chance of turning the tide."
