

Gluey Love 681

Chapter 681

"Okay!" Buddy walked over and helped Grandma Clement get up.

Grandma Clement was old, and she couldn't straighten her back after sitting for a long time. She slightly bent her waist and walked with difficulty.

Wyatt's eyes were brimming with tears as he looked at her. His mother was really old, and she was no longer so spirited.

He made up his mind that he would bring Eden back as soon as possible. Grandma Clement must be very happy when she saw Eden.

Delmont suddenly approached Haven and smiled weirdly, "Haven, you didn't look well just now. What's wrong? Are you unhappy because Buddy and Zofia are together again?"

Originally, Haven was lost in thought. Hearing this, she immediately came to sense. She glanced at Delmont and shook her head with a smile, "Delmont, what are you talking about? Mom and dad will soon have a grandchild. I'm happy for them. Why should I be unhappy?"

"Really?" Delmont leaned on the chair leisurely, picked up a chicken drumstick and ate it casually. After taking a few bites, he said, "Haven, tell me honestly. Do we treat you well these years?"

Haven looked at Delmont whose attitude was as slovenly as before. The smile on his face was always evil, and he behaved the same in front of his family.

However, she didn't know why he asked this question.

After thinking for a while, Haven said with a smile, "Delmont, you regard me as your real family these years and treat me very well, especially mom and dad. They always care about me a lot."

"So, Haven, we have never treated you badly over the years, right?" Delmont asked with a smile.

Haven narrowed her eyes and lowered her head slightly. What was wrong with Delmont that night? He actually sound her out step by step.

"You're right, Delmont. You always treat me very well." Saying this, Haven looked at Wyatt and Aisling with a grateful smile. Indeed, they had been so nice to her after she came here.

Perhaps it was because she had been living a rich and luxurious life and she was envied by many people that she wanted to get more greedily.

Buddy was hard to deal with, but it was easy for her to deal with Delmont.

"So, Haven, from now on, enjoy everything you have quietly. Don't do anything that will surprise us again. Otherwise, you will be embarrassed if we expose your true colours, won't you?"

The smile on Haven's face gradually stiffened as she listened to Delmont. Delmont put on his coat. It seemed that he was going out.

But what did he mean by that?

Haven felt a little uneasy in heart, but she couldn't figure out why she had such a feeling.

"Delmont, it's so late. Where are you going?" Aisling asked.

Delmont turned around and smiled, "Mom, I'm going to see my sweetie."

Aisling said, "Your sweetie?"

"Mm!" Delmont laughed. He missed Eden all of a sudden, so he wanted to see her.

Wyatt knew who Delmont was referring to. He approached Aisling and said in a low voice, "Eden."

"Well..." Aisling suddenly felt speechless. She had forgotten that Delmont liked to call Eden sweetie when he was a child.

"Oh!" Aisling shook her head helplessly. She also missed Eden. Eden had a nice performance that day, and she wanted to celebrate for her. However, she knew Victor would celebrate for Eden.

At the same time, Buddy helped Grandma Clement sit on a soft chair in her room.

Grandma Clement smiled and said, "Buddy, I know that Haven is not kind, and she has many tricks in her heart. She makes things difficult for your future wife, which really makes me worried. After all, she doesn't care about our family. Tell me in detail how that girl is now. I watched you grow up, so I know you the best."

Her kind voice warmed Buddy's heart.

"Grandma, I know, but you really don't have to worry. Zofia is in a good condition now. She runs a restaurant alone, and the business is very good. She works in the restaurant every day. I asked her not to work, but she said that she needed to exercise more so that she could have less pain when she gave birth to the baby."

Grandma Clement nodded with relief, "She is right. If she is idle at home and don't do anything, she will feel bored. Working properly and doing something within her scope is good for her health."

"So, grandma, I will go to help her after I get off work every day." Buddy looked at Grandma Clement with a happy smile. Grandma Clement had been doting him since he was a child. She was wordy, and only he was willing to talk to her.

"Ha-ha..." Grandma Clement smiled with joy, "Buddy, well done. If you have time one day, take me there to have a look. I haven't called you for several months. Sit down and chat with me."

"Okay! Grandma." Buddy sat beside Grandma Clement with a grin, ready to listen to her nagging.

After Eden and Victor finished their meal, they walked back. When they reached the door of their home, they met Delmont.

Delmont stood at the gate. He was dressed in a black windbreaker, and he was tall and straight. The street lamp elongated his shadow. When he didn't speak, he was like an overbearing president.

"Delmont." Eden greeted him with a smile.

Victor looked at Delmont and nodded slightly.

"Eden, you're back." Delmont looked at Eden with a chuckle. His smile grew even brighter when he looked at her beautiful and lovely face clearly.

"Victor, I want to talk to Eden. Why don't you go back first?"

Victor looked at him defensively and said, "What do you want to do to her?"

Hearing this, Delmont frowned tightly, "Victor, what are you talking about? What can I do to my younger sister? I didn't know her identity before, but now I know it. I love her too much. How can I hurt her?"

Victor didn't believe his words, "Since you're so stupid, you will do something that surprises us if Haven instigates you."

Hearing this, Delmont looked awkward, "Victor, that was something of the past. It won't happen again. What are you thinking about?"

Eden looked at Victor and knew what he was worried about, "Go back first."

Eden took a look at the house. Others had not come back yet.

"I'll wait for you here." As Victor said this, he sat down on the stone pier at the gate and waited.

Seeing him like this, Delmont had nothing to say. Eden was his younger sister, but she was protected by an outsider so well. Victor even guarded against him.

"Victor, this is my sister." Delmont looked at Victor helplessly.

Victor glanced at him teasingly and pointed at Eden, "This is my wife. I've been raising her since I was young."

Eden was stunned.

How confident he was!

Chapter 682

This time, even Delmont was somewhat stunned.

He looked at Victor with dissatisfaction, "Victor, when we were young, you always stayed with Eden. Now we've grown up, but you are still so stingy to her. She seemed to be born for you."

Victor was amused when he heard this, "Buddy, you're right. Eden was destined to be mine when she was born. When she was young, I always hugged her and played with her. Can't she be mine after she grows up?"

Eden looked at Victor speechlessly. What the hell was he thinking about?

Did she have to be his?

Oh, why did he always mention such "intimate" things which had happened when they were young?

Delmont finally understood. He looked at Victor, raised his head and said, "I won't argue with you about this matter. Anyway, you have seduced Eden. My grandmother is back and she always talks about you. If you have time, go back to visit her."

Victor frowned slightly and thought of Grandma Clement's loving expression.

"OK! Tomorrow night, I will go there with Eden." Victor suddenly remembered that Eden didn't even go back to the Clement family after they knew her true identity.

"Really?" Delmont looked at Victor happily. He seemed to have forgotten that Victor was still trying to accompany Eden alone.

"Yeah, but Haven can't be there tomorrow night." Victor said.

"Ha-ha, that's simple." Delmont was overjoyed when he heard this.

"If my dad and mom know that Eden is going back, they'll be very delighted." Delmont smiled heartily.

