

Gluey Love 2201

Chapter 2201

Alma, who was sitting by the side, looked gloomy. No one knew what she was thinking.

She suspected that Henrick would continue to film and get close to Alice.

Alice was always indifferent to him.

Hearing the director's words, Alice was stunned. He wanted her to demonstrate it; they couldn't even talk, let alone touch each other.

She gritted her teeth. Everything was for work. There were no personal feelings at work.

If she failed, she would lose. If he wanted to make things difficult for her, she couldn't back down, could she?

Seeing that Alice was walking towards him, Henrick's lips curled into a smile, and there was a hint of light in his dark eyes.

He looked down at the time. It was almost past the time for the movie which Brenden had bought tickets for.

He calmly glanced at Brenden, who kept looking at the time and then finally gave up completely.

He looked away and smelled a fragrance. Alice was standing in front of him with no expression on her face.

She said emotionlessly, "Me. Henrick, let's get started. I hope you can be more serious."

He smiled and nodded. "Sorry to trouble you, Alice. I promise I'll do it right in the next round."

After that, he invited everyone to dinner. It was time for them to go home and rest.

There was a rule in the crew that they should have a good rest at night. That shoot would last for a total of three months. The scenes were all in River City, and most of the scenes were from Alwynn Group's properties. They had to carefully calculate the funds for everything. However, the director liked to be in his own films, so he often appeared by himself when he was filming.

Moreover, the effect of the film completely met the fantasies of the book's fans

After telling Henrick the whole story seriously, Alice imitated the set action and walked into Lewis' office with a smile.

It just so happened that he also came out of the office, and Georgina bumped into him.

She had been in love with Lewis for many years. She had always wanted to be in his embrace. She wanted to marry him, but he was in love with another one. It was a good opportunity for her. She held him in her arms and refused to let go. Lewis had been a neat freak since he was a child, and he had never had any intimate contact with women he didn't like.

When Georgina bumped into him, not only did he not have the slightest bit of pity, he even pushed her away coldly and ruthlessly.

That scene was witnessed by Laurel, who was saved by Lewis.

When Alice demonstrated it, her heart beat wildly when she bumped into Henrick.

No matter how hard she tried to forget, this man had been deeply imprinted in her heart. Once it was triggered, her feelings would be like a flood that was out of control.

At the moment when she fell into his arms, he was stunned, as if he had found the most compatible soul partner in an instant, which made him reluctant to let go.

He also forgot the fragments in the script and tried to push her away.

Just like that, the two of them hugged each other quietly.

For a moment, there was only the sound of breathing, and the two became the focus of everyone's attention.

Alice was deeply attached to that embrace. She thought that she could completely forget him, but at that moment, she realized that she was still deceiving herself.

After a while, Alma said with a smile, "Alice, you're in the film." Her gentle and pleasant voice completely brought Alice and Henrick back to reality.

The two slowly separated.

Alice did not look at him. Instead, she turned around and walked back to her seat.

His arms felt empty without her and his heart also felt like it was missing something.

Dwayne narrowed his eyes. Why did he feel that there's something between the two of them?

Next, just as he had promised, Henrick's acting skills became as heated as fire.

Everyone was speechless.

Dwayne's mood greatly fluctuated that day, and he was also greatly tortured mentally. Just now, the two of them hugged each other. With his piercing eyes, he could tell that there was something wrong with the two of them.

Why did they make things difficult for him, the director?

He had the highest ideal in the world of directors, and he was encouraged to make every film and TV series into ones that the fans would love. In terms of acting, Henrick's abilities were higher than anyone else's.

Why?

Because his family's wealth, fame and fortune could not seduce him for a long time. Only roles that suited him were able to capture his attention.

That was why he was able to act without any care in the world.

Therefore, Dwayne had been fooled by this guy for the past two days.

After the last sentence, Dwayne breathed a sigh of relief and was finally free.

Boohoo, boohoo, boohoo...

It was too difficult, too difficult!

Fortunately, his generosity and tolerance were not something that ordinary people could do. He was also known as a very serious director. However, compared to Henrick, all these would only be a scratch on him.

"Director, thank you for your hard work. I'll treat you to dinner. No one is allowed to leave. We'll go back after dinner." Henrick smiled and looked at Dwayne apologetically.

Of course, Dwayne was satisfied. Who would eat a boxed meal if there was hot, delicious food offered?

"Thank you, Mr. Henrick! I want to eat the stew next door." Dwayne pointed out what he wanted to eat. He didn't want a table full of light dishes. He had to eat something filling to restore his spirits.

Henrick nodded with a smile. "Okay, Director, let's go together."

He then asked Josue to order the food.

He specifically instructed, "Josue, tell the boss that there should equally be light and spicy dishes."

"Okay, Mr. Henrick. I'll go right now." Josue left with a smile. Following Henrick, he could only be more diligent when it came to fitness.

Henrick glanced at Brenden and Alice, who were not far away.

Brenden apologized to Alice with a depressed look. They had missed the movie time, so he had to go next time.

"Alice, you must promise to go with me next time. It was really a problem with time this time."

Alice looked at the depressed man and smiled. "Well, Brenden, we have plenty of time in the future. Don't be like this."

"Really?" He suddenly became excited.

"When have I ever lied to you?" She tidied up her things. She was not in the mood that night. If she really went to a movie, she would not be able to watch it. She was also very sorry for Brenden.

After everyone packed up, they went to have dinner.

The whole crew fit almost five tables.

Henrick had never been short of money. He was in a good mood that day, so everyone ate happily.

Coincidentally, after everyone else sat down, only four people were seated at Alice's table.

Henrick could only take Alma and her assistant to sit at the same table with them.

When Henrick took his seat, Brenden went to the bathroom, which gave him a chance to sit down next to Alice; his expression was particularly natural.

Alice was speechless.

She was trying to find an excuse to leave when her phone on the table rang.

"Baby is calling..."

Hearing such a ringing sound, he felt that it was childish.

He couldn't help looking over and saw that the caller ID showed that it said "My Big Baby".

Chapter 2202

Henrick was speechless. "My Big Baby, that's so cheesy!"

Alice apologized to everyone and got up to answer the phone.

Watching her walk away, Henrick asked Lane, "When did your editor-in-chief have a big baby?"

Lane smiled and answered, "Mr. Henrick, I don't know either. We are just dealing with work. We don't know about the family affairs of the editor-in-chief. Besides, she never talks about family affairs. We only know that she is the daughter of Mr. Klein of Lemmon City. She is very low-key and easygoing. Everyone likes her very much."

"Oh!" He was lost in thought.

Ellie was shocked. She immediately took out her mobile phone and searched the Clarke family in Lemmon City; they were basically the richest people in Lemmon City, and Alice had such an identity.

She let Alma take a look at her phone. After Alma looked at it, her face turned as pale as snow. She couldn't compare with a family like Alice's at all. What should she do to get Henrick?

The two families were a perfect match for each other. No wonder Mrs. Alwynn liked Alice so much that she would personally invite her to her house for dinner.

The relationship between her and Eden remained the same as when she was a child. They were very distant. When they saw each other, they would smile and greet each other.

Eden was always busy. Sometimes, Alma wanted to increase their relationship, but Eden always had something to do.

Alma was also very helpless.

She came to her senses. She didn't even know when Henrick left his seat. All she could hear was the noise from the director's table.

