Chapter 191: Brother Finally Made a Fortune!

Da Fei approached the Great Elder and Chief of Staff to request a reservation for a large ship.

The Great Elder shook his head on the spot: "Warrior! This won't do. First, this matter is not under my control; second, it's against principles. We must adhere to principles."

Da Fei urgently asked: "What are the principles?"

The Great Elder laughed: "Of course it's to follow the rules. You can buy the corresponding ship when your prestige is enough. Who gets a ship without paying first?"

Damn! And here I was, getting rewards before completing the task! Turns out their principle is that there are no principles!

In the end, it's just like a company giving more benefits to outstanding employees. On the surface, they reward with cars and better offices to improve employee welfare, but ultimately, it's to serve the company better, not to unduly benefit individuals.

It seems there's no way through with the ship, but no worries, I still have Mayor Elorin and Duke Markar's connections.

Now, it's time to talk business!

Da Fei earnestly said: "Great Elder, before I departed, Mayor Elorin promised that if I complete this arduous mission, I would be nominated for the Gru Hero inheritance."

The Great Elder hummed, then patted Da Fei's shoulder with a meaningful tone: "As the Chief of Staff, I'm only responsible for commanding battles. The grand matter of hero inheritance is not under my control either. But one thing for sure, warrior, you haven't completed the task yet, have you? The Pool of Radiance still isn't purified, right?"

Damn! I almost snorted out a booger! Wasn't it supposed to be a reward for the Abyss Blood Pool? Why also include the Pool of Radiance? The World Tree is dormant, how many years will it take to purify the Pool of Radiance! Is this suggesting I keep being the newbie for months?

The Great Elder smiled gleefully: "So, warrior, put all your efforts into purifying the Pool of Radiance. When the time comes, I will also nominate you, submitting a request for the Gru Hero inheritance to the Kingdom! You are the finest hero in our Alliance; this inheritance is rightfully yours. Moreover, once completed, our staff department will exceptionally promote you to a lieutenant in the Elf Kingdom, that's a bright future indeed!"

Da Fei was stunned: "Rightfully mine? Could there be someone else competing?"

The Great Elder smiled: "Who wouldn't want to become the strongest hero? To accelerate our steps toward conquering the New World, the Kingdom will select an inheritor from the ten most outstanding youth. But so far, warrior, you are far ahead, so I have high hopes for you!"

—System Prompt: You have received information about the Gru Hero inheritance.

Damn it! So this is just a way to motivate others to work desperately for the Kingdom! Turns out I'm not playing a single-player game! Da Fei felt deceived; the so-called hero inheritance is just a bunch of bananas hanging over the elephant's head, always in sight but never easy to reach!

Since there are competitors, can I, a human, smoothly receive the inheritance from the Elf Kingdom? Won't there be manipulations against me? Cut it, I have a big shot, Markar, on the human side. And since the inheritance is divided into three parts, let me secure the human side's inheritance first. But is this inheritance really that awesome? I feel like with my current dual deputy roles, I am already incredibly powerful!

The Great Elder said smilingly: "In any case, if there's anything unclear, you can always come here. Our doors will always be open for you, warrior!"

Damn, it's not like it's the door to the girls' dormitory. Like I care! The scene changes, and Da Fei is escorted out to the World Tree Square. Now penniless, I don't even have the fare to go back to see Mayor Elorin or Markar! I have three level 31 heroes, teleporting once costs 930 gold coins! Where do I get the fare? Maybe take a newbie through an instance?

While hesitating, Da Fei's message alert went off. It's Lei Huolong! Oh yeah, the big spender is here! Maybe I could borrow some spending money?

Lei Huolong said: "Brother Fei, you're online, huh? Got time now? Let's talk about the inheritance, the sooner we finish the sooner I can report back to my boss."

