

Gluey Love 1081

Chapter 1081

She dialed Malcom's phone number quickly.

Malcom was perfunctory about answering other people's calls, but he always answered Haven's calls as quickly as possible.

"Haven, what's wrong?" Malcom was also reading the news about Alwynn Group.

In this period of time, what he paid the most attention to was Victor's matter. The police didn't reveal the news of Victor's accident, and not many people knew about it.

"Malcom, Victor has gone abroad, which surprised me a lot. However, it also gives me more chances." Haven sounded very confident.

Malcom narrowed his eyes as he read the news that Eden had become president.

What could a design student do to run a company?

He thought that the person who would take over Alwynn Group would be Lucian.

He didn't expect it would be Victor's wife.

This woman was very talented in design, but it was hard to say if she was good at business management.

"Haven, let's go to the Clement family tomorrow. Now that you've gotten everything you wanted, I can marry you now." Malcom smiled happily. There were many beautiful women, but he just liked a woman like Haven.

Haven smiled and said confidently, "I'm also planning a showdown with the Clement family tomorrow. How about you accompany me to the Clement family tomorrow?"

Hearing this, Malcom smiled and his eyes suddenly lit up. "Great! Haven, I also want to be with you aboveboard. But don't worry, I won't hold you back, and I will help you instead."

"I know. I will pick you up tomorrow morning."

"Okay!" After hanging up the phone, Malcom smiled smugly.

There was no problem in this world that money can't solve.

After Haven hung up the phone, she looked out the window with an unprecedented determined expression.

Haven muttered to herself, "Mom, don't blame me for being ruthless. Just blame Eden for being alive."

You gave me hope when you brought me back to the Clement family, and you shouldn't let me down now.

You let me get close to Victor, but then you ruined my dream."

Haven took a deep breath. She missed the beautiful days of her childhood, thinking that she would be the only young lady in the Clement family and live her dream of being a princess.

Since she was a child, she thought that she could marry Victor according to her mother.

However, in the end, her dream was still shattered.

After Eden appeared, her mother's attitude towards her changed. She felt particularly uncomfortable and awkward living in that home.

Especially when she met Eden, she felt that everything she had was taken away by Eden.

In that home, she clearly realized that she was excluded.

She seldom made mistakes since she was a child. She was afraid that if she made mistakes, her mother would criticize her and dislike her.

She lived with such a humble attitude and cautiousness and felt satisfied whenever she saw her mother's gentle smile.

She would become the daughter her mother liked.

However, she didn't know when she started to dislike living such a humble life anymore.

She resented her humble attitude.

After she came out to work by herself, she realized how ignorant she was before and how much money and time she wasted.

However, from tomorrow on, she could finally show her confident smile.

Haven smiled and focused on today's work. Since she got the Clement family, she would still work here. She had to do a better job in order to prove herself superior to Eden.

In the future, she must take advantage of good opportunities when she encounters them, and also get along well with others, so that she can develop her career well.

Malcom narrowed his eyes as he read Eden's information on the computer.

If Victor had not been there, he would have had more chances to get Alwynn Group.

Without Victor's effective and decisive decisions, Eden would not have been able to run the company well.

He was well aware of that.

His phone suddenly rang.

Malcom picked up the phone impatiently without looking at the phone number.

"Hello!" His voice was cold.

"I'm running out of places to hide. If you don't find a way to save me, we'll have to be arrested together."

Malcom frowned slightly when he found that it was Neal.

This guy was pretty amazing. He actually escaped another 10 days of police chasing.

"Sure enough you're not that easy to be arrested. However, as long as I deny it, you don't have any evidence to say that I let you do it. Don't forget that I gave you the cash." Malcom didn't care about Neal's threat at all.

"How can you do this?" Neal was furious. He has been hiding all this time. The police were driving him crazy.

"No, I didn't commit any crime before. If the police didn't suspect me, they wouldn't keep looking for me like this. They must have found relevant evidence that I did it. At the same time, I was instructed by you, so do you think you can still escape from the law?"

Malcom thought he had a point, then said angrily, "There are no cameras where I meet with you. How would they find evidence of that?"

"How could I know? I have no place to hide in the north district. These days, they have conducted two thorough searches, but they still haven't given up. I am about to be discovered. If you don't try to save me, we will be screwed together."

Malcom asked with an angry expression, "How do you want me to help you?"

"You bring a set of women's clothes and makeup supplies over. I'll dress up as your girlfriend and you take me out of here. Then I'll find a way to hide somewhere else."

Malcom frowned. What if this was a trap for him?

"Okay, I'll call you tomorrow."

"How can I wait until tomorrow? You come here right now, and I..." Neal hadn't finished speaking when his phone, which hadn't been charged for many days, suddenly ran out of battery.

"D*mn it!" He growled angrily. He looked a bit like Amelia. But now his face was full of scruff looking unbearably haggard, and the black clothes he wore were dirty.

He hid under a cliff, a small space, damp and smelly, which made him uncomfortable.

He glanced outside and saw that the police had already left with their dogs. He could finally go out and get some air.

He climbed out with his head down, feeling comfortable in the sun.

It was still quite cold at night by the sea. He spent the night huddled up here last night, which was really hard.

Now that his phone was out of power, he was even more filled with fear.

Neal was about to get some water when, after a few steps, two dark figures sprang up from behind the rocks and held him to the ground.

Chapter 1082

"Freeze! Police!" A middle-aged police officer yelled.

They had spent a lot of time and energy trying to catch Neal this time.

Neal was extremely cunning, and if he hadn't just made a phone call, they wouldn't have been able to catch him in such a short time.

Neal struggled with anger.

However, no matter how strong he was, he was not as strong as the few policemen and he was eventually taken away.

...

Early the next morning.

Haven took a few days off from work and broke into Buddy's office with Malcom and a group of shareholders and assistants she had paid off at the Clement family group.

Buddy had just come out of the meeting, and Wyatt and Aisling were both here.

They had just received a call from the police that Neal had been arrested.

They were on their way to see Delmont in prison.

Buddy knew what was going on when he saw Haven barge in with so many shareholders.

But Wyatt and Aisling were confused.

"Haven, why did you come here with the company's shareholders?" Wyatt frowned at his daughter in front of him, who was dressed in a different way today, looking more luxurious and confident.

Haven glanced first at her brother before looking into Wyatt's loving face and smiling smugly and arrogantly, "Dad, I'm now the largest shareholder of the Clement family. What do you think I'm doing here?"

Wyatt's kind face suddenly turned serious. He looked sharply at the shareholders and Haven.

Those shareholders lowered their heads with a shameful face, not daring to look at Wyatt's sharp gaze.

Wyatt frowned slightly. How could they fool around with a little girl?

