

Gluey Love 871

Chapter 871

Victor came back with a plate of food silently. Eden looked at him and smiled. She had to admit that the food prepared by the chefs was very appetizing.

Especially the steamed fish which was smooth and refreshing.

Eden lowered her head to eat. Victor suppressed the restlessness in his heart and waited for her to finish her meal patiently.

Abigail and Graciella accompanied Lucian to drink, while Jaida was busy taking care of the four children.

Eden had no intention of going out at all. She had been eating slowly, and Victor's heart ached when he was waiting for her.

Time passed by little by little. When it was time to cut the cake, everyone was having a good time.

Lucian stood up and said, "Victor, come here and cut the cake." After eating the cake, it was time for him to go home and sleep.

He had played for a whole night and got a bit drunk.

He glanced at Adonis, only to see that his face was scarlet. With drunken eyes, he mumbled beside Brian.

Victor looked at Eden, who had been eating the fish for a long time, and then got up silently to cut the cake.

Eden followed him.

Everyone gathered around him.

All of them looked at Victor happily. Only Adonis almost couldn't keep balance and leaned on Brian's shoulder.

Victor looked at the cake which was made with the top raw materials. It was the most gorgeous and the most unique cake, representing the success of the Alwynn Group. Zaiden prepared it for him.

He picked up the knife and cut the cake from the middle.

"Bang..." Lucian set off the fireworks.

Outside the window, fireworks shot into the night sky, sending out colourful sparks.

Victor and Eden looked at each other and smiled. He held Eden in his arms and looked at the fireworks outside the window. Both of their faces were full of happiness.

Then, the four children surrounded Victor and sang a birthday song for him.

Victor finally had a different birthday. He was excited and overjoyed.

They ate the cake together. After eating half of the cake, Adonis became much soberer. He grabbed a big piece of cake and wiped it on Brian's face.

"Oh..." Brian's face was suddenly covered with cake, and he couldn't see clearly.

"Adonis!" He shouted angrily.

Then he grabbed the cake in his plate and wiped it on Adonis's face.

Adonis did not avoid him. They did such a thing at the end of Victor's birthday every year.

However, he would be prepared every year. He would wear the clothes that he would never wear again and throw it in the trash can when he got home.

"Ha-ha..." Brian couldn't help but laugh when he saw two pieces of cakes spurting out from Adonis's nose.

Jaida and Zaiden hugged each other and watched them playing.

The four children wiped the cake on each other's face.

Victor dabbed a drop of cream and stained Eden's nose with it.

"You're so cute!"

He smiled pleasantly with a face of joy, and he was openly delighted.

Seeing that everyone was having a good time, Eden immediately tiptoed to kiss him on the lips.

Victor stood still in a daze and felt limp and numb all over. No matter what kind of gift he had received, it was no better than her kiss. Although Eden did not prepare a gift for him, her kiss overrode everything.

Jaida and Zaiden, who were not far away, were stunned.

Zaiden said, "Jaida, my daughter has been led astray by your son."

Jaida looked at him coquettishly, "She is also my daughter."

Zaiden smiled.

He whispered, "Jaida, I'm a little drunk. Let's go back to sleep!" His tone was somewhat ambiguous.

Jaida's face was a little hot. She told the children that it was late and they should go back to sleep before she returned to her room with Zaiden.

While Victor instantly became the focus of everyone's attention. Each of them wiped cake on his face, and then the birthday party was over.

Victor did not avoid them in order to make them happy.

If someone had a feud with Victor in the past, it would definitely be a good chance for him to take revenge...

In the middle of the night, everyone was tired from playing. Eden called ride-hailing services for Lucian and the others.

After the three children fell asleep, Graciella and Abby went back to their rooms to rest. They drank too much that night.

The chefs had left. The hourly employees they had hired cleaned up the living room quickly and left.

The living room returned to its original state, as if no party had been held here.

She glanced at the door of Zofia's room. Zofia didn't come back. She didn't know if her family talked to Zofia's parents smoothly.

She had no time to ask them that night, and she could only wait until tomorrow morning to call Buddy or Zofia.

"Eden." After Victor sorted out the gifts sent by his friends and took a bath, he came down to look for Eden. Having such a simple and happy birthday party made him in high spirits.

Eden looked up at him with a faint smile and walked towards him.

"Let's go up first."

Victor took her hand and found that it was a little cold. Then he held her hand more tightly and asked in a low voice, "Eden, are you tired?"

Eden shook her head slightly, "Now everyone in this family protects me well. You don't allow me to do anything. I'm not tired at all."

Victor reached out and held her in his arms, saying with his eyes full of smiles, "Eden, just give birth to the child at ease, and you don't have to think about other things. I will accompany you to the hospital for check-up tomorrow."

Eden nodded, "Okay! It's the right time to have a check-up."

They returned to their room. Eden went to take a shower, while Victor sat there and waited for her to come out.

"Alas!" He sighed. Having not received Eden's gift, he was still a little upset.

However, when he thought of her kiss, he felt that it did not matter.

After Eden came out of the bathroom, she put on a coat, and then turned around and walked to the wardrobe.

Originally, Victor wanted to stop her, but he didn't speak when he saw her opening the wardrobe door.

Eden opened the drawer and took out a luxurious golden box from it, smiling faintly.

Holding the box, she turned around and walked towards Victor.

Victor looked at the box in her hand, and his heart instantly became nervous.

Was this his gift?

Seeing that Eden was getting closer and closer, Victor immediately suppressed his excited emotions. It turned out that she wanted to give him a surprise.

Eden sat beside him, looked at him with a smile and handed the box to him, "Honey, happy birthday." She had never said this to him that day.

"Honey." Victor looked at her delightedly. He could address her like this very smoothly. As long as he called her like this, he would feel extremely satisfied.

Eden smiled and said, "Open it and take a look."

Victor nodded, "Okay!"

At this moment, his hands were trembling a little. Opening it carefully, he saw a pair of diamond rings inside.

"It's a pair of diamond ring." Victor was very excited.

Chapter 872

Eden nodded with a grin. She looked at him and said, "After knowing your birthday, I had been thinking about what to buy for you. But you don't lack for anything. I wanted to buy you diamond cufflinks, but you received such a birthday gift every year. Then I suddenly thought of a friend of mine in Gate City and asked her to design a pair of diamond rings for me. The rings are unique in this world."

When she went to the mall, she only bought him ties and shirts.

"I bought some ties and shirts for you. They're all in your wardrobe. They're not gifts. I bought them for you as your wife." It was the first time she had bought clothes for a man. To tell the truth, she was very excited.

Victor held her in his arms. His handsome face was full of excitement, and his eyes were shining with joy.

"Honey, thank you! I thought you didn't prepare a birthday present for me. You don't know that I've been nervous all day long." His heart was finally at ease at this time. It turned out that Eden didn't forget to prepare a gift for him.

Eden smiled and looked up at him. He missed her so much before he found her. How could she not prepare a birthday present for him?

Victor immediately kissed her on the forehead. Loving her crazily was the sincerest thing he could do.

Life was long, and he wanted to live with her like this all the time.

"Eden, put it on for me." He had no way to hide his happiness in his tone.

Eden nodded with a smile. She picked up the diamond ring that belonged to him and wore it for him. She designed the star patterns on it by herself, and she liked it very much.