Nonsense! I'm a celebrity, becoming the focal point of the crowd once I appear, and you didn't notice I was surrounded in the World Tree Square. Fine, it's also time to make this big deal happen. As a professional player, what kind of professional player am I if I haven't succeeded in any deals!

Da Fei replied: "I've got all the free time, like a beggar now, how do we trade?"

Lei Huolong chuckled: "Does Brother Fei have a Gold Hunting Net account? We can trade through the Gold Hunting Net escrow."

Just like that. As a professional player, having an account with Gold Hunting Net escrow is a must. Although Heroic Creation Era is a world-class game, the game itself will never support real money transactions between players. Online transactions still rely on this most ancient method: the buyer sends money to the middleman agency's account, and then the middleman agency sends a small account to log into the game to receive virtual items.

Now that the mode of transaction is settled, it's time to discuss the price.

Name my price! This isn't about buying a pack of cigarettes or instant noodles; this is a deal worth millions, a life-changing deal! Although I don't believe in those million dollar figures touted on the forums, I have my psychological price in mind, but when it comes to naming my price, I still hesitate! This is a long-term poor man's awe of money!

How much? 500? 800? Dare to ask for so much! Or should I go straight with 300? Not okay, he will surely bargain. How about directly 600?

As Da Fei hesitates, Lei Huolong, no, Ma Jialong, is also hesitant. What he fears and hates the most is this kind of player, accidentally striking a jackpot but not knowing its use or its value. You ask for a price, he says: "You tell me!" You give a price, and he just keeps silent, afraid of being short-changed!

Chapter 192: Brother Finally Made a Fortune!_2

Go on the offensive! As a large guild, we must maintain the dominance of a large guild. Ma Jialong said, "Brother Fei, how about this, let's offer a price, 1 million!"

Da Fei was taken aback, "US dollars?"

"What dollars! You dare to say that! " Ma Jialong cursed inwardly and messaged, "1 million RMB."

However, even if it were truly 1 million US dollars, it was still within Ma Jialong's psychological price range. After all, what's causing such a hype globally, a level 4 unit trait Griffin Breeder from Star is valued at 1 million US dollars. This artificial inflation is certainly beneficial for garnering attention in the early stages of the game, but the downside is that it makes it difficult for large guilds to acquire accounts. Ma Yinglong believed that the so-called 8 million US dollars for a God-level Hero from the Japan region definitely wasn't worth 8 million.

Damn, that's too shady! Da Fei was anxious, "That's too little! Any random big tycoon can throw out that price!"

"Then Brother Fei, you name a price!"

Da Fei gritted his teeth, "6 million!"

Apu! Ma Jialong almost spat out his drink! But he was prepared with a rebuttal: "Brother Fei! Do you believe that any undead account from our guild's main team, valued at tens of thousands, could easily compete with this Bloodsucking Orc? It's simple; undead aren't afraid of others sucking their blood! If a

6 million account can't even beat one worth tens of thousands, or even a regular undead account, what would we think? In the end, it's not worth that price, Brother Fei, don't be misled by those posts on the forums. How about this, 1.1 million! That's the best I can do!"

Damn! That's too much of a rip-off! Da Fei discontentedly said, "Brother Lei, your offer is quite disappointing. Undead can't even beat the Mage Academy, does that mean the God-level heroes of the Undead Race are trash? That kind of comparison doesn't work."

Ma Jialong became anxious, "Who said the undead can't beat the Mage Academy? In national wars, what matters is national power! The Court College's scope is just too small, nowhere near competing with our undead Corpse Mountain and Blood Sea. Not to mention, there aren't many players in the world employed at the Mage Academy, making it difficult to form a group advantage. How can they compete with the undead?"

Da Fei sighed, "Brother Lei, let's not talk about this. Your offered price puts me in a tough spot; I might as well sell directly to a big tycoon, there are plenty on the Gold Hunting Net."

Ma Jialong coldly chuckled, "Brother Fei, business or not, we remain on good terms. Whoever you sell to is your freedom, but when the big tycoon who bought your legacy keeps getting PK'd by regular undead player accounts, what will the tycoon who spent 6 million on an account think?"

