

Gluey Love 2291

Chapter 2291

The man sneered and said, "Don't waste your time. There is no signal here, and no one will come here at all. There's an abundance of food and wine upstairs, like heaven, but here, it's like hell. We have been here for half a year, and no one has found us."

At that moment, Belinda was awakened by Alice's will to survive. She began to struggle hard, making her last bid to survive.

"B*stard." Belinda gathered her strength and kicked the man's belly. He, who was enjoying himself, suddenly staggered back. His expression was full of displeasure, terrifying and gloomy.

"Ah... You b*tch." The man felt like his life was going to end at that kick.

After venting his anger, the man's expression became even gloomier.

He suddenly walked over and grabbed hold of Belinda who was a few feet away. She was in so much pain that she could not get up. She hunched over and almost fainted.

"Belinda, Belinda, are you okay?" Alice looked at the motionless Belinda, and she was a little worried. Although she hated Belinda, in a matter involving life and death, the past was just a small matter.

"Haha... You can't even protect yourself, yet you still want to worry about others. David, keep going. After this time, I don't know when there will be another woman."

"Got it, buddy."

"B*stard, you will be punished if you do this. Don't you have a conscience? You also have parents and children. How could you be so vicious to others?" Alice tried to arouse their conscience.

She couldn't be destroyed here, otherwise what would happen to her children? What would she do in her life?

No, absolutely not!

She had yet to agree to Henrick's request. She had yet to spend the rest of her life with her beloved man.

She would rather die than submit!

"Hmph! Parents? Children?" The man was very sarcastic. "Do you think we have these people in our lives? If we had parents and children, do you think we'd dare to do such a thing?"

"We were abandoned by our parents, and we were children who picked up garbage and grew up on the streets. When we wanted to get married, no woman was willing to take a look at us. You live a life full of luxury, yet we have to risk our lives for a little money."

"This world is so unfair. Why should I have the conscience to let you go..." The man became even angrier.

When Alice heard this, she was completely desperate.

She suddenly understood. How could such a person have a conscience?

These were utterly heartless people.

"Get over here. Don't waste any more time." The man lost his patience and strode towards Alice.

The place was not big, and Alice tried to escape, but there was nowhere to run.

"Don't come over." She raised the iron stick in her hand.

However, as if he did not hear her, the man walked forward quickly.

Alice slammed the iron stick in her hand hard at the man. However, she was too weak, so the blow was intercepted halfway.

The man pulled hard, and the iron stick fell into his hand.

Alice took a few steps back and fell onto the trash behind her. The pain made her body twitch.

Bang... The man threw the iron stick on the ground, took off his coat and walked towards Alice.

Alice closed her eyes in despair.

Belinda had stopped talking, and Alice didn't know if she had fainted or not, but the man was cursing her.

"Get up and serve me well." The man grabbed Alice's hair and dragged her up.

Alice struggled and punched and kicked the man.

Slap... The man slapped her hard in the face.

"Ah..."

It was that scream that gave Henrick, who was busy searching for Alice, a glimmer of hope.

"Alice, Alice, where are you?" Henrick searched crazily in every corner.

He was sure that he did not hear wrongly. The scream just now came from the iron gate on the left.

He walked over, and the screams became clearer and clearer.

"Alice, Alice." Henrick raised his foot and kicked the door hard.

A few seconds later, he kicked the door open.

The space was disused, so there was not even a lock on the gate.

After the two men moved to live there, they only bound the gate shut with some wires.

Henrick kicked his way in in a few moves.

Seeing the scene inside, he was extremely furious. For so many years, he had suppressed his feelings, and all his anger burst out at that moment; a terrible aura spread everywhere.

The man beside Belinda watched in horror as Henrick ran past him like a gust of wind.

Alice was beaten several times by the man and had almost fainted.

Hearing Henrick's voice, she endured the pain on her face and tried her best to open her eyes to look at the man who was rushing towards her.

At that moment, her Prince Charming, whom she had been chasing after for so many years, finally came to her side and answered her prayers.

Alice smiled happily. Right then, although she was weak, embarrassed, and knew how ugly she looked when she cried, she didn't care anymore. Everything in the world no longer seemed to exist, and all she could see was the man who was rushing towards her, her Prince Charming.

"Where did this brat come from? How dare he meddle in my business?" The man picked up the iron stick on the ground with a sneer and swung it violently at Henrick.

Alice covered her mouth nervously. Presently, even if she was dazed, she knew that she couldn't make a sound to affect Henrick's judgment.

Henrick always exercised, as there were many hidden dangers abroad. He had to be strong enough to walk alone at night without worrying.

He accurately intercepted the iron stick that the man had swung down and said word by word angrily, "If you dare to touch my woman, I will make you regret coming into this world."

Before he finished his words, he kicked the man hard in the lower abdomen.

Bang... The man who had initially been confident suddenly fell to the ground, and he felt as if his internal organs were almost going to break out of his body.

He looked at the furious Henrick in horror.

Henrick raised the iron stick and hit the man's legs hard. He didn't stop until the man was covered in blood.

"Ah..." The man's scream caught the attention of Josue and the others who were not far away.

"Quick, over there." Josue ran in the direction of the sound with the bodyguards.

The underground garage was divided into two floors, and it was simply too big.

"Alice, are you okay?" Henrick ran to Alice's side and held her, who was still in a state of shock, in his arms.

He was very strong, and he was filled with fear and tension after regaining what he had lost. He didn't even dare to imagine what terrible things would have happened if he was one step late.

"Alice, I'm sorry! I'm sorry! I'm sorry, I'm late," he whispered in her ear, holding the back of her head with his big palm and holding her in his arms. Only in this way could he feel at ease and relieve his nervousness and fear.

Chapter 2292

"Boohoo..." Alice sobbed in his arms.

"Henrick, you weren't late at all. You're just in time."

However, she couldn't say anything at the moment.

"Alice, are you hurt anywhere?" Henrick let go of her and checked her wounds.

When he saw her swollen face, his face was full of distress. His slender fingers gently stroked her face, which was as precious as treasure to him. "Alice, is it very painful?"

Alice cried and shook her head. When she saw him, she felt no pain at all.

"Silly girl, do you know that you scared me to death?" Henrick wanted to pull her out of the room. "We're leaving. Let's go to the hospital."

Henrick didn't look at Belinda who was lying on the ground. He glanced at her in a hurry, and he didn't need to ask to know what had happened to her. At that moment, he was really glad that he had a genius brother and that Allie had resisted so much, which prevented a tragedy from happening.

However, at this time, the man covered in blood suddenly got up from the ground and looked at Alice's slender back with a sneer. No one could get what he couldn't.

"B*tch, go to hell!" He tried his best to pull out the dagger hidden in his pocket and stabbed at Alice.

"Watch out!" Belinda, who was pretending to be dead, opened her eyes and shouted in horror.

Almost instinctively, Henrick pulled Alice into his arms. The moment he turned his head, he suddenly raised his arm to block the dagger from the man. It happened so suddenly that there was a deviation in the angle between them.

Hiss... A long streak of blood oozed out of Henrick's arm.

His light blue suit was sliced open. The bright red blood penetrated his white shirt and the blue suit fabric, forming a stark contrast which was dazzling.

Drip... Bright red blood dripped down Henrick's arm to the ground.

Henrick couldn't be bothered with anything else. He kicked the man away, and his arm, which had been cut, hung down feebly.

