Chapter 83 Don't Know It's So Abnormal! (4/5)_1

"Three people, huh?"

Chen Mo considered whether to find someone to come over and test it.

He opened the semi-transparent floating window before him and clicked on the message Meng Han had sent earlier.

[Sorry, I was busy farming monsters and didn't see your message.]

Meng Han had sent his message to Chen Mo quite a while ago. Seeing no reply, he'd thought his question might have been too abrupt and had felt too embarrassed to send another.

When Chen Mo finally replied, Meng Han immediately responded, [No worries! You guys are farming monsters so quickly; your progress is already more than ten times ours!]

[We're farming in a place where no one is competing for monsters, so it's fast.]

[Is there really a place with no competition?]

[Yes, it's in an event area that only opens on the second day. No one is snatching monsters here.]

At that moment, Meng Han was stunned as he read Chen Mo's reply.

"When we first entered, didn't the Heavenly Dao warn us that entering unopened areas prematurely would be very dangerous, and we'd be responsible for the consequences?" Meng Han asked his teammates.

"It seems so," Lady Wu said, flipping through The Heavenly Path's Hint log. "Yes, it did."

"Chen Mo just told me they were able to farm monsters so fast because they're in an event area that only opens on the second day."

Meng Han was skeptical. Could the Heavenly Dao be lying?

"Then why don't we go in and try? Look, the area that opens tomorrow is just a few hundred meters away, marked by that faint Energy membrane," Lin Luoluo said, pointing to the distant, thin layer of Energy.

"Isn't that too risky? What if it's dangerous? It's scary... maybe we shouldn't~" Lady Wu felt a bit frightened and leaned against Meng Han.

Meng Han gently patted his arm. "It'll be okay, I'm here. We'll just test things out near the boundary; there shouldn't be any danger."

The main reason for their willingness was that the information came from someone who had easily completed a tenfold mission, so the team was naturally tempted.

Although they were almost done with today's mission, who wouldn't want their reward to be even better?

If they also had a chance to complete a tenfold mission like Chen Mo's group, that would be ideal.

The group immediately began to approach the Energy membrane.

Soon, all five of them stepped through it.

They had no idea what to expect, but the moment they entered, they were aghast!

All five stared at each other, eyes wide with disbelief.

"Did you guys receive a Heavenly Path's Hint?" Meng Han asked, his throat tight as he swallowed.

"Yes! Oh my god, all monsters in this area are ten times stronger until it officially opens tomorrow! How is this possibly a good place to farm monsters?" Lady Wu was stunned.

Lin Luoluo and the other two were also in utter disbelief.

Before entering this area, they knew Chen Mo and Yan Yingyue's monster farming data was incredibly impressive, almost freakish. But it wasn't until they actually stepped into this zone that they truly understood just how incredibly, freakishly effective they were!

It turned out Chen Mo and Yan Yingyue had been fighting monsters far exceeding everyone else's difficulty by tenfold, and they still maintained such an astonishing farming speed!

The five of them felt as if they were dreaming.

It was hard to believe this was real.

Were they all really Level 10 professionals? Surely, they weren't Level 100, were they?!

Even the low-level monsters in the first day's area had a lot of Health. It took them several hits to kill one. If these monsters were ten times stronger, how much Health would they have?

And under such conditions, Chen Mo and Yan Yingyue were still racking up kills as if they were merely chopping vegetables, their numbers soaring? Are those two even human?

Terrified, Meng Han's group of five quickly retreated from the second day's area.

Just then, Meng Han received another message from Chen Mo: [I see you guys are almost done with your mission. I've found a trigger glyph here. I'm not sure if it's for a hidden mission or a Special BOSS, but it seems to require three people to activate. Do you want to send someone over to try?]

[Okay, Lady Wu isn't busy with anything on our side right now. Let him go to your side and try.]

Reading this, an image of Lady Wu—tall and well-built, yet with a coy demeanor—flashed through Chen Mo's mind. He couldn't help but shiver, genuinely wanting to ask for someone else. However, he worried it might seem like he was discriminating against him, which wouldn't be good. So, he could only reply, [Great, I'll send you the coordinates.]

"Xiao Wu," Meng Han said, addressing Lady Wu. "Chen Mo needs someone to go over and help test if a mission can be triggered. We've pretty much finished our missions, and we know the strength of the first day's monsters. We basically don't need a Support right now, so you go help Chen Mo."

As soon as Meng Han spoke, Lin Luoluo and the other two immediately cast envious glances at Lady Wu. With Chen Mo and Yan Yingyue's heaven-defying monster farming speed, they too wanted to get in on it! In their current team, whoever went was sure to reap the benefits. Since the other party was asking for help, they would definitely assist in completing the missions. And with their strength, this 'help' probably wouldn't just mean completing the day's quota; it was likely they'd help them reach tenfold completion directly! Such a great opportunity—of course, they wanted to take part.

However, Meng Han was also right. The other four were all combat-capable and still had some mission objectives to complete. Their efficiency as a group of four would be high. Only Lady Wu had been idling by, benefiting without contributing much to the monster farming. If he left, the remaining four wouldn't have to cover his portion of the kills, which would also relieve some pressure on them. It was an acceptable arrangement.

Thinking this, no one else spoke up.

But Lady Wu was clearly reluctant to leave Meng Han.

"Go on, it's okay," Meng Han said reassuringly. Privately, however, he sent a message to Lady Wu, telling him this was a great opportunity to achieve tenfold mission completion and that he should seize it.

Seeing Meng Han's insistence, Lady Wu could only reluctantly leave the party and head towards the coordinates Meng Han had given him.

「Some time later,」

Chen Mo and Yan Yingyue, who were lounging bored on the same large rock, both heard the sound of approaching footsteps.

They immediately sat up.

They saw Lady Wu running over, panting heavily.

"You... you scared me to death!" he exclaimed, leaning against a large tree and patting his chest.

"What happened?" Chen Mo asked, naturally curious since Lady Wu had said "scared to death" rather than "exhausted to death."

"I don't know why, but just now, while I was running here alone, I encountered two people. When they saw I was by myself, they looked like they wanted to kill me! It was really terrifying. Luckily, when they chased me into the area opening on the second day, they had just entered when they retreated again." After catching his breath, Lady Wu recounted what had just happened.

"So, there really are people in this dungeon who'd kill for loot!" Chen Mo remarked, somewhat surprised.

"I don't even dare to run back now. I'm really afraid they're still waiting for me there," Lady Wu said, his handsome face filled with terror.

"You've already gotten away; they probably won't still be there. Don't worry, we'll escort you back later. First, come over here and try this formation pattern," Chen Mo said, beckoning Lady Wu over.