I couldn't care less what he thinks! I've sold it, it's not my problem anymore!

Suddenly, Da Fei's brow twitched! Wait a minute, there's more to these words, it's a warning, implying that anyone who dares to compete with Dragon Slayer will get PK'd until they can't continue, and then sell the account? Damn, with Hemorrhoid Ointment's attitude, he could definitely do it! Maybe Dragon Slayer has already started threatening when I advertised? If that's the case, the tycoons might be cautious and dare not buy?

And what does "business or not, we remain on good terms" mean? Is it a veiled threat that if I don't sell to them, I'm offending them?

To hell with it! Although I'm fearless in gaming and unafraid of offending players, as a professional player needing to make money and prosper, I still have to consider the tycoons' feelings, right? And isn't Dragon Slayer a big tycoon? But no matter how big a tycoon, they shouldn't bully customers!

Da Fei mustered his courage and stood his ground, “Not selling for less than 5 million!”

Ma Jialong sighed, “How about this, actually, my position can only handle deals of up to 1 million. If Brother Fei feels shortchanged, I’ll let the boss directly negotiate with you.”

Oh? Does this mean the boss will definitely offer more than 1 million? Da Fei replied, “Alright!”

Before long, Da Fei received a message; this time from “Dragon Scale,” which was Ma Yinglong’s real ID.

Indeed, Ma Yinglong dropped the guise and stepped in personally. The art of negotiation, being a rogue first and a gentleman later. Ma Jialong’s role was to shamelessly haggle and intimidate, now the real person comes in to ease the tension, creating a strong contrast, leading the opponent to make invisible concessions.

Dragon Scale sighed, “Mr. Da Fei, I am truly sorry, the people below only know how to play games without much insight, please forgive them.”

Da Fei was momentarily stunned, coughed softly, and said, “Well, Chairman Ma, friendship is friendship, and business is business. I sold it to you because I considered your Dragon Slayer brand; I can’t accept your offer.”

Dragon Scale sighed, “Mr. Da Fei, our guild has a dedicated marketing team, every high-level virtual item’s utility and value are carefully calculated. Of course, we want to do business and make friends. I admire Mr. Da Fei’s capabilities, so as a gesture of friendship, I offer 2 million. How does Mr. Da Fei feel about that? You can conduct a survey on Gold Hunting Net; currently, there hasn’t been a single large deal in the China Region that exceeds 2 million, most are around 30 to 500 thousand. This reflects the gap between the hype market and the real market, or it’s the difference between China Region prices and international prices. Beyond this price point, our Dragon Slayer Guild cannot bear it and would have to regretfully forgo it, as year-end expenses have emptied our pockets for the new year, leaving us with little spare money. What do you think, Mr. Da Fei? Of course, Mr. Da Fei can choose to hold onto it, and we would have no objections. Whether or not the deal is made, we still wish to be friends with Mr. Da Fei!”

However, it was undeniably a staggering sum, especially for Da Fei, who bought a Skill Reset Potion and was so poor he could only afford instant noodles and steamed buns!

Would a poor person prefer to lose big and take the immediate 2 million to get rich overnight and change their destiny, or wait for an uncertain future to earn 5 million?

The answer was clear! To a poor person, 2 million and 5 million aren't much different; only the money in hand counts! Just like a gambler with limited funds can't compete with one who has deep pockets, right now, he simply lacked the leverage to negotiate prices! Not to mention, he still had a small account with a blood-sucking legacy, indicating this legacy wasn't exceptionally rare! With billions of players in the world and countless fortuitous encounters, was it really impossible to secure a legacy?

Finally, Da Fei made up his mind, "Alright! Just because Chairman wants to be friends with me, I'll sell for 2 million!"