He frowned slightly and switched to his other arm to bring Alice out.

Alice looked back at Henrick after smelling the strong smell of blood.

When she saw the blood forming a straight line and flowing to the ground, she felt a sharp pain in her heart.

If it wasn't for him, the dagger would have been stabbed into her body.

Sob, sob... She was so distressed that she burst into tears. "Henrick, how are you... Hurt... Are you okay?" She could barely speak.

Henrick smiled and consoled her, "Alice, I'm okay. Don't worry. Don't cry. I'll be upset if you cry."

Although he had predicted that he would be injured, he still took the chance.

His injured arm didn't seem to have much strength.

"Mr. Henrick." The sound of rushed footsteps could be heard as Josue appeared at the door.

"Ah, Mr. Henrick, you're injured." Josue was anxious. Who was Henrick? He was the treasure of the Alwynn family, yet he was now injured.

"I'll leave the matter here to you. Take that glass of wine back to do a test and hand these two over to the police. Make sure the results are satisfactory."

"Okay, okay, Mr. Henrick. Don't worry. Go to the hospital and get your injury treated. I'll come over as soon as I can."

After Josue finished speaking, he saw that Henrick's arm was bleeding abnormally, with blood flowing down like a thread.

"Mr. Henrick, I'll call the nearest ambulance for you." He dared not be careless and took out his mobile phone to make the call.

Henrick's face was a little pale and he nodded. He didn't have to be brave all the time.

Alice was very nervous. Seeing that Henrick was covered in blood, she knew that he was seriously injured.

She was only wearing an evening gown, so she couldn't take it off.

After Josue finished making the call, he tore off his shirt and tied it to Henrick's arm, but the bleeding wouldn't stop.

Looking at the pool of blood on the ground, Josue cursed in his heart. If this continued, Henrick would definitely faint.

At this time, the three people in the underground storeroom were brought out. Belinda, relying on the crowd, bravely stood up. She picked up an iron stick and stabbed at the man who had attacked her.

The man let out a scream and blood flowed out. He soon passed out.

Everyone was speechless.

Belinda laughed crazily. So what if she got revenge? Everything had already happened.

She did not look at anyone and staggered away.

Henrick's vision went dark and he fainted.

The moment he closed his eyes, he felt so ashamed. He fainted after bleeding a little; it was so embarrassing.

"Henrick, if anything happens to you, I'll ignore you for the rest of my life."

The moment Henrick closed his eyes, he heard Alice's heart-wrenching roar.

He thought that he should be fine.

In the hospital, the doctors went in and out of the operating room, and they were very busy.

Alice and Josue sat outside the operating room, anxiously waiting for news on Henrick's surgery.

Josue came over after dealing with the matters at hand.

Alice was not in the mood to ask how things were going. Her only hope right then was that Henrick would be fine.

At about 11 o'clock in the evening, the door of the operating room was finally opened.

The leading doctor was a middle-aged doctor. After walking out, he took off his mask.

Seeing Josue and Alice, the doctor spoke before they could ask him any questions.

"The patient's family members should be mentally prepared. The patient's arm nerves were severely injured, but he received treatment just in time. Whether he will be permanently disabled depends on his future recovery. The operation was successful, so you don't have to worry about this."

"Thank you, doctor!" Josue's expression was also ugly. At that time, he had seen the wound and thought that it was unusual. He didn't expect that there was a risk of permanent disablement.

Alice stared blankly at the doctor as he walked away before she realized that Henrick's life was not in danger. She heaved a sigh of relief and couldn't help but relax.

However, when she thought that his arm would be disabled, she began to worry again.

Soon, Henrick was pushed out of the operating room. Because he had lost too much blood, he was still unconscious.

Josue arranged the admittance procedures, and after Henrick was sent to the VIP ward, Josue and Alice cleaned up the ward.

The doctor said that Henrick had to stay in the hospital for at least a week.

Alice asked Josue to go back and bring some of Henrick's daily necessities over.

Josue knew that Henrick was very picky, and he would not be used to things that were casually bought.

Thus, he drove back to get the things for Henrick.

Before leaving, Josue briefly told Alice what had happened that night.

There had indeed been something wrong with that glass of wine. The two men had been arrested, and so had Michelle. Before Michelle was arrested, she said that it was Alma's idea. As such, Alma was also taken away for investigation. In addition, Michelle's two friends were also taken away.

Belinda fainted in the elevator and was also sent to the hospital.

The matter came to an end just like that. After hearing everything, Alice felt nothing but anger. She had not seen Alma that night. Alice let her go in River City, but it was really unpredictable that Alma came to Lemmon City to hurt her.

Once a person had the seed of evil planted in his heart, his conscience would not be able to be awakened.

Chapter 2293

What exactly did Michelle learn after studying abroad for a few years?

She managed to ruin someone's entire life without even flinching, disregarding their years of friendship so easily.

Kind people would always be taken advantage of.

When she woke up in the storage room, she felt heartbroken. In fact, she already knew that it was Michelle who was behind it.

She still remembered that when she was in college, they were very close. She liked the hottest guy in school, so the both of them would always wait for him outside of his dorm.

They used to share snacks together and had fun together.

They shared many happy memories together.

However, time was truly cruel. It was capable of tearing down even the strongest of relationships.

Alice sighed heavily as she gazed at the face of the man whom she had loved for many years.

She felt a little annoyed. "Henrick, just what did you do for me to like you for so many years?" she thought to herself.

"If even you betray me in the end, maybe I'm the one who's the problem. Everyone always ends up betraying me," she wondered to herself.

Thoughts were running wild in Alice's mind.

She didn't want to think about these things, but she just couldn't control her thoughts.

Just then, Mrs. Klein gave her a call to ask about Henrick's condition. After talking to Mrs. Klein for a while, only then did she calm down.

Just then, Josue had arrived. He came with some daily necessities for Henrick, as well as a change of clothes and some toiletries for Alice.

He noticed that Alice was still in the same state that she was. Maybe she was too worried that she didn't even notice her messy hair and the traces of blood by her lips.

"Miss Klein, I can stay here and look after him instead. You should go home for a rest and come back tomorrow."

Alice shook her head. "It's okay, Josue, you can go home. I will look after him here, I probably would keep worrying about him if I did go home."

She didn't know how she would explain everything to Juliet, about what happened to her father.

Juliet would probably feel very sad.

As Josue stared at her, he felt extremely bad for her. However, he knew that Henrick would be very disappointed if he couldn't see her when he woke up.

"Miss Klein, remember to eat something after showering. I have brought some dinner for both you and Mr. Henrick."

"It's okay, I'm fine. Don't worry." Alice looked at him and smiled gratefully.

After Josue left, she headed to the washroom for a bath. When she caught a glimpse of herself in the mirror, she was shocked.

Her hair was disheveled, and there was still blood flowing from the corners of her mouth. Her face had turned pale from the beating, and she looked like a wreck.

She stood there quietly for a while before taking a hot bath.

After half an hour, she walked out in a fresh new set of clothes with her half-dry hair draping down her back.

She came to the bedside and gazed at Henrick, who was still deep in sleep. She felt even more worried. Why hadn't he woken up after so long?

She sat down and traced her fingers along his beautiful features. She was young and innocent back then, but even till now, she still liked him as much as she did.

Her love for him was as strong as steel. Even if he were to disappear from her life, she would still hang onto him for life.

Alice finally fell asleep by the bedside at dawn.