Eden looked at him. Was he no longer protective of her?

Delmont looked at Eden and smiled brightly, "Eden, let's go to the park across the street and talk for a while." "Mm!" Eden nodded with a smile. She glanced at Victor and then left with Delmont.

Victor looked back at the house. No one had come back yet. Why did these people come back later than them?

Victor glanced at the backs of Eden and Delmont with his brooding eyes. Eden had two elder brothers. Was she happy?

"Eden, you're amazing today! Did Victor celebrate for you?" Looking at Eden with a smile in his eyes, Delmont asked straightforwardly.

Eden turned to look at him, "Delmont, I just came back after having a meal with him. It's kind of a small celebration." During the meal, she read at the comments on the Internet. It seemed that she had been whitewashed successfully.

She felt that the public opinion really changed quickly. Yesterday, they still cursed and slandered her, but she had been whitewashed so quickly.

At the same time, she felt that she had a strong heart, but it did not mean that anyone could scold her online at will. Everyone had his own dignity. Moreover, not everyone was as strong as her. Many people could not bear Internet violence, and they cared about how others judged them.

But she didn't mind those comments at all.

Therefore, it was the best to give them a slap in the face with her ability.

"Ah! Victor is really stingy. When he was young, he liked to buy snacks for you. He ignored me and Buddy and gave you all the delicious food. If you couldn't eat them all, he would hide it and give it to you the next day. He is such a petty person." Delmont walked while teasing Victor.

After knowing what had happened to Lucian, Eden always felt guilty when she spoke ill of others behind their back.

She couldn't help but look behind her. Fortunately, Victor didn't follow her. In short, she didn't like to speak ill of others.

"Delmont, there is no such thing. He is very generous to me." Eden immediately spoke for Victor. She indeed felt that Victor was willing to spend money for her.

Delmont smiled, "Eden, you still like to defend him, just like what you did when you were young."

Eden was helpless.

Why did he always talk about her childhood? She couldn't remember what happened when she was a child at all.

She was completely unfamiliar with those things.

Eden changed the topic and asked, "Delmont, I heard you say that grandma is back. Is she in good health?"

She didn't hear any news about Grandma Clement before. It turned out that she had a grandma!

Delmont thought of Grandma Clement and grinned, "Yeah, she has been living aboard. After grandpa passed away, she lived in uncle's house, but auntie offended her. She couldn't stand her anymore, so she came back, and she won't leave again."

Hearing this, Eden felt that her grandma was not easy to deal with. Even her granddaughter-in-law could offend her.

"Delmont, you didn't tell her that I am back, did you?" After all, she was worried that Haven would hurt her family.

Delmont shook his head and said, "No. Eden, you know what? Last time, you were bullied by Mr. King at the party. Do you know who schemed it?"

Eden shook her head slightly. Although she knew it had something to do with Paulina, she had no evidence. She had to admit that Paulina was quite powerful in the design circle. Many people would make troubles for her for the sake of Paulina, and she was not surprised to know it.

Delmont suddenly said angrily, "Eden, Haven and Paulina plotted against you together. After you left, Buddy and I checked the surveillance video. I found that Mr. King had met Haven and Paulina. What's more, Eden, Paulina shows off in front of you just because she is famous and her family is rich. How shameless she is!"

Eden narrowed her eyes a little. It turned out that Haven was also involved. That was not surprising. Haven wished that she could kill her. Since she had a chance to make things difficult for her, how could she let her go?

"Delmont, it's okay. I will be careful in the future." She was indeed very careful, but accidents could happen at any time. She could only pay more and more attention.

However, she knew that she couldn't avoid them forever.

One day they had to solve this problem face to face.

She and Haven would go against each other openly one day.

"Eden, here you are!" Eden was lost in thought with her head lowered. She suddenly saw Delmont give her a bank card.

The expression in Eden's eyes changed slightly. Last night, she picked up a bunch of red apples in her dream. That day, her dream came true and she got a windfall.

However, Eden looked at him and smiled, "Delmont, are you going to give me pocket money?"

Delmont nodded with a smile and looked at her with a distressed face, "Eden, I'm sorry that you have suffered a lot in the past few years. It's all my fault. I am useless and I couldn't find you. It is the pocket money that I saved for you every year. Although I didn't often talk about you, I missed you very much in my heart. I saved some money for you every year and wanted to give it to you when you came back."

Eden looked at him with amusement. They were indeed family. They spoke and acted exactly the same.

Chapter 683

Last time when her father gave her money, he used the same excuse.

However, she was very touched, "Delmont, you don't have to do this. I can earn enough by myself now, and I don't lake for money."

In fact, she didn't have enough money to use. At least, she really could not afford to pay the tuition fees of three children.

The tuition fees were too much, and she felt so lucky to own a such a house.

The house prices kept rising every day, and her biggest dream was to have a house of her own.

However, Delmont took her hand and put the bank card in her hand. He smiled gently, "Eden, I am always straightforward. I want to give you the money sincerely. It's not much, and there are only ten million dollars in this account. You are our little princess. If you didn't get lost, you would get ten million dollars as your pocket money every year. Grandma is very rich. She has all of grandpa's shares and property. She gives me and Buddy a lot of pocket money every year. She is so generous!"

Ahem!

His words came as a complete shock for Eden. Ten million dollars every year? The Clement family was indeed the second richest family in River City.

They were too wealthy!

She couldn't even make so much money in ten years!

Looking at the bank card in her hand, Eden was so grateful in heart, "Delmont, although it's pocket money, this is too much." She had never got so much money since she was born.

Paulina scoffed at her not being able to afford the clothes of famous brands. Indeed, she was too poor to afford it.

She couldn't even afford to raise her children.

Delmont held her hand tightly and grinned, "Fool, for our family, giving you the money is just a piece of cake. Now we've survived the crisis. Although our clothing business is not good, we can make lots of money in other industries! What's more, this is indeed my private savings. I saved them specially for you. Grandma has been saving money for you, too. How can our little princess have no pocket money? So, you must take it. I will work hard every day, and we won't be in such a crisis again."

Delmont's face was animated when he spoke. It seemed that he was overwhelmed by expectation and joy when he saved money for her.

"Delmont..." Eden looked at him with tears in eyes, "Thank you!"

"Eden, I should thank you. Thank you for coming back." Delmont looked at her with a smile quietly. His eyes were filled with affection that he had never had towards others.

Back then, he splashed a glass of mango juice on Eden. After that, he reflected on himself. Sometimes, he was impulsive and did not think about the consequences, so Haven could instigate him at will and he was easy to be made use of.

In the end, he hurt his own sister. Only then did he realize how stupid he was.

Eden blinked and smiled proudly, "Delmont, it's so nice to have you guys with me. I'm living a good life now. I've met a lot of kind people. So, you don't have to worry about me. My wife was not so bad in the past few years." Actually, no matter how hard it was, she didn't think it was a big deal after she weathered the storm. Those hard days were really nothing for her.

Compared with money, she cared more about family affection.

