Chapter 91 Special Task! (2/5) _1

"Yingyue, no need to search any further. I've found something."

Upon discovering the hole, Chen Mo immediately called back Yan Yingyue, who was still diligently searching elsewhere.

"A hole like this is unusual. I wonder what's inside. It's so dark. Should we send your Skeleton Monster first to check for danger?"

Yan Yingyue tried to peek inside the hole, but it was pitch black and impossible to see anything.

"Wait a moment, I'll leave the party first."

After leaving the party, Chen Mo's Pioneer ability activated, allowing him to instantly perceive the hole's interior.

"It's pitch-dark inside. I'll go down to take a look. Just wait for me up here."

"Ah? Aren't you going to send your Skeleton Monster in first?"

"It's okay. I have a piece of equipment that allows me to see the environment clearly when I split from the team. I can already see what's inside."

Chen Mo remembered a mission he had seen while looking up Holy Water for a task to cleanse the ominous aura from the Heart of God.

In that mission, a certain type of Holy Water was produced within the Five Spirits Gathering Dungeon.

The mission to obtain this Holy Water seemed to involve rescuing certain Element Sprites from a hole.

Each mission was different, but none were simple.

"I see. Be careful then."

Hearing about Chen Mo's special equipment, Yan Yingyue didn't overthink it and simply reminded him to be cautious.

Chen Mo nodded and, relying on his perception ability, easily descended into the pitch-black pit.

The hole was quite deep, over a hundred meters.

Chen Mo's perception ability covered a sphere with a 330-meter radius around him.

Naturally, he could clearly perceive everything in all directions—front, back, left, right, up, or down.

He perceived that, more than a hundred meters underground, a palm-sized sprite, white as jade, lay weakly on a stone platform.

As Chen Mo reached the bottom of the hole, he could finally see a faint light with his naked eye.

It was emitted by that sprite.

What he saw with his naked eye and what he perceived were entirely different worlds.

In the world of perception, there was no darkness; everything around him was incredibly clear.

Chen Mo still relied on his perception ability to move, as the faint light was insufficient.

As Chen Mo got closer, The Heavenly Path's Hint suddenly rang out.

[The Heavenly Path's Hint: You have triggered a hidden mission, Rescue the Dying Light Spirit! Do you want to accept?]

[The Heavenly Path's Hint: If the mission fails, you will lose 100 survival days. If there are insufficient days for deduction, you will be forcibly kicked out of the dungeon.]

The failure penalty is so severe!?

Chen Mo was instantly shocked.

He quickly checked the mission details.

[Mission Description: The Five Major Elemental Sprites—Earth, Water, Fire, Wind, and Thunder—have suddenly gathered here. Consequently, the Light Spirit Erin, who originally lived here, was heavily injured and is now in critical condition. Please retrieve one S-level, one SS level, and one SSS-level Special BOSS corpse each for him to absorb energy from them and regain his mobility!]

[Mission Hint: Before the mission is completed, for each Special BOSS corpse retrieved, the Light Spirit's life can be extended by three, five, or ten days, depending on the Special BOSS's rank.]

[Mission Reward: Elf Holy Water, +200 survival days, and a one-day double survival day reward. During this 24-hour BUFF, all survival days you receive will be doubled.]

[Mission Restriction: Light Spirit Erin's remaining survival time: 23 hours, 59 minutes, and 47 seconds.]

[The Heavenly Path's Hint: If you do not accept the mission, this hole will be sealed after you leave...]

Upon reading the complete mission description, Chen Mo was somewhat hesitant. The problem is that encountering a Special BOSS is unpredictable. What if I can't find any? Wouldn't I be kicked out prematurely? That would be such a loss!

But the mission reward was indeed generous. Completing this mission would be very helpful in obtaining SSS-level rewards.

After all, the reward alone was 200 survival days, plus an extra double reward for one day.

After much hesitation and a second review of the mission, Chen Mo eventually decided to accept it.

Who knows how many tasks it will take to reach 2,880 days.

A mission offering a direct reward of 200 survival days is right in front of me; it's too tempting.

The mission might be difficult for others, but not for me.

The only problem is whether I can find the corresponding BOSS. As long as I can find them, killing them is guaranteed.

As Chen Mo accepted the mission, The Heavenly Path's Hint immediately sent him a time limit warning.

[The Heavenly Path's Hint: You have accepted a time-limited mission in this dungeon. Please complete the mission within the time limit, or you will face punishment.]

The Light Spirit Erin now had less than 24 hours to live and urgently needed his life extended.

Upon seeing this, Chen Mo immediately retrieved the corpse of the S-level difficulty Special BOSS, the Fire Thunder Bull, from his space backpack.

This is why I dared to risk accepting this mission.

I already have an S-level Special BOSS corpse, which can temporarily extend the mission deadline.

This gives me at least four days to find the required Special BOSS corpses.

Moreover, based on my observation of the mission hints, they state that each corpse of the corresponding rank found will extend his life by a certain amount of time.

It didn't say his life can only be extended once.

Although it might not be possible to gather all three required Special BOSS corpses in a short time, if I can bring back more Special BOSS corpses, it might extend Erin's life to a full thirty days.

The mission deadline would then have plenty of leeway.

As for whether this is possible, I haven't tried it yet, so I don't know; I'm only guessing.

What I need to do now is secure a three-day extension first.

With the appearance of the Fire Thunder Bull corpse, a cluster of strange lights suddenly emerged from the Light Spirit Erin, enveloping the Fire Thunder Bull's corpse.

In just three breaths, the huge Fire Thunder Bull corpse vanished, transforming into a burst of light that flowed into the Light Spirit's body.

However, the Light Spirit was still unconscious, though his condition had indeed improved from his previous dying state.

Seeing the Light Spirit's survival time on the Heavenly Path System interface increase to nearly four days, Chen Mo finally left the hole, relieved.

The moment Yan Yingyue reached out and pulled him from the hole, an energy shield materialized over its entrance.

It was clearly meant to prevent other professionals from entering.

"What happened, Chen Mo? Was there something inside? You were down there for quite a long time," Yan Yingyue asked. She had been so worried when Chen Mo hadn't returned for a while that she'd almost followed him down.

It was too dark inside; she wouldn't have been able to descend even if she'd wanted to.

Unless she learned skills like Flash Technique or Illumination Technique.

These were basic Priest skills, but they weren't cheap. They were only suitable for specific adventuring zones and rarely used otherwise. Since Yan Yingyue's family wasn't wealthy, she hadn't purchased or learned them yet.

Exiting the hole, Chen Mo sent Yan Yingyue a party invitation and said, "There's a special mission inside, but it's single-player, and you can't leave once you accept. So, I had to take it myself."

"I see. I'm not really concerned about special missions. Just by joining your party and reaching the tenfold daily completion quota, I've already surpassed my expectations for this dungeon." Yan Yingyue laughed contentedly.