Henrick had a long dream that was filled with Alice. The young girl in his dream had a happy smile on her face.

She looked really beautiful when she went to River City to look for him. She was really adorable with her hair in a ponytail as she wore a dress.

When she smiled happily with her teeth shown, she looked extremely beautiful with her dimples. Her eyes were shining.

At the banquet, she chased after him and said nothing. In the end, she gave him a gift.

He did not lose it after all these years. It was stored in a dusty box in the corner of his study.

Henrick felt a little anxious. How could he store her gift in the corner?

He seemed to have also lost the text messages where she sent him every morning when he changed his phone.

However, he could clearly recall every single word from her texts.

He also dreamt about the harsh words that came from Alice's mouth. Even if it was in his dreams, he was very unhappy about it.

When he opened his eyes again, sunlight was pouring into the room.

The rays were a little too bright, so he closed his eyes again.

When he tried to raise his hand to block the sunlight, he found that he could barely raise his injured arm. It felt so heavy and numb.

His heart clenched. Was he going to be rendered disabled?

He raised his other hand. Although he did not have much strength, the feeling of being able to move made him feel much better.

The faint smell of disinfectant made him realize that he was in the hospital.

He turned his head and noticed Alice sleeping by the bed. At this moment, his heart was warmer than the bright sun outside.

Allie had been by his side all this time.

He was extremely happy as he got to see his beloved woman as soon as he woke up.

He smiled as he gazed at her face. The sun shone on her fair skin, and her long dark hair covered half of her face with her mouth slightly open as she breathed slowly.

He couldn't help but smile again. Allie really was beautiful.

Alice was very tired, but as soon as she fell asleep, it was all nightmares.

When a man with blurred features pushed her down to the ground, she immediately woke up.

As soon as she opened her eyes, she noticed a pair of eyes looking at her, filled with warmth.

"Alice, you're awake." There was joy hidden in his slightly husky voice.

"You're awake." Alice straightened up in surprise.

Compared to Henrick, she was much happier.

Henrick smiled at her. "Yeah."

Alice suddenly looked at him nervously and asked, "Do you feel pain or discomfort anywhere? I'll get the doctor for you."

Henrick shook his head. "It's okay. I just can't lift my arm. I'll ask the doctor about it later."

Alice's gaze suddenly shifted to his injured arm. The doctor said that he might end up being disabled.

It was not confirmed yet, and it would depend on his future recovery.

"So, who asked you to save me?" Alice was very angry. If his other arm became disabled, he would not be able to bear it with his pride and self-esteem.

Henrick stared at her in silence when she suddenly yelled at him.

"Alice, I would do the same even if it were to happen again. I can't bear to see you get hurt."

Alice's heart skipped a beat. She was deeply touched.

She then asked carefully, "Henrick, what if your arm becomes disabled?"

Chapter 2294

"How is that possible? I'm God's favorite child. Don't worry, I haven't even married you yet. Before that, nothing bad will happen to me." Although Henrick wasn't even sure about his own words, he had hope.

He could clearly feel that he couldn't move his arm, but only time could tell what would happen in the end.

Alice lowered her gaze, not daring to meet his confident and warm gaze.

Instead of hearing it from the doctor, why not she be the one to tell him the truth?

But as soon as she opened her mouth, she couldn't bear to say anything. "Do you want some water?"

She just couldn't bring herself to do it, and her heart was sinking.

Henrick replied, "Yes, I want to drink and eat. I'm very hungry."

"Okay, wait a minute!"

Alice went to the washroom to wash up before heading out.

She noticed that Henrick was staring at his injured arm.

She paused. She realized that he was actually very concerned about it, but she couldn't bring herself to tell him what the doctor had said.

She poured him a cup of warm water and handed it to him.

When the cup was in front of him, only then did Henrick come to his senses and look at Alice with a smile. He looked up and finished the glass of water in one gulp.

"Do you still want more?" she asked.

Kenneth shook his head. "No, I'll start going on the drip later, it'll be really troublesome to keep going to the washroom." Most importantly, his arm was injured, and he was sure that she wouldn't be happy to lend him a hand in the washroom.

"What do you want to eat?"

Henrick thought for a moment before answering, "I want some sweet eight-treasure porridge!"

"But the chicken porridge my mother made for you."

When Henrick heard that his future mother-in-law had made him chicken porridge, he instantly became happier.

"Allie, it's okay. I like chicken porridge very much. It's delicious. Thank you, Mrs. Klein. Thank you so much." If she was willing to cook him food, would she agree to letting her daughter marry him in the future?

Henrick was in a wonderful mood!

Ten minutes later, Josue entered the room with the chicken porridge that Aubri had made.

"Ah, Mr. Henrick, you're awake." Josue was very happy. Over the years, the two of them had developed a close relationship.

He hadn't slept well last night after what had happened to Henrick. This morning, he called Mrs. Alwynn and told her what had happened.

Mrs. Alwynn was also worried about her son, so she got on the plane to Lemmon City.

"Yep," Henrick answered as he glanced at what Josue was carrying in his hands.

"What are you carrying?" asked Henrick.

Josue smiled as he replied, "These are all prepared by Mrs. Klein. Mr. Henrick, the chicken porridge is really delicious. I had a bowl of it at Miss Klein's house. It tasted so good."

Henrick fell speechless. "How dare you eat what my mother-in-law made?" he thought to himself.

Josue suddenly felt that there was something wrong with Henrick's gaze.

Josue had brought Alice her lunch as well. Alice took over the lunchbox and opened it. It smelled delicious.

When Henrick caught a whiff of the food, he felt even more hungry.

After Josue finished his task, he smiled before he left. He didn't feel comfortable disturbing the two of them, so much so that he even forgot to mention that Eden was in Lemmon City.

Alice poured the chicken porridge into a bowl. As the fragrant of the porridge rush up his nostrils, Henrick felt even hungrier.

He watched as Alice prepared his lunch before she walked over to hand it to him.

Henrick had injured his right arm, so he couldn't eat by himself.

He didn't even need to coax her this time, she took the initiative to feed him with a spoon.

Seeing that she was so concerned about him, Henrick didn't dare say anything. He quietly ate the porridge. Every sip of it was delicious. He smiled from ear to ear, feeling extremely happy.

His gaze was fixed on Alice's fair and beautiful face. It was so hot that Alice felt uncomfortable under his gaze.

After feeding him half a bowl, he couldn't hold on any longer.

She looked up and met the tender gaze that she was already so used to.

What a terrible habit.

Ever since Henrick had chased after her to Lemmon City, he had been looking at her with the same gentle gaze. To be honest, she was very pleased and moved by the gentleness of her Prince Charming.

"Henrick, look away. I feel very uncomfortable under your gaze."

"Ah, oh!" Henrick blinked his eyes in a daze.

He didn't want to make her uncomfortable, so he averted his gaze.

Alice was amused by his reaction.

She still remembered that he had taken on the role of the main protagonist in the drama. It was Glint Immortal, and he had on white robes, which made him look extremely dependable. Everyone loved him in the show.

After finishing the porridge, he still wanted other dishes. He kept glancing at them, and Alice also noticed that.

"Wait!" Alice put on disposable gloves and took one for him.

She took a drumstick from the lunch box and gave it to Henrick.

"You're injured, so you can't eat anything with soy sauce. My mother specially left this for you when she stewed the chicken. Just have this instead."

"Great! I really wanted to have some meat," he remarked as he glanced at Alice willfully.

She fell speechless.