The night wind was a little cold. Delmont had done what he wanted, so he smiled and said, "Eden, let's go back. Victor is going to be angry because I've stayed with you for too long."

Eden shook her head and burst into laughter, "Delmont, he won't!"

"Who said that I wouldn't get mad?" Victor's voice came from the front.

Eden was speechless.

Why did he come here? She was chatting with her elder brother. Was he worried that she would be abducted?

"Ha- ha..." Delmont laughed, "Victor, you're really stingy. You actually followed us here. Can you give us some free space?"

Victor glanced at him, took off his coat and put it on Eden, "Delmont, I don't mean to blame you, but why do you have to bring her here since you want to give her money? You are a coward. Haven't you spent more than ten million dollars a year. You only give Eden ten million dollars. Shame on you!"

Delmont was helpless.

This was really his pocket money. He didn't use the money of his company.

"Victor, give Eden ten million dollars as well if you can!" Delmont straightened his neck and looked at Victor.

Victor smiled, "I've given her all my money. Ten million dollars means nothing to me!" "Well..." Delmont was suddenly rendered speechless. Alright, it was better that Victor had given all his money to Eden. In this case, he didn't need to worry about her anymore.

Eden, who didn't even get a penny from Victor, suddenly took a look at Victor's smug face. Had he given all his money to her?

Sure enough, he was the main reason why she was slandered by so many people. People had been digging out dirt on her just because she was with him.

Victor naturally knew what she was thinking. He was a domineering president who could invest billions of dollars without thinking.

He kept a low profile and didn't show off his wealth. No one knew how much money he had, because he deliberately kept a low profile.

Outsiders could only see things on the surface, but only Anson and Lucian knew how rich he was.

When did he start to earn money? He had started to earn money by himself since he was in high school. It was conceivable how much money he had made in the past years.

Finally, it was time for the four children to go to school, and they were all very happy.

Victor and Zaiden had prepared everything for them. Besides, Eden didn't do anything and they entered the school successfully. Things had never been so easy for her before.

Moreover, in the group chat which was set up by the teacher, Victor regarded himself as their father. He joined the group chat when Eden was not paying attention.

His alias in the group chat was "Kenneth, Giada, and Henrick's father".

Seeing what he had done, Eden felt warm in heart. In fact, in such a noble school, the children would be affected more or less if the other children knew that they were from a single-parent family.

She understood why Victor did this and was grateful for his way of doing things.

At the appointed time, Victor and Eden went to the mall to buy some gifts before they went to the Clement family.

This time, Eden wanted to see what the place where she lived in childhood looked like.

When they arrived at the gate, they got off together.

Eden was wearing a beige windbreaker and her soft hair was scraped back from her face in a ponytail. She looked young and beautiful.

Victor took a look at her, and Eden happened to turn to look at him with a smile.

When she smiled, her eyes were as bright as stars, and her smile was as gentle as the spring breeze, leaving a glow in his heart.

Victor smiled and pointed to two villas side by side, saying, "Eden, look. This is the house of the Alwynn family, and that is the house of the Clement family. Look at the fence in the middle. You liked to climb over here and play with me when you were a child."

Chapter 684

Eden smiled as she looked at the fence in the middle. On the fence, there were circular lanterns every few meters, and the surroundings were as brightly lit as in daylight.

The courtyards in the two houses were both very beautiful. The maple trees were decorated with colorful lights, setting off the red maple leaves. The courtyards had a special charm.

Looking at Victor, she shook her head and said with a grin, "Although you told me a lot on the way here, I can't remember anything in my childhood. Victor, I'm sorry!"

Victor looked at her. In fact, he hoped that he could recall her childhood memories, "Eden, you will remember it one day." He knew that Eden was reluctant to forget him.

He was trying to find a way to let her regain her memories. Perhaps hypnosis was a nice way.

"Mm!" Eden looked at the door of the house of Clement family. This was the first time she had returned home. Why was she so nervous?

Victor seemed to know how nervous she was and whispered in her ear, "Eden, this is your first time to come home after you got lost. Do you see the room with a balcony on the second floor? It's the best room in your house, and it is left for the little princess of the Clement family. You lived in that room when you were a child. The window of that room is a few meters away from mine. Every night, you leaned over the windowsill and said good night to me before you went to bed."

Eden looked over. Sure enough, the two windowsills were facing each other, and they were not too far away from each other.

Eden suddenly imagined the little girl standing by the window and calling Victor who was across from her. How she felt at that time?

She knew that the little girl must be very happy.

While the boy opposite her would be very delighted and fall asleep with happiness.

Eden looked at Victor, smiled tenderly and blinked her eyes, "Victor, I will remember our past one day." She would try her best to cherish him.

She thanked him for all the things he had done for her in the past years.

Looking at her warm smile, Victor could not help but grin, "Eden, I know that you can't bear to forget our past, but you're in no hurry to remember it. Let's go in first."

"Mm!" Eden nodded.

Victor walked over and rang the doorbell.

When Aisling heard the doorbell ringing, she went to open the door with a cheerful smile.

Grandma Clement was watching TV in the living room. When she saw Aisling like this, she felt a bit strange and stared at Aisling without blinking.

She whispered to Delmont who was sitting next to her, "Delmont, what's wrong with your mother today? She actually cooks on her own. She has married into our family for decades, but she has never cooked except for cooking for her daughter. Does she like Victor so much?"

Grandma Clement was a bit jealous. Although Aisling was competitive and straightforward, as the daughter-in-law of such a powerful family, she conducted herself and Grandma Clement was quite satisfied with her.

Delmont smiled and said, "Grandma, Victor and his girlfriend are here. Victor helped our family a lot. Mom should cook for him in person."

Listening to Delmont's explanation, Buddy suddenly found that Delmont had changed a lot, and he was not as impulsive as before.

If it was in the past, he would definitely say, "Grandma, because her daughter is back." Delmont was straightforward, and he was like Aisling more or less.

He performed well this time!

Buddy smiled with satisfaction.

Victor and Eden came in.

"Mom!" Eden called Aisling softly.

"Eden, come in." Looking at Eden, Aisling was overjoyed. What made her sad was that Eden actually came back in this way after she got lost.

"Mrs. Clement." Victor called her.

"Victor, thank you! Come in quickly."

At this time, Wyatt came over, "Eden."

"Dad!" Eden called him in a low voice.

Grandma Clement had been looking at them and found that they got along very well.

"Delmont, Buddy, is there anything wrong with my eyes? Why do I feel that your mother treats the girl as her own daughter?"

Grandma Clement couldn't believe what she had seen. Aisling had never been able to get along well with her, and they would argue as soon as they started to talk.

Therefore, Aisling seldom talked to her with a smile.

Buddy smiled and said, "Grandma, haven't you realized that mom has changed a lot?" Grandma Clement's face darkened when she heard this. She didn't think so at all.

At this time, Victor and Eden had walked to the front of Grandma Clement.

Eden nodded at Buddy and Delmont.

Victor glanced at Grandma Clement. Seeing that she was still in good health, he laughed, "Grandma, you're back."