Aisling was also stunned, and then said angrily, "Haven, you are really ungrateful and cruel to send your brother to prison." Aisling's sarcastic tone showed the darker side of her character at this point.

Haven glanced at Malcom behind her and said, "Malcom, you take everyone and wait in the conference room first, I'll come over after I communicate with my parents."

"Okay!" Malcom squinted at Aisling and left with the others.

Buddy glanced at Malcom. His expression was suddenly gloomy and terrible, but desperately trying to hold back all his anger.

Only the four of them were left in Buddy's office.

Haven smiled and said, "Mom..."

"Shut up, who is your mother? You're nothing but something I picked up from outside that's worse than a dog.

How dare you call me mom? I don't have a daughter like you. I only have one daughter in my life.

She is gentler, prettier, kinder and more excellent than you. How are you worthy to be my daughter? Seeing you makes me feel sick of you, like seeing a parasite in rotten flesh."

Haven laughed out loud at her heartless words and she didn't seem to be upset anymore.

She had cared so much about her mother before, but now she didn't.

It was true that they were not related by blood, so they were not destined to be that close.

After laughing for a while, Haven looked at Aisling and said arrogantly and ironically, "Mrs. Clement, the daughter you said was better than me is now a cripple. How do you think she is better than me?"

Speaking of this, Haven's gaze suddenly turned cold and her tone became mocking, "Also, I did know that Eden was your daughter before any of you did, and I set everything up after that. I wanted to turn your mother and daughter against each other, so that she could never return to this family.

But unfortunately, your daughter is indeed kind. You did so many bad things to her, even pushed her own daughter down the stairs and broke her bones, and even abused her with the most vicious language in this world. She silently chose to forgive you."

"You vicious woman..." Aisling was so angry that she raised her hand towards Haven's face and hit her.

These things had always made her regret.

Every time she saw her daughter, she regretted it so much that she wanted to slap herself.

Haven quickly grabbed her wrist and said maliciously, "Mrs. Clement, you don't have the right to hit me now. Your family will become an outcast."

"Mom, calm down." Buddy, who had not spoken all the time, said calmly.

"Buddy, How can I calm down? She's such an ungrateful b*tch."

"Mom, no matter what you think she is, but she was also raised in the Clement family."

Back then, it was also Aisling who insisted on bringing Haven home.

"Get your filthy hands off me." Aisling gave a hard shake to free herself from Haven's grasp.

"Do you think I'm dirty now? You didn't say that when you brought me home as a child. You kept inducing me to learn all sorts of social etiquette, wine tasting, and dressing style, just so that one day I can replace your daughter to marry Victor.

I grew up with such hope under your tutelage. I lived humbly as a obedient young lady. I didn't dare to make a mistake for fear that I would be hated by your whole family.

This is how I've lived my entire life in your Clement family. When I was full of hope, your daughter suddenly appeared, so the person who finally married Victor was not me but your daughter. How can I reconcile myself to that? My dream of marrying him was shattered, and I also despaired of you guys at that moment."

At this point, Haven moved closer to Aisling and stared at her.

Aisling frowned and took a few steps back.

Wyatt stretched out his hand to support her.

Haven roared hysterically, "It's all because you gave me hope and let me down that I'm in this situation today. All because of you!"

Suddenly, Wyatt raised his hand and gave her a hard slap in the face.

"Have you said enough? If so, get out of here. From today onwards, you will not be allowed to step foot in the door of our Clement family." Wyatt, who had always been a loving man, was now like a different person.

His gaze was frightening, but he was actually heartbroken.

He had never hit Haven and had raised her as his own daughter since she was a child.

But he didn't expect her to betray them and their expectations and love for her just because of her jealousy.

Chapter 1083

"Dad, you've never hit me before. Are you finally angry now?" Haven looked at Wyatt provocatively as she covered her sore face.

He was kind, but also cowardly especially when it came to his wife, never opposing her decisions.

So, everything was decided by Aisling.

Wyatt was a kind man, but at this point he had a complicated expression of anger and helplessness. He took a deep breath and tried to calm down, "Haven, I can only say that during the years you lived in the Clement family, we did not treat you badly. Except for this Victor thing, we have no guilt about you."

"No guilt?" Haven lost her mind and yelled, "The building you sold billions of dollars and immediately gave Eden almost a third of it, while I had nothing. Can you still say you have no guilt for such a difference in treatment?"

Hearing this, Wyatt didn't get angry but laughed instead, "Haven, when the Clement family was about to go bankrupt, didn't you think about how to get out of the Clement family? Why did you ignore our opposition and marry Vincent in advance? I know you are just afraid that you couldn't continue to live a luxurious life after the Clement family fails.

Just when you were desperate to get rid of us, Eden was running around for the Clement family. She convinced Mr. Calder to solve our Clement family's bankruptcy crisis.

And where and what did you do at that time? Aren't you ashamed to bring it up?" Wyatt said fiercely and ruthlessly.

Haven's eyes went wide with shock at the words. Zaiden actually came to help because of Eden.

How did she manage to get Zaiden to help the Clement family at such great expense?

Buddy stood up and said, "No matter how many things that happened in the past can't change the current situation. You don't need the last name Clement anymore, change it back to your original last name. Your aunt, uncle and cousin are all still alive. Since you don't think we can give you a sense of home, you can find them."

"What?" Aisling's eyes widened, "Does she ..... still have family?" Aisling was in some disbelief, "When I first adopted her, the director of the orphanage said she had no other family."

Haven was also stunned. How did he know that?

Wyatt took a deep breath.

Buddy glanced at his dad. Although he didn't say anything and didn't ask anything, he actually understood Haven's character better than anyone else.

"Mom, there are many things that you don't know. I will tell you later. Let's solve this problem today first."

After Buddy said that, he dialed the intercom. "Noah, let the reporters in."

"Ok, Mr. Clement."

Buddy looked up at Haven and said, "I thought that with your ability, a week would be enough, but I didn't expect you to take ten days. I have to say that I overestimated you. If you want the Clement group, I'll give it to you."

Upon hearing this, Haven looked at him in confusion and asked nervously, "How do you know that?"

Buddy sneered. "Do you think that what you have done is very secretive? Now let's go to the conference room."

Buddy said as he walked out.

Wyatt and Aisling looked at each other.

Then, they followed him to the conference room.

Haven frowned and felt a little uneasy. But she quickly figured out that those shareholders wouldn't dare betray her. She had all the evidence of the illegal things they did secretly. So she must be the last winner.

She followed confidently into the conference room.

When they arrived at the conference room, the reporters were already waiting there.

Haven looked at the reporters invited by Buddy and felt a little uneasy.

What id Buddy want to do?