Watching her wearing the ring for her, Victor was more and more excited.

Originally, he should have bought the diamond ring for her, but she had bought it for him. It made him feel that all his love and affection was worth it.

He raised his head slightly, looked at her smiling face and thought, "Eden, I think my love for you is like the eternal starry sky."

"It's really beautiful!" Victor smiled as he picked up another diamond ring and wore it for her.

Eden had never worn a ring before. It was the first ring she wore in life.

Although it was not a ring Victor used to make a proposal, it meant a lot to her.

Victor put his hand close to hers. When the two rings were put together, the star patterns could actually form a perfect pattern.

"The design..." Victor suddenly looked up at Eden.

Eden nodded with a smile, "I designed the pattern for us personally." It was very easy for her to design such a pattern, but it had a different meaning.

"It's really impressive!" Victor looked down at the ring. Her good will and sincerity made his heart melt. The smile on his face was very pleasant.

In the past, it was probably because he had been tortured by his deep love for her, and he missed her so much, so he remembered the pain he had very clearly.

At this time, he had got the true happiness, so this moment was unforgettable.

He really loved her, so this kind of feeling was so wonderful. Those who had never been in love would never understand.

They had a dreamless night!

The next morning, Victor accompanied Eden to have a prenatal examination.

On the way to the hospital, Eden sent a message to Buddy and asked him what had happened last night.

"Buddy, did you have a nice talk with Zofia's family last night? Did her mother forgive you?" She had seen Zofia's mother who was a simple, honest and kind person.

A few minutes later, Buddy replied to her, "Eden, everything went smoothly. After my mother apologized to Zofia's mother, Zofia's mother forgave my mother for the sake of the child, but she did not forgive me."

Eden was stunned.

Then, Buddy sent a her message again, "Eden, I know you must be very confused. Zofia's mother does not forgive me, and Zofia has the same idea. After all, I gave up Zofia first. I will do my best to let Zofia and my future mother-in-law forgive me as soon as possible."

When Eden saw this, she immediately understood.

She sent a message to him quickly, "Buddy, you'll make it!"

Zofia loved Buddy so much. When he wanted to break up with her, his heart was broken completely. The pain was also unforgettable.

Since her mother knew how miserable and painful she was, how could she forgive Buddy so quickly?

If she was Zofia, perhaps she would never see Buddy again.

Sometimes, she was just so determined.

Buddy replied to her, "Eden, thank you for taking care of her these days. I'll do my best. Today, Zofia won't go back, and she will go to our house. Grandma wants Zofia to accompany her. I'm going to pick her up."

When Eden saw these words, she suddenly felt a little worried in heart.

She pursed her lips and typed, "Brother, Haven..." She did not type the rest of her words, but she knew that Buddy understood what she meant.

It was Haven who arranged those gangsters to smash Zofia's restaurant last time.

Buddy said, "Eden, I know what you mean. But you can rest assured that I will take good care of Zofia. I won't let anyone bully her."

Eden did not reply.

Buddy once hurt Zofia's heart badly, but Zofia didn't mind what had happened, and she was with him again. She was in the depths of despair when they broke up.

Not hearing Eden speak, Victor turned to glance at her, "Eden, how is it going?"

Eden looked sideways and said with a smile, "Guess what happened?"

Victor shook his head slightly, "Eden, it's hard to guess."

After all, everything about love was hard to solve.

Eden said, "They forgave my mother, but they didn't forgive Buddy. However, Buddy does his best to advance. They will forgive him one day, because he is sincere."

"Yep!" Victor nodded, "I can trust Buddy, but I don't trust your eldest brother."

Eden frowned and asked, "Is my eldest brother so bad?" If her eldest brother didn't give her ten million dollars as her pocket money, she didn't have enough money to make a pair of diamond rings.

Her father gave her a black card. She knew that there must be a lot of money in the account, so she didn't dare to use it.

Victor thought for a while. It seemed that he couldn't speak ill of her eldest brother casually. Eden was protective of him.

He didn't dare to talk too freely.

"Ha-ha..." Victor smiled with a guilty conscience. He really shouldn't have mentioned this, "Eden, do you know when you're the most beautiful?"

Eden was speechless. His irrelevant answer had nothing to do with her question.

Eden did not speak. Instead, she quietly watched him driving.

A smile gradually appeared on Victor's handsome face.

He replied, "Eden, you're the best-looking when you stay with me!"

Eden was taken aback.

"Victor, do you know what I was thinking when I lost sleep?" she asked in a low and deep voice.

Victor answered confidently, "Eden, of course you were thinking about me."

However, Eden's answer upset him, "No, I was thinking about sleeping."

Chapter 873

Victor was surprised. Why was he so confident to think that she was thinking about him?

"Eden, wouldn't you miss me?" Victor looked aggrieved. When he couldn't fall asleep, he was thinking about her.

He tossed and turned and missed her a thousand times.

Eden smiled and said, "When I couldn't fall asleep, I wouldn't think about anything. I just wanted to close my eyes and sleep." If she lost sleep, she would be very painful when she woke up the next morning.

Staying up late would hurt her skin. Usually, she wouldn't stay up late unless she had no choice.

Victor was dealt a blow in an instant and didn't speak with a wronged face.

Eden was happy to close her eyes and rest.

Victor glanced at her. They slept late last night, so he did not disturb her from resting.

Victor took Eden to the hospital he was familiar with. He had made an appointment long ago.

Eden didn't have to queue up for the examination. A special doctor would do the check-up for her.

She had a B-scan and a blood test. She was only pregnant for a short time, and the baby couldn't be seen. The doctor asked her to go there a week later.

Eden held the B-scan report and looked at it as she walked. It was a baby. She suddenly smiled. It was good that there was only one baby in her belly. She knew that she couldn't be pregnant with three babies every time.

As soon as she went out, she saw Victor standing outside the door with a nervous look on his face. When he saw Eden coming out, he immediately smiled, "Eden, how is it? Is our baby all right?"

Seeing that he was so expectant, Eden smiled brightly, "Everything is normal, but the baby can't be seen now. Let's come over in another week to have a check-up."

"Oh!" Victor nodded excitedly, and then he was relieved.

"Eden, let's go for a meal. You can't starve now." Victor held her, for fear that she would be tripped or hit something.

Eden looked down at the time and nodded, "Let's go to pick up the children after the meal. We'll go to the amusement park today." In the past, in order to save money, she rarely took the children to the amusement park.

Since they had a rich father, they could play there at will.

"Okay, we'll go back and take the four of them out to play after eating." Victor looked gentler than before. In the past, he either worked overtime or slept at home on weekends.

But at this time, he was no longer lonely on weekends.

After having breakfast, they went back and took the four children to the amusement park.

Graciella was happy to stay at home. She could sleep late together with Abigail.

As for Rebecca, she received a phone call from Justin after having breakfast.

"Mrs. Alwynn, Victor and Eden went to the hospital today. But we have carefully checked this hospital. It seems that Chairman Alwynn is not in this hospital. It seems that Eden went there for a prenatal examination."

Hearing this, Rebecca was stunned. Did she mishear just now? Justin said that Eden went there for a prenatal examination. Eden was pregnant...