Ma Yinglong rejoiced, "Worthy of the legendary Brother Fei, so bold and generous, I admire you greatly! I'm determined to make you my friend!"

Damn! Not only did he score a great deal, but also befriended China Region's top expert, impressive! If I don't try to get something out of this, I won't feel at ease!

Da Fei sighed, "Chairman Ma, I've killed dozens of people from Star, fined by the system until penniless, can you aid a brother?"

Ma Yinglong laughed heartily, "Good kill, thrilling! No problem, once our transaction is complete, we'll have a small account sent your way, Brother Fei."

Da Fei sighed deeply, well, damn it.

—Ding Dong! Da Fei's phone beeped, it was 95533!!!

Da Fei, trembling, opened the message and counted those six zeroes repeatedly, tears welled up, and he laughed ecstatically, "I've hit the jackpot, I finally struck it rich, haha! Wahahaha..."

Chapter 193: Brother Has Finally Become the Head of the Family!

Facing this first pot of gold in life, Da Fei was ecstatic, his mind racing with countless thoughts. All those things he had wanted to buy but couldn't afford were now within reach! No, buying stuff is too superficial! I'm not buying anything! I'm going to save it! Put it in the bank, and I'll have tens of thousands in interest each year! This is my retirement fund! My life is worth it now! Haha! Wahahaha!

Wealth often changed a person's character. And this huge sum of money gave Da Fei an immense sense of security! For ten years, wandering through the concrete jungle like Shendong City, Da Fei lived by the law of the jungle, without any sense of security. More than once, Da Fei wondered, what would await him in another ten, twenty years, if he could no longer work?

But now, it's different! Money is the courage of heroes! I've got money now, I've struck it rich, I've got the guts, and my life is finally beginning a new chapter! My career is truly taking off!

—System Prompt: Farolan143 wants to initiate a trade with you, do you accept?

—System Prompt: You have received 30,000 Gold Coins from Farolan143!

30,000! Oh yeah! Now I've got money in the game too!

Dragon Scale's message rang again: "Brother Fei, sorry ha, the Game Coins are even tighter than RMB, our stall is big, and we can only offer this much for now, Brother Fei, please don't laugh!"

Da Fei quickly said: "Not at all, Chairman Ma is so righteous, thank you!" Righteous my ass! But I'm in a great mood, so I won't quibble with you, wahahaha!

Dragon Scale laughed: "Once a stranger, twice familiar, thrice and we're old friends. Let's continue to work together on any good deals in the future!"

Da Fei laughed: "That's for sure, definitely, I feel assured doing business with Chairman Ma!" Next time, hmph, with more confidence, it won't be so easy to deal with me.

Dragon Scale laughed: "Alright, then I won't disturb Brother Fei anymore, you take your time!"

"Chairman Ma, take your time!"

After completing the trade with Da Fei, Ma Yinglong laughed heartily as he pulled out a bottle of reserved red wine from the cabinet beside him, filled up a large glass, drank it down as if it were cola, then poured another big glass, slowly savoring it.

At this point, the assistant Chang Liang came forward with a smile: "Congratulations, big brother, for getting a bargain on a top-notch item!"

Ma Yinglong laughed loudly: "The weakness of the Undead Race is their brittle bones, they're not refined and also slow, making every battle drag on, it's very unsatisfying. Where does that compare to the Beastman's strong burst strength and fierce charge that takes the battle in one strike?"

Chang Liang laughed: "That's right, with the Bloodsucking Orc, the Guild's assault capability will move up a notch! The Beastman's charge plus the Undead's endurance will greatly elevate our Guild's combat power."

Ma Yinglong nodded: "Little Liang, how many years have you been with me?"

Chang Liang straightened up, hastily saying: "Since big brother was at Dragon Slayer Internet Cafe, I've followed you for 7 years!"