She saw Buddy was sitting elegantly on the seat of the host.

Glancing at the reporters, he smiled slightly. His handsome face and gorgeous figure were pleasing to the eye.

"Dear reporters, I invited you here today to share good news with you." His elegant voice slowly passed into everyone's ears.

A female reporter asked with a smile, "Mr. Clement, it is said that you became a father not long ago. Now what is the good news?"

Buddy smiled, "It is indeed a very happy news for our Clement family. We, the Clement family, have another lady who was lost at the age of six, and now we have finally found her."

"Well! Who is she?" Another male reporter asked quickly.

"Eden, the president's wife of Clement family group, is my sister."

Haven frowned and looked at Buddy in confusion. Why did he announce Eden's identity on such an occasion?

"Eden! She is the design director of Alwynn Group. I've met her, a beautiful and very capable woman. She has made the Alwynn Group number one in several nearby cities over the past year or so, and her winter clothes in particular are very popular."

"Yes, the suit I'm wearing is this year's spring product, and it's very comfortable to wear and very fashionable. I heard it was designed by the couple together, and I feel happy just wearing it."

Alwynn Group has always been in the news media spotlight.

But there was very little news they could find related to Victor.

Now this news can be taken as a headline.

"Congratulations Mr. Clement. and congratulations to the Clement family for finding your young lady."

Wyatt and Aisling also smiled. They didn't expect their son to announce it at this time.

All the reporters looked at Aisling and Wyatt with a smile and congratulated them.

The marriage of the Clement family and the Alwynn family indicated that Eden would become the most honored lady in River City.

She was like a princess who lived in the castle. Not to mention that everyone knew how much Victor doted on her.

At this moment, Haven had been forgotten by everyone, and she was standing behind those reporters in anger.

Buddy said calmly again, "But today I will also announce a bad news."

Upon hearing the bad news, everyone instantly fell silent, and even those shareholders looked at Buddy uneasily.

Buddy's ability was also seen by everyone in the company.

Haven tensed up.

"Brother." She suddenly called out.

Only then did everyone realize that Haven was also here.

Haven smiled at everyone and walked toward Buddy.

Chapter 1084

She walked up to Buddy and asked in a low voice, "What do you want to do?"

Buddy raised his eyebrows and looked at her. "What's wrong? Are you afraid?"

Buddy looked at her calmly. His voice was not too loud but everyone could hear him clearly.

Haven frowned and her expression suddenly turned cold, "Buddy, why should I be afraid?"

She looked at the crowd and smiled charmingly. "Dear journalists, I already own fifty-three percent of the Clement family, and I'm here today to compete for the right to run the Clement family. Why don't we witness it together?"

Buddy just quietly watched her foolish behavior.

A female reporter sharply asked, "Miss Clement, I heard that you are the adopted daughter of the Clement family. Are you doing this to compete with the Clement family who raised you?"

Haven looked at her with a sweet and charming smile and gently stroked the hair beside her ear, "What you said is too serious. This should all be decided by business ability. My brother almost bankrupted our Clement family because he was emotional. I must think about the livelihood of those employees in Clement Group, not trust someone who can only be emotional."

A male reporter asked again, "But the Clement family also passed that crisis, and now it is developing very well. Mr. Clement's ability has never let everyone down."

Haven smiled and said, "This is our company's business. Anyway, with more than 50% of shares, I am capable enough to be the next president of Clement group."

Buddy glanced at her. A person can lose anything, but not faith. Haven had no faith at all, so she was destined to have nothing in the future.

He looked at Haven calmly. "You can become the president of Clement Group. However, you are no longer a member of the Clement family from this moment on and no longer have anything to do with us, because the Clement family will not have an ingrate. Today I give the Clement group to you, we have done our utmost to you. However, you may have to work somewhere else, there is no place for you here."

Hearing this, Haven felt funny, "Are you kidding? This building is also owned by the Clement family, and part of it belongs to me as well."

Buddy leaned back slightly and looked at her calmly, "Are you sure you have a share here?" Haven was stunned, remembering that there were three percent of shares Clement family had never given her.

Buddy said, "Our company has experienced great losses in recent times. Several hundred million dollars of money was inexplicably transferred.

In order to avoid greater losses, this building, including all the properties under the name of Clement Group, was gifted to my sister, Eden. She suffered so much outside, and these are the compensation for her. Now these also belong to the Alwynn Group."

"What?" Haven stared at Buddy with wide eyes in shock.

No wonder he was so quick to agree to give her Clement Group. It turned out to be a company with nothing. How could she run it?

Malcom was also stunned. He didn't expect the Clement family to do this.

In this way, Haven would struggle after separating from the Clement family.

A reporter rushed to ask, "Mr. Clement, have you found out who transferred the money from the company?"

Buddy said, "I haven't found it yet, but the police have been doing their best to investigate. There are clues recently. I'll be sure to share the good news with everyone when we find out the truth."

Haven looked at Malcom with a startled expression.

Malcom gave Haven an assuring look, telling her not to be afraid.

Even if the police find out the cash flow, Haven will not be suspected.

After all, she had invested in other companies before.

It was him who would be suspected. As a wage earner with no family background, it was strange to see several hundred million dollars suddenly appear in his account.

Buddy suddenly turned grim and terrible and said with extreme disgust, "You are already the president, and Noah will assist you in other matters. Now take your shareholders and leave here immediately."

"No..." Haven shook her head excitedly, unwilling to accept the result.

She had planned for so long, but all her efforts were in vain in the end.

All of this still belonged to Eden.

She did not accept the result!

Upon hearing this, all the shareholders also knew what Buddy meant.

Their betrayal just let the Clement family out of their responsibility and management of the company.

One of the shareholders said excitedly, "Mr. Clement, you can't give up on us like this. We have been working in Clement Group for more than ten years."

Buddy looked at him gloomily, "You guys betrayed first. You can't blame anyone."

Hearing this, that shareholder lowered his head in shame and dared not speak.

Buddy wrote down all the shareholders who betrayed him. Eden and Lucian were right. It might be costly, but the future of the Clement family was more important.

Then Buddy looked at Haven with a gloomy gaze, "Leave here immediately with your people, or security will come to evict you."

"Buddy, how could you do that?" Haven angrily questioned, "Is it because I have more shares than yours that you are in such a hurry to let me leave Clement family? I am also a member of the Clement family."

When she left here, the shareholders must turn against her.

She had never dreamed that things would turn out like this.

While she was busy acquiring shares, he secretly transferred all the properties to Alwynn Group. Buddy was really cunning.

"Really? Am I the one keeping you out of the Clement family connection, or are you the one? I think you know very well. It's our fault for adopting you to raise you and not teaching you well. It ended up making the Clement family a joke. Your ingratitude has upset the people who adopted you and nurtured you. If you still have a conscience, you'd better leave immediately."