Rebecca asked again in disbelief, "Justin, do you mean that Eden went to have a prenatal examination? Are you sure?"

Justin said, "Mrs. Alwynn, I'm sure that Eden went there for a prenatal examination. After that, they had a meal and went back."

Rebecca's hand was trembling a little as she held the phone. How long had they been together? Eden got pregnant so quickly.

Three children were not enough for them. Did they want another child?

"Continue to find where chairman is. We must find him before the next board meeting." Rebecca said sternly. If she could not find Phillip, she could only use her own way.

Justin replied, "Okay, Mrs. Alwynn. We have been doing our best to investigate it, and we'll get some news soon. Mrs. Alwynn, please give us some more time."

Rebecca said, "Okay!"

Then, she hung up the phone.

Vincent came over and looked at her, "Mom, what happened?"

Rebecca said, "Eden is pregnant. Haven is an idiot! If weren't for that incident, you would have a child now, and we wouldn't be in such a difficult situation." "

She was in a frenzy of rage as long as she thought of this.

Vincent looked helpless, "Mom, it was something of past. What's the point of mentioning it now? Now the most important thing is to find dad. Before we get Jotham Alwynn Group, dad can't show up."

Even if his father was fine, he wouldn't make a thing out of it after he got Jotham Alwynn Group, because he cared about their reputation. At that time, his father would no longer had ability to control the company.

He had no turning back. Since things had become like this, he couldn't regret it no matter what.

Rebecca said seriously, "Justin has been investigating it. Our company has lost one billion dollars recently. I found the title deed of Century Building in your father's study. The building is worth 5 billion dollars. Now we have to sell this building to ease our urgent need." Alex was not capable enough to give her a billion dollars.

So, she could only do this. If she sold Century Building, she could not only make up for the loss, but also get 4 billion dollars and spend it at will.

If she had so much money, Victor really had no way to defeat her.

After her careful investigation, she found that the Alwynn family was really rich, and they had a lot of buildings and houses.

It was a pity that all the real estate was in Phillip's hands. She searched the entire study and only found the title deed of Century Building.

Vincent said, "Mom, dad always keeps Century Building. Moreover, if we want to sell it, Victor will definitely know it. Will he let us sell it easily?"

Rebecca smiled craftily and narrowed her eyes slightly, looking more cunning than a fox, "Vin, why can't you be smarter? We can sell it secretly. How will Victor know about it? As long as we sell it, he won't be able to change the fact no matter how powerful he is."

Vincent was a little uneasy in heart. Even if they could make a deal secretly, the buyer must be bold enough, because it was a huge amount of money.

Century Building was well placed and valuable. If it was publicly bid, they would get more than five billion dollars.

In the past, Rebecca wanted to move Jotham Alwynn Group there, but his father did not agree.

They didn't know why till this time.

Seeing that Vincent didn't speak, Rebecca looked at him and said, "Vin, I know what you're worried about, but don't look down on Century Building. Its importance is due to its geographical location, and lots of people want to buy it. You can seek for a buyer in private. If anyone wants to buy it, we can meet secretly first. This is our only way. If we don't sell Century Building, we can't keep the company afloat and the shareholders will make big troubles."

Those shareholders were very difficult to deal with. It was impossible to let them solve the problem by themselves and understand their difficulties.

Chapter 874

Vincent understood her difficulty. If they didn't do it, they had no other way.

He couldn't bear to sell Century Building.

"Okay, mom. I'll do it in private."

"Mm!" Rebecca nodded, "It's better to find a buyer as soon as possible, but..." Rebecca was about to say something, but stopped. She suddenly remembered Kenneth's words. He didn't seem to be joking at that time.

"But what? Mom." Vincent asked doubtfully.

Rebecca glanced at him and slowly looked down. Even she herself hadn't figured it out, "Vin, I met Victor's three children in the mall. One of them told me that it was him who caused our company to lose one billion dollars, not Victor."

"Ha-ha..." Vincent suddenly burst into laughter, "Mom, do you believe a child's words? What's more, how did he do such a thing? How could he do it? Perhaps he just wanted to protect Victor, so he took responsibility. But he is just a child. Can he be responsibility for such a thing?" He didn't believe that a child could be that awesome.

If Victor's son had such an ability, he would give him the whole Jotham Alwynn Group.

Rebecca also felt that her idea was ridiculous, but she had to believe it because Kenneth's expression was so serious.

This matter had been a knot in her heart.

She said, "Vin, investigate this child."

Vincent smiled and asked, "Mom, which child?" Victor had three children. Every time he thought of it, he was overwhelmed by jealousy.

Rebecca recalled carefully and said with a frown, "It should be his eldest child, and his name is Kenneth." She remembered that the child asked her not to hurt his younger brother and sister, so he should be Kenneth.

Kenneth's every move was like Victor's when he was a child.

Victor, the brat, was so lucky. He actually had two sons and a daughter. She really didn't understand why he had such good luck.

"Okay!" Vincent nodded, "Mom, I'll ask Justin to investigate this matter, but don't hold too much hope. A child can't be amazing enough to do such a thing."

Rebecca said, "Vin, don't be careless. I've checked it. There are some news about a six-year-old hacker online. If our company was attacked by him, we would lose more than one billion dollars. I saw it by accident. Some companies have cooperated with him and he did a good job every time."

Kenneth's eyes were so serious that it was hard for her not to suspect him.

"Oh!" Hearing this, Vincent was quite surprised, "Mom, is there such news?"

Rebecca said, "You can take out your phone to have a look. Many people are talking about him these days."

Vincent immediately took out his phone and searched on the Internet. Sure enough, there were lots of news about a six-year-old hacker.

He frowned slightly. There was indeed such a child.

"You're right." Vincent didn't dare to treat it carelessly anymore.

"Mom, when I go to work, I'll let Justin investigate it."

After all, they had lost one billion dollars, and it was not something could be done by a child... No, it was really possible that it was done by the little hacker.

"Yeah! We must do a thorough investigation." Rebecca said.

Then, she asked, "Did you go to the villa with Haven last night?"

Vincent smiled blandly, "Yeah, tonight we'll go there, too."

Rebecca glared at him, "In this case, why don't you just live in the villa? You're furtive."

"Mom." Vincent's face blushed a little, "I want Haven to live in our house, but her parents don't agree."

Rebecca said, "Now we don't have time to hold a wedding for you. Her grandma is at home, and it's indeed a little difficult to ask Haven to move here. But Haven is your legal wife now, and they have no reason to refuse you to take her home. Since we're in such a terrible situation, we must be in a good relationship with the Clement family. No matter what, Haven is their adopted daughter, and they can not stand by if something bad happens to us."

Even if she were to go to hell, she had to bring someone with her. Haven was one of them.

Vincent said, "Mom, I see. She has something to do. Now she is about to arrive at Clement family." Grandma Clement was at home, so he didn't like to go there.

"Okay!" Rebecca answered, "I'll go to see your sister. You can do your own work."

As Rebecca said this, she went to the second floor.

Vincent stood where he was, pursing his lips slightly.

He raised his head and looked at the photograph of the whole family on the wall. Victor and Graciella were not in the photo. There were only him, his parents and sister.

In his life, Victor was stumbling block to him no matter when.

They were like people in two different worlds. Compared with him, Victor was so outstanding.