Grandma Clement looked at him and her face was filled with joy, "Oh! Victor, you're getting maturer and maturer." She said in a loving voice, as if she had seen her own grandson.

Eden suddenly glanced at Victor. It seemed that Grandma Clement liked him very much.

Victor was helpless. Grandma Clement had been doting on him since he was a child.

"Grandma Clement, this is my girlfriend." Victor introduced her with a smile.

"Nice to meet you, grandma!" Eden's voice was sweet and her smile was gentle. Grandma Clement liked her very much.

"Nice to meet you! Now Victor's heart is completely yours and he loves you so much.

He has been naughty since he was a child, and he only listened to my granddaughter's words. Now he is with you and he is happier."

Saying this, Grandma Clement sighed in heart. If Eden was here, how could Victor be with this girl?

Unfortunately...

She gently patted her knees, and she felt so displeased in an instant.

Victor was an outstanding man, but he was not her grandson-in-law.

"Alas!" Grandma Clement sighed. Seeing that she suddenly became unhappy, everyone looked at her.

However, Buddy knew what she was thinking, "Grandma, do you miss Eden?"

Grandma Clement looked at him dejectedly and nodded listlessly, "I don't know if I can see her before I die."

Everyone was speechless.

However, Eden took a step forward, squatted in front of Grandma Clement and gently held her hand with her fair and slender hand.

There were senile plaques on Grandma Clement's hand, and blue veins stood out on her arm, but her hand was soft.

Holding Grandma Clement's hand, Eden felt so sad. What should she do?

Grandma Clement missed her so much, which made her very sombre.

"Grandmother, you will see her one day." Eden said with a faint smile.

Grandma Clement looked at Eden carefully. She always felt that she was familiar with Eden's face.

Eden scratched the back of Grandma Clement's hand lightly subconsciously.

"Ah..." Seeing what Eden was doing, Grandma Clement was surprised.

Chapter 685

Eden was slightly stunned. She didn't know why Grandma Clement was so surprised.

Grandma Clement looked at Eden seriously. Looking at Eden's familiar eyes and brows, she was slightly stunned. A warm scene came to her mind.

"Grandma, did my mother make you angry again? Grandma, don't be mad. My mother didn't do it on purpose. She was just too busy, so she spoke to you in a very rude tone."

The little girl ran to her, squatted beside her and took her hand, scratching the back of her hand gently with her ring finger.

She had thought that Eden did it on purpose. Later, she found that as long as Eden held her hand, she would scratch the back of her hand with her ring finger subconsciously.

Grandma Clement's hand was very tender, because she was the daughter of a rich family. When she was young, many maids served her, and she had never done any housework or cooked. The back of her hand was very soft, and Eden was particularly fond of holding her hand.

She loved Eden's innocent smile the most.

Eden called her grandma and comforted her everyday, so she felt very happy though she argued with Aisling all day long. Aisling made her uncomfortable, but her little granddaughter made her very delighted. Eden was more considerate than her two brothers.

"Eden. You're Eden, aren't you?" Grandma Clement looked at Eden excitedly.

Eden was stunned.

Everyone was surprised.

Eden did not know how she had revealed the fact that she was just Eden.

"Mom..." Seeing that Grandma Clement melted into tears, Wyatt was sad and touched. Grandma Clement actually recognized Eden at a glance.

However, Aisling felt guilty. Why didn't she recognize her daughter at first sight?

Grandma Clement's eyes were brimming with tears as she looked at Eden and said in a choked voice, "You know what? When Eden was young, she liked to squat down in front of me and gently scratch the back of my hand with her ring finger. Besides, you look like her so much."

"Grandma." Eden looked at Grandma Clement whose hair was grey in shock. She could actually recognize her.

As for her actions, she did not know why she did that.

Hearing Grandma Clement talking about her and seeing her doleful eyes, she felt heartbroken. That was why she squatted in front of her unconsciously.

Did this mean that she remembered her childhood habit in her subconscious?

Eden knew that her family didn't tell Grandma Clement about her, because they didn't want her to be worried. After all, Grandma Clement was old.

At this time, Aisling asked the hourly employee to leave. Only then did Wyatt tell Grandma Clement about everything.

Hearing the whole story, Grandma Clement was so angry that she almost fainted.

She shot a complaining look at Aisling.

Aisling really couldn't say a word to defend herself at this moment. She admitted that she had selfish intentions after Eden got lost back then.

Victor loved Eden so much.

Moreover, the business of the Clement family was not stable, and she did want to rely on the Alwynn family.

"Eden, my baby, you're finally back." Grandma Clement hugged Eden and cried out loud bitterly.

Eden melted into tears.

Victor looked at them with tears in his eyes. They were finally united.

After Grandma Clement calmed down, they had a meal together happily.

Grandma Clement couldn't be more overjoyed. She kept filling Eden's bowl and even ignored Buddy, who she cared about the most in ordinary times.

Seeing that Grandma Clement treated her so well, Eden couldn't get used to it for a moment.

However, she felt warm in heart all the time.

After the meal, they sat down and chatted, while Aisling brought Eden to her childhood room.

As soon as the door was opened, Eden saw a luxuriously decorated bedroom. The whole room was pink, and the atmosphere was very warm. However, none of these made Eden excited. What excited her the most was that she saw her pictures when she was a child.

After she went to the Gienger family, she had never taken pictures of herself. Except that she once took ID photos due to the request in school, she really did not take any photos.

She picked up a star-shaped photo frame on the table. In the photo, there were a little girl and a little boy. The little girl was sitting on the little boy's lap. Both of them smiled very brightly. The little boy hid in the little girl's arm with a warm smile on his face, looking so lovely.

Eden recognized that the little girl was herself, and the little boy was Victor.

This was not the only photo of her and Victor. There were many photos of them on the wall and tables.

From when she was very young till when she was six years old, Victor was growing up little by little, but it seemed that he had witnessed the whole process of her growth. These photos recorded their growth.

It seemed that every moment of her childhood was closely related to him.

Eden shed tears unconsciously and gently stroked the little boy and the little girl in the photo with her fingers.

Indeed, it was her when she was a child. Eden's heart was overwhelmed by intense sorrow.

"Woo-woo..."

Eden suddenly squatted on the ground and cried out loud with the photo tightly in her arms. At this moment, she didn't know why she was so sad. All she wanted to do was cry and vent all the grievances and pain in her heart.

"Eden." Seeing this, Aisling squatted down with distress and held her in her arms.

"Mom, although we had a paternity test, I didn't really feel that I was your daughter. Now, I look at the pictures of my childhood, and I really feel that you're my mother..." Tears streamed down Eden's face as she sobbed.

She was not so shocked when she knew that she was the daughter of the Clement family.

She didn't feel that she had once really been in the Clement family until she saw the photos with her own eyes.

This kind of feeling made her at ease.

Aisling said with tears in her eyes, "Fool, how can you not be my daughter?"

Eden nodded hard and cried for a while before she calmed down. However, she held the photo in her arms and was unwilling to put it down. The photo was very delicately framed. It should be very precious to her when she was a child.