Before the dishes were served, Alma said a few words to her assistant and left.

The assistant immediately sent a message to Alma's agent, Candice.

She and Candice had signed a contract with Alma to enter Mirth Company.

Candice couldn't come over these days because she had some matters to attend to.

For the two of them, as long as Alma was able to climb into Henrick's bed, it would be as if they could share the same honor.

Alice's sudden appearance was not a simple matter, so they had to be on guard.

Candice said, "I'll go back to the crew tomorrow."

Henrick chased after Alice and watched her answer the phone from a distance; she looked very happy.

She stood in front of a tea shop selling milk tea and looked up slightly into the distance. The lights above the door shone on her, making her smile even brighter.

He had never seen such a happy Alice. In front of him, she was always vigilant and angry, but that night, she was different.

After watching for a while, he turned around and walked in.

He had just taken a few steps when her mother called to ask if he had had dinner.

"Mom." He smiled happily.

"Ricky, have you finished your dinner?" Eden asked with a smile.

"No, Mom, I was just about to eat. Have you eaten?" He stopped not far from the door as it was very noisy inside.

"I ate a quite a while ago. Do you have time off in May? I want to bring Adriel and the others to play for a few days. Do you want to go?"

"Mom... I'm no longer a child. The amusement park is not suitable for me."

"Okay, you don't have to go then. I'll take your three younger brothers and your father."

"Okay, Mom, you can have a good time. I'm going for the shoot so I can't go."

"You!" She smiled. "I'm hanging up."

"Good night, Mom!" He hung up the phone with a smile.

He turned around and saw Alice behind him.

He was stunned and quickly returned to normal.

She glanced at him. She didn't want to talk to him, so she wanted to go in.

He suddenly took a step forward and blocked her way.

Alice looked at him coldly with a disgusted expression. "What are you doing?"

Henrick suddenly smiled and squinted at her. "You're so fierce. Don't you say that you wanted to stay far away from me? After throwing yourself at me today, you can't bear to leave my arms. Did I make a mistake? You still like me very much."

She was stunned. He actually used his prank to talk about this matter.

His bad behavior not only affected her, but also others' time.

"Henrick, so what if I have you in my heart? We can never be together."

"Also, if you want me to disappear in front of you as soon as possible, you can just act well. After three months, we will part ways and will never meet again. I will say it again. I will disappear from your life forever. You don't have to worry. I won't pester you."

He was stunned. Why did she think that he wanted her to leave as soon as possible?

He didn't think so. He also felt that what he had done these two days was ridiculous. He just wanted to get closer to her. He seemed to only have that thought.

"Alice, I think your idea is ridiculous. What's the relationship between our two families? Do you really think we can't see each other if you avoid me?"

She responded without hesitation, "Okay, in three months, I'll bring... I'll go abroad. You can rest assured." She almost spilled the beans and talked about bringing the children abroad.

She would never let him know that she had given birth to his children.

The children were her destiny!

Henrick's pupils quivered. She would go so far in order not to show up in front of him?

Alwynn Group's industry was well developed globally, and it ranked first in terms of assets and background in the richest companies in the world.

"Alice, do you know how large Alwynn Group is now? I will inherit part of the company in the future. Tell me, which country do you want to go to?" He smiled evilly, revealing his nature.

Her eyes were slightly red. She lowered her head and said faintly, "The world is so big, there must be a place for me to live."

After that, she went inside.

He stood there in a daze. Her faint voice was full of sadness, which deeply hurt his heart.

He had a feeling that the world was so big, but she was forced to have no place to live because of him.

It was clearly not such a result. Why would it be a coincidence?

Alma, who was hiding not far away, heard their conversation clearly.

It turned out that Alice liked Henrick, and he didn't like her to appear in front of him.

But it didn't make sense as Henrick was trying to get close to Alice.

Henrick sighed softly and walked in.

Brenden was back. When he took his seat, Brenden sat between Henrick and Alice.

That made Alice feel much more relaxed.

After dinner, Dwayne asked everyone to go back and have a good rest so that they could do the shoot the following day in their best conditions.

The next day, the third day, and the fourth day, Henrick was very cooperative and did not make trouble.

However, he still asked Alice to explain the story to him. Each time she did so, he listened carefully and acted seriously.

She thought that he had heard what she had said that night. He was acting well so that they could avoid seeing each other again.

Chapter 2203

Henrick didn't make a fuss, and Alice felt that the days were much easier.

When it came to Alma, Ellie and Candice always tried to get close to Alice during this period of time, especially the former, who told her a lot of things about Henrick and Alma.

As for Candice, she became very concerned about her and constantly asked about her health.

Alice didn't know why they were so nice to her, so she responded to them in a friendly manner.

However, there was one thing that made Alice very unhappy. Alma often inquired about her relationship with Henrick.

She hated that question. She wanted nothing more than to erase him from her life.

In the past few days, when Alma told her the story in the morning, she felt a little disgusted.

Because of Alma, she also knew how she and Henrick knew each other.

Alma had been doted on by him since she was a child. She was his childhood classmate. When they were in primary school, she became a model for the Alwynn Group because of his family connections. When she grew up, he helped her and she successfully entered the entertainment circle.

Presently, this drama was also adapted from a famous novel, and it wouldn't be a problem to be an instant hit.

Alice finally understood. Alma seemed to have seen through the problem between her and Henrick, so she tried to get close to him and treated her as a rival in love.

Alice was reluctant, but for the sake of her work, she held back.

Early that morning, Alice was in a much better mood these days since he didn't see Henrick much. When she relaxed, she heard the director shouting, "Alma, your lines are wrong. How did you memorize them?"

Alice's nerves immediately tensed up. Why was it wrong? She had already given her the script two days ago.

"Ah..." Alma glanced at Henrick.

"How could it be? Alice gave it to me two days ago. I memorized the lines." Alma looked at Alice with grievance.

Alice narrowed her eyes, walked over, and took a look at the script in her hand.

That was indeed not her script for Alma as the lines were not familiar at all.

"Miss Parma, is this the script I gave you two days ago?" Alice looked at her strangely and suddenly remembered the attitude of Alma and the other two towards her in the past few days.

Right then, she finally understood that Alma wanted to make her look bad.

Alma instantly felt so wronged that she was about to cry. "How could it be? Alice, this is the script you gave me. How could I take the wrong one?"

Alice's eyes flashed. Thinking of the backup in her computer, she said, "I know very well that I didn't give you this one."

"Alice, I don't know what you mean by doing this. I memorized the lines very hard everyday, and I didn't sleep until late last night, but today, I recited the wrong lines. I..." Alma bit her lips and was about to cry.

Alice's eyes suddenly turned cold. "Do you mean that I deliberately gave you the wrong script?" Alice, who had always been gentle and easygoing, suddenly changed her expression. Except for her two assistants, no one had ever seen her like that before.

Alma shook her head with grievance and said in an even more wronged tone, "Alice, I didn't say that."

"But that's what you mean?" Alice was angry. She had never been wronged like this before.

Alma really had a good means.

"Alice, why are you so fierce? You were the one who gave me the script. How can you blame me?" Seeing that Alma had been wronged, Henrick, who had always protected her and had never seen her being wronged, spoke up.

Alice was suddenly yelled at by him. She blinked her eyes and looked at the dazzling man in front of her.

Her heart sank to the bottom in an instant.