He was sensible, calm, stable, persistent, and he could have the situation well in hand.

In his father's heart, Victor was someone who would never fail.

Victor was reborn in adversity. No matter how many setbacks he had suffered and no matter how he was humiliated, his life didn't become a tragedy. Instead, he became more and more successful. His reputation and status were getting better and better every year.

He clenched his fists tightly, gritted his teeth and said with a surge of great fury, "Victor, I don't believe that I can't defeat you in my whole life. One day I will win! I will let you know that the difference between us is not measured by money."

After that, he turned around and went downstairs. He had plenty of fight left in him every time he thought of Victor. He would make use of his advantages and become outstanding.

Upon returning home, Haven heard Grandma Clement's joyful laughter. She changed her shoes at the entrance and saw Zofia sitting on the sofa before she walked into the living room.

Grandma Clement was holding her hand and talking happily with her.

Haven suddenly fixed her eyes on Zofia's belly. Seeing her big belly, she was a bit surprised. She was actually still pregnant.

Zofia said in front of her that she would abort the child, but in the end, she secretly kept the child and used the child as a bargaining chip to stay by Buddy's side. Why couldn't Aisling know how scheming Zofia was?

"Haven, you're back." When Wyatt came downstairs, he saw Haven, who was standing still.

Hearing Wyatt's voice, Buddy, Aisling and Delmont, who were sitting aside, all looked at Haven.

When Haven saw their eyes, she instantly felt that she was not a member of this family. She was like a child who had been isolated and lost her courage in an instant.

Chapter 875

She managed to force a smile, "Dad, I'm back."

Haven walked inside.

However, Grandma Clement said bluntly, "Do you think our family is a hotel? You sleep outside and come back here at will. If the reporters see you like this, you will disgrace our family!"

Haven paused slightly. If she could, she really wanted to move out of the house, but she hadn't got what she wanted, and she couldn't just leave like this.

When Zofia saw Haven, her face changed. She lowered her head slightly and felt a little uneasy for no reason, not looking at Haven.

The atmosphere became a little stiff because of Grandma Clement's words.

Haven was a maelstrom of churning emotions inside .She told herself that she couldn't be angry. Once she lost her temper, she would have restrained herself all these years in vain.

She smiled and said, "Grandma, I had something to do last night, and I stayed up late, so I didn't go home. I was afraid of disturbing your rest."

"Humph! What a nice excuse! If I remember correctly, Vin was not at home, either." Grandma Clement didn't show her any respect. After all, she didn't like Haven's way of doing things.

Haven was already Vincent's wife, but she had to live in her parents' house. Grandma Clement was not an old fogey. They had got married, but the Alwynn family didn't come to their family to talk to them so that Haven could move there.

Since the Alwynn family didn't come here, they couldn't ask Haven to live in the Alwynn family on their own, because that was too disgraceful.

"Grandma." Haven pretended to call her like a spoiled child.

But it didn't work. Grandma Clement said coldly, "Can't you see your sister-in-law? Say hello to her immediately."

Haven's face stiffened when she heard the word "sister-in-law". Thinking of what she had done to Zofia, she had no way to greet her at ease.

"Grandma, I'll change my clothes first, and I'll be back soon." Haven made an excuse and went upstairs quickly.

Buddy looked at her back with no warmth in his eyes.

Haven asked Tillie to buy shares of their company. If he was right, Vincent and Tillie's shares would eventually be transferred to Haven.

However, Haven was so confident. Could she really take everything away from the Clement family?

Her motive improved that she was more malicious than he had imagined.

This time, he had a deep understanding of this.

It seemed that Haven was still at a disadvantage, but she had the support of Rebecca and Vincent. Thinking about it carefully, Buddy felt that they had gained the competitive edge.

"Buddy." Grandma Clement said, but Buddy had no reaction.

Aisling, who was sitting beside him, pushed him.

"Buddy, what are you thinking about? Your grandmother is talking to you."

Buddy immediately came to sense and looked at Grandma Clement.

Grandma Clement smiled lovingly, "Buddy, take Zofia to your room. Your room is big, and it should be enough for you two to live. If I buy you a new house now, Zofia can't live in because she is pregnant. Now her belly is big, so we can't let her be laughed at by others. I have discussed with Zofia's mother last night. You can get the marriage certificate first. In that case, you can live together legally. As for the wedding, we will hold a grand wedding for you after Zofia gives birth to the baby."

Buddy looked at Zofia and smiled gently, "Grandma, it's all up to you."

Being stared at by him, Zofia only bit her lip slightly.

"Mm! You're the most obedient child in our family."

"Grandma, am I not obedient?" Delmont said unhappily aside.

Grandma Clement asked in reply with her face darkened, "Are you obedient? You even flirt with the cashier in the supermarket. I saw it several times when I was in the supermarket. Now the society is so complicated that you should try your best to avoid troubles. Don't get our family into any trouble."

Delmont had been criticized and felt a bit speechless.

He stopped talking sensibly. He was an elder brother, but he didn't behave like an elder brother. In Grandma Clement's heart, he was always inferior to Buddy.

Buddy stood up, walked to Zofia and said softly, "Zofia, let's go up first. We'll come down for a meal later."

Zofia glanced at him, got up and smiled at the elders before following Buddy to his room.

This was the first time Zofia had come to the Clement family. Looking at the glorious and noble villa, she felt a little uneasy as soon as she came in.

Buddy helped her to go upstairs, and they did not speak all the way.

Buddy and Delmont lived on the third floor. Both of their rooms were very large.

Their rooms were separated by the corridor in the middle. Although they lived on the same floor, they would not affect each other.

When Buddy opened the door, Zofia looked over. The whole room was decorated in grey and white, and there was no extra colors, just like him who was upright and simple. The room gave her a clear and comfortable feeling.

The furniture was of the same color. It was luxurious but somewhat low-key.

Buddy looked at her with tender eyes, hugged her from behind, and rested his head on her shoulder.

Zofia was slightly stunned, but she stood still quietly and did not speak.

Buddy said softly, "Zofia, let's get married."

Hearing these words, Zofia was shocked.

She smiled and said, "Buddy, but I haven't forgiven you yet."

When she was in a relationship with him, she knew that he was the youngest son of the Clement family, so she was nervous all the time.

Although she knew that they would have a bad ending, she persisted. She couldn't let everyone satisfied, but at least Buddy loved her deeply. She knew how kind he was. She once wanted to die, but she didn't hate him too much.

His words were something she had been looking forward to the most.

In the past, she thought that if she could be with him, she would love him wholeheartedly forever to repay his affection towards her.

At that time, she looked forward to their future humbly. Although she would suffer lots of setbacks, she didn't want to give up.

She persisted so hard, but in the end, he retreated and gave up.

Buddy took a deep breath and rubbed her big belly gently, saying with a smile, "Zofia, for the sake of our baby, please forgive me. I want to accompany you and our baby. You can rest assured that I will never do anything to break your heart again."

In the past, his mother threatened him with Zofia's restaurant, which was the only source of her family's income. He had to give up. But at this time, no one wanted to separate them, and he could finally protect her well.

Hearing this, Zofia was overwhelmed by happiness. Her eyes were brimming with tears, "Buddy, won't you leave me alone no matter what will happen in the future?"