He also arranged many other things against Haven afterwards.

This time, they would arrange everything so that she would fall into the trap herself.

A person has to work hard like Eden said in order to hold everything securely in his hands, so as not to lose to anyone.

What kind of person was Haven?

He knew very well that she was someone who grew up only knowing how to trap people and enjoy a luxurious life. Even if she were given a complete Clement Group, how long would she be able to run it?

Haven's behavior as an adopted daughter was not unique. The same thing happened in River City.

Chapter 1085

However, the other daughter was obviously much smarter than Haven.

Malcom noticed that something was wrong, so he got up and whispered to Haven.

Haven pursed her lips and smiled at the shareholders, "Trust me, everyone. I will lead you to develop better."

All the shareholders looked at Haven with an angry face.

"Well, how can a company that has nothing grow better?"

"That's right. I think I'd better transfer my shares."

The shareholders were all discontented and full of complaints.

Buddy said, "I don't care what you want to do or say, but don't say it here. Before you leave, I will tell you one more thing that Clement family will transfer all the shares we hold."

"Buddy, you..." Hearing this, Haven was completely panicked. In this way, the Clement family and the Clement Group would no longer have any relationship.

What a good way to get rid of responsibility!

"Buddy, if you do this, it will bring more damage to the Clement family." Haven reminded him.

Buddy sneered, "Those few hundred million dollars are not a big loss for the Clement family. What is lost is gained, and what is lost, will be better returned."

This matter is already being worked on by the Legal Department. Now please take your shares and your shareholders and leave immediately." Buddy's expression was indifferent.

But it was the best decision he could make.

Wyatt and Aisling were satisfied with the calmness of their son. Such a decision would indeed solve many of the Clement family's problems.

After all, there has been no end to the competition for the right to run the Clement Group.

Considering the power of the Clement family, it was acceptable to lose that money.

The Clement family had a lot of real estate and could have earned that money back again in a few years.

Just think of it as a lesson learned.

Haven snorted and turned to leave.

Malcom also asked the other shareholders to leave with him.

In the conference room.

Only Buddy's family was left.

Aisling sat down unwillingly and said, "Buddy, are you just going to give up?"

Buddy looked at her mother and smiled. "Mom, don't worry too much about it. If she wants it, give it to her. We will definitely be the final winners. The game between us is not over yet."

Wyatt said, "Buddy, although we've suffered a great loss, the potential betrayers against the Clement family have been completely eradicated. It will be easier for you to manage the company."

Buddy nodded. "Dad, Eden asked me to do this. She's right. It doesn't matter how much I lose, but better development in the future is the most important thing. We should not be blinded by immediate interests, but be more vigilant. These shareholders will choose to betray us in such a short time, which shows that Haven has some of their secrets.

"We've been turning a blind eye to the bad things they have done because we didn't want to embarrass them. I didn't expect Haven to make all those things public first, which saved us from being bad people. I don't want to give her a penny now. After all, I spent a lot of money raising her. I didn't expect her to be so ungrateful." Aisling slapped the table in anger.

Wyatt glanced at her and said, "Do not be too angry. Haven's behavior has given us a chance to see those shareholders clearly. If she doesn't mess up the company, we may not be able to get any benefits when dealing with traitors."

Aisling gnashed her teeth in anger and said, "But I still don't want to accept this result."

Buddy smiled and said, "Mom, what can we do if we are not satisfied? Can we kill her? You can rest assured that she'll always get her comeuppance. Let's just wait and see what happens."

Aisling nodded and looked at his son with satisfaction. "Buddy, I'm glad to see your growth. But I'm worried about Eden now. Victor, he..."

"Mom, don't worry. Everything will be fine. Eden is also working hard to adjust her mood now. Let's give her some time and don't force her to accept the facts urgently. Just let her be. She knows exactly what she's doing."

"My poor daughter, why does everything bad happen to her?" Whenever Aisling thought of her daughter, she burst into tears.

"By the way, you should go see your brother. I'm going to visit Jaida. I've only seen her once since the accident, so I'll go over and chat with her."

Wyatt nodded and said to Buddy, "OK."

The fight between Haven and the Clement family for the right to run the company instantly caught the attention of everyone in the River City.

Everyone could see through the live broadcast and what Haven had done at once.

There was a lot of bad comments on the Internet for Haven.

Eden was watching the news with a gloomy look in her office.

Since Victor's accident, she seemed to have changed into another person. There was no longer a smile on her delicate face, which showed that she has become more calm.

The beauty of a woman is not just the beauty of her appearance, but the charm that emanates from within. For a woman, such temperament was far more beautiful than her appearance.

The beautiful appearance was fleeting, but inner beauty was the eternal charm of a woman.

She was even more beautiful when she was cool like this!

The Clement family was completely free from hidden problems.

Then, the money that Alwynn Group had lost must also be taken back.

Malcom was the most suspicious person.

No one else would do this except him.

In her opinion, Malcom approached Haven with a purpose and that's why they got together so quickly.

He was able to get a lot of information about the Alwynn Group from Haven, since she had previously worked at the Alwynn Group and also knew something about the Clement family.

"Eden." Lucian walked in with a smile on his handsome face.

Eden looked at his expression and knew that something good was going to happen. "Good news? I haven't seen your smile these few days."

Lucian nodded with a smile, "Yes, Neal has been arrested."

"Where's Amelia? Did you tell her the news?" Eden was a little worried about Amelia. After all, she was also worried about her brother during this period of time.

It was more likely to encounter danger when escaping from the police.

And Neal was cunning enough to hide from the police for so long.

"Yes! She's fine. You don't have to worry about her."

Lucian's expression became serious, "Eden, now just wait for Neal to say who hired him. I will also hand over the video to the police to assist in the investigation. And you'll be on duty in three days, and I've already notified all the branches."

"Well, thank you." Eden smiled. During this time, she gained an understanding of the entire Alwynn Group, from the history of its development to the concept of the management.

Chapter 1086

Lucian glanced at her and smiled. "You've worked hard lately to get a handle on the history of the Alwynn Group and the state of the company's operations in such a short period of time. You're even better than we thought you would be."

Eden was a little embarrassed by his compliment, "Now, the most important thing is to get my brother out of jail, and then catch the murderer who killed Victor. Once we find the murderer, we can get back the company's lost money."

Lucian nodded. After Victor's accident, she had remained rational all this while.

She refused to accept reality and always thought that Victor was still alive. Maybe that was the only way for her to move on with her life.

"Eden, I read the news about the Clement family. Buddy did a good job. Haven originally thought it was a big win for her this time, but she never thought that what awaited her would be constant bad luck."