What right did he have to yell at her like that? He was the main culprit for what happened that day.

"Hey, have you heard? I heard that Alice has had business dealings with Mr. Henrick from the Alwynn family. Alice has been pestering him since they were children."

"I don't know who said it, but I've heard people talking about it in the past two days. I heard that she was obsessed with getting Mr. Henrick. As long as there is a place where he will appear, she will also appear there."

"Isn't that right? I heard that she came all the way from Lemmon City for this drama. I also heard a lot of rumors about this matter in the past two days. Miss Parma was given the wrong script. She must have thought that Mr. Henrick treated Miss Parma well, so she deliberately played a trick on her."

That was undoubtedly the key point, and everyone present instantly understood.

Everyone's expression changed as they looked at Alice.

Candice and Ellie looked at each other. They wanted this result.

Alice's face was extremely pale. She had never dreamed that her feelings would become a sharp knife to attack her because she liked someone.

She glared at Henrick with hatred.

When he saw her hateful gaze, his pupils constricted. He had never dreamed that things would turn out like this.

Only he and Alice knew about this. He knew that she wanted nothing more than to distance herself from him.

She couldn't have said it, but Alice's hateful look made him understand that she thought that he had said it.

She didn't care about what he thought. What she hated the most was that someone had schemed against her.

Bang... She threw the script to the ground.

Her eyes were red, but she looked at Alma and Henrick coldly.

"Alma, Henrick, if you want to drive me out of the set, just tell me. I'll be fine. Why do you want to frame me?"

"I dare to guarantee with my life that what I gave you is definitely not this script. I have checked the script I gave you once, and my assistant has checked it once. Both of us are very careful and will never make mistakes."

"I can leave the crew, but I will never be wronged by you."

She spoke word by word, extremely angry.

Alma explained anxiously, "Alice, don't be angry. Maybe you took the wrong thing. I'll go back and look for it. This has nothing to do with Henrick."

"Nothing to do with him?" Alice looked at him with pained eyes and said, "Henrick, I admit that I was young and ignorant at that time. I was your fan and really liked you. However, since seven years ago, I no longer pestered you. Why won't you let me go?"

Faced with her question, he didn't know how to answer her.

That was because he did not know that things would turn out like this.

Since he didn't say anything, she took it as a confirmation.

She lowered her eyes and held back her tears.

Kylie couldn't stand it anymore. She had been following Alice for a long time, and she knew her character best. Alice would never do such a thing.

She walked over and looked at Alma with hostility in her eyes. "Miss Parma, it's no wonder that you, your assistant, and your agent have been very concerned about Alice during this period of time. As the saying goes, there must be a reason to be attentive to others. It's either that you're a traitor or a thief. It turns out that you set up a trap for us."

Chapter 2204

"I've been with Alice for so many years. She always puts herself in the actors' shoes for their sake. Even if she likes Mr. Henrick, she would never do such a thing."

"What's more, even your assistant said that you and Mr. Henrick will get married in the future. Alice is not the kind of person who would ruin other people's relationships."

"Miss Ratliff, you've misunderstood."

After saying that, Alma looked at Alice. She thought that Alice would turn around and leave in anger, but she didn't expect that she wanted to find out the truth.

Alma was a little nervous. She lowered her head and thought of a solution. The matter was going in the direction she had expected and that was the result she wanted.

The director and assistant director were biting their nails.

The assistant director asked, "Director, what should we do if this matter is spread out? The story outside the script is more wonderful than the one in the script."

Dwayne looked at him worriedly. "Shut up. It seems that this situation is very unfavorable to us. If Alice is gone, we will be doomed. Her adapted work is heavily based on the original one, and she has a lot of novel ideas."

"If Alice is gone, you'll be so busy that you'll feel tortured to death."

The assistant director stopped talking. He didn't say anything more. Didn't he just stand there and watch the show?

Alma looked up at Alice and tried her best to explain, "Alice, the whole thing is not related. We are talking about the script. It has nothing to do with Henrick..."

"That's enough. I don't want to listen to your disgusting words anymore. Whether you marry Henrick or anyone else, I don't care. You don't have to set up such a trap."

Alice had already determined that it was Henrick and Alma's scheme. She didn't want to hear her pretending to be wronged to make everyone pity her.

She had written a lot of scripts, and she had worked with many famous actresses, but none of them were as smart as Alma.

Alice looked at her assistant, Kylie, and said, "Kylie, go and get the script I gave to Miss Parma, and then go to the hotel to get the surveillance video. The cover of this script is different from the cover of the one I gave her."

Alma was stunned. "Alice's skills are much better. Are her covers different?"

She began to panic!

"Okay!" Kylie called Brenden, who had something to do that day and did not come to the scene.

Candice saw this and walked over with a smile. She was already 35 years old, tall and slender, with wavy, curly hair and a white suit. Despite her age, she looked youthful, appearing to be only about 25 years old.

"Alice, this might just be a misunderstanding. Is it so serious that you need to get the surveillance video? After all, we are friends."

Alice looked at the mediator in front of her, smirked, and said sarcastically, "Friends? I'm sorry, but I don't simply befriend anyone."

Candice felt insulted. Alice was obviously smiling, but Candice felt as if she had fallen into an ice cellar, and the temperature around her was different.

"Alice, stop fooling around." Henrick's voice was devoid of warmth. When he saw the pain in her eyes, his heart ached; it was painful. He would find out the truth.

"Haha... I'm fooling around?" Alice felt that her heart was bleeding. She was really stupid. It was really eye-opening to see Henrick's true character.

"Henrick, it's you who caused trouble first. I am not afraid of causing trouble, even if the Alwynn family is in control of the world. I will protect my dignity even if I have to spare my last breath." Alice's cold tone almost froze him on the spot, and there was no trace of warmth in her eyes.

Everyone was speechless.

Things were about to get very heated!

"Alice, I'll investigate this matter." Henrick stepped forward and looked at her seriously.

She quickly took a step back and sneered. "You'll investigate? What will you find out? I don't think it's possible for you to get justice for me."

"Henrick, investigate it now. If you find out, I'll leave. Mirth Company is not short of talents and money."

It just so happened that there would be a holiday in a few days. She could play with the children.

She would wait patiently for the result.

Alma was anxious. If Henrick found out that she had framed Alice on purpose, he would definitely hate her.

"Alice, I was wrong. I don't know why the script became another one. Please don't be angry. It's my fault. It has nothing to do with anyone."

Her pitiful look of apology won everyone's favor.

Among these people, Amiyah was the only one who knew Alma's usual tricks.

She and Alma had known each other since they were models. After all, they were both so adorable.

It was a pity that she couldn't say anything now. Henrick had already warned her that if she was to cause trouble for Alma, she would be removed from the entertainment industry completely.

For her own dreams, she was not so stupid as to speak up at this time.

Alice ignored her and lowered her head to look at her phone.

Brenden: "Alice, why did something happen to you when I'm not around?"

Alice smiled and replied: "I'm fine. You should call the monitoring team as soon as possible."

Brenden: "I'm already doing it. Wait for me. If they frame you, I'll make it so that they'll be unable to film."

She couldn't help but smile when he saw how protective he was.

He was so sweet and warm while Henrick was such a jerk.

Henrick looked at her smile and felt even more depressed. He also wanted to know what was going on. He couldn't let her be so wronged for no reason.