"Eat your food. You're already thinking of such things as soon as you feel a little better." Alice sat back at the table and ate her delicious food.

As long as her mother was there, no matter where she was, her mother would prepare her favorite food.

Spicy tofu, beans and beef were all her favorites.

She enjoyed her food slowly, and Henrick felt happy as he watched her eat as well.

It was a quiet afternoon, and the time was just right!

"Allie, I like you so much!" He couldn't help but say.

Alice said, "Humph! Who was the one who said that no one would marry me? That they would never like me no matter what? What happened, huh?"

This man...

Let's see what you would do now?

Are you embarrassed?

Henrick fell speechless. How could she bring that up now?

He despised his past self.

"Hehe..." He smiled. "Allie, there are exceptions for everything. At that time, I already liked you secretly. I watched you all day long because I cared about you. I wanted you to pay more attention to me, so I tried to get your attention that way."

Alice was speechless.

"You've already bullied me like this, yet you still want me to care about you, is that possible?" Alice chewed on the beef slowly. The faint aroma of the beef filled her entire mouth, making her extremely satisfied.

Food was indeed the best remedy for everything.

"Allie, I'm sorry. I won't say that again in the future." He always remembered that he must be thick-skinned to pursue a girl.

He pretended to feel miserable. "Allie, you must forgive me for being ignorant. I will grow up and become a good man who can make you feel safe and cared for."

Chapter 2295

Alice stared at Henrick's serious expression in a daze.

She really couldn't bring herself to feel any ounce of anger when he had this expression on his face.

"Humph! We'll talk about it when you actually manage to get me. You're all talk and no actions," she huffed. She wasn't like any other women who would fall for sweet talk.

Henrick thought for a moment before he sent a message to Josue. Although he had trouble with his right arm, he managed to type out the words correctly.

"Josue, bring a rose with you when you come over in the afternoon," the text read.

Josue replied quickly.

"May Mr. Henrick successfully win over your wife's heart."

Henrick fell silent as he wondered, just where did Josue get the idea that Henrick had succeeded in his pursuit after Alice?

However, the two words "your wife" pleased him a lot.

He smiled and glanced at Alice, who was eating with her head lowered. He then replied to Josue, "Remember, roses should only be the best, freshest, with dewdrops on top of the petals."

"Mr. Henrick, there would be no dewdrops as it is already noon. Are you trying to make things more difficult for me?" came the reply from Josue.

"Regardless, I only want the prettiest flower for her. My Allie deserves only the best."

"Mr. Henrick, I'm so jealous!"

Only then did Henrick put down his phone with a smile.

Just then, the doctor entered the ward for a routine examination.

There was no trace of blood oozing out of his wound. After the examination, he put Henrick on the drip.

Alice then gave him a quick wipe down. The weather was extremely hot, and although the air conditioner in the ward was set to the lowest temperature, Henrick was still sweating all over.

After wiping him down several times, Alice couldn't help but blurt out, "What are you, made entirely from water? How are you sweating so profusely?"

Henrick glanced at her as he answered, "Allie, Lemmon City is much hotter than River City. It's so uncomfortable here."

Alice looked at him and replied in a cold voice, "And there you were talking about living here as my husband. Seeing that you couldn't even handle this much, how are you going to live here for the rest of your life?"

Upon hearing this, Henrick felt a little anxious. "Allie, give me some time. I will get used to it." His tone was very soft and firm.

He could adapt to the climate in other countries, and he could also adapt to the climate here.

Looking at the concern on his face, Alice's heart softened again.

"I've really lost to you!" She realized that she would probably have to devote the rest of her life to Henrick.

He smiled at her weakly in return. He felt really dizzy and wanted to talk to Alice, but in the end, he couldn't bear the drowsiness and fell asleep.

Only then did Alice let out a sigh of relief. In fact, he needed a lot of rest. Maybe he was taking her feelings into consideration, so he had been holding on.

Henrick really did put in a lot of effort for the people whom he cared for.

In her eyes, Henrick treated the people he loved with the utmost care.

When Henrick woke up again, it was already the evening. He felt well-rested.

The moment that he opened her eyes, he saw her mother's loving face. He blinked several times, wondering if it was a dream. Was it really his mother?

"What's wrong? Ricky, is there anything wrong?" Eden looked at her son nervously. After she arrived at the hospital, she learned about her son's condition from the doctor and fell into in a bad mood.

However, nothing was conclusive.

"Mom, I'm not dreaming. It's really you." Henrick's nose twitched and he felt a little uncomfortable. His mom came to see him because he was injured.

Eden smiled at him lovingly. Her slender hand touched his forehead, but there was no sign of heat.

"Silly child, did you wake up and become a fool?"

Hearing her mother's gentle voice, Henrick suddenly smiled. "Mom, I've missed you so much."

Eden was very happy after listening to his words. "Geez! Why don't you protect yourself well?"

Her heart ached for Henrick. When she heard that he was injured, she didn't have time to tell Victor about it nor clean up after herself. She immediately bought a plane ticket for Lemmon City and rushed over.

After the plane landed, she gave Victor a call to tell him about it.

Victor was so angry that he hung up the phone without saying anything.

"Mom, it was an emergency. It's a good thing that I'm still alive." Henrick smiled and tried not to tell her what had exactly happened last night.

"By the way, Mom, where is Allie?" Henrick couldn't see Alice, so he felt very disappointed.

Eden could see the true feelings in her son's eyes. It seemed that her worries were unnecessary.

"When I arrived, I noticed that Alice was very sleepy, so I asked her to go back to rest first. She will come over later."

"Oh!" Henrick suddenly smiled. "Mom, it's July now. If I successfully get Allie, we'll get married by the end of the year."

Eden smiled and said, "Why are you in such a hurry? You haven't even gotten her yet. It's too early to say that. You guys aren't in the place to talk about marriage. Although Alice is no longer hostile towards you, you can't be careless. If you really like someone, you must give her only the best and respect her opinions."

She and Victor had been married for so many years. Most of the time, it was Victor who had pampered her, spoiled her, and spoiled her. More importantly, they understood each other and respected each other. If they were too stubborn, they would have taken different paths.

However, she could tell that Ricky was as devoted as his father.

Henrick nodded and answered with a smile, "I understand what you're saying, mom. I'm also trying my best."

"By the way, how's Marlon?"

Speaking of her grandson, Eden smiled happily.

"Marlon is doing well. Due to his outstanding looks, the director immediately noticed him as soon as I brought him to the Alwynn Group for an interview. During the livestream nowadays, he's been very popular. When he gets home everyday, he always goes to his daddy for advice and guidance. Your father has been very patient with him as well, he's living a happy life."

Henrick believed that his son would become a better man than he was.

.....

After five days in the hospital, Henrick returned home to recuperate. During those five days, Alice stayed in the hospital day and night to take care of him.

This made Henrick very happy. Although she was in the hospital, he did not feel any irritation or discomfort.

When he got home, he grew a little impatient. He had housekeepers, servants, and a mother to take care of him. Alice would only stay for a very short while everyday.

However, with his daughter often coming to accompany him, he felt a little better.

In the past few days, Alice had received a new project from the company, so she had been a little busy. The same went for Bert, so the responsibility of taking care of both the children and Henrick fell onto Aubri and Eden.

During the day, when Aubri and Eden went out for groceries, Henrick would watch some shows with his daughter.