She took another look at the other photos in the room. There were very few photos of herself, and she could almost see Victor in every photo.

Eden glanced at the photo in her hand and smiled, "Mom, I don't have a photo of when I was a child. I'll take this photo with me."

Aisling looked at her with a smile and wiped the tears from her face. Eden's face was similar to hers. Why didn't she recognize Eden the first time she saw her?

"Eden, everything here is yours, and these are all pictures of you and Victor. Look, when Victor held you, he smiled so brightly. He has never smiled so brightly at his father." Aisling felt sorry for Victor in heart. After all, it was not easy for Victor to grow up in his family.

Chapter 686

Eden stayed in her room for a long time, but she couldn't remember that she had once lived in this room.

In the end, she could only give up. She comforted herself that one day, she would definitely remember everything.

Looking at the photos in the room, she really wanted to remember what had happened when she was a child.

Eden and Aisling chatted in the room for a long while. Aisling told her a lot about her childhood.

Aisling still remembered every moment of Eden's childhood. It was not until she talked to Eden like this that she realized that her daughter was really back.

After they went downstairs, it was late at night. Eden was worried that Haven would come back and run into her, so she left with Victor in advance.

Others told Grandma Clement not to mention Eden in front of Haven. Otherwise, Haven might do something more vicious.

As for Eden, on the way back, she had been recalling the photos of her and Victor. Those pictures recorded every moment of their past.

Victor parked the car outside the house.

When he unbuckled her seat belt for Eden, Eden suddenly reached out to hold him.

Being hugged by her all of a sudden, Victor was dumbfounded.

"Eden, what's wrong?" His hoarse voice rang in her ear.

Eden hugged him tightly, and her heart was full of gratitude, "Victor, I just want to hug you." Her voice seemed to carry an infinite power, revealing a determination that she had never had before.

Victor lowered his head and looked at her. Under the dim light, he could see the tears in her eyes clearly. She looked at him with a gentle face. He had never seen such an expression in her eyes before. It was tender and very tolerant, just like the beautiful stars and wide sea.

Victor immediately hugged her with great force. It seemed that he wanted to tell her no matter what happened, she didn't have to be afraid because he was with her.

"Eden." Victor took a deep breath and said with a gentle smile, "What's wrong with you? Tell me. I'm here."

His words left a glow in Eden's heart and touched her a lot.

Eden raised her head to look at him. Seeing the gentleness in his eyes, she said, "From now on, you're mine. You're not allowed to flirt with other girls. You can only love me."

Victor trembled violently when he heard her domineering words all of a sudden. A wave of happiness flooded him. She looked bossy. Her face blushed a little, and her big eyes were particularly bright.

Victor said with a smile in his eyes, "Eden, as you wish."

As soon as he said this in an intimate voice, he kissed her soft lips gently without hesitation. This time, they were both affectionate.

When Eden returned to her room, her face was still burning hot.

To her surprise, she actually said such overbearing words after she was stimulated by several photos.

"Victor, you can only be mine from now on."

How domineering it was!

She asked herself, "Eden, when do you become so bold?"

The key was that he said ambiguously, "As you wish."

What a sweet and charming boyfriend!

This night, Abigail and Graciella chatted together and did not sleep in Eden's room.

However, Eden lost her sleep completely that night.

The next day, Eden and Victor did not have to go to work. In Victor's words, they were too busy during this period of time, so they should take a few days off.

The children went to school. Jaida and Zaiden went on a business trip. Abigail went out, and Graciella was busy setting up her own company.

Zofia went to her restaurant. After Eden came out of her room with dark eye circles, Victor told her that they were the only ones in the house.

Eden didn't even wash her face. Under Victor's gaze, she listlessly went back to her room and went back to sleep.

She couldn't stay up late. After staying up all night, she felt as uncomfortable as she was sick, so it was very necessary for her to go back to sleep for a few hours.

Victor stared at her feeble expression and his heart skipped a beat. His blood seemed to freeze in an instant.

It was not until Eden slammed the door shut that he came to sense.

He smiled faintly. It seemed that she was very tired these days.

In fact, he did not know what Eden was thinking about in her heart.

He kissed her last night, so he had a good sleep and woke up early this morning.

Seeing that Eden went back to sleep, he picked up his phone and sent a message to the manager of the hotel, asking him to prepare Eden's favorite food and send it here.

After that, he turned on the computer to deal with official business.

He didn't check the message sent by Lucian until the video conference was over.

They had made an appointment to meet at nine o'clock last night. However, at nine o'clock last night, he was staying with Eden and didn't want to pay attention to Lucian for some reason, nor did he want to piss himself off.

It just so happened that Lucian did not want to talk to him, either. They had a tacit understanding and neither sent each other a message.

Victor sent him a message.

"Let's continue what we supposed to do last night."

"This is the working hour."

Victor rolled his eyes,

He replied, "I'm the boss."

"I know."

"So..."

"So, I don't want to talk to you now. Don't disturb me."

Seeing this, Victor knew that Lucian was still angry with him. A night had passed, but he was still mad. What a narrow-minded man!

Lovers' quarrel was soon mended, wasn't it?

Well...

Victor blinked his eyes. It didn't seem to be like this.

He and Lucian were friends, not lovers.

Victor did not send a message to Lucian anymore. After Lucian calmed down, he would come and find him on his own. He was well aware of Lucian's temperament, and Lucian wouldn't show him respect just because he was the boss.

Victor sent another message to Anson to ask about his condition and when he could leave the hospital.

Anson replied to him, "Can't you come to the hospital to have a look by yourself?"

Seeing Anson's miffed reply, Victor looked at the bright sunshine outside. Although it was a little cold in the morning, the wind was pleasant. On such a bright day, why did he feel that the whole world was going against him?

After being annoyed by Anson, Victor didn't give up and sent Adonis a message.

"Take good care of Anson."

"He's not my son." Adonis even attached a mad emoji.

Victor completely gave up the idea of communicating with them on Facebook. He was such a busy man and he could earn 100 million dollars by signing his name, but he actually chatted with these friends here and even got despised as if he had done something bad to them.

Chapter 687

Victor was not angry. After all, he didn't care about what others thought of him, and he did not need to cater to anyone.

Therefore, he sat according to his plan and did what he wanted to do.

In Jotham Alwynn Group.

After three days, the electronic equipment in Jotham Alwynn Group finally returned to normal.

Vincent suspect Justin's ability because of this.

This was not the scariest thing. The scariest thing was that Phillip had been in a frenzy of rage in the past few days. Everyone in Jotham Alwynn Group was nervous and uneasy.

Vincent did not dare to go to Phillip's office at will.

Phillip went to work early in the morning, and he was in a particularly bad mood. On the exhibition, not so many people were interested in Jotham Alwynn Group, and they only got a few projects. Although he knew that the business was not good, he did not expect it to be so difficult.

Seeing that he was angry, Jaxon poured him a glass of warm water.

"Chairman, don't be angry. Now that the electronic equipment has been restored, and the company continues to function normally. Don't be too worried." Jaxon persuaded him.