Alma looked at Alice and ignored her. She was anxious and glanced at her agent, Candice.

Candice didn't expect Alice to be so hard to deal with.

She couldn't ruin Alma's image.

She winked at Ellie, who understood. She turned around and looked in the direction of their pile of belongings.

"Oops!" She screamed.

Everyone was attracted by her scream.

"Alma, I'm sorry. The script is here. Maybe I made a mistake when I gave it to you." Ellie walked over with an apologetic look on her face.

Alice took a look and confirmed that that was the script which she had given Alma.

Everyone was speechless. Why did this turn out to be a show?

Alma immediately burst into tears. "I'm sorry, Alice. Ellie took the wrong one. When she gave me the script..."

Alice looked at her in confusion and interrupted her. "Miss Parma, did you really take the wrong thing? Weren't you filming with Mr. Henrick today?"

"I started shooting as soon as I came here this morning, and I cooperated well with Henrick these days, so I didn't have time to..." Alma lowered her head to wipe her tears. The words she didn't say made everyone understand that she didn't mean it.

Alice smiled coldly. She was really implying that she had a good relationship with him.

"Alma, did you really take the wrong script?" Henrick looked deeply at the innocent girl in front of him, and his expression was very grim.

Chapter 2205

The girl in front of him had had a very delicate little face since she was a child. In his opinion, she was delicate and fragile like glass. Moreover, because of her poor family background and how hard she worked, he would pity her very much.

He really liked a girl like her who could make him feel like he needed to protect her well. As a man, he also hoped that the woman he liked could feel safe and happy in him!

Additionally, Alma was very close to his ideal woman. He thought he liked her.

However, when he met Alice, he would become nervous and angry. He would care about what she thought of him.

With Alma, in addition to wanting to treat her better, his heart was as calm as a lake.

He knew that he did not like Alma. When she said that she liked him, he refused her directly.

Alma looked at the unfathomable man in front of her in shock and horror. He was still suspicious.

"Henrick..."

"Mr. Henrick, I'm sorry. It's all my fault. I took the wrong script. I'm sorry, everyone. I'm sorry for delaying everyone's time. I'm very sorry." Ellie bowed to everyone and apologized sincerely.

Dwayne also knew that they couldn't continue that day, so he asked everyone to go back to rest and continue the next day.

Alice looked at him and said, "Mr. Kline, I booked a hotel tonight. Let's have a chat. You are very satisfied with the following scripts. The actors are also very excellent. If there is no problem with the subsequent plot, I will quit in advance. After that, you can keep in touch with Brenden and my assistants."

Dwayne smiled. "Alice, this is a misunderstanding. Alice..."

"I'm sorry, Mr. Kline. For me, this misunderstanding is very big. If I stay, it may cause trouble for everyone."

After saying that, she left without waiting for his answer.

"Alice." Henrick chased after her.

"Henrick." Alma stood there sadly.

She chased after them.

All of a sudden, the onlookers became more worried when they saw that scene, but no one dared to say anything.

Amiyah smiled coldly. If Alma could enter the Alwynn family, she would eat her hat.

.....

"Alice, stop right there." Henrick chased after her, but she left in a hurry.

She stopped a taxi on the side of the road, got in quickly, and gave the location of the hotel.

"Alice..."

Seeing that she had gotten in the taxi, he kicked the trash can on the roadside.

As soon as he looked up, he saw another taxi approaching. He raised his hand and the taxi stopped. He quickly got in and chased after Alice.

Almost all the crew members had left.

Candice didn't expect things to turn out like this. The previous few days of planning didn't affect Alice at all.

Originally, she thought that with the relationship between Henrick and Alma, Alice would not care about this matter in order to avoid trouble. After an apology, she would let it go.

They had also used this scheme to win several scripts in Henrick's name before, earning a lot of money.

"Alma, are you okay?" Candice looked at her with some concern.

Alma shook her head slightly and said, "Miss Yates, I'm fine. Let's go back. I'll explain it to Henrick."

Henrick loved her the most. She knew him very well.

Hearing this, Candice smiled and said in a gentle voice, "Let's go. Take this opportunity. You must become Mr. Henrick's woman. The position of Second Young Madam of the Alwynn family belongs to you alone." She gave a strange smile.

Alma understood what she meant and nodded obediently.

Over the years, with Candice's help, she had indeed played several good roles.

Twenty minutes later, Alice returned to the hotel.

After talking to Dwayne that night, she would go back to her apartment and wait for the children to come and play for a few days before returning to Lemmon City.

She never wanted to see Henrick, that b*stard again.

"Henrick, you jerk, b*stard, *sshole. You'll be a b*stard for the rest of your life," she cursed as she walked.

When she entered the elevator, Henrick had already arrived at the lobby of the hotel. Watching her enter the elevator, he ran as quickly as he could. He didn't catch up with Alice's elevator, but caught another one.

He quickly went in and pressed the floor.

He didn't know why he had followed her here. He just wanted to prevent Alice from misunderstanding him. That matter had nothing to do with him.

He panted heavily. Looking at his reflection in the elevator, it could be seen that he was very anxious. The corners of his lips were a little pale, and he was having a hard time breathing at that moment. He hadn't slept well during this period of time. He was behaving so strangely that he hardly recognized himself anymore.

Ever since he returned to the Alwynn family, he had been very happy everyday. He had never been anxious about anything.

In his impression, he never had to worry about a thing. He had grandparents who loved him, a father who protected his family, a mother who loved him the most, three younger brothers who loved him, and tens of millions of fans.

He had never been as anxious as he was that day.

Out of the elevator, he ran to Alice's room.

However, when he saw Alice and Brenden talking in the corner, he quickly retreated.

"Alice, why are you back so soon? I still want to take the surveillance video to get even with them." Brenden was very angry.

Alice smiled. Looking at his angry expression, she advised, "You don't have to be so angry. The matter has been solved. They have admitted that they took the wrong script."

"That's too much. At first glance, Alma is very scheming. She has been treating you well these days for no reason. I found it all a little strange. She has a good relationship with Mr. Henrick, but she doesn't need to show off in front of you, does she?"

She lowered her head. He didn't know, but she did.

She was afraid that Henrick had deliberately made Alma respond to her in order to make her disappear in front of him.

She had to admit that she had lost thoroughly.

"Brenden, I'll leave tonight. You stay and tell them the story. I've discussed the subsequent plot with the director, and there are no major issues..."

"Miss Klein, in fact, you don't have to do this." Before Alice could say anything else, Heidi walked out of the corner on the other side.

Alice knew her; she was Amiyah's agent, Heidi.

She frowned and was a little unhappy that Heidi was eavesdropping on them.

Heidi looked at her and smiled. She walked towards them and did not mind Brenden. Alice was not an ordinary person. She and Amiyah had been suppressed by Alma for a long time. Wasn't this an opportunity?

"Alice, you don't have to go. This is Alma's and her agent's usual trick."

Alice looked at her without saying anything and waited for her to continue.

Heidi didn't feel well that day, so she didn't go to the crew. She rested in the hotel. Amiyah called to tell her what had happened during the shoot that day. She was going to pick Amiyah up, so she had overheard Alice's words when she went out.

Chapter 2206

Alice did not speak, but Brenden was very interested and asked, "Miss Mason, what common trick are you talking about?"