Their private cinema had every movie that they could possibly want, and on top of that, the maids made popcorn for them. The father and daughter both had a lot of fun.

Henrick also acted the part of a loving father.

Ten days later, it was time for Henrick to go to the hospital for a checkup. Everyone was very nervous, especially Alice. On the way there, she was very tense, praying that Henrick's hand was fine.

Chapter 2296

Josue was driving, and Henrick and Alice were sitting in the back.

Eden also wanted to go to the hospital with him, but when Henrick said that he wanted to spend more time with Alice, Eden understood instantly. She stayed at home with her granddaughter, and at the same time, she chatted with Victor on the phone.

She had been in Lemmon City for more than ten days. Victor kept nagging that she had not returned home. This was also the first time in these years that they had been separated for so long.

However, she was worried about her son's arm, and she couldn't just go back like this. The only thing she could do was comfort Victor.

Henrick could tell that she was worried. He rubbed against Alice's arm. She was wearing a short-sleeved shirt, and her skin was very soft and comfortable to touch. He smiled and said, "Allie, don't worry. Even if I'm disabled, I don't think it's a big deal. I don't intend to continue acting, I just want to accompany you and the children."

Alice looked at him nervously. She was so worried about him, and yet here he was joking around with a smile on his face.

"How could that be? I'm already so worried, and yet you still say that." Alice's eyes were red. If he was really disabled, he would definitely not be so relaxed.

Henrick smiled at her, his eyes filled with warmth. "Well, Allie, I mean what I said. I'm really fine. I've been blessed with luck ever since I was a child. Although I don't feel anything on my arm now, I'm sure it'll get better."

Alice didn't say anything and just looked at him quietly.

However, she grew even more worried.

She had been asking about Michelle. She could go to the police station to see her tomorrow. She must make her regret her actions.

Alma was also under investigation.

"By the way, this accident was caused by your childhood sweetheart and Michelle. Alma seems to have hired a lawyer, and Michelle has no evidence to prove that it was Alma's idea. The detention period will be over tomorrow, and she will be leaving Lemmon City."

Henrick's expression darkened instantly and he said, "Allie, don't worry. Even if she escaped the law, I won't let her go so easily."

Alice was fuming. "Although Michelle is a terrible person, Alma is even worse for coming up with that idea."

If it weren't for Alma's idea, Michelle wouldn't have dared to do what she had done.

No, these two women were not good people.

Alice's heart ached. Why would people always send themselves to prison for their own greed?

Back then, she had retreated back to Lemmon City because Henrick had suddenly found out about the children. After that, she no longer paid any mind to Alma.

No matter what Michelle's true intentions were, she was trying to use Michelle's idea to ruin Alice's life.

She would not show any mercy to such a vicious person.

Henrick noticed that she was seething and said with a smile, "Allie, don't be angry. Michelle will definitely face a severe punishment. Her whole life is ruined. As for Alma, don't worry. I will deal with her. I will take care of this for you."

Alice glared at him. "Huh? What are you going to do? Are you willing to? Also, just how are you going to take care of this?"

"Of course I am! Allie, how do you want me to take care of this?"

"Humph!" Alice huffed. "Henrick, if you didn't like her, you should've been clear about it. Look what's happened now!"

"Also, I'm not that evil of a person. If she stabbed me once and I stabbed her back, I would be no different than her! Whatever, she'll get what she deserves!"

Henrick smiled as he replied gently, "Yes, yes, our Allie is the most gentle and kind, but I'll take care of the rest. You just have to work hard."

"I don't care what you say. I don't want it to affect our lives because of Alma."

"Okay, okay, it won't affect us."

As long as she was happy, he could do anything that she wanted.

When they arrived at the hospital, Alice took Henrick straight to the doctor's office.

Alice knew the doctors here, so she quickly brought Henrick for a private checkup.

His wound had recovered, and the gauze had been removed, leaving only a purple, crooked scar.

After taking the X-ray, the doctor looked at the X-ray and frowned slightly.

Seeing the doctor's frown, Alice felt her heart in her throat.

On the other hand, Henrick appeared to be more composed.

"Doctor, how is his recovery?" Alice was very anxious.

The doctor looked at her and answered, "Not bad, but it will take a long time to fully recover. I still can't tell by now."

"Come for a checkup after half a month. If you're able to feel your right arm by then, it's very likely that you will recover."

Alice looked at Henrick, who appeared to be extremely calm, and felt even more nervous.

Was he acting so calm because he didn't want her to be sad?

Alice's eyes turned red. He had been injured because of her, so nothing must happen to him.

Henrick looked at her red-rimmed eyes and said with a smile, "Allie, don't be sad. Dr. Barry also said that it will take some time for the results to come out. Don't worry, people who do good will have their own karma. I'll be fine."

Dr. Barry also added, "Miss Klein, it's fine. You don't have to worry. The initial recovery is going better than expected. After the later recovery of the patient's arm, it will slowly recover. The recovery of the tendons is better than expected. Young people have to hold a good attitude in order to have hope."

Alice nodded and answered in a deep voice, "Thank you, Dr. Barry. We'll return in half a month."

Dr. Barry smiled in return. "Take your medicine on time. There will be good results in the next meeting."

As a doctor, he was very patient. After all, he had seen all kinds of patients and had a way to comfort people.

Alice was in a much better mood and felt very confident. Since Henrick was in a good mood, she couldn't be sad. She didn't want him to worry about her.

After they came out of the hospital, they walked side by side.

The sun in July was still very hot. When the heat waves came, the heat on his face could be clearly felt.

The fragrant trees on both sides of the road gave off a faint fragrance.

Henrick looked at Alice, who was unhappy, and suggested with a smile, "Allie, let's go to the coffee shop. We haven't had coffee together before."

Alice shook her head. "I'm not in the mood. I'm going home. You're injured and you shouldn't be out."

Looking at the people coming and going in and out of the hospital, Henrick still felt that he was very lucky. Now he could still stroll leisurely with the woman he liked.

"Allie, don't be sad. There will always be a miracle happening to me, so my hand will never become disabled." He comforted Alice and himself.

Even if one of his hands was disabled, he still had another hand.

He had fulfilled his dream. He could continue on with the rest of his life with one hand. As long as he was with Allie, he didn't really care.

What he cared about was that if he was disabled, would Allie dislike him?

Chapter 2297

Alice stopped to look at him, and the worry in her beautiful eyes turned into tenderness. She looked at him and smiled brightly. "Henrick, I hope that a miracle will come to you. Although I hate you, I never pray that you will be hurt. No matter how bad your attitude toward me was, I still hope that you will live a happy life."

Henrick's heart clenched, and he felt moved. Just what did he do to this kind woman?

"Allie, thank you!" From being sorry to thank you, their relationship would get better and better.

He looked at her soft smile, which was brighter than the bright sun at the moment.

A suspicious blush appeared on Alice's face. "Let's go. Aren't you going to the coffee shop? I'll go with you."

"Okay!" Henrick smiled and followed after her.

Alice sent a message to Josue, telling him to wait a little longer, or find a place to sit down and rest. She and Henrick might only return a while.

Josue naturally obliged. Ever since the Second Young Master had fallen in love, his life had been much better.

Workers like him wished for nothing more than a high salary and an easy job.

Alice was very familiar with Lemmon City. After all, she grew up here, so she knew her way around.

The commercial buildings around were very mature, and there was a bustling street behind the hospital. There were all kinds of shops there, and a popular cafe named "HX Cafe" was located just around here.