Ma Yinglong chuckled: "Yeah, back then my biggest ambition was to become a majestic internet cafe owner, able to make a fortune while playing games, there's no more enjoyable job in life, and then, you skip class, have no money, just squatting in the internet cafe watching others play games, still volunteering every day to mop the floor and scrub the toilets and serve food to the customers."

Chang Liang laughed: "Back then, big brother was the god in my heart, and still is now!"

Ma Yinglong nodded: "I'm going to start a Beastman branch, and I'm appointing you as the manager of the branch. You're fully responsible for the rise of the Guild's Beastman, how about it?"

Chang Liang was surprised: "Big brother is handing over the Beastman side to me?"

Ma Yinglong laughed: "Yeah, do you think it's starting too low and not exciting enough? Or do you not want to part with your Dragon Teeth account?"

Chang Liang excitedly said: "No, no, no! Thank you for the trust, big brother, I was just complaining about how playing Undead lacks passion and isn't bloody enough!"

Ma Yinglong laughed: "Good, I've also prepared the Bloodsucking Hero account for you, with the special skill Army's Roar, the ID name Tyrannosaurus, cool name, right?"

Chang Liang praised: "Really cool, domineering, and impressive!"

Ma Yinglong laughed: "I've promoted 20 slots from the reserve forces, go over and have a look, take away those you like."

Chang Liang immediately said: "Rest assured, big brother, I'll take all 20, even if it's a piece of shit I can lead them to glory, let alone people chosen by big brother!"

Ma Yinglong laughed heartily!

From now on, Dragon Slayer will officially begin integrating the entire Dark Alliance of the China Region, Dragon Slayer's business is beginning a new start!

Da Fei takes off his helmet and walks to the window to gaze into the distance. The sounds of the New Year lanterns and drum sales fill the streets far and wide. Yes, it's New Year's! The best thing in life is returning home in glory! At this moment, Da Fei suddenly felt homesick and really wanted to go back. I have to tell them that I've made it big!

But on second thought, let's forget about it, train tickets are hard to come by, it's difficult to squeeze through the crowds, and I can't leave. Besides, even 2 million isn't considered that much back home, any trucker or building materials seller is worth more than that, not to mention those "big landlords." In any case, next year! Next year I'll definitely go back in style!

As for now, of course, it's about sending some money back home. Of course, dealing with money transfers, such high-tech business, the old folks at home can't handle it, it's up to Little Li to take care of that.

Hmph, if she knows I earned so much money, will she pee her pants in shock? Of course! It's called broadening her horizons! This girl has always looked down on me, and now that even I've struck it rich, what will she think? Wahahaha!

Da Fei then calls Little Li's phone: "Hey, Little Li?"

"Mm, what's up?"

Jeez! She won't even call me brother! Da Fei chuckles: "Brother's struck gold, sending 80,000 home, you handle it."

Little Li is shocked: "Bro, what did you do? Where did you get so much money?"

Wahahaha! Scared, aren't you? Peed your pants yet? Just 80k and you're scared to death, what a disgrace! Brother's heart aches for you! No, I need to enlighten you, let you know what true class and luxury mean!

Little Li is surprised: "Impossible! What did you sell, bro? You didn't do anything bad, did you?"

Holy shit! Is this the image you have of me in your heart?

Da Fei indignantly says: "High-tech water dispensers! In the past few years, delivering water, I got to know thousands of households, flipping through my phone book would cramp your hands! You know what that is? It's the network I've built over the years! It's connections! Going door-to-door to sell, a few hundred units are a piece of cake, right?"

Little Li just goes: "Which brand of water dispensers?"

Da Fei responds blankly: "Glorious brand! A new patent from a small company." Anyway, enough with the nonsense, changing the subject: "Is everything okay at home?"

Little Li responds blankly: "It's fine."

Something's off in her tone? Da Fei inquires: "Tell me the truth, are mom and dad sick and out of money? I have money!"

Da Fei's eyebrows twitch: "Could it be—someone's come to our house asking for your hand in marriage?"

Little Li says bluntly: "Yep."