Heidi explained with a smile, "To be honest, this kind of trick, it's something that Mr. Henrick is used to. Alma has been doted on by him since she was a child. Even when she had a cold, he would come back from abroad to visit her. Take a year ago as an example. Her wrist was sprained, but he flew back from abroad to visit her."

Alice's face suddenly turned as pale as snow. She still remembered that a year ago, when Gia called her and told her about Martin, she had also mentioned that Henrick had returned. At that time, she no longer wanted to hear news about him.

She lowered her head and felt very uncomfortable. She heard Heidi's voice again, "With Mr. Henrick, Alma has always only wanted things from him, but she has never given him anything. She has a boyfriend named Jaime Jefferson, yet she is still entangled with Mr. Henrick."

"Over the years, she took advantage of the relationship between herself and Mr. Henrick and stepped on others to climb to her present position. Just like a few days ago, she and Amiyah had some conflict. When they met, it was inevitable that they would bicker with each other. However, Alma ran to tell Mr. Henrick, who specially warned Amiyah that if she made trouble for Alma, he would not be polite to her."

Alice smiled bitterly, lowered her head, and said, "Isn't everyone like this? He loves those who only ask but pretend to be weak and ignore those who ask for warmth. Maybe it's the love of a lover."

Brenden felt very sad when he heard her words.

Standing not far away, Henrick's heart ached when he heard that. There was no harm without comparison.

"Seven years ago, on the day of Mr. Henrick's birthday..."

"Seven years ago," Alice interrupted her.

"Yes, it was during Mr. Henrick's birthday seven years ago." Heidi sneered.

Henrick's heart suddenly tensed up, and even his entire body arched slightly.

"Seven years ago, Alma and her agent drugged Mr. Henrick and sent him to the hotel. I don't know why but after that, she came out shortly after."

"Back then, I saw the whole thing. Not long after Alma left, I saw Mr. Henrick's godmother, Madam Joye, come out of the hotel. Alma looked flustered. I think Madam Joye might have been there, so she didn't succeed."

Alice clenched her fists tightly and looked at her coldly. "Why are you telling me these things?"

It turned out that it was Alma who had sent Henrick to the hotel seven years ago. At that time, Alice could only see her back and did not remember who she was.

Heidi smiled and said, "It's very simple. Alma's enemies are all our friends. What's more, this time, her agent deliberately spread the news about the relationship between her and Mr. Henrick just to frame you today. You don't have to believe what I said."

"As far as I know, Alma has a chance to get close to Mr. Henrick this time, and she will definitely scheme against him. Only when she becomes his woman will she have a chance to marry into the Alwynn family."

"Everyone knows that Mrs. Alwynn is modest and kind. As long as the woman is a kind girl, Mrs. Alwynn will not stop Mr. Henrick from marrying anyone. However, Alma is not a kind person. Mrs. Alwynn can easily find out what she has done if she wants to."

Speaking of this, Heidi's cell phone suddenly rang. She looked down and found that it was Amiyah calling.

"Alice, I'm not afraid of anyone hearing what I said today. Hasn't Amiyah been suppressed by her all these years?"

"I'll go pick her up first." She smiled and turned to leave.

She had told Alice all this on purpose. Judging from the way they got along with each other, there was something going on between Alice and Henrick.

Moreover, Alice's family background was not ordinary. She could compete with the Alwynn family.

She had no evidence of what had happened back then. With Henrick's love for Alma, he would not believe her even if she told him. On the contrary, he would continue to suppress her. However, Alice was different. The two families had business dealings. This matter would eventually reach Henrick's ears.

Bang... Alice suddenly sat down on the ground.

Seven years ago, it was Alma who had set Henrick up.

However, would he believe her if she told him?

She had been framed for seven years. If it was really Alma, then she didn't want to carry that charge.

"Alice, what's wrong with you?" Brenden squatted down to help her up. Looking at her ugly expression, he frowned and began to think deeply.

Her face was pale. She looked at him with a smile and said, "Brenden, I'm fine. I'll go back to my room and have a rest. I have an appointment with the director tonight. I have something to talk to him about. You can go with me."

After saying that, she fled back to her room.

"Alice..." Brenden chased after her worriedly.

Henrick looked at Alice's lonely figure. At that moment, something seemed to be brewing in his heart.

He leaned against the wall and slowly sat down on the ground. The expression on his face was indescribable.

He couldn't believe that the girl he had been with for so many years was the one who had schemed against him seven years ago.

It wasn't that he didn't want to fall in love in these years, nor did he not believe in love. He wanted to go through the years with the woman he liked, just like when he saw that his parents were as loving as before. Unfortunately, he didn't have a woman he especially loved, so he didn't go to the ends of the earth for the woman he liked, nor did he do anything stupid.

However, he stayed up all night for Alma and traveled across countries for her.

As long as something happened to her, he would come back to visit her even if he was busy. He thought that she had no one to rely on and wanted to be her support.

He even thought that after what happened seven years ago, he was very sorry for Alma as he had liked her from the beginning to the end.

If he hadn't met a suitable girl, Alma would have been the most suitable one for him.

He used to look forward to it, but right then, he was in so much pain.

He could find Alma in a crowd from a distance. It was because he had that kind of love in his heart that he could travel so passionately between countries for her.

That was why he took the opportunity to create all kinds of roles for her, including the chance to be the female lead this time. It was indeed because of him that Alma had gotten the role of the female lead.

His passionate love was taken advantage of in the end.

Fortunately, he had finally decided that he did not love her.

However, he had felt pity for her since he was a child.

Henrick's heart suddenly sank and he smiled dispiritedly. If you can forgive anyone without a bottom line, they can hurt you without a bottom line.

What happens if a person's true colors were ugly when they had been exposed?

He glanced in the direction of Alice's room and then turned to leave.

Alice, if I wronged you, I will definitely seek justice for you.

When he arrived at the hotel entrance, he took out his phone and dialed Abigail's phone number.

He remembered what his god-mother had said that day. She had told Alma that she should pay more attention to her food and drink. So, did Abigail know about what had happened that day?

Chapter 2207

"Mommy, where are you?" His tone was as naughty as ever, and the way he called her

Abigail smiled and said, "What can I do? I'm accompanying your mother to buy clothes for the triplets."

He lowered his head slightly. Under the setting sun, his body was covered with a layer of warm colors, and his handsome face became more and more dazzling. Perhaps in front of his family, his smile was much warmer than before. He grinned and said, "My mom is still so happy. Adriel and the others have grown up, so she doesn't have to buy the same clothes for them."

"But she wants to buy the same clothes for them. They are three handsome men. They are so handsome that I want to replace Ayman with them."

"Mommy, Ayman will be so sad to hear this."

She smiled and remarked, "I've said it several times in front of him. He's immune to it. Why are you looking for me?"

His heart ached and he lowered her voice. "Mommy, I want to ask you something. What happened on my birthday seven years ago?"

On the other side, Abigail was slightly stunned before she asked with a smile, "It's been such a long time. Why do you still want to ask?"

Henrick took a few steps forward against the setting sun. Seeing a couple arguing not far from him, he took a few more steps back and said, "Mommy, I have something I want to know, so I called you."

She sighed slightly. "Back then, you were framed by Alma's agent, Candice. You were drugged, so I followed you to the hotel and stopped her at the door of the hotel. I watched her leave the hotel, and you disappeared when I went back."