There were not many people in the morning, and there was only one other couple who were seated by the window.

The atmosphere was calm, so they chose to sit by the window as well.

After the two of them sat down, Alice ordered a cup of coffee. Henrick was injured and could not drink dark drinks, so she ordered a cup of hot milk for him.

Henrick didn't care about coffee anyway, he just wanted to go to a cafe with Alice.

Yesterday, when he and his daughter met at Alice's place, his daughter showed him Alice's diary.

It turned out that Alice had a habit of writing a diary. She wrote that she wanted to sit by the window and drink coffee with him.

Although he could not drink coffee now, he managed to come with her to the cafe. When he was ready, he would definitely have some coffee.

He would accompany her to a cafe again.

Alice had a lot of things that she wanted to do with him. He would finish her bucket list with her, together.

When her daughter handed him the delicate and beautiful light pink notebook, she said, "Dad, this is mom's diary."

At that time, his hands trembled and he didn't even dare to look. He was afraid that seeing Allie's hateful words would make him lose his final courage.

However, he thought too much. As soon as he opened it, all he could see was his name. He was everywhere. Her diary was only filled with her dreams and happiness, there was not one word of hate directed towards him.

Alice gave him all his love. He was really happy!

Alice looked out of the window at the busy streets. It was especially comfortable. She gently stirred the coffee with a small porcelain spoon and took a small sip. The taste was extremely delicious.

Maybe because he was sitting opposite of her, maybe because she had dreamt of doing this. Whenever she thought about him, she would always fantasize about going somewhere with him.

Like other couples, they would also have some street snacks together, like ice cream, cotton candy, and much more. They would sit by the window and talk about interesting things, they would ride a boat together. She had thought about doing a lot of things together with him.

Back then, although she was stupid, she was happy.

"Levi, shall we travel abroad after we get married?" The girl sitting behind them suddenly asked.

"Eden, where do you want to go?" The boy asked with a smile.

The girl answered with a sweet smile, "I want to go to a lot of places. I'll tell you when I think about it in the future. Will you be willing to do it first?"

"No." The boy's voice suddenly grew a little cold.

Henrick didn't have the habit of eavesdropping before, but for some reason, he listened attentively at this moment.

The girl asked, "Why?"

The boy asked, "Because I came to break up with you today."

When Henrick and Alice heard this, they both felt embarrassed at the same time. There was a vase of flowers separating them from the couple behind.

The vase was filled with beautiful flowers.

The girl's voice was choked with sobs. "We were about to get married. Why would you break up with me? How can I explain it to my parents? How can you explain it to your parents?"

The boy sneered. "Your parents added 500,000 yuan to the betrothal gift. I'm just an ordinary employee. I don't have such money to marry you."

"Eden, I've been thinking about us for a long time, long time, and it was very beautiful. But your parents are very stubborn. My parents were forced to quarrel every night. I want to get married for happiness and a family. I don't want to quarrel every day because of debts."

"If this is a marriage, I would rather not get married."

"I'm sorry, Eden. No matter how we love each other, we are still defeated by reality. I really can't afford to offer so much money."

The girl said, "Then you can sell the house. Didn't you say you love me? If you sold the house, wouldn't you have money to love me?"

"Haha..." The boy sneered. "That house isn't worth much. If the house is sold, where will my parents live? Where will you live after you marry me?"

The girl answered, "You can just buy another one after you earn money. You are still young, don't you even have this little courage?"

The boy replied, "I'm sorry! I have courage, but I can't let my parents suffer with me."

The boy stood up and quickly left the cafe.

The girl's sobs filled the cafe.

Alice sympathized with the boy, but she could feel that they had not reached the level of true love.

If they truly loved each other, it would not stop them from falling in love with each other in the face of material things.

Henrick took a deep look at Alice. They had missed out on each other for many years. This time, he would not miss it.

Everything will pass, but one couldn't possibly go back yesterday.

Indeed, time could eliminate pain, but if a person waited too long, there would always be a day when he grew tired of it, and his feelings would fade away slowly. The initial persistence and the initial love would also be eliminated by both the big and small things in life.

He didn't want to be defeated by time, let alone reality!

Therefore, he finally understood what his father meant by love. The best love was to accompany him for the rest of his life.

"Allie, shall we go to the movies tomorrow night?" He wanted to go there that night, but she would definitely not agree. Juliet was going to a dance class later that night.

Alice remembered that she had to visit Michelle tomorrow, so she couldn't confirm her plans.

But why did he suddenly want to watch a movie with her?

Chapter 2298

"Sure, if I have the time I'll go," Alice answered.

Henrick retorted, "You don't seem to have anything to do tomorrow. Have a rest."

Alice shook her head. "No, I have to go to work in the morning. I will be very busy during this time. It depends on my schedule. If I have enough time, I will accompany you to watch a movie."

This seemed to be something she had written down in her diary.

Her dream was so humble. She only wanted these simple interactions with her boyfriend.

Watching a movie was something that most couples would do.

Henrick's expression darkened. "Allie, please understand my current state. I'm pursuing you."

Alice was so angry that she laughed. "Haha... Are you pursuing me? You are pursuing me, not forcing me."

"I'll see tomorrow. If I have time, I'll call you."

Henrick didn't say anything and just looked at her.

Fine, you're a big shot, and you're the protagonist. Everything you said is right.

Henrick's eyes suddenly flashed. "Allie, I'll take you to the company tomorrow. I'll have lunch with you at noon and wait for you to get off work at night."

Alice had never thought that he would be so clingy.

During this period of time, she felt like she was in a dream. What she had imagined was coming true every day.

She looked at his injured arm and sneered. "Henrick, take a good rest at home if you're injured. Isn't it good to spend more time with your daughter?"

Henrick felt wronged. He wanted to develop a relationship with Alice even more. He already had a good relationship with his daughter.

"Alice, in fact, I just want to spend time with you."

Alice paused for a moment as she took a sip of her coffee. Her heart was filled with joy, her entire being was filled with joy.

It was said that when a woman was in love, she could become stupid in an instant, but when she was in love with a man, she would become more and more hardworking.

Look at her, she was so stupid that she had forgotten about the pain that he had caused her.

"You're right. Deep cleaning before marriage is very important.."

Henrick felt his hair stand on end.

"Why do we have to do that? We already know about each other's family very well. You've met my parents, and you also know about my family background."

Alice pointed at him and replied seriously, "I'm not very familiar with you. You've been abroad for many years, and everything that I know about you was from the Internet. Occasionally, some news from Gia. Can't you be more patient?"

"Oh!" Henrick wanted to say, "I've always been very patient."

But don't refuse me, either?

"Oh! Henrick, I find that the coffee here is really delicious." Alice picked it up and took another sip. She liked coffee to have a little bitter taste. She didn't add much sugar, so it was really suitable for her taste.

Henrick silently wrote down the location of the coffee shop and her taste.

If his future wife liked it, he had to remember it. When he quarreled with his wife, he could make her happy in this way.

"No, no, no, Henrick, you bastard, what are you thinking about? She's not your wife yet, and you're already thinking about how to coax her when you're quarreling," he reminded himself.

Henrick tried to stop thinking about these thoughts. "Allie, the hot milk you gave me tastes good too."

Alice glanced at the milk that he hadn't touched and asked with a slight sneer, "This is indeed hot milk. It should be delicious, but are you sure you've even taken a sip from it?"

Henrick looked down at the edge of the cup, which was clean.