Eden said seriously, "Really? We still can't let our guard down. After all, she also has a lot of capital, so she can't throw in the towel like this. Have you forgotten that there is also a cunning Malcom helping her? "

Lucian did not take it seriously, "How could a person like him achieve anything?"

Eden kept silent and sat stoically and calmly.

She would never underestimate her enemy.

Lucian did not say anything else and turned to leave.

Haven found a building close to Clement family in her own property and vacated a floor to serve as an office.

But even so, those shareholders were not satisfied. All of them looked at Haven with angry faces.

Haven had never seen such a scene before.

What she originally expected should be everyone's envious eyes and congratulations.

She didn't expect it to be a nightmare and now looked powerless in the face of the shareholders' questions and accusations.

"Miss Clement, you persuaded us to support you, but without the support of the Clement family, it would be difficult for you to run the company. How do you want us to support you?" An older shareholder questioned Haven.

Haven was already in a panic and had no idea at all.

After leaving the Clement family, she still owned the most shares, and her assets would not be less than the current Clement family's. But the worst case scenario was that all the previous cooperations would be cancelled.

Next, she would have to face a huge test.

If she can overcome this difficulty, her company may make a comeback.

She looked at the noisy shareholders with cold eyes. "What are you guys arguing about? When the time is up, you will get the dividends you deserve, and your interests will not be damaged. I can handle anything."

The reason why these shareholders were so uneasy was that they were afraid of their interests being harmed.

As long as they were given enough benefits, they would be appeased and thus would not do anything drastic.

"But ..."

"Well, that's all for today." Haven interrupted one of the shareholders. "I'll make sure you get the benefits you deserve at the end of the month. Is that OK?"

Upon hearing this, all the shareholders became much quieter.

"Miss Clement, I hope that you can do better than Buddy. In this way, I will still support you in the investment of this new project." A fat-looking shareholder looked at Haven with a wicked smile.

Haven was well aware of men's obvious intentions.

She gave him a charming smile and said, "Mr. Dillon, thank you for your support. I won't let you down. From now on, this will be our Clement Group's office and the meeting will be held here. I will arrange it as soon as possible."

Once the shareholders heard this, they left while complaining.

Only Haven and Malcom were left. Haven sat down on the stool in exhaustion.

"Haven." Malcom looked at her with concern.

Haven's face turned pale. She trembled and looked at Malcom. "We have failed and the difficulties we will have to face next will be beyond the imagination. The Clement family has drawn a clear line with me and will take all the business away. No one will cooperate with us."

Haven was well aware of this.

Malcom said, "Haven, don't worry. I have a idea."

Haven instantly asked excitedly, "What?"

Malcom smiled smugly and confidently. He gently stroked Haven's pale cheek. "Don't you forget you have me to fall back on. We can do shorting and margin financing."

Haven looked at him with narrowed eyes.

The previous her would not have understood what he meant by that, but she did now.

This means borrowing a certain number of shares from long-term stockholders and brokerage firms, then sells the borrowed shares at a high price before shorting them, and then buys the same number of shares at a low price after the stock price drops quickly.

The shares are then returned to the brokerage firms and long-term holders in full, so they could get to earn the difference.

"Yes, Malcom, Thank you for being by my side. As long as we give higher dividends and interest than others, someone will definitely lend us stock. So we can run our company with the difference we earn. We are definitely profitable in a normal situation and can get through the immediate difficulties for a while." Haven suddenly became confident.

Malcom was really amazing. His words enlightened her.

"So don't worry about it for now. Even though you didn't get the whole Clement family, this outcome has given you a chance to succeed." Malcom was sincere about trying to help her.

She was the only woman who would grant him all his requests for sex.

He had a penchant for making love in different places and Haven never refused him.

He was so excited as they made love in the massage chair.

Malcom gently hugged her and kissed her forehead. "Haven, Eden is currently the president of Alwynn Group for the time being. As a shareholder of Alwynn Group, you have the right to stop it. How about persuading those previous shareholders of Jotham Alwynn Group to oppose her? We'll take it slowly against the Alwynn Group. "

"Okay!" Haven sneered with a vicious expression.

She wouldn't let Eden go.

The game between them was not over yet.

Three days later, Lucian officially announced that Eden became the president of the Alwynn Group.

Anson, Adonis and Brian were there to support her.

No one on the head office held an opposing view.

After all, they thought that it was Victor's decision.

And Eden's design talent was obvious to everyone, and she was also kind, so she could get along with everyone to get the job done more effectively and quickly.

Whenever there was a problem, she was able to solve it. They also liked this kind of boss very much.

Amelia was also promoted to her assistant temporarily, and she also got a promotion and a raise.

And Lucian had been assisting her the entire time.

No one in the head office opposed it, but some people from the former Jotham Alwynn Group disagreed.

As the meeting was coming to an end, Haven and Malcom barged in with some people.

Chapter 1087

Haven walked in and looked at Eden.

Eden glanced expressionlessly at Haven, then looked away, as if worried about getting his eyes dirty.

Haven looked at the shareholders present, then sneered at Eden, "As shareholders of the Alwynn Group, we don't agree with someone who studied design running Alwynn Group. We need a professional to lead us."

"We don't agree with that either. There is no statement from Mr. Alwynn. How come there is a sudden change of president?"

"We don't agree with that either."

Some of the restless shareholders who had been taught a lesson by Victor naturally wanted to make things difficult for Eden at this time.

After all, Victor has already gone abroad, so they can be arrogant as much as they can, and let out their previous anger.

After Victor's rectification, not only did the Jotham Alwynn Group become a branch of the Alwynn Group, but their interests were greatly harmed.

This was the reason why they felt so unbalanced.

Lucian and Anson, Adonis, Brian, all looked at Haven indifferently.

The Haven before yesterday would not have had the courage to stand up against Eden.

But now she had a different status.

She was now president of the Clement Group, which was not as large as it had been before, but she did already own a separate company.

She had the confidence to do so.

She didn't care about the online insults against her either.

It didn't matter if she was an ungrateful, heartless, mean, or despicable person. Those people cursed her because they were jealous of her. She could still enjoy a rich and prosperous life.

The facts could not be changed. And it wouldn't hurt her to be scolded.

She looked at the silent Eden and questioned her, "Eden, you are disabled. What ability do you have to run the Alwynn Group, and how could Mr. Alwynn leave the company in your hands? We do not agree with this decision. We need someone more capable to be the president."

"A more capable person? Like you, for example?" Eden asked calmly.

"If Mr. Alwynn trusts me, I can accept the appointment as well." Haven spoke out her thoughts without any shame.

Adonis burst out laughing, "It's hilarious that you want to be president of the Alwynn Group." He spat at Haven.