His grip on the phone tightened, and his heart was filled with bitterness. He felt as if all the blood in his body was flowing backwards and he could not say a word.

She continued, "Over the years, I saw that you didn't like Alma at all; you were just pitying her. She kept to herself, so I didn't tell you about it."

"Mommy..." He shouted angrily, "You should have told me such a big thing." That way, he would not hurt Alice again.

Thinking of the pain in her eyes, his heart trembled.

Abigail smiled and stated, "I don't have any evidence. Considering your feelings for Alma back then, would you choose to believe in me? You went back to Country M later on, and Alma didn't have the chance to contact you. I forgot about it when Haven started acting and making money. Besides, this isn't a big deal in a wealthy family. I don't know how many times your mother and I caused trouble when we were young."

Henrick pursed his lips and said, "Mommy, I'm hanging up. Don't tell my mom about this."

"Well, of course I won't say it. Your mother has met Alma several times. She often uses your name to do things. Eden doesn't like this girl very much. Alma is a little scheming, but in the entertainment circle, everyone has their own thoughts. However, if you want to marry her, you have to work hard to convince your mother."

"We all know what kind of character your mother has. If you want to marry a woman, she doesn't care about the other party's family background or financial situation, but she cares very much about the other party's character."

He licked his upper lip with the tip of his tongue and said with a smile, "Mommy, don't worry. I won't marry her. I'm an obedient child. I won't make things difficult for you all."

Hearing this, she smiled and said, "Oh, it seems that our silly boy has grown up."

At that moment, he was in no mood to joke around. After saying a few words, he hung up.

Abigail watched as Eden paid and said, "Eden, I found that our son has grown up."

Eden replied with a smile, "But I'm afraid that I won't grow up in this life. You spoil me."

Abigail smiled and whispered, "How can our son not be doted on? By the way, has there been any good news from Gia recently?"

Eden knew what she wanted to ask, so she shook her head and said, "No, she and Martin have been traveling recently."

"Hey! Eden, how come we're getting old in the blink of an eye? We're about to become grandmothers." Abigail glanced at her face on the phone screen. She had taken good care of herself, but there were still a few wrinkles on her face.

"You're still so beautiful. You haven't changed much in the past few years." Eden smiled and picked up her bag. "Let's hurry back. I'm bringing Adriel and the other two out to play. Do you want to go with me?"

"No, that b*stard, Victor, gave me a hard look as soon as he saw me. He was afraid that I would take you away. I'd better go back with Ayman and Jacqueline to accompany their grandparents. They're getting old and lonely."

"I just went home with Adriel and the others a few days ago. Now that there are so many children in the Clement family, my parents laugh from ear to ear every day."

Abigail smiled and took Eden's hand. "Who doesn't love a happy family? We're old, and we can also accompany each other."

Eden looked at her and smiled very happily. "I'm here to accompany you."

"Haha... I'll be with you too." The two of them chatted as they walked. They had been best friends for decades, and everyone envied them.

After Henrick hung up the phone, the couple not far away started quarreling again.

He frowned slightly. When he was on the phone, he seemed to have heard a girl say that there was another girl around the boy who liked her. The boy went out to have dinner with that girl.

"Patrick, you clearly know her feelings for you, but you still went out to have dinner with her. Have you ever thought about my feelings when you went out with her? I care so much about you and ask about your feelings. The first thing I did when I woke up in the morning was to send you a message and ask if you slept well last night."

"I worry that you're not eating well, so I check up on you everyday, but you find me annoying. Well, if you do, then let's break up. You will never be annoyed again."

After the girl finished speaking, she turned around and left, with tears streaming down her face.

The boy had no choice but to catch up with her. He took the girl's hand and wiped her tears lovingly. He looked at the girl affectionately and said, "Felicity, listen to me. I went to dinner with her in order to repay her favor. I won't go out with her in the future."

"I'm sorry! Felicity, you didn't worry about me these days. You didn't ask me about my feelings, so I always felt empty in my heart, as if I had lost something very important. Until this morning when you didn't send me a message, I realized that I was afraid of losing you, so I felt like my heart was empty..."

As the two of them walked further and further away, Henrick could no longer hear what they were saying.

He seemed to have thought of something. He picked up his phone and opened the message dialog box.

Because he had changed his phone, there were no more messages with Alice's warmth and care.

However, he had read all the information and somewhat remembered some.

The contents were all basically different. Alice would share news with him when she was in a good mood.

Thinking of this, his pupils quivered. He seemed to have discovered something incredible.

Chapter 2208

He suddenly realized something shocking.

When Alice sent him messages, it seemed that she was never worried, only reporting on good news but not the bad.

She would ask him if he had had breakfast or if he was tired of filming. Or what he had done that day and what awards he had won? She would congratulate him and praise him, saying that he was awesome.

In his impression, she had never told him anything sad.

Henrick closed his eyes and said to herself in his heart, "Henrick, the truth is ugly. You have to bear it. Who told you to let her down?"

Thinking of the couple just now, he keenly felt that he had deeply hurt a girl's pure and passionate heart.

When he looked at Alice, he felt pain when he felt sad. How much more pain would she be in?

The girl who came to him from Lemmon City when she was seven years old cared about him so much because she liked him. Even if she could not get a response from him, she still cared about him silently.

He was a b*stard. She had saved him, and he had stabbed her heart with a knife.

In order to completely figure out the truth, he called Dwayne to ask for leave.

"Director, I have something to do. I probably won't be back until tomorrow night. I may not be able to film tomorrow's scene. As for Alice, you should try your best to keep her. Don't let her go. I'll deal with it when I get back."

Dwayn replied, "Mr. Henrick, I seem to have sensed something unusual between you two. Can I be an onlooker?"

Henrick smiled bitterly and said, "Director, the gossip isn't that interesting. You guys should take the opportunity to rest. You've been filming during this period of time and everything's gone pretty smoothly. It won't affect the rest of the scenes."

"Don't worry. If the rest of the crew's funds are not enough, I will donate to them in my name."

Dwayne was speechless. With those words, he could rest for another month."

"Hehe... Mr. Henrick, you're really very generous. Go ahead. We'll shoot after you finish dealing with your matters." Dwayne flattered him with a smile.

After hanging up the phone, Henrick asked Josue to drive over to pick him up and went straight to the hotel where he was staying.

Alma returned to the hotel and knocked on Henrick's door. No one was there.

Feeling a little disappointed, she walked back and called him as she walked.

He was almost River City at this time. As usual, he answered her call and said, "Hello! Alma."

"Henrick, where have you been? Why aren't you in the hotel? I want to have dinner with you." Her voice was so gentle that it made people tremble.

Her voice was indeed really sweet, gentle, and pleasant to listen to.

However, his voice did not change, and his expression was very cold. "You can have dinner yourself. I have something to do, so I'll be back tomorrow."

"Ah, okay. I've also booked the restaurant you like. You won't be able to eat if you don't come." In the past, when she said this, he would always put down his business and accompany her.

However, she was disappointed that day. He merely hummed in reply and then hung up the phone.

She looked at the phone hanging up and frowned. "What's wrong with him today?"

Could it be that what happened that day had made him suspicious?

Alma went to her room, but she ran into Alice, who was going to find Dwayne.

After Alice went back, she did not cry. Instead, she looked out of the window in a daze. When the time was up, she headed out, still somewhat unfocused.

As soon as she walked out of the door, she saw Alma.