She was afraid that their love could not withstand the test. In that case, she might commit suicide again.

Buddy nodded hard and said in a tough tone, "Zofia, although you might think it is an excuse, I want to explain to you. Back then, I would never give you up if my mother hadn't threatened me. In the future, no matter what happens, I will never leave you and our child. Zofia, trust me once, okay?"

At that time, he was very painful and regretful after breaking up with her. But he had always been filial to his parents. As for his mother's choice, he could only bear it silently.

He hoped that as time went by, his mother would change her mind and he could be with Zofia again.

His mother didn't change her attitude until Eden appeared. She gradually understood something after knowing what Eden had gone through.

That was why he could be with Zofia again.

Zofia moved slightly and lowered her head. Her eyes glistened with tears. She knew that he was very filial and he broke up with her because he didn't want his mother to be sad, but there was always a knot in her heart. Although he was sincere to her, she couldn't persuade herself.

Zofia looked down at her big belly. The baby influenced her decision indirectly. It must have a complete family.

Many couples were no longer in love with each other, but they chose to live together for their own children.

However, she and Buddy still loved each other!

Zofia touched her bulging belly lightly, and suddenly her hand was kicked by the child. She was happy, and her heart was filled with pain, so tears ran down her face.

Hearing her sobbing, Buddy immediately looked at her nervously, "Zofia, why are you crying?" His low and deep voice was full of worry, and he wiped the tears on her face with his fingers gently.

With tears in her eyes, Zofia could see him clearly. He was mature and steady. His eyebrows were good-looking, and his dark eyes were full of tenderness for her. He looked very distressed, which made her heart warm.

"The baby kicked me just now." Zofia sobbed.

Buddy was stunned and then laughed, "What a bad boy! After he comes to this world, I will give him a lesson. He actually dares to kick you."

He couldn't help touching her bulging belly. This child was not familiar with him. It didn't even move every time he touched her belly.

"Ha-ha..." Zofia was amused by his words, "How do you know it's a boy?"

Hearing this, Buddy smiled softly. His smile was as bright as the sun, and he couldn't hide his happiness, "Zofia, because I had a dream."

"Is that so?" Zofia blinked her eyes and looked at him in surprise.

Buddy said with a grin, "A few days ago, I had a dream. In my dream, you came to my house, and a big black snake followed you. It smelled your belly and then disappeared. I never had such a dream, so I told my grandmother about it. She said that it meant that you were pregnant with a boy."

Zofia was dumbfounded. After she was pregnant, she often dreamed of snakes.

"Zofia, don't cry. You can't be sad now. If you can't forgive me, I will keep waiting." Buddy was afraid of her being too dejected and did not dare to push her too hard. He did make a mistake before.

Zofia needed some time, and he couldn't force her.

Zofia wiped the tears on her face. Looking at his nervous face, she smiled and said, "I have forgiven you long ago in my heart. I love you, so I failed to hate you."

Buddy's face was full of joy and excitement when he heard this, "Zofia, is that true? Have you really forgiven me?"

Zofia nodded with a smile, "I've been living in Eden's house recently and have understood a lot. In Eden's opinion, understanding someone is always easier to solve the problem than hate someone."

"I don't know whether it is because Mr. Alwynn is too smart, or Eden understands him very well. When she knew he was the father of the three children, she was just silent. She didn't roar at him or quarrel with him. She tried to figure out the whole story and forgive him. In the end, she said that it was more difficult to forgive someone than to hate someone. She chose to forgive him because she knew him well."

"Hatred will only both of us sombre. If I don't forgive you, you will be restless all day because of this, and you will not be able to work and eat well. This is not what I want. Instead of making both of us unhappy, I'm glad to forgive you."

In fact, love was more important than anything else. It was the motivation that supported her to carry on with her life. As long as she was in love, she could go through every difficult period in life!

"Fool, thank you!" Buddy held her in his arms cautiously. Regaining her love, he was flooded by joy and he was like over the moon.

He would try his best to love her, care about her and live a happy life with her.

Haven was very unaccustomed to Zofia's sudden visit. After changing her clothes, she made an excuse and wanted to leave, but Grandma Clement refused to let her go out.

Grandma Clement became more and more dissatisfied with Haven's attitude, "Haven, how can you be like this? It is the first time your sister-in-law have come to our house, but you not only ignore her, but also want to go out with an excuse. Do you look down on her so much?" Grandma Clement's words like a needle piercing into Haven's heart.

For her and Zofia, not seeing each other was the best choice.

"Grandma, I really have something to do." She just didn't want to stay. If she looked at Zofia who pretended to be obedient and pitiful, she would definitely lose her temper.

She would never reveal her true feelings in front of her family.

"Don't do it. If you go out from here today, you can never come back again." With a cold face, Grandma Clement said without mercy. Eden couldn't go home because of Haven, and she was not as generous as others. Haven had been pretending for many years, and she couldn't stand her anymore.

"Grandma." Haven looked at her in disbelief, on the verge of tears. She didn't expect that Grandma Clement would say such words to her.

"What's wrong? Do I hurt your heart? How did we teach you to conduct yourself before? Are you sad now? Wouldn't Zofia, who was bullied by you before, feel wronged and doleful?"

Grandma Clement's eyes were shrewd and her words were meaningful. Haven's heart missed a beat uneasily.

She lowered her head, nodded obediently and sobbed in a low voice, "Grandma, I was not considerate enough. I'm sorry. Grandma, don't be angry."

Haven's tone was full of grievances, but she was somewhat nervous in heart.

She lowered her head, and her face was covered by her chocolate-colored hair. However, no one saw the malice and viciousness in her eyes.

Chapter 877

After composing her emotions, she walked aside and sat down.

Aisling and Wyatt watched this without saying anything.

However, they had a grudge against Haven, so they made a comparison in heart.

Seeing how humble and affected Haven was, Aisling felt angry in heart for no reason.

Everyone only live once. Small frictions in life reminded everyone to cherish the fleeting time.

Back then, she insisted on bring Haven back, so she would be responsible for her to the end, but the premise was that Haven should conduct herself.

She understood the feeling of loss. Haven was afraid of losing her wealth and glory, but it depended on whether she was lucky enough to enjoy it.

"Tomorrow, ask Vincent to come over. It's time for him to give me an exact time of your wedding. You can't sleep outside secretly." Aisling said in a deep voice.

Haven immediately looked up at her, "Mom, give Vin some more time. Now that something like this has happened to his company, he's very busy."

"Ha-ha..." Grandma Clement laughed gloatingly, "It must be his retribution, because he has done too many bad things. He has lost one billion dollars in three days. Things in their shop online only cost one dollar each, including shipping. I ordered several high-end clothes and sandalwood furniture. It so happens that I should change my furniture now."

She bought hundreds of things on online shop of Jotham Alwynn Group and only spent a few hundred dollars, which made her very happy.

Haven's face darkened to the extreme. No matter what, Vincent was her grandson-in-law. She not only didn't help Vincent, but also mocked him and took pleasure in his misfortune.

Wyatt was quite surprised, "Mom, do you often shop online?"

Grandma Clement looked at him with a mysterious smile and said teasingly, "Do you think only you young people can shop online and an old woman like me can't keep up with the times? As long as I can see clearly and read, I can learn everything."