"Haven, I know you are ambitious, but I didn't expect you to be so greedy. You are not satisfied with having Clement Group and even want Alwynn Group. Do you think you have that ability?"

Haven smiled instead of getting angry. "Mr. Church, everyone has a dream. I'm just trying to defend my interests. So please speak nicely."

Haven knew that the four men in front of her were very difficult to get along with.

They all looked handsome, but when they tried to make things difficult for people, they definitely made them embarrassed and desperate.

"Speak nicely?" Adonis looked at Haven mockingly and scornfully and inwardly wanted to punch her in the face.

"Haven, have you heard me say nice things to you since childhood? I was shocked by your brazenness. Your despicability makes me feel inferior. You are the most shameless woman in the world, betraying those who love you. It seems I was smart enough to see through your ungrateful nature from a young age, so I haven't been nice to you."

"You... "

"What are you stuttering about? You can't even say a complete sentence, and dare to be arrogant here. You said you are a shareholder of Alwynn Group. How many shares do you hold? None of us major shareholders have any objection. What right do you have to object? You really take yourself too seriously.

Did you look in the mirror before you came here? It's okay to look so disgusting. But it's your fault if you come out and disgust people. If I were you, I'd go back and enjoy the few happy days you have left."

"Adonis, you son of a b*tch!" Haven cursed in rage.

Adonis laughed. "You're always scolding me. It's not fair not to do something correspondingly assholeish. Do you think I dare not hit women?"

As he spoke, he was so angry that he wanted to rush over and beat Haven.

He had tolerated this woman for a long time.

Today, he can't f*cking stand it anymore.

He was going to punch this woman today.

"Don't stop me. I'm going to f*cking punch her today."

Adonis roared and took a few steps forward.

Lucian, Anson, and Brian didn't stop him, and he couldn't help but wonder how they were so calm today.

If the usual Brian would have come over and said sarcastically, A gentleman does not hit a lady. If your future wife saw you do that, she'd leave you for sure. It's a crime that can't be erased for life."

But why did Brian remain unmoved?

He shouted again, "Don't stop me. I must teach her a good lesson today."

Eden was speechless. Who was stopping him?

"All of you... don't stop me." Adonis kept walking forward, but still no one stopped him.

Adonis was confused about what was going on today. Why didn't anyone try to stop him this time?

This was strange.

He thought silently that he would really beat her, because this woman deserves to be beaten.

Haven looked at Adonis walking towards her in an aggressive manner. It was a lie to say that she was not afraid.

Adonis was a very strong man, the one who handled a lot of Victor's business that involved physical conflict. He had kicked Paulina twice before making her sore for a long time.

Malcom immediately pulled Haven behind him.

He smiled at Eden, "Director Bleu, everyone is here to solve the problem. Wouldn't it have been convincing if Mr. Alwynn himself had told everyone that you were president? Is he not attending because of some accident?"

Eden suddenly looked at him with a gaze as sharp as a knife.

She threw the mineral water bottle in front of her at Malcom.

Everyone in the room was stunned by her anger, and everyone looked at the angry woman.

Eden angrily asked, "Who are you? What does the matter of Alwynn Group have to do with you?"

Haven said, "He is my assistant."

"How is an assistant qualified to speak on this occasion?"

Eden's voice was so cold that it shocked and frightened everyone who heard it.

At this point, Eden was not the same as she was before, but much like Victor.

She was cold, ruthless and awe-inspiring.

Malcom's expression became gloomy. It was true that he was in no position to say anything about the Alwynn Group, but he was the only one present who knew that Victor was dead.

He would never come back.

And the cause of Victor's death would only be judged as an accident.

"And..." Eden changed the subject and questioned sharply, "Why did you say that my husband had an accident. How come I, as his wife, don't know about it?"

Chapter 1088

As soon as Malcom heard her questioning, he couldn't help but sigh at her acumen. By saying this, he was equivalent to taking the initiative to trap himself.

What should he do next?

He was too impulsive just now, and Eden was too calm and immediately realized the hidden meaning in his casual words.

"My husband left in a hurry this time. He asked Mr. Ronen, Mr. Skye, Mr. Church and Mr. Wiggins to assist me as the acting president, but you said that my husband may have had an accident. Why did you say that?"

Eden's tone was so cold that one could not help but shudder.

It made people tremble with fear.

Malcom smiled and said, "Director Bleu, you misunderstood me. It was a slip of the tongue. Please don't be angry. But I think it's wrong to hit people, and we should solve the problem rationally."

Adonis said angrily, "Get out of here. You are not a member of Alwynn Group. Who let you into the meeting room of Alwynn Group?"

Haven walked out from behind Adonis and said angrily, "Adonis, I told you. he is my assistant."

"Then he is also an assistant of Clement Group, not of Alwynn Group. What is the purpose of you bringing such a person here? Wait, why does this man look so familiar to me?"

Adonis looked at Malcom with deliberate scrutiny.

He glanced at Lucian who sat there quietly and give him no response.

Adonis did not know whether it was still necessary to keep the secret now.

Haven was a little uneasy. Why did he feel familiar?

"Oh! I remember I've seen you in a video in the hotel." Adonis looked at Haven with an expression of dawning realization.

Haven looked flustered. What hotel?

What video?

What was going on?

When had Adonis seen them?

Was it because of Eden?

She snapped her eyes to Eden.

She had said that she would not tell anyone.

Eden was frank about Haven's skeptical expression, because she didn't tell anyone about it.

However, she had the bad luck to go to one of Victor's hotels.

This was investigated by Brian, so the video was seen by several of them.

Adonis grinned, "What are you looking at our president for? She didn't say anything about you. Are you afraid of what others say about what you have done? Don't blame me for speaking too harshly. I'm only polite to people who deserve respect."

Lucian interrupted him, "Adonis, that's enough. Stop it."

Hearing this, Adonis got angry. "I told you guys not to stop me."

Lucian said, "Then you can hit her first."

Adonis was speechless and he was just making a joke.

Brian also teased him, "Hurry up and don't waste everyone's time."

Anson also smiled and said, "Adonis, I promise I won't let your future wife know about what happened today."

Adonis was so embarrassed that he didn't want to be friends with them anymore.

He glared at the three of them. "My future wife won't be stupid to know me through the words of others."

Eden also knew that Adonis would not really hit Haven in front of so many people.

Haven was indeed guilty, but she should be judged by the law.

She looked at the group of people behind Haven. After A Victor took charge of Jotham Alwynn Group, they didn't reap the benefits as easily as before, so not surprisingly, they would protest.

This was what she had thought of a few days ago.

Victor was acquiring shares little by little before, just in order to make the company more manageable.

She said in a low voice, "I understand that you don't agree with me as the president.