Holy shit! I knew it! So-called 'a daughter brings a hundred suitors to the door,' it's because of Little Li that our parents are so proud! Of course, brother's proud as well!

Da Fei snorts: "Whatever Amao or Agou, they should piss and look in the mirror first! If they don't have 2 million in assets, there's no point in talking!"

Little Li vehemently says: "I don't want to stay at home anymore, the longer I stay the more irritated I get!"

Da Fei quickly says: "No problem, come to school then!"

Little Li suddenly cheers up: "Is that okay?"

Da Fei snorts again: "What's wrong with that? I'll just talk to the old man, say that brother got promoted to deputy manager and made a fortune, and ask you to come for an internship over the winter break, and incidentally meet a few rich and handsome guys, that's the plan!"

Little Li says indignantly: "I don't want to come for an internship!"

Da Fei laughs: "Of course, it's just a pretext. I do the rough work, you'd be useless here anyway, but right now, you're still young, you should study more! I'll book you a plane ticket!"

Da Fei despises: "Train tickets, you won't even have a place to pee, that's settled!" Hmph, let her see the authority and generosity of being a brother!

Anyway, after ending the call with his excited sister and parents, Da Fei feels himself standing taller and prouder than ever, brother has finally become the head of the household! Wahahaha!

Chapter 194: The New Hero Anlicia

First, of course, it was to visit the mayor in Elorin to sort out getting a ship. Even if it couldn't be sorted, it was no big deal; buying a medium-sized ship wouldn't be a problem for him now. Ah, after making some money, his mind was more at ease.

The Flying had 1,000 cabins, but it wasn't a dedicated cargo ship, so compared to ships of the same model, the Flying's cargo hold wasn't large. Not to mention, the cargo hold was now a gun cabin, reducing it by 500 cabins. So, buying a medium-sized cargo ship with a capacity of 500 cabins wouldn't be too difficult.

Then it was time to recruit people. As long as he shouted at the dock, "Grandmaster Locomotive leads the long-distance trip, everyone pays only 20% of the ticket price," players would come rushing. However, there was a problem: at this stage, players mainly had small ships, and long-distance travel was definitely not as cost-effective as short trips.

Ignoring the crowd watching him, Da Fei headed towards the teleportation array. He knew these players weren't completely watching him; they were gawking at his two precious beauties, ha-ha! In the whole China Region, he was the only one with beautiful female heroes, and two at that. Awesome, right?

Just then, two players approached him: "Brother Fei! We want to stick with you!"

Da Fei was momentarily stunned. Whoa, direct enough? He scrutinized the two, Invincible Soldier and Invincible Wei, noting their low levels and poor store-bought equipment.

In the past, Da Fei would undoubtedly ignore them and just walk away. He had no trust or patience for other players. But now, his perspective had changed a bit, thinking about friends!

People are social animals, after all. Even if you don't have genuine friends, at least have fake ones. Like that Dragon Slayer earlier, definitely a deceitful and unreliable 'friend.' But for the sake of appearances, he had to help in an emergency with 30,000 gold coins, no?

Da Fei had spent ten years in Shendong with a phone full of 'friends,' but what use were they? They weren't worth forming deeper relationships with, and even speaking to them felt like wasting phone credit. Similarly, he wasn't worth others befriending. He was just a laborer with no connections, unwilling to lend money, fight, or even treat others to meals. Being the way he was, he had no right to be anyone's friend. It all boiled down to one word, "poor," and two words, "stingy," three words, "no ability."

But the game was different. In the game, Da Fei was badass! Both the androgynous beauties of Star and the boss of Dragon Slayer respected him! It was about time to gather some lackeys! Da Fei reminisced about his time as the head of the Dragon Slayer guild, laughing at the winds and clouds.

Da Fei chuckled, "Stick with me? Why?"

Da Fei laughed, "I've made many enemies. If you're with me, you risk getting cut!"