Phillip took a sharp look at him and asked in a serious tone, "Jaxon, what do you think of this matter?"

Jaxon slightly lowered his head. He was not sure about this matter, but he was sure that Alwynn Group had taken revenge on their company because Vincent slandered Eden.

He answered cautiously, "Chairman, Vincent keeps slandering Eden, and I'm afraid that Victor won't endure it any longer. The past three days might just be a warning. If we provoke them completely in the future, I'm afraid that Mr. Alwynn will not think about your reputation anymore."

"Humph! Vincent, the brat, he has no ability, but he has learnt how to play dirty tricks!"

"This is your good son whom you've always doted on ever since he was young. What's wrong? Don't you even recognize his ability?" A mocking voice suddenly sounded from outside the door.

Phillip was slightly stunned when he heard the voice. When he looked up, he saw Graciella, who was dressed in fashion clothes, looking at him sarcastically.

"Graciella, you're back." Looking at Graciella whom he had not seen for a few years, Phillip was very excited, Graciella was more and more beautiful, looking very similar to her mother. However, her eyes were full of hostility as she looked at him.

"Miss Alwynn, you're back," Jaxon said happily aside.

"Mm!" Graciella nodded indifferently.

Being watched by Phillip, she walked straight inside and sat down on the leather sofa before she looked up at Phillip, whom she hadn't seen for a few years.

He was really old and not as elegant as he used to be. His eyes drooped. Although his eyes were still shrewd, they were no longer bright as they were when she lived at home. He looked much older, and there were wrinkles on his forehead. He had put on weight, and he was no longer the Prince Charming in many girls' hearts.

"Chairman Alwynn, we've talked about to each other on the phone before. I don't know why my brother and I haven't got our hands yet. You have been using our shares to raise your own children these years. Now they have grown up and become independent. Can you return our shares back to us?"

That was her father. When her mother left, she could not bear to take anything away and left everything to her and Victor. However, her father gave everything that should have belonged to them to Vincent and Adalynn.

She had been angry because of this for a long time, and she had been waiting for Victor to grow up. Victor had really grown up, so they would take back everything that belonged to them. As for something that didn't belong to them, she had no ambition to get it.

Hearing her words, Phillip was extremely disappointed, "Graciella, I haven't seen you for so many years. We have just met. Is this how you talk to me?"

Graciella sneered, and there was no warmth in her eyes, "Chairman Alwynn, when you did this, you were already an adult. You had your own judgment. You were not forced. You just didn't care about me and Victor in your heart."

"How did you get those shares?"

"When Vincent and Adalynn used the money to buy luxury goods, wouldn't they feel guilty? You sit idle and enjoy the fruits of my mother's labour. Aren't you afraid that you'll be punished by god? So, it's not me and Victor's fault. We just want to take back what belongs to us, and I won't take a penny from you."

Of course, he would not give his money to her and Victor. Graciella knew that he only cared about Adalynn and Vincent in his heart.

Hearing her sharp but right words, Phillip felt a great pain in heart.

He said in a deep voice, "Graciella, don't worry. I will return the shares to you and Victor." However, he knew that if he returned the shares back to them, they would not want to have anything to do with him.

They weren't greedy, and they only wanted to take back their own shares.

"We had agreed that you would return the shares to us a month ago, but a month has passed and you didn't keep your promise. I'll give you another five days. If you still don't solve this matter, I have enough evidence to tell the reporters about this matter. At that time, I will take back what belongs to me in a legal way." After saying this, Graciella got up and left without looking back.

"Graciella, don't go." Phillip chased after her.

But he saw Graciella bumping into Rebecca, who was walking towards them.

When Rebecca suddenly saw Graciella, she was stunned. When did Graciella come back?

Rebecca smiled faintly and asked softly, "Graciella, when did you come back? Why don't you go home?"

"Home?" Graciella said with sarcasm in her eyes, "My home has been occupied by greedy people like you. Do I have a home? Since I have met you, I can tell you about it by the way. Your son and daughter appropriate the shares of me and Victor all the time. Within five days, if you don't return the shares back to us, I will make it public."

After Graciella finished speaking, she glanced at Rebecca whose face suddenly darkened.

"What? The shares of you and Victor? Graciella, why can't I understand what you're talking about?" Rebecca was smart and immediately acted dumb.

How could Graciella not know that she was playing a trick?

She sneered and said, "Do you think I am as innocent as I was a decade ago? You can fool Chairman Alwynn with your poor tricks, but you can't deceive me. Since you want to act dumb, I don't mind, as long as you can bear the consequences. Remember, there are only five days left."

After saying that, Graciella walked away gracefully.

However, Rebecca's face became even gloomier.

Chapter 688

A trace of sorrow flashed across Phillip's eyes as he watched Graciella leave.

Graciella was his daughter. She had been obedient since she was a child. No matter what he said, she listened to him. He asked her to study abroad, and she agreed. When she left, she said, "Dad, since you want me to leave, I can promise you, but you must take good care of Victor and give him the same rich life."

In this way, she stayed aboard for more than a decade. In the past a dozen years, he went to visit her occasionally, but she never went to see him when she came back. Perhaps she had been disappointed in him since that time.

She had almost despaired of him.

"Alas!" Phillip sighed with depression. It seemed that he was really a failure as a father.

"Why do you sigh? Back then, you were willing to give the shares to Adalynn and Vin." At this moment, Rebecca looked at Phillip with her face full of anger.

She had to admit that Phillip was really old.

The more she looked at him, the more she disliked him. She only wanted to leave him as soon as possible.

Phillip looked at her coldly, "Do you forget how you begged me to give the shares to them back then? At that time, you had just married me. In order to make you feel at ease, I gave the shares of my ex-wife to Vin and Adalynn against my conscience. Now they want to get the shares back, and it's not wrong. Return the shares to them. Otherwise, Graciella won't let us go so easily. I know her well. If Vin and Adalynn refuse to return the shares, I'll withdraw their own shares and give their shares to Victor and Graciella."

"You know what I have done all these years. I treat Vin and Adalynn better than Graciella and Victor. I gave everything nice to Vin and Adalynn, but Graciella and Victor got nothing from me. They have been working hard on their own. If you three don't even understand this, it seems that I have made a wrong choice back then."

After Phillip said this, he turned around angrily and returned to his office.

Jaxon listened to their conversation in the office. Phillip's words were domineering. If he could say such words back then, maybe he would not have been in such a dilemma.

Unfortunately, he didn't behave like this back then!

Rebecca stood still with a cold face, holding her bag. Of course, she knew how Graciella and Victor had been living all these years. She naturally would not let them have a good life.

Unexpectedly, they had grown up and actually dared to threaten her.

They were not her biological children. Why should she care about whether they were dead or alive?

However, there were only five days left. She must do something in these five days.

Recently, she had been transferring her property, and she wanted to steal all the money from the company. Anyway, in the past few years, Jotham Alwynn Group's business was getting worse and worse.

If she really couldn't do anything about it, she could only give up. But there were only five days left. She really didn't know what to do.

Rebecca stood where she was and thought for a while. Then she turned around and walked out slowly.