The two of them looked at each other. Alma nodded and said, "Alice, are you going out?"

Alice nodded slightly and didn't say anything.

When she passed by Alma, the latter said with a smile, "Alice, are you still concerned about what happened today? It was really a misunderstanding. It was Ellie who took the wrong script."

Alice suddenly stopped and turned to look at her. She sneered and said, "Alma, you are stupid, but it doesn't mean that others are stupid too. As long as I want to investigate your little tricks, I can find out all the information about you. Why don't we find someone to investigate the matter carefully? Did you really take the wrong script or did you frame me?"

Alma looked aggrieved. "Alice, I..."

"Ha." Alice interrupted her with a laugh. "Now that Henrick is not here, you don't have to pretend to be wronged anymore."

"If you want to pretend to be wronged, go and pretend in front of him. In front of me, it's useless, because I won't pity a vicious woman."

After saying that, she left. If she didn't leave, she might want to beat the other woman up.

Alma looked at Alice's back and bit her lower lip hard.

Suddenly, she sneered and said, "Alice, no matter how you pestered Henrick, he won't look at you. He said that what he hated most was you pestering him. He wants you to disappear from his sight forever."

Alice felt a sudden pain in her heart. She had already explained this matter and did not want to explain it anymore.

She then also sneered at her and said, "Even if Henrick loves you to the core, you can't enter the Alwynn family. I know Eden best. She doesn't care about your family background, but she definitely cares about your character."

Alma's face suddenly turned as pale as snow. It was a sharp attack. She only understood it when she grew up, but it was too late.

Therefore, she had to make sure that Henrick treated her sincerely before she could enter the Alwynn family.

Alice looked at her pale face and smiled faintly. Such a victory was not what she liked. She was also poking at other people's pain to please herself.

She hated such a person because she herself used to be in great pain!

However, the situation did not allow her to become weak. Otherwise, the woman in front of her would do whatever she wanted.

After that night, she would leave.

She would disappear completely!

Alma looked at Alice's back with mixed feelings. If it wasn't for the fact that she was nervous and concerned about her, she wouldn't have set up such a trap so easily.

She was afraid as she didn't even know what Henrick thought of Alice.

He and Alice had known each other since they were young, but he had never told her about it.

Once she was discovered by him, she would no longer have a chance.

There was a characteristic of Henrick. When he cared about you, he wanted to give all the good things to you. Once things soured, he would not even look at you.

She was afraid because she knew him too well.

However, Miss Yates was right. No one would know what would happen if they didn't take a gamble.

Seven years ago, her plan was ruined by Abigail. Seven years later, there was no one here who could ruin her plan.

Alma turned around and returned to her room with a cold expression on her face.

When Henrick arrived at the hotel, he went straight to the manager of the hotel and told him his intention. Even Josue did not know anything about it, so Henrick asked him to wait outside.

Josue understood the relationship between Henrick and Alma the best.

The surveillance videos that had been sealed a few years ago were stored regularly. Half an hour later, they were delivered to Henrick.

Looking at the silver USB in her hand, he tightened his grip and sat there quietly, staring at it in his hand.

Chapter 2209

After looking at it for a long time, his neck felt sore and his eyes became dry. He then inserted the USB stick into the computer and stiffly typed something on the keyboard. Then, Henrick slowly looked at the computer screen. While waiting, he felt that every minute was particularly long.

Deep in his heart, he felt afraid. He was very afraid that the truth was really what he had heard. The girl he had cared for for more than a decade was just using him. He did not see her true colors clearly, but instead, he had helped the wicked.

Moreover, he had badly injured the person who cared about him.

The images from that evening appeared. That night, it was indeed Alma who helped him go in first. Soon after, they walked in the door.

He saw Alice. She was an eighteen-year-old girl, wearing a pink dress and her long hair hung down her back. Her beautiful face still looked very youthful. She was holding an exquisite gift box in her hand. She lowered her head and no one could see what her expression was. When she walked past the camera, it was only then that Henrick saw her crying. She was very sad and seemed to have underestimated something.

The scene changed to the lobby of the hotel. After Alice walked in, she obviously became a little excited.

He took a closer look and found that she was looking in the direction of him and Alma. She recognized him just by looking at his back.

She followed him with excitement. The elevator door was closed. She glanced at the elevator they were taking and entered the next one.

The video switched to the top floor. He and Alma had already arrived outside the presidential suite.

Abigail suddenly appeared behind them. He didn't know what she said but Alma left with reddened eyes.

Abigail also said a few words to him. Now that he thought about it, he was already unconscious at that time. He just kept nodding, and he didn't remember that she had also appeared.

He didn't know what she had told him, but she also left in a hurry.

Then, Alice came out of the elevator and looked around. When she saw him, she broke into a smile.

She ran to him and said something. She was very happy and handed him the gift in her arms.

Instead of accepting the gift, he dragged her into the room, tore her clothes off, and kissed her on the face.

She struggled and punched him, but he dragged her in desperately.

There was no monitor in the room, so the images stopped.

Henrick's heart felt like it was stuck, and he stared blankly at the final scene, at the helplessness and tears on the girl's face.

She had come from far away to celebrate his birthday, but he had done such a terrible thing to her. After that, he had accused her of framing him.

"Haha..." For some reason, Henrick burst into laughter, and his tone was bitter.

Henrick, why are you such a jerk?

Henrick, you deserve to die!

Henrick, you will never know what love is for the rest of your life.

Henrick, you've always been a b*stard.

Henrick didn't know how he left the hotel. After he left, he went home. Upon reaching home, he covered his head and went to sleep. He fell asleep for a long time.

During this period of time, he really didn't sleep well. Everyday, he racked his brains to come up with ways to spend more time with Alice, which led to his insomnia.

It was not until the next morning that Eden found that he was at home.

Henrick came downstairs with messy hair.

Eden was surprised to see her son.

"Son, when did you come back?"

He pretended to be sad and took his mother's arm. "Mom, I came back last night. You didn't even know that I was at home. My heart hurts."

She looked at him with blame and asked with a smile, "Weren't you filming outside the city? I thought you didn't want to come back."

"I missed you, so I came back." He also leaned his head on her shoulder. She slightly lowered her head, looked at him, and asked, "Is there something on your mind?"

He narrowed his eyes and smiled. His mother was so sensitive that she could tell everything at a glance. He asked, "Mom, have you ever hated my father when you were young?"

As soon as Victor went downstairs, he heard his son's stupid question.

"Why did you suddenly ask me this question? Did you do something wrong to a girl?" Eden was very serious.

Oh my, his mother really knew everything.

Henrick suddenly straightened up, and his eyes were a little evasive. "Mom, how could it be? You haven't answered the question just now."

She looked at her son with a smile, as if she had something on her mind. "Tell me first. Why do you want to know?"

He replied, "Because I want to know what you were thinking back then. We were too young back then, so we never cared if you hated Dad or not. After a night, we'll be at peace. You must have hated him in your heart before, right?"

She thought about the situation in that year and said with a smile, "I didn't even know who your father was. I also hated him and cried, but so what? So what if I cried? I still have to live."

"So, Ricky, don't hurt a girl easily before you make sure of your feelings. Women often endure much more than men."

"Oh!" He nodded slightly, but he couldn't help clenching his fists.

Therefore, Alice hated him in her heart.