Wyatt nodded with a smile, "You're right."

"Buddy teaches me how to shop online when he has time, so you don't have to worry that I won't keep up with the times." Grandma Clement looked very kind when she faced her son.

At lunchtime, Buddy brought Zofia down for lunch.

Zofia did not pay much attention to Haven. After all, she did not have much energy to care about such a shameless and evil woman.

The expressions of Buddy and Zofia became different, and their eyes were full of affection as they looked at each other. When Grandma Clement noticed this sharply, she felt very delighted in heart.

She glanced at Aisling, "It's the first time that your daughter-in-law has come to our house. Shouldn't you show your sincerity?"

Humph!

After all, Aisling looked down on Zofia before. It was so rare to meet such a good girl like Zofia, but Aisling used to despise her.

Aisling graduated from a famous university. How could she be more pedantic than her? This time, Grandma Clement wanted Aisling to give Zofia some presents so that Zofia could take revenge on her and she could vent her anger.

Hearing this, Aisling, who was eating, looked at Grandma Clement with confusion, "Mom, what..." She wanted to say something but stopped on a second thought. Looking at Grandma Clement's scheming eyes, she instantly understood what she meant.

Grandma Clement was really...

She really made her speechless.

She looked at Zofia and found that she was a little nervous. She held the chopsticks so tightly that her fingers had turned pale.

Alas! Why should Grandma Clement talk about this during the meal?

She forced a smile and said, "Mom, I have prepared something for Zofia. She won't go back until tomorrow, and I'll give it to her tomorrow."

When Haven heard that Zofia was going to live here, she felt so bad. Looking at the delicious dishes, she had no appetite at all.

"Mm! This is a good thing. I think you should prepare eight million dollars as a gift for her." Her great grandson was in Zofia belly. Buddy's dream was meaningful, and his son would definitely be excellent when he grew up.

Everyone was stunned.

Zofia did not understand what it meant.

Aisling thought about it. Eight million dollars? That was a big amount of money.

Who was Grandma Clement taking revenge for?

Moreover, she couldn't take the money from the company. She could only use her private savings. That was the dowry she prepared for Eden.

At this moment, Aisling was heartbroken.

"Mom, are you sure you didn't say anything wrong?" Aisling asked with a smile.

Haven's face darkened to the extreme. She had been in the Clement family for so long, but she hadn't gotten so much money at one time.

Delmont was more straightforward and had a simple mind. He chuckled and said, "Mother, you didn't mishear it. Grandma said that you should give Zofia eight million dollars as her gift!"

Everyone was speechless.

Aisling glared at Delmont. She knew what Grandma Clement meant even if Delmont didn't tell her. Grandma Clement wanted to take revenge for Zofia because she once bullied Zofia.

"Oh! My Delmont is so smart. You know me the best. I will give you a big red packet in the Spring Festival." Grandma Clement gave Delmont a meaningful look. This brat could always piss off Aisling.

However, why was she in such a good mood?

"Ha-ha..." Grandma Clement couldn't help laughing, and the intention on her face was obvious.

Everyone was taken aback.

Aisling looked so helpless.

"Ha-ha..." She laughed drily, "Delmont is right. Zofia is so obedient. Of course I should give her such a gift."

"Oh." Grandma Clement looked at her with a meaningful smile, "I feel that you're in a dilemma to speak against your conscience. You don't feel comfortable in heart, do you? That's right! People should know how to understand and respect others."

Grandma Clement laughed leisurely as she looked at Aisling. She looked so happy that Aisling's eyes were blazing with the flames of fury.

"Mother, how can you... be like this? I said it... sincerely. How could I speak... against my conscience?" Aisling stammered. She was really embarrassed in front of her future daughter-in-law.

Hearing their conversation, Zofia finally understood what was going on.

She said, "Grandma, Mrs. Clement, you don't have to do this."

During this time, she had made money by herself and saved some money. After making money on her own, she realized that no matter how rich her boyfriend was, she had to work hard to live up to her ideal of herself. Beauty and money would disappear, but the skills she had learned would never disappear.

Grandma Clement smiled lovingly and said, "Zofia, why? You deserve it because you have suffered a lot. Besides, don't call her Mrs. Clement. You and Buddy are going to get married. You should call her mom in the future."

Zofia smiled faintly and did not speak.

At least she couldn't call her mom for the time-being.

"Bang..." Haven suddenly slammed her chopsticks on the table with a gloomy face.

Chapter 878

Everyone was startled by this sudden noise, and they couldn't help looking at Haven.

"Haven, what are you mad at?" Grandma Clement looked at her angrily.

Haven was aware of her own gaffe. She said in a low voice, "Grandma, I am not mad. I didn't hold the chopsticks firmly just now."

"Is that so? Humph! What a good excuse." Grandma Clement glared at her coldly. Haven was just jealousy.

After she found out the bad things Haven had done, she did not give Haven red packet in the Spring Festival anymore. It was not because she was stingy, nor it was because she thought that Haven was not her granddaughter. They had lived together for more than ten years, and she loved Haven.

But everything Haven had done made her very disappointed. That was why she disliked her completely.

There were many children who were adopted, but many children were grateful and filial. Everyone knew that they should love their families, but Haven only cared about herself. She was incomparably selfish.

Even so, she did not send Haven away, because Haven owned wealth and power. Sending her away would cast a shadow in her life. Even if she was hardhearted, she did not want to hurt her.

Haven gritted her teeth. She glanced at Grandma Clement with tears in her eyes, "Grandma, dad, mom, Delmont, Buddy, I'm full. I'll go back to my room first."

If she continued to stay here, she did not know what she would do.

Why could Zofia get so much money without doing anything? She had schemed for many years, but she got nothing.

Aisling looked at her with dissatisfaction, "By the way, Haven, I saw you and Tillie go to the company the day before yesterday, but you didn't go to my office. Why did you go there?"

Haven's heart skipped a beat when she heard that. She forced a smile and said, "Mom, Miss Elliott and I passed by Clement Group. She wanted to go in and visit our company, so we didn't go to your office."

However, Buddy looked at her with intense eyes. He would definitely find out how many shares Tillie had as soon as possible.

"Mm! Speaking of which, we haven't invited Miss Elliott for a meal. She likes you so much, and we are very grateful. Make an appointment with her and see when she will be free. Your father and I want to treat her to a meal and thank her."

Haven smiled and suddenly felt that Aisling still cared about her, "Okay, mom, I'll tell her, and I will inform you after we make an appointment."

Haven's face was full of joy, and the unhappiness just now had disappeared.

She glanced at Buddy, and her heart trembled slightly when she saw his cold eyes. Was she too sensitive? Recently, the way Buddy looked at her was very special.

His eyes were so indifferent that he seemed to be able to see her through. She had a feeling that Buddy had known what she wanted to do.

Haven looked away slowly. She didn't know why, but she was a little afraid of Buddy. The expression in his eyes made her scared deep in heart.

She turned around and went upstairs, but she was restless and nervous.

Perhaps it was because Haven was not here, Zofia suddenly felt much more relaxed. After they had lunch harmoniously, Buddy took Zofia for a walk nearby.

The sun was bending in the west, and the setting sun cast an orange glow over the city. The prosperous city was shining in the reflected rays of the setting sun.