She had to find Alex and see if he had a better way.

No one disturbed Eden, and the weather was cold. In the quiet room, Eden did not wake up until noon.

After waking up, she didn't feel sleepy at all.

She got up, changed her clothes and went to wash up.

When she went out, Victor was still sitting on the balcony and dealing with business.

Hearing the sound of the door being opened, Victor looked over and saw Eden in a pink sweater. She was wearing a pair of black leggings and furry slippers.

Her hair was tied severely in a bun, and she looked young and beautiful. The casual style made her even more attractive.

"Come here." Victor's voice was hoarse, like the bleak wind and rain in autumn.

Eden walked over with a smile. It was quiet all around. Only the gentle breeze blew in her face.

When Eden walked over, Victor pulled her into his arms lightly.

Eden was slightly stunned and suddenly looked at him. Seeing his handsome face, she blinked her clear eyes. Last night, it was because of him that she couldn't fall asleep.

Seeing that she was looking at him, Victor smiled tenderly, "Are you hungry?"

"Mm!" Eden nodded obediently. She woken up from hunger.

Victor picked up his phone and sent a message to manager of the hotel, telling him that he could send the food here.

After putting down the phone, he said, "I asked them to cook your favorite dishes for you. The food will be delivered soon."

Eden nodded with satisfaction. She felt that she had been doted on as a little princess.

"Did you order my favorite lobster?"

Victor said, "Yep!"

"That's good." Leaning against his arms, Eden could really feel the sweetness of being in a relationship.

Victor lowered his head and gently kissed her on the head. Such a scene had always been what he expected. At this time, it really happened, and he was extremely delighted.

Thinking of her overbearing words last night, he smiled proudly and wickedly.

"Eden, I forgot to say something to you last night." His pleasant voice sounded in her ears.

Eden looked at him with her big eyes full of doubt, "What?"

Victor lowered his head and looked at her with his dark eyes quietly, "You've always been mine."

Eden was taken aback.

He reacted too slowly. Wasn't it too late for him to say this?

No, he seemed to have said this before.

"It's too late!" Eden said with a grin.

"It's not late." Victor lowered his head, buried his head in her shoulder and rubbed his face against her tenderly. She could feel how gentle he was.

Eden felt a little itchy and slightly tilted her head to avoid him. She blushed scarlet, looking very cute.

"Ha- ha..." Sensing her movements, Victor laughed in a light tone.

The lovely scene was so beautiful and eye-catching.

"Eden, when the children are on holiday, let's travel together." Victor said in a low voice.

Eden asked, "Where are we going?"

Victor looked at blue sky in the distance and grinned, "Go to the most beautiful place in the world. When you were a child, you said that you liked blue sky and the holy snow mountains. In this case, I'll accompany you."

Eden looked at him in slight surprise, "Victor, do you even remember my unintentional words when I was young?"

Victor looked at her tenderly and said in a soft voice, "Eden, in this world, I can only remember your words forever, and I'll never forget it."

Eden ran her finger through the hair on her forehead. When he said such words in the past, she was not very touched in heart. However, after she saw the photos and he kissed her last night, she had a different feeling when he said that.

Her mother told her everything about their past. When she heard such words from him again, she was extremely touched in heart.

Chapter 689

Indeed, when Victor said those words to her in the past, she never took his words seriously.

She smiled and said, "If you want, let's travel together and take the children with us."

Victor said, "I think so, too." The three children were very sensible and would not be third wheels.

The breeze blew over, and it was a little cold. Eden shivered, and then Victor held her more tightly.

He thought for a moment and whispered, "Eden, when will we get married?"

"Um..." Eden was stunned by his question all of a sudden.

"Victor, can you stop thinking so much?" Eden pretended to be mad and glared at him.

Victor lowered his head and looked dissatisfied, "Eden, I want to be with you."

Eden said, "Aren't I with you now?"

Looking at her innocent big eyes, Victor was slightly dumbfounded. It seemed that Eden did not understand what he meant. He was a man, so he was naturally sexually aroused in front of the woman he loved.

But she didn't know. Alas!

She had never been in a relationship before. Perhaps she really did not know what he was thinking.

Victor smiled and didn't speak.

He looked downstairs and saw that the car from the hotel had arrived. He said, "Eden, I'll go down to get the food. Sit here and wait." "Alright!" Eden got up and sat on the chair lazily.

Victor got up and strode downstairs.

Eden was basking in the sunshine leisurely. She had to admit that being on a vacation was really nice.

Eden suddenly worried that the four children would make troubles in the school, especially Gia. Her injured leg was not fully recovered.

Mm!

Eden pursed her lips slightly. She could never stop worrying about the children.

Gia was naughtier than Kenny and Ricky. Sometimes she really suspected that God had made a mistake. Gia should be a boy, while Kenny and Ricky... No, Ricky was definitely not as obedient as he seemed on the surface. He was very scheming. Others might not know him, but she knew him very well as his mother.

Kenny should be a girl, and Gia and Ricky should be boys.

Eden's mind was filled with nonsense. When the children were not around, she would always think about what they were doing.

Looking away slightly, she saw Victor walking upstairs. Against the light, his face was perfect. He pursed his thin lips slightly, looking extraordinarily handsome.

Victor looked at Eden, who was as lazy as a noble cat, and smiled gently. He walked over with many boxes in his hands and then put them on the table.

The smells of delicious foods floated all around them, and Eden instantly stopped thinking. Looking at the delicious food on the table, she swallowed a little.

"I'm so hungry!" she said in a low voice and stared at the food with excited eyes.

Victor had put the chopsticks in her hand, "Hurry up and eat!"

Then, he handed her a bowl of rice. He was simply as careful as a waiter in a five-star hotel.

As his girlfriend, Eden naturally enjoyed his thoughtfulness.

She instantly felt that she had got a perfect boyfriend who would do everything for her.

She grinned, looked at Victor and said, "Victor, I finally know why you have so many female fans. All of them want to marry you. It turns out that you are really very good."

Victor glanced at her gently and had his meal elegantly, "Have you just realized how good I am?"

Eden said, "I always know that you are very kind to me. At the beginning, I thought you had an ulterior motive for treating me well. But after thinking about it, I found that I had nothing, and I didn't know what you wanted from me. Now I really understand that you're so good to me. If you have an ulterior motive, it must be that you want to get me."

Hearing this, Victor smiled warmly, "You're finally enlightened."

Eden nodded immediately, "I was suddenly enlightened last night, so I'll be with you for the rest of my life."

Hearing this, Victor was like over the moon, "Eden, so, when will you marry me?"

Eden suddenly opened her eyes wide, "Why do you talk about this topic again?"

"Mm!" Victor nodded.

"What do you mean by 'mm'?" Eden bit the chopsticks and looked at him.

Victor's eyes were a little gloomy, and he didn't speak this time.

Alas!

It seemed that he was too impatient.

Jasper was very busy these days. He didn't have time to rest until the business in his company was sorted out that day.

Looking at the date, he remembered that he hadn't seen Eden for a long time.