"Mom, what did you do when you knew that Dad was the man back then?"

She narrowed her eyes and became suspicious when she saw her son asking so seriously.

However, she still told the truth. "Because of the three of you, I actually wanted to run away at that time. I was afraid that your father would steal you three from me."

"At that time, it was no longer a matter of whether to hate him or not, but to solve the problem at hand."

"However, you are a good child. You never do anything that worries me. You suddenly asked me these questions. Tell me honestly, did something happen to you?"

Henrick smiled and answered, "Mom, I just thought that you were working too hard, so I remembered the past."

"You." She saw that he was running away, so she didn't ask more questions. "Did you not have dinner last night? What do you want to eat? I'll make it for you." She touched his head affectionately.

"I want to have some bitter melon." He lowered his head, wondering how he would face Alice.

Victor came over and sat elegantly beside Eden.

He glanced at his son and took Eden into her arms. "Dear, don't make it for him. Make him a cup of bitter tea instead."

Henrick was speechless. He was really upset right then, and he didn't know what to do.

Back then, his mother had also suffered the same kind of harm. At that time, his mother was very strong, but her heart was already riddled with holes.

Was Alice also like this?

Eden said, "You two can talk for a while. I'll make breakfast for you."

"Yes! You've worked hard, my dear." Victor's voice was as doting as ever.

Henrick smiled and watched his mother enter the kitchen. As his smile faded, he heard his father's voice.

Chapter 2210

"Ricky, did you do something? Don't you think that I know you well?" Victor's tone was very serious. All these years, the children had been abroad, but they were not distant with each other.

He had always loved his six children.

"Dad, no, you're thinking too much. I'm getting older and I always miss my childhood so I can't help asking Mom. Why do you suspect that I've caused trouble?"

Victor looked at him with dark eyes and warned, "You'd better not make trouble. Alice, do you know her? She came to our house for dinner a while ago?"

Henrick's nerves tensed up instantly, and he asked subconsciously, "I know her. She's the screenwriter for our drama. What's wrong?"

"Hmph! You know her dad, right? Every time your Uncle Klein called me, his words were full of sarcasm, as if I accidentally offended him. I've thought about it for many years. I've always divided our profits 50-50 and I've never treated him shabbily. He deserves a beating."

Henrick was shocked. "Could it be that Uncle Klein knows about me and Alice? Considering Uncle Klein's temper and how precious Alice is to him, if he knew that I was that scumbag, he would have gone abroad to beat me up," he thought to himself.

"Dad, what did Uncle Klein say?"

Hearing this, Victor's expression became more and more gloomy. "Didn't your sister get married? Every now and then, he would call me and ask if there's any good news with her. Why don't I have a grandchild at my age?"

"It sounds like he has a grandchild. Why does he care so much about whether I have a grandchild or not?"

"Bert loves his daughter, so he never had a second child. I guess he must be envious of me having five sons and a precious daughter. That's why he's so jealous." Victor's expression once again grew haughty.

Henrick was a little confused and he wondered, "Why did Uncle Klein say that for no reason?"

"Henrick, treat Alice well in the crew. Don't let your Uncle Klein say anything else," Victor warned.

He wasn't afraid of Bert, but it wasn't bad to be friendly with him for so many years.

Henrick nodded and asked, "Dad, when did Uncle Klein start acting like this?"

Victor lowered his eyes and thought for a moment. "In the past few years; it has been like this for about five or six years."

Henrick was speechless. "Does he know?" He thought.

After Henrick had his lunch, he asked Josue to pick him up and bring him back to the set.

It was only then that he remembered that he had fallen asleep last night. He wondered if Dwayne had left Alice behind the night before.

He dialed the director's number in the car.

Dwayne said, "Mr. Henrick, thank you for finally remembering me."

Henrick was stunned. Had he ever forgotten him? He wondered.

"Where's Alice?" Henrick asked.

Dwayne answered, "Mr. Henrick, I asked Alice to stay last night."

Henrick suddenly smiled and said, "Mr. Kline, well done. I will invest some funds so that this drama will be better."

"Hehe..." The director smiled unkindly. "Mr. Henrick, I was waiting for you to say the words."

Henrick was speechless. He felt like he had been sold yet he was paying a lot of money!

He smiled, but he was in a good mood because Alice was staying. "Mr. Kline, I'll have Josue transfer the money to your account tomorrow."

Dwayne, who was massaging his feet, was so excited that his toes curled up. He exclaimed excitedly, "Mr. Henrick, thank you. Then, please rest for three days. Alice is a little tough, and I had to use many ways to keep her here."

Henrick smiled and remarked, "Mr. Kline, thank you for your hard work."

"No, no, no, it's not hard at all. With your investment, I'm so happy." Dwayne smiled from ear to ear. Even after hanging up the phone, his smile was still there.

He was in such a good mood that he completely forgot about his feet.

The assistant director opened the door and came in. Seeing that Dwayne was overjoyed, he asked with a smile, "Director, did anyone invite us to dinner tonight? Why are you smiling so happily?"

Dwayne held his chin with both hands and smiled with white teeth. "Is it like a flower?"

The assistant director was speechless but then he responded, "Director, I think your statement is very formal. I think it's better than flowers."

Dwayne was arrogant, but it didn't affect other people's moods. "I have an idea now. For the final scene, let's hold the wedding on a super luxury cruise ship."

The assistant director was stunned and said with a smile, "Director, you are brave and experienced. We don't have enough funds so where will we get a cruise ship"

"Hey, what are you afraid of with Mr. Henrick here? Besides, many of the sea routes and cruise ships belong to the Alwynn family. Anyway, it's their family that makes money. When I mention it, he will agree."

"That's because he also wants to perform the role of the romantic and dazzling president!" Dwayne smiled and put on his slippers before heading off to make coffee.

The assistant director always felt that there was something wrong here, but he couldn't say it.

When Henrick arrived at the hotel, he went to look for Alice, but he met Alma halfway.

When he saw her again, he had a complicated look in his eyes.

He had told Josue not to tell Alma about his visit to the hotel.

Although Josue was puzzled, he could guess some things.

The relationship between Alma and Henrick was not as intimate as before.

That was because when Henrick mentioned her, the gaze in his dark eyes suddenly looked distant, and the light in his eyes was dim.

He really wanted to know what had happened.

"Henrick, you're here?" Alma didn't notice anything strange about him.

Henrick suddenly understood that she didn't care about him as much as he had imagined.

What she knew was that he would tolerate many things and accept many things for her.

"Yes!" He nodded lightly.

"Henrick, shall we have dinner together tonight? The director said that we can rest for three days and we don't have to film tomorrow." She smiled shyly and invited him..

He instantly remembered what Heidi had said. Alma would seize this opportunity to plot against him.

He thought for a moment and said, "Maybe in a few days. I have something to do today. My mother asked me to accompany Miss Klein. You know, we have business dealings."

She was stunned, and her beautiful eyes were full of confusion. Her expression was ugly, but she still asked with a smile, "Henrick, I thought you didn't want to see her?"

He was very curious about why she knew about his relationship with Alice. His expression was like usual, but there was a little coldness in his eyes. Looking at the innocent face in front of him, he suddenly felt that she was very pretentious; even her smile was so deliberate and gentle.

"Alma, who told you that I didn't want to see Alice?" His voice was a little cold.

Her smile gradually froze, and she felt that he had changed a little.