Victor took the four children and Eden out of the amusement park and went home all the way.

The sunlight beamed through the window and shone on Victor's soft face. He was driving smoothly.

Eden turned to look at him. In the glow of the sun, his nose was tall and straight. He was smiling with a sharp-featured face, looking steady and handsome.

She smiled faintly. At this moment, she felt that her husband was particularly charming.

Victor felt her gaze and glanced at her quickly, "Honey, am I attractive?"

Eden looked at the confident expression on his face and could not help but smile. She turned around and saw that the four children were tired from playing and they were all drowsy.

She looked up at him with a smile and said mischievously, "Everything is not as perfect as you."

"Ha-ha..." Victor smiled pleasantly. Eden wouldn't flatter him unless she was in a particularly good mood.

Victor laughed and asked, "Dear, do you know what I want most in the world?"

Eden only smiled. She knew the answer without guessing.

"Victor, you don't want the whole world. You only want me."

Victor was stunned. She actually got it right, "Eden, you have guessed right this time. How clever you are!"

"Hey! Do you act as if we don't exist just because we're too young?" Giada's voice was full of complaints. Just as she was about to fall asleep, her father's excited laughter started her and she couldn't fall asleep anymore.

Victor's eyes were dotting as he asked with a smile, "Is my little princess awake?"

Henrick said, "Dad, we are all awake."

Victor was stunned. When he turned his head just now, he clearly saw that their eyes were all closed. What was going on?

Eden suddenly looked very awkward. She had thought that the children had fallen asleep.

She immediately changed the topic, "Victor, I saw the news that Jotham Alwynn Group has lost nearly one billion dollars, everything in their online shop only cost one dollar. Is that true?"

At that time, she was busy making the wedding dress and did not buy anything. Jotham Alwynn Group covered a lot of industries. It was too cost-effective that everything only cost one dollar.

In the past, she pursued her future. At this time, she pursued the things she liked. For example, a limited edition bag which was produced by Jotham Alwynn Group was very good. She had a lot of pocket money, and the bag only cost one dollar, including shipping. She felt that God must be joking with her and let her miss such a good chance.

The expression in Victor's eyes changed, "Eden, it's true." Kenneth was excellent. He got Rebecca in a big trouble.

"Ha-ha... Mom, Kenny did it. He is really amazing." Henrick, who was sleepy and dizzy suddenly said.

Kenneth was speechless.

Victor was shocked. Ricky was in a daze and had exposed Kenny.

Kenneth looked at Ricky with a mad face. He really wanted to punch him. He didn't tell Ricky about it before because Ricky had a big mouth, but he didn't expect that Ricky still said it in front of Eden.

Eden turned around and looked at him curiously, "Ricky, what do you mean by that? Did Kenny did it?"

When Henrick heard this, he suddenly sobered up. He took a look at Kenny who was in a frenzy of rage and immediately shook his head, "Mom, I was mumbling in my dream."

Eden did not believe it, "How could you speak so fluently in your dream?"

Chapter 879

Henrick laughed and said, "Mom, I can also call dad fluently in my dream." He said these words to remind Victor indirectly and wanted him to solve this problem.

Victor naturally knew that he was asking for help.

"Eden, it's okay. Ricky was talking in his dream." Victor said with a smile.

Ricky really spoke at the wrong time. Perhaps Kenny's identity was going to be exposed.

However, Eden felt that this matter was not simple. Why did she always believe Kenny? It was because Kenny was very obedient.

But he sat in front of the computer every day and typed on the keyboard very fast. Sometimes, she even suspected that her son had better computer skills than an adult.

"Victor, you can overestimate your means, but please don't underestimate my IQ. Are you hiding anything from me?"

Ricky was not talking in his dream just now. He said it subconsciously. How could she not know her own son?

Victor shook his head with a guilty conscience, "Eden, it's not like this. If you don't believe me, you can ask Kenny."

"Oh! Auntie, uncle is lying to you. I overheard the conversation between him and Kenny. Kenny is a hacker. What does a hacker mean? Is he a hero?" Boris asked doubtfully and thought about it carefully with his head tilted. He looked very cute in a daze.

Everyone was stunned.

Victor gritted his teeth hard. Boris was a dummy!

What did he interrupt at this time?

Kenneth glared at Boris fiercely.

Boris was drowsy, but he could feel Kenneth's cold eyes. He sobered up with a start and looked at Kenneth in fear.

Then he lowered his head in anxiety.

Henrick remained silent completely. At this time, he would not speak no matter who talked to him.

As a person who had never made mistakes, he completely experienced how it felt when he made a mistake by accident.

It was not easy for him to know what Kenny was doing, but he suddenly made such a mistake.

Sometimes, he tried his best to do something, and Kenny just studied as usual.

But in Eden's heart, Kenny was more obedient than her. He didn't need to say anything, and Eden trusted him very much.

"Ricky, don't pretend. Tell me clearly." Eden frowned and looked at Ricky. Humph, he had said those words, but he wanted to remain silent at this time. She wouldn't let him go like this. Ricky must feel very regretful in heart at this time.

Henrick was crying in heart.

It seemed that he wouldn't learn a lesson until he really suffered.

In the future, he would never talk before listening to their conversation clearly.

Henrick pretended to be asleep and even snored.

Everyone was speechless.

Giada sat next to him. A cunning expression flashed through her eyes as she reached out to pinch Henrick's thigh with great strength.

Kenneth gritted his teeth hard. How could Giada do such a thing at this time?

Seeing that he still pretended to be asleep, Giada pinched him with more strength.

"Ouch... It hurts." Henrick immediately opened his eyes and glared at her angrily.

As the one who always bullied Henrick, Giada knew how to provoke him so well.

"Ricky, it seems that you didn't sleep well. You wake up so soon." Giada looked at him with a smile and said with provocation in her big clear eyes.

Henrick suddenly clenched his fist tightly. The most hurtful words were always said in the gentlest way. It was indeed right.

Henrick looked at Eden and smiled, "Mom, if you keep looking at the back seat like this, you will get carsick."

Why did Eden suspect Kenny so much? He was the one who had been suspected by her.

Eden narrowed her eyes and looked at him, "I never get carsick. Tell me everything clearly."

Hearing that Eden still wanted to talk about this, Henrick said helplessly, "Mom, sometimes, having no answer is the best answer, and having no result is the best result."

Eden was confused. What did this mean? He just didn't want to tell her, did he?

"What do you mean?" Eden's eyes were full of anger. She never lied to the children, and she didn't allow them to lie to her.

Henrick suddenly felt so nervous and quickly glanced at Kenny, smiling uneasily, "Mom, you can ask dad."

Some disappointment was inevitable, but people got upset because they overestimated themselves most of the time.

He overestimated Eden's trust in him, and Eden hurt his heart so much.

Victor was speechless. Didn't he help Ricky just now?

Ricky let him bear Eden's anger just because Eden didn't believe him.

Victor glanced at Kenny's gloomy face in the rearview mirror. He felt quite sorry for Kenny, because he had no choice but to tell the truth.

Eden slowly withdrew her gaze and looked sideways at Victor, "So, you know about this matter?"

Victor tightened his grip on the steering wheel and grinned, "Eden..."