When he was in the company, he wore expensive hand-made suits, looking lofty and noble all over.

It seemed that only when he was with Eden would he be gentle.

He took out his phone with gentleness in his eyes. Just as he was about to send her a message, he saw the message sent by Eden.

"Jasper, are you very busy these days?"

Jasper suddenly remembered that she was also very busy recently. She had a very good performance during the fashion week, and he was relieved. Unconsciously, Eden had really grown up.

Jasper typed to reply to her, "Yeah! I was just done with my work, and I was going to chat with you."

Eden said, "Jasper, I want to talk to you."

"Eden, what's the matter?"

"Jasper, now I'm in a relationship with Victor."

As soon as Jasper saw this message, he was stunned and the phone almost fell out of his hand.

"Jasper, I know that you must be sad in your heart when you see this. But I must tell you something. Victor has been looking for me all these years..."

Eden typed a lot of words and told him everything about the past of her and Victor.

She chose to tell Jasper about it first.

Because she knew that Jasper had done a lot for her.

But in other words, she didn't love Jasper, and she only treated him as her family. If she could talk to him about it, she wouldn't live in guilt and he could have a chance to meet another girl and get his new happiness.

She would not hide it from Jasper and let him still like her. Over the years, Jasper had done a lot for her. She could not play him selfishly. She only hoped that they could still be friends.

Jasper looked at the long essay on the screen. Eden said a lot and told him that Victor had been waiting and loving her.

He watched every word very carefully.

Previously, he had been worried that Victor just wanted to play Eden. But when he read the message, he knew that Victor was serious. It could be said that no one loved Eden more sincerely than Victor did. He remembered the bits and pieces of these days and felt that Victor really did his best to take care of Eden.

At this time, he only worried about one thing.

Chapter 690

Would Victor treat Kenny, Ricky and Gia as his own children?

Jasper liked the three children and regarded them as his own children.

He thought that if he were really with Eden one day, he would raise the three of them as his biological babies.

Because the three children were really obedient and well- behaved, and they were very adorable.

Jasper's eyes were filled with unnoticeable pain. He knew why Eden chose to tell him in this way.

In fact, he had always been grateful to her. It was because he met her that he could have such achievement.

Joye Group became so successful because of her.

Eden had a strong desire to better herself, so he was affected by her and learnt from her.

To him, knowing this matter from her and knowing it by himself was actually different.

If he found it out personally, he would definitely become very painful. He had always been protecting her, but he had lost her just like that.

However, since Eden told him about it personally and shared it with him at the first time, he would face it rationally.

After all, Eden was right. They had already grown up. They should do things and think in a mature and sensible way instead of thinking childishly.

Jasper lowered his head slightly. The autumn sun was not very warm. The pale light slanted in through the French window and shone on his good-looking face. He was so handsome.

"Phew..." Jasper took a deep breath. There was a faint pain between his eyebrows and his body could not help but tremble.

After a while, he eased all the pain in his heart. No matter Eden could marry him or not, he only hoped that she could live a happy life forever.

It was said that a life without love was like spring without flowers.

But at the same time, he understood love was that two people were deeply attracted and attached to each other.

Among all his love, he loved himself, and he loved Eden. He loved his life, and he wanted Eden to be happy.

They had known each other for seven years. Every moment of their past brought him relaxation and joy. During this period of time, he had lived up to his ideal of himself.

He became more sincere and tolerant because he met Eden. Facing the ups and downs in life and the changeable fate, he became stronger. He lived a stabler life, and he wouldn't be affected by the surrounding environment.

Perhaps in the eyes of the stubborn people, he could never stop thinking about Eden, and his love was too aggressive.

But to him who was becoming mature, he did love her, and he was not irrational.

He smiled warmly. In the big office, he looked unusually lonely.

"Eden, I knew I would lose you, but I didn't expect it to be so fast. However, thank you for coming to my life. It's so good to have you by my side."

He raised his eyes slightly, and the smile on his face was relieved.

If he was in pain, she would be in pain, too. If he was stubborn, how could she be in love at ease?

After thinking for a long time, he sent a message to Eden.

"Eden, congratulations. You must be happy. I want to see you live a good life with my own eyes."

Eden looked at the line of words on the screen and chuckled. She replied, "Jasper, you must be happy, too. We will be happy together!"

Jasper was a relatively important existence in her life. Hence, she should explain clearly to him so that there would be no grudge between them.

Jasper knew her, and she knew Jasper as well.

She witnessed Jasper's growth with her own eyes. He grew from a boy who didn't even know how to peel apples to a famous and the richest man in Gate City. These years, she had witnessed his change.

She smiled faintly, "Jasper, although work is important, health is more important. Remember to eat regularly no matter how busy you are."

Seeing her warm reminder, Jasper smiled, "I see, Eden. However, I have to thank you. Thank you for your companionship all these years. We're still friends."

When Eden saw the words "we are still friends", tears ran down her face in an instant.

Jasper would not say sweet words to flatter someone like other men did, nor would he prove his charm as a man by speaking.

He was a very sincere big boy. Both of them needed warmth, but both of them were clearheaded.

They were sincere to each other. She had told him about it, and they were still friends.

Eden sent a message to him quickly, "I know!" She thanked him very much.

"Woo-woo..." Eden sobbed in a low voice.

After the meal, Victor went to throw the garbage. When he came back, he saw her crying and got very anxious. He strode to her, squatted in front of her and asked cautiously, "Eden, what's wrong?"

Eden hugged him and cried more sadly.

"Victor, Jasper..."

Victor looked at her immediately. Was she crying for Jasper?

"Eden, what happened to Jasper?" She couldn't stop crying.

Eden cried and said with a smile, "He is fine. He has finally come around. We are still friends."

Victor was stunned.

What exactly had happened between her and Jasper when he was away to throw the garbage?

"Eden, what do you mean by that?" Victor felt that it was very necessary for him to get to the bottom of this matter. Otherwise, his mind would not be at peace. After all, Jasper had always been his number one love rival.

He could convince Lucian, but there was no way for him to convince Jasper.

He was diffident indeed. After all, Eden and Jasper had stayed together for seven years, but he had just been waiting for her. That was why he was so lack of confidence.

Eden calmed down and wiped the tears off her face. She looked at Victor and told him what had happened before.

A weird expression flashed through Victor's eyes when he heard this. Jasper gave up so easily.

It made him feel so powerless, as if he used lots of strength but just beat a ball of cotton. His number one love rival had announced defeat before he could do anything.

Shouldn't he be happy since Jasper had give up? But why was he not happy at all?

He felt that Jasper was a great person for no reason.

Jasper had never concealed his love for Eden in front of him. He could tell how deeply Jasper loved Eden from his eyes.

Seeing that Victor had no reaction, Eden frowned slightly and pushed him lightly, "Victor, are you listening to me?"

Victor came back to earth. Looking at her tearful face, he said with teasing smiles in his eyes, "Eden, I'm listening. I'm just a little happy because I don't have any rival in love anymore."

Eden was speechless.

Did he always regard Jasper as his rival in love?