Henrick was speechless.

What the hell!

He picked it up and planned to finish it in one gulp.

"Oh, it's so hot." Henrick felt that her tongue was numb, and the milk in his mouth was sprayed on the table.

Alice was shocked and quickly stood up. She took a tissue and helped him wipe it down.

"Henrick, you're such an idiot, behave yourself." Alice huffed as she looked at the spilled milk all over the table.

How could there be such a childish man?

The Second Young Master of the Alwynn family's lofty and cold personality had completely fallen apart.

Henrick also felt that he was really childish. It was true that when one fell in love, they would become an idiot.

He was even dumber than a fool.

"Henrick, are you okay? Did you get scalded?"

Kenneth blushed and shook his head. "No!"

He also picked up a tissue and wiped off the milk on his clothes.

Only then did he realize that he was not childish, but stupid.

When the waiter saw this, he quickly took the cleaning tools to deal with the situation.

Henrick was very embarrassed and left with Alice.

Out of the cafe, Henrick suggested, "Allie, let's take a walk around. Aren't you free today?"

Alice glanced at him sideways, and immediately lowered her gaze slightly to hide the joy in her eyes.

Now, Henrick was really relying on her more and more.

Hehe!

The joy in his heart was indescribable!

"Yes! Let's take a walk around!" Alice lowered her head in a very low voice. At the same time, she was very disdainful of her pretentiousness.

Women really liked to be pretentious.

It was just a woman's nature!

It was reasonable for a woman to be pretentious. This was a woman's capital. Alice quickly found a reason for himself.

The two of them walked side by side on the bustling streets. This road was a little steep, and behind it was the university town.

This was definitely a world of delicious food.

The milk tea shop, the octopus balls, the burning tofu, the roast pig's trotters, and all kinds of local cuisine were all famous specialties.

The two of them walked side by side on the enthusiastic street. The atmosphere was surprisingly good.

"Henrick, this is the Sleepless Town. It's very lively at night."

"Really? There are many places like this in River City, but I haven't been there many times."

Alice suddenly stopped. In front of him was a shop selling mango rice.

Henrick instantly understood what was going on.

"Allie, do you want to eat mango rice?"

Alice looked at him with an obvious smile. Before she could speak, Henrick said, "Allie, I'll buy you some mango rice."

Alice was speechless. "At least you know how to make your girlfriend happy." She thought.

Henrick bought a box of mango rice for her, and the two of them found a quiet corner to sit down and eat.

There were many college students and couples coming over to eat mango rice.

It was a very romantic atmosphere.

Alice took a bite with a disposable spoon. The mango was sweet, the sticky rice was soft, and the coconut juice was rich. It tasted really good.

Alice picked up another spoon and couldn't help bringing it to Henrick's mouth. He smiled brightly and said, "Henrick, it's really delicious. Have some too!"

Henrick smiled, her eyes full of stars. He lowered his head and ate a spoonful of mango sticky rice.

Only then did Alice realize that her actions were very abrupt and ambiguous. She had acted this way so naturally.

However, he felt very happy. This kind of intimate action was something that only lovers would do.

How could she not be happy?

Henrick felt as if tens of millions of flowers were blooming in his heart at the same time.

"Allie, I want more." Henrick opened his mouth slightly, his expression gentle as he smiled brightly.

Chapter 2299

Alice pursed her lips to hide the joy in her eyes as she silently fed him another spoonful.

They finished the mango rice between them.

However, Henrick was still unsatisfied. She could even feel the sweet scent in the air.

The two of them walked out of the shop selling mango rice in silence. Henrick was thinking about where they should go to settle today's lunch.

"Allie, let's go to a specialty store for lunch." In short, it was necessary to go to a romantic place in order to create the proper ambience. Only then will her heart race, and she might then fall in love with him.

He had been looking on the Internet for a long time, and none of the methods of were suitable for him.

He simply found the story in the TV series where the hero pursued the heroine.

However, he felt that it was too deliberate. If Alice found out about it, she would think that he was acting.

Therefore, after careful consideration, he could only pursue the woman whom he liked in his own way.

On top of his daughter's help, he knew that Alice was in love, so he knew what to do in an instant.

Alice pointed to the whole street and said, "Henrick, the whole street here serves local delicacies. If we eat all the way to the end of the street, we should be able to break our belly."

Henrick fell speechless.

He felt that his plan was about to fail again.

"Let's go, Allie. We'll eat our way through the whole street." Henrick felt that it was quite romantic.

Compared with the high-end restaurants, this street full of couples had a more romantic atmosphere.

Alice followed him in silence.

The two of them were very good-looking, and many people turned to look at them.

In particular, it was easy to recognize a celebrity's face. The people who recognized Henrick were all looking in the direction of them and whispering to each other.

Henrick also noticed the expressions of the people around them.

He lowered his head slightly. He had been abroad all these years, so he was somewhat different from that on the screen. He had always kept a low profile. When he went out, he never liked to be accompanied by others. He always came and went alone. Unless he needed something, he would only bring Josue with him.

"Girls, take a good look at that. It seems to be the emperor of movies, Henrick."

"There's no need to look at him. I'm his loyal fan. He is indeed my Prince Charming! Oh, mom, I'm in love."

"Hehe, I heard that you've been back in the country for some time. You're so handsome. I'm a perfect match for you."

"But who is the woman beside him? Ah, shouldn't I be with him?"

A few girls got together to gush over their Prince Charming.

All of them thought that it was a one-in-a-lifetime chance to run into him by coincidence.

There were very few opportunities for them to meet celebrities, and it was rare for them to meet a superstar like Henrick. How could they not be excited when they were lucky enough to meet him today?

The girls on the road gradually caught up with him.

Alice also felt that something was wrong. Henrick's loyal fans were all over the world.

He had kept a low profile and would not deliberately bring bodyguards with him when he went out together. As long as he did not deliberately attract attention, he had a lot of freedom with the schedule.

Henrick glanced at the fans who were coming over, but he didn't panic at all.

He had faced this kind of thing more than a hundred times, and he could easily deal with it every time.

Alice asked, "Henrick, what should we do? You seem to have been recognized."

Henrick smiled and answered, "Allie, don't be afraid. I'm here."

Alice lowered her voice and replied, "I'm afraid that your fans aren't to be taken lightly."

Henrick suddenly held her hand.

The fans who followed them instantly felt heartbroken. They all looked sadly at the two people who were holding hands.

"Oh... he's dating someone already."

"Oh my... My Prince Charming, you can't do this. I can do it too."

"No, no, no, how could he abandon me..."

Everyone started chattering away.

Alice heard every word they said.

There was an endless stream of women who would love Henrick, including her.

There were too many girls who liked him, and she was just one of them.

That fateful night seven years ago changed the life of an ordinary girl like her. Seven years later, they had come this far.

"Hello, hottie, nice to meet you. I'm your fan, Luna." A very beautiful girl, dressed in a branded dress, was bold enough to come up to Henrick and greet him.

Alice's expression fell. How dare she address him as 'hottie'?

Henrick responded with a chuckle, "Nice to meet you!"

"Oh! Thank you for telling me. Can I invite you to have lunch with me?" The girl's eyes were full of expectation.

Alice was so angry that she couldn't help but chuckle. Is Henrick the only person she could see? Did she not see Alice, who was standing next to him?

Henrick rejected her with a smile. "Sorry, I'll enjoy lunch with my girlfriend."

Only then did Alice feel much better.