Kenneth suddenly said, "Mom, when we get home, I will tell you everything. I didn't want to tell you before, because I was afraid that you would be worried."

Eden was surprised.

She quickly looked back at him, "Kenny, so you, Ricky, Gia, your dad all know about this except for me?"

Giada immediately explained, "Mom, I don't know."

"Betrayer." Henrick snorted coldly and squinted at Gia. How could she be so cunning?

That day, they were together in the mall. Gia and he obviously heard what Kenny said. There was nothing wrong with her hearing.

Kenny said clearly that it was him who made Jotham Alwynn Group lose one billion dollars.

"Idiot!" Giada also squinted at him coldly. If he hadn't spilled the beans, would Eden have questioned them like this?

Kenny hid this matter from Eden deliberately. She had long known what Kenny was doing. However, everyone had their own secrets. Since Kenny not willing to say it, she would not expose him.

Ricky had a big mouth, but he liked to make response to others' words. How caress he was!

"Giada, get off the car now. Let's have a fight by the road." He was the idol of many girls. When had he become an idiot?

"Ha-ha..." Giada laughed, "Don't you that it's inappropriate for boys to fight with girls? You're really shameless to fight with me. Aren't you afraid that I will shoot your silly actions, post it online and ruin your career?"

He even wanted to fight with her. What a dummy!

"Giada..." Henrick gritted his teeth in anger. He was a perfect perfectionist. He always wanted to do everything well, but in the end, everything went contrary to his wishes.

Giada replied confidently, "I can hear you. You don't have to speak so loudly."

Chapter 880

Seeing them quarreling with each other more and more fiercely, Eden warned them, "Shut up! Why are you quarreling again?"

Henrick glanced at Eden with a dejected face and murmured in heart, "Mom, because you have to get to the bottom of it."

Henrick stopped talking.

He looked at Gia provocatively, as if he was saying, "Just go on arguing with me if you're not afraid."

Giada knew what he meant. She pursed her lips slightly and glared at him for a while. Then she closed her eyes and wanted to sleep.

Henrick chuckled. She was frightened. Eden was very gentle, but she was absolutely horrible when she got angry.

Gia did not dare to challenge Eden's limits.

Henrick glanced at Victor in the rearview mirror with a disdainful face. He was afraid of his wife and couldn't speak for them at a critical time. Was he really an overbearing president? In front of their mother, he turned into a coward. He looked down on Victor... No... Eden was their mother, so he had to dote on her.

Victor's heart trembled when he saw Ricky's disdainful eyes from the rearview mirror.

He wanted to help Ricky, but he felt that he should stand by Eden's side. No matter what, he must spoil Eden to the extreme.

On the way home, they didn't talk to each other again. The four children really fell asleep.

After hearing Kenny's words, Eden did not ask any more questions. After all, she trusted Kenny.

Jaida had prepared dinner. Graciella and Abigail were both at home. After dinner, they went back to their own rooms to rest.

Victor and Eden took the three children to the third floor, and they all sat in Eden's room.

Kenneth glanced at Ricky and Gia, "You two go back and rest first."

Hearing this, Henrick responded quickly, "Kenny, I can't fall asleep every day because I am amazed by my charm. I slept in the car, so now I am not sleepy at all. If you have something to say, say it. I promise that I will not take it to heart."

He only knew a little about what Kenny was doing. Kenny was always very rigorous, and he wouldn't mention his own affairs. Ricky had long been curious about this matter.

Giada said with a smile, "Kenny, since Ricky can't fall sleep because of his charm, I can't fall asleep because of my beauty. Talk about it slowly, and I won't take it seriously, either."

Henrick's face was filled with displeasure, "Giada, why do you copy my line?"

He had been despising her all day, and he disliked her even more at this time. He almost had a nervous breakdown due to her.

Giada said sarcastically, "Ricky, I'm younger than you, so don't lie to me. Is that your line?"

Henrick was helpless.

He couldn't cavil at Gia's words. If he was serious, he would lose.

Henrick waved his hand at her, "Don't talk to me. I just want to be a quiet handsome man." Every dog had its day. One day, he would definitely vent his anger.

"Do your best, Ricky!"

He cheered himself up in heart.

Giada snorted. A quiet handsome man? In her opinion, he was ugly.

Ricky couldn't be spoiled. The more they spoiled him, the more arrogant he became.

Victor looked at the three children and suddenly realized that it was so hard for Eden and Jaida to bring them up. After he lived here, he found that Ricky and Gia always mocked each other like this. Although they were not quarreling, the atmosphere made them uncomfortable.

"Ricky, Gia..."

"Dad, don't say anything. This matter has nothing to do with you. We will solve it privately. Now let's talk about Kenny." Henrick interrupted Victor, raised his eyebrows and looked at him, "You don't have to pay too much attention to these details. These are all trivial things in life."

Victor was stunned. What Ricky said was so reasonable that he had no way to refute him.

"Alright, as long as you can solve it by yourselves." Victor glanced at Eden and saw her sitting there calmly.

Eden's eyes turned a bit cold as she looked up slightly. Then she glanced around Giada's and Kenneth's faces.

The next second, they stood up immediately.

Henrick looked at her and smiled ingratiatingly, "Mom, I'm going back to sleep. I'm a little sleep now."

Giada also smiled, "Mom, I'll go back to read."

They left in a hurry.

Victor was taken aback. Just now, they said that they were not sleepy, didn't they?

"Eden, why are they not afraid of me?" In addition, no matter what he said, the three children could refute him and render him speechless.

Eden smiled and said, "Do I look very fierce?"

Victor shook his head quickly, "Eden, you look very gentle."

Eden laughed, "Parenting is not to lecture the children everyday, but to respect their self-esteem and know them more. Only in this way can they be convinced." Therefore, when Kenny said that he would tell her at home, she didn't ask any more question. Kenny had his own privacy. Although she was his mother, she had to respect his choice.

Only then did Eden look at Kenny. Kenny smiled amiably, turned on the computer and clicked on his website. Then he looked at Eden and explained, "Mom, this is the website I set up myself, but it's not used to do bad things. I help some software companies solve some problems with my ability, and then get the corresponding reward."

"However, I am also a hacker. I started to play computers at the age of three, and I found that I knew almost everything about computers without any guidance. Later, I gradually fell in love with it. When you were not at home, I studied hard. Now I have made small achievements."

Eden was stunned when she heard that. She looked at Kenny and suddenly felt that she was unfamiliar with him. She had never known that Kenny had such a talent.

Kenny liked to play computers. Sometimes, she heard that he was watching cartoons or browsing websites, but he demonstrated self-control and would not play the computer for too long. When she was at home, Kenny would take the initiative to chat with her about their daily lives. He would ask her about some unfamiliar words, but he never mentioned anything about hacking.

Eden pursed her dry lips, swallowed and asked, "Kenny, so, did you really attack Jotham Alwynn Group?" Her voice was trembling uncontrollably, because she didn't expect Kenny to be so amazing.

Kenny lowered his head slightly. He was afraid that Eden would get mad. After he said those words in the shopping mall, he thought about it and felt a little regretful. He lowered his head and his small face was full of remorse as he whispered, "Mom, Mrs. Alwynn framed dad for pushing grandpa downstairs. I saw the news, and I was very angry, so I hacked their website and changed the prices of their goods."