But the Alwynn Group affiliate's business is also developing, and its forecast earnings are not good. I am very dissatisfied with this state, and I agree to your withdrawal from the company. Alwynn Group cannot afford you. We will also buy your shares at a reasonable price. If any of you are not satisfied, you can sue."

"How can this be?" A middle-aged lady looked at Eden unhappily. "I have no problem with you being the president. It's just that Haven told me that you were not capable of taking on the role of president. I was concerned about my interests before I was convinced by her. I now agree with Director Bleu as president of the Alwynn Group."

If they left Alwynn Group, they won't be making much money.

Now which company would be as profitable as Alwynn Group?

When one person took a stand, the rest hesitated.

No one would have a problem with money.

"You..." Haven looked at them angrily as they changed their minds.

"We also agree that you should be the president. Congratulations." The man who just said he didn't agree, suddenly changed his position at that moment.

"We also agree that."

"Me too."

In the end, only Haven did not speak.

Eden looked at her and said, "Haven, you should hold ten percent of the shares. The legal department is investigating another 5% of the shares of unknown origin, and the results will be obtained soon. "

"What did you say? How is it possible that the origin of the shares is unknown? Eden, don't talk nonsense. Your words should be liable to the law." Haven said angrily. How could there be a problem with that 5% share?

"Wouldn't it be better if there were no problems? Why are you so angry?" She hoped that she would still be so confident when the time came.

"By the way, everyone has agreed now. If you still disagree, we're willing to buy your 10 percent." Eden didn't want to argue with her over something like that.

She had already been mentally and physically exhausted, but she had to hold on.

Her beloved was missing, and it made her desperate.

When everything was settled, she would go to find Victor, and wherever he might be, she must get him back.

"No! I won't transfer my shares." Haven was furious.

Why did Eden have to do nothing to get everything she wanted? And she had tried her best, but get nothing.

She moved forward fearlessly, but only ran into setbacks and trouble.

Eden, on the other hand, has had a smooth life.

It made her feel very unfair.

"Then the meeting is adjourned." Eden glanced at Amelia, who got up and pushed her wheelchair out the door.

Everyone made way for Eden, and only after Eden went out did everyone follow her out.

Anson, Lucian, Adonis, and Brian followed her to the office.

Amelia knew that they had something to say, so she went outside and waited.

Eden looked at them and smiled. "Thank you all for today."

Anson said, "Eden, don't worry. The company will be fine." As long as they were here, they wouldn't let Victor's company be ruined.

They would stick it out until his children grew up.

This was the decision of the four of them.

Adonis glanced at them with a look of anger. "An occasion like today would be appropriate to make Haven's scandal public."

Chapter 1089

Lucian said, "Idiot, it's not time yet. Take it easy."

Adonis glared at him. "Lucian, who are you calling an idiot?"

Lucian leaned on the sofa, arms crossed at his chest. "Well, it's you."

Brian said, "Therefore, we can't let him know the secret first." Among them, he was always the last one to know all the secrets.

"Brian, why do you say so too? It would have made Haven and her lover forever infamous today, and no one would have wanted to be in business with her in the future. Her company that she got for free would have been screwed in a few days."

Lucian replied, "You shouldn't have said it today. It's not time to make it public. Once they perceive something, they will be more vigilant. Now we have to let them relax their vigilance, so that we can get back our lost money and know how Victor's accident happened." In the last sentence, Lucian's tone is both painful and angry.

Everyone had the same look of heartache and anger.

Anson said, "I still have a meeting today, so I'll go back to the company first. Please let me know if anything happens."

Lucian nodded.

Anson said goodbye to Eden and started his wheelchair to leave as well.

Adonis said, "Well, let me help you. I can't stand seeing you like this."

Anson smiled but did not say anything.

Adonis turned around and pushed Anson's wheelchair away, but he was still angry.

Brian said, "I'm not too busy with managing models. How about I move my studio over here? I can help you with some of your work."

Lucian glared at him and waved at him in disgust. "I think you came here with no good intentions. You are useless here. You'd better go back and manage those models well."

Brian said, "You're such a drama queen."

After saying goodbye to Eden, he also turned around and left.

Eden looked out the window. It was a sunny day. But even if the water was not cold, Victor must have suffered badly when he fell into the sea. She murmured, "Lucian, do you believe Victor is still alive?"

Lucian looked at her helplessly.

Did she still not accept the reality by now?

However, it was strange that Victor's body had not been found, so maybe Eden's intuition was right.

"Eden, maybe you are right. Let's wait for Victor to come back together."

When Eden heard what he said, she turned to look at him with a smile. "Do you finally believe what I said?" She didn't have any evidence that Victor was still alive.

However, she knew how strong that man was. How could he bear to leave her alone in this world?

He had not yet accompanied her to complete her dreams, and they still had a lot of things to do.

She knew that he would not abandon her.

Lucian sighed when he saw her listless gaze outside the window.

She wasn't as weak as they thought, but he knew she wasn't that strong either.

He silently turned around and went out.

Amelia stood at the door waiting for him, and when she saw him come out, she asked, "Is Director Bleu okay?"

Lucian looked at her gently and said, "Don't worry."

Amelia bit her lip and summoned up the courage to ask him. "Then... is my brother okay?"

Lucian reached out to pinch her cheek. "Babe, do you think he'll be alright? Didn't you say that you'll only feel at ease after he's brought to justice?"

Amelia looked sad. She lowered her head and whispered, "I know him too well. Even if he goes to prison ten more times, he will not turn over a new leaf. The most hateful thing is that my mother still protects my brother. What do you think I should do?"

Lucian thought for a moment and asked, "Then what do you want to do?"

Amelia pouted her lips and punched him hard, "If I knew what to do, I wouldn't have asked you."

Lucian caught her small fist and gazed at her. "Cutie, you are getting bolder and bolder, and dare to hit me now. "

Amelia found his tone doting.

Since that night, the two of them had become much closer to each other.

But it was only that night, and they never went out alone again after that.

They were all in a bad mood after Mr. Alwynn's accident.

He couldn't sleep well at night and also had so much work to do, so he had been haggard all this time.

Lucian said softly, "Amelia, give me some time."

Amelia said, "By the way, my mother has introduced me to another date..."

Lucian interrupted her angrily, "If you dare to date someone else, I'll make sure you can't get out of bed. I'll take you home tonight."

As he spoke, he strode away and returned to his office.

Amelia sullenly sat back down on her desk. She didn't want to go home, because her mother kept swearing at her.

She really doubted whether she was her mother's own child or not. Her mom was like a stepmother in a fairy tale.

She was about to have a nervous breakdown from her mother's scolding, and she reckoned she was better off in a mental hospital than at home.