The girl's smile froze for a moment, and then she glanced at Alice beside him.

"Well, your girlfriend should be generous. She probably wouldn't mind having lunch with you." The girl smiled innocently, but her motives were not innocent.

Henrick continued to maintain a soft smile. "I'm sorry, but although my girlfriend doesn't mind, I do. Today is our day together, my time belongs to her."

Alice fell speechless. He had his way with his words!

"Oh my! You dote on her so much." The girl's heart was broken, and she looked at Alice with envy and jealousy.

Alice tried hard to adjust her expression and as she smiled at the girl.

The girl ran away filled with shame and jealousy.

The people around him were also very sensible. They did not come forward to disturb him, but gathered around to take photos.

Henrick held Alice's hand tightly and smiled at all the fans around them.

Alice was in a complicated mood. Now, even though she was not his official girlfriend, everyone would think so.

Not to mention having a meal, they should be worrying about how to get out of this street.

Alice suddenly realized that it was too difficult to be Henrick's girlfriend.

Henrick held her hand tightly along the way, protecting her in her arms.

"Oh, I wish you happiness!"

Someone in the crowd shouted.

The crowd also followed suit and wished the both of them happiness!

Henrick's smile widened. "Thank you, thank you. We'll definitely send you wedding candies when we get married."

"Wow..."

"Really?"

"You must remember it!"

Alice fell speechless. Did he even ask for her opinion before talking about marriage?

The people around them gushed about it. Henrick took Alice to the side of the road.

Josue was already waiting by the roadside in his car.

After Henrick said goodbye to everyone, he calmly pulled Alice into the car.

Just like that, he got rid of his fans easily, without being in a hurry.

Chapter 2300

The butterfly effect was terrifying. When one thing happened, everything would follow.

In that case, it would be difficult for him and Allie to get away.

Josue drove away quickly. From the rearview mirror, he could see that the fans were still chasing them crazily.

His fans didn't hide their enthusiasm and love for him.

Finally, when he could no longer see his fans, he heaved a sigh of relief and left safely.

Alice felt a little embarrassed as she struggled to free herself from his grasp, but Henrick refused to let her go.

"Allie, I've been restraining myself for many years. I finally have a girlfriend today!" His smiling voice was as clear as the sky and sounded very comfortable.

Alice glared at him and pouted angrily.

In Henrick's eyes, Alice's simple and generous outfit was much more attractive than those of fashionable, outgoing girls.

Alice thought of what he had done just now. She had always thought that Henrick was not mature enough to handle things well. Sometimes, he may even act immaturely.

"Why do you always do things however you like?"

An apologetic look immediately appeared on Henrick's handsome face. He had admitted that Alice was his girlfriend moments ago and he had just realized that Alice might be angry at him because of that.

However, he smiled and held Alice closer. His breath instantly surrounded Alice.

This familiar scent made Alice's heart tremble.

"Allie, you are mine." A faint and gentle voice filled her ears, and she turned to him as if she was in a trance.

He held her close as the cars outside drove on, and the intimacy between them caused the atmosphere to change.

Henrick felt as if something was beating.

Only when he came to his senses did he realize that it was his heartbeat.

Alice lowered her head and neither of them dared to look at each other. This was extremely intriguing to her.

Her Prince Charming leaned over slightly and leaned sideways. She leaned her head against his chest and could hear his heartbeat increasing.

Alice, who had lowered her head and couldn't help smiling. Her heart was beating like thunder at this moment.

Josue felt as if he wanted to jump off the car as he looked through the rearview mirror.

He really was being the lightbulb of the century!

Henrick could feel his own heartbeat, and his hands were sweating nervously. Alice, who was being held by him, only felt that his hands were hot and sticky, but she was reluctant to pull away.

The two of them held each other all the way home.

Josue only remained silent throughout the journey, as if he did not exist at all.

The atmosphere was surprisingly good. "Gulp..." An unfriendly voice completely broke the atmosphere.

Henrick's brows were slightly raised, and his sharp eyebrows were slightly knitted. his expression was extremely awkward. In this beautiful atmosphere, why would his stomach act up?

It was such bad timing.

Alice looked at him silently. The mango rice was indeed not enough to feed him.

"Allie, why don't we have lunch elsewhere?" Henrick still didn't give up the chance to be alone with her.

Alice replied, "We're home. Get out of the car. Eden is also worried about you. Let's go back first."

"Okay." Henrick slowly got out of the car.

Eden had already seen their car returning. She took Juliet's hand and went out to greet them.

"Dad, mom, you're back." Juliet smiled sweetly and brightly.

Henrick walked over and replied with a smile, "Baby, Dad is back."

Eden looked at her son and asked worriedly, "How is your recovery?"

Henrick looked at his motionless arm and answered with a smile, "Mom, don't worry. I'll get better soon."

Alice came over and added, "Eden, the doctor said that he's recovering well. Whether he can fully recover or not depends on the next examination."

Eden looked at him with distress and reminded, "Rest well and stop making trouble. Mom will fly back to River City tonight."

"Haha." Henrick couldn't help laughing. "Mom, if you don't go back now, my dad will appear in front of you tonight."

In his impression, his father and mother had never been separated for such a long time.

He was afraid that his father's patience had reached its limit.

There was no doubt about what he said.

She was already very annoyed with Victor's phone calls every day!

If she didn't know that he had always been stubborn, she would've been really angry.

She smiled and said, "Alice, go in with Eden. Let's have lunch first. I have something to do."

"Okay!" Alice had never said no to Eden, because Eden's smile was very soothing. Looking at her, she felt that the whole world was calm, and the anxiety in her heart seemed to have disappeared.

After lunch, Alice accompanied Eden to take a walk in the yard.

"Eden, are you really leaving today?" Alice was actually reluctant to let her go.

Eden nodded with a smile. "Well! If I don't leave now, your Uncle Alwynn will definitely fly to Lemmon City tonight. Moreover, I need to get back to dealing with things from the company." She would become very busy upon her return.

"Alice, Eden will not force you to be with Ricky. You don't have to worry, and you don't have to make any decisions that you don't want to for the sake of your child. Like I have always said, I hope that the two of you are together willingly, only then will you be happy."

"But I like you very much. If you can finally get married to Ricky, I will be the happiest." Eden stopped and looked at her with affection in her eyes. "Alice, no matter what decision you make, I will support you."

Alice nodded with a smile. "Thank you, Eden!"

She didn't say anything else. After all, there was still a gap between her and Henrick.

Eden could tell that Alice had been concerned about Ricky during this period of time, but she knew that she was still hesitating.

In the afternoon, Henrick and Alice took Eden to the airport together. They didn't leave until the plane took off.

Henrick was not used to the fact that his mother was gone.

To him, his mother was his home.

Alice could tell that he was in a bad mood, so she didn't say much on the way back.

Although Henrick liked to stick to her mother, he was not a mama's boy. He had his own ideas, and Eden would not interfere with his choices.

The next day, Alice got up early to head to the company. When Henrick wanted to send her to work, he had already missed her.

Alice was also planning to go to the police station today.

Looking at the time when Henrick was about to send her a message, she sent a message to him.

"Henrick, there's something going on in the company. I'll come out early and watch a movie with you tonight."

When Henrick saw this message, he was so excited that he almost fainted at the front door.

How could he not be happy that his girlfriend had agreed to watch a movie with him?

However, when he saw the push message on his mobile phone, his expression darkened.