If her mother knew that her brother had been arrested, she would treat her even worse.

Moreover, there was really a blind date at night.

She only liked Lucian, so she really didn't want to go on a blind date.

She was now financially independent and strong enough to live on her own, but she still had her mother to support.

Amelia's heart ached when she thought of her mother.

"Miss Amelia." Jasper said gently. When he came in, Amelia did not notice him, so he had to say something.

"Mr. Joye, you're here." Amelia looked at him with an embarrassed face. She had just gotten too involved in her thoughts.

"Where is Eden?" Jasper asked.

Amelia pointed to the office, "Mr. Joye, Director Bleu is in her office."

Jasper handed her a cup of coffee and said, "Thank you." Then, he entered Eden's office.

During this period of time, he would personally drive Eden to and from work whenever he had time.

He was worried about her all the time.

As soon as he entered, he saw Eden sitting by the window with her eyes staring blankly out of the window. She was immersed in a sense of loneliness and pain.

His heart ached.

"Eden," he called out her name tenderly.

Eden quickly turned around as soon as she heard someone call her, but when she saw it was Jasper, she was a little disappointed.

She said with a smile, "Hi, Jasper."

Jasper had been watching her, so he also saw her disappointed expression.

"Eden, I bought you fruit, including freshly ripened prunes. Don't you like to eat them?" Jasper knew that after Victor's accident, she had been eating regularly in order to keep her health from going wrong.

She also knew she couldn't get sick again or her home would be destroyed, so she stayed strong.

Chapter 1090

Eden started the wheelchair to go next to him.

Looking at the waxberry, she wanted to taste it.

"I just want to eat waxberry recently, and you bought it."

Jasper smiled, "Strawberries are off the market and not very fresh, so I bought this. Let me wash it for you to eat."

"Okay!" Eden smiled. Recently, he often came to accompany her.

He was very busy and always found ways to keep her company.

Amelia made a cup of coffee and brought it in as Jasper wash the waxberry.

She looked at Eden and smiled. She respected the kind of female president in the workplace who was capable and willing to give her best in her work.

When it came to matters, she had her own unique opinions. When it came to others, she was mature, sincere, and would lead everyone to grow up, so that people would trust her.

Today, Haven was very angry.

And Eden always remained calm.

"Madam President, here is the coffee." Amelia smiled.

Eden said, "Amelia, you can call me Eden."

Hearing this, Amelia was a little surprised. Can she really call her that?

She was always moved by her.

"You and I are both colleagues and friends who can laugh, talk and share together. You are a trustworthy person and have your own style. I am very lucky to have you as a friend."

She didn't have many friends.

Abby was the closest to her.

Graciella was another one of her friends. She didn't know about Victor's accident yet but Loomis did, so they hadn't visited her recently.

"Thanks, Eden." Amelia excitedly called her name.

The friendship between them had gone further. She was grateful for her trust.

"Miss Amelia. Enjoy some waxberry." Jasper has washed the waxberry.

"Wow! Thank you, Mr. Joye. It's so happy to have fruit to eat while I'm at work."

Lucian was very rigid and strict when he was at work. He would have nothing but coffee and tea.

"Eden, congratulations on becoming president of the Alwynn Group." Jasper knew that it was very ironic to Eden, but he still had to say.

It was unlikely that Victor would live, but he would stay with her until she came out of this dark period.

Eden said with a smile, "It's just a temporary president. I'll wait for Victor to come back."

"He will come back." Jasper smiled and fed a waxberry in her mouth.

He was tormented inside, because Victor might not come back. But he would not deny her the only reason to live.

Amelia found out that Jasper was different from Lucian, Anson, Adonis, and Brian.

No wonder he would become his Eden confidant.

He knew exactly what was going through Eden's mind.

He also approved of Eden. His outward gentleness hid the sorrow.

Lucian had always wanted Eden to accept the fact.

However, Eden was not willing to face it. She hoped that Eden was right and Victor was really still alive somewhere in this world.

Hopefully they will be reunited.

In Haven's office.

Haven pushed all the things on her desk to the ground.

Her exquisite features were beautifully made up, but full of anger. Her originally gentle and beautiful face was currently terrifyingly ferocious.

"Haven, don't be angry. Believe me, Eden won't be able to hold on for long. There must be something wrong with Victor's sudden disappearance."

Malcom narrowed his eyes and said.

Haven asked in anger and disbelief, "What do you mean? When you were in Alwynn Group, you said so too. Did something bad really happen to Victor?"

Malcom smiled strangely and said carelessly, "Who knows? Don't you think it's strange? Even if Victor left the country, he should have arranged the company's affairs before leaving, and would not let Eden face these things alone. If he personally issued a statement, who would dare to question Eden's ability?"

"But it's said to be Victor's decision."

Malcom laughed. "Dummy, will the shareholders be convinced if they don't say so? The presence of Lucian, Anson, Adonis, and Brian were to keep others from suspecting."

Victor had already died in the sea.

So maybe he could try to get the Alwynn Group.

As long as there was no Victor, it would be easier to get it.

After Malcom's analysis, Haven also wondered why Victor had left in such a hurry.

With Victor's attitude towards work, he would never leave like this.

She looked at Malcom and said, "Can you find out where Victor is?"

Malcom narrowed his eyes. "It will take a few days."

"Hey! What a nice office." Suddenly, the door was pushed open. Vincent walked in with a silver suit and looked at Haven with a smile.

"Haven, I didn't expect you to get Clement family, and so quickly, you really impress me." Vincent put one hand in his trouser pocket and walked towards Haven with a smile.

Haven's and Malcom's expressions changed when they saw Vincent.

Haven said angrily, "What are you doing here?" Hasn't he not been home for many days too?

She was busy dating with other women, so he had no time to care about Aisling.

"You haven't been home a lot this time. I thought it was because you were having an affair. So you are busy with work, right?"

Vincent saw Haven's face a little bad, and smiled again: "Haven't you always wanted to get Clement Group? Why aren't you happy now?"

He walked over and held Haven in his arms.

Malcom stopped watching them hug because decided it was d*mn harsh.

Vincent's behavior made Haven feel embarrassed.

She said with a sullen face, "If you have nothing to do, just leave. I have other things to do."

Vincent squinted at her and glanced at Malcom. "I'm being intimate with my wife, shouldn't you leave for a moment?"

"Vincent, what are you doing? We have work to talk about." Haven couldn't help but try to defend Malcom.

After falling in love with Malcom, she was very reluctant to see Vincent.

Vincent narrowed his eyes slightly and looked at Haven's expression. He felt that something was wrong.

Malcom said, "Mr. Clement, I'll go out first." Malcom walked out with a gloomy face.

Why did Vincent suddenly come here?