Invincible Soldier immediately said, "As long as Brother Fei is willing to take us, we're ready to go up against anything with him!"

Whoa, did they think facing danger provided a lot of experience? Not just any Amao or Agou could freeload like this. They needed to show some competence, or else why should he take on two freeloaders causing trouble everywhere?

He had to test them, but what test?

At that moment, a crisp, lively female voice called, "Is it Mr. Da Fei?"

Da Fei and his two potential followers turned to see a female elf with long green hair, wearing leather armor and holding a wooden bow! No, it was a hero with a gold butterfly aura around her feet!

Da Fei exclaimed, "Is it me?"

The beautiful hero shyly handed Da Fei a letter, "This is a letter from my grandmother!"

Your grandmother? Da Fei took the letter and opened it.

– Young Captain Da Fei,

Hello, I'm Anwen. By the time you see this letter, I will have finished my fulfilling and joyful life. I have no regrets, but I'm worried about my mischievous and playful granddaughter Anlicia. I have one request, hoping the captain will guide her and cultivate her into an excellent hero. Captain, I'm counting on you!
– Anwen.

Da Fei's body shook violently! Anwen was dead? This was her will!

Trembling, Da Fei looked at the young elf in front of him: "Are you Professor Anwen's granddaughter, Anlicia?"

The beautiful hero's eyes reddened, and she nodded.

Two streams of tears rolled down Da Fei's cheeks! Grandma, you were too kind! You not only helped me with tasks but also taught me so much, and in the end, you even sent your beautiful granddaughter to me! You are like my real grandma! Don't worry, grandma, I will surely cultivate Anlicia into a God-level Hero!

Anlicia joyfully exclaimed and bowed, "Then please take care of me, captain!"

– System Prompt: Epic Hero Anlicia has become your Vice Hero!

Ah! Da Fei couldn't help but burst out laughing! An Epic Hero! This epic hero was sent right to him! It turned out Grandma had been watching his performance in the Abyss Blood Pool. This was an extra reward! Hahaha!

Anlicia: Since childhood, a gifted elf girl and granddaughter of Professor Anwen. Indulged by elders, she resisted conformity, lacking discipline, much to their concern.

Ah! Looking at her long list of diverse yet mediocre skills, Da Fei spat on the spot! This was definitely a poorly created hero with wasted points! Grandma, you mean for me to turn her into a navigator, right? Okay, rest assured, Grandma!

At this moment, Invincible Soldier in front of Da Fei shouted, "Brother Fei! You're amazing! Recruiting a female hero right in front of us. Brother Fei, I'm at your feet! Brother Fei, please take us in! We're sticking with you!"

In a great mood, Da Fei laughed heartily, "Alright! From now on, you're with me!"

Chapter 195: The Mixed Mess of Dragons and Snakes in Elorin

Invincible Soldier's shout immediately caused a stir among the crowd: "Oh my God! Another female hero recruited! Three female heroes!"

"Does this Da Fei just have a fate with beautiful heroes? That's amazing!"

“Tsk! What’s the big deal? Let’s see how he levels up with three vice heroes!”

“Damn, if I had three female heroes, not leveling up would still be worth it!”

Listening to the envy, jealousy, and resentment around him, Da Fei asked Invincible Soldier in front of him with smug satisfaction, “What are your plans now?”

Hahaha, this female hero really came at the perfect time! Late or early, she chose the moment when I was recruiting little brothers, what’s that saying? Whatever, it just feels awesome!

Invincible Soldier quickly replied, “Whatever Brother Fei does, we do!”

Da Fei chuckled, “I’m heading out to sea for trade, can you handle the boredom?”

Invincible Soldier happily exclaimed, “We’re going trading too! Our goal is to become professional players! Following Brother Fei is fantastic!”

Da Fei nodded with satisfaction, “Very well, I won’t take small boats, and I don’t have time to babysit, so you need to do three things: First, buy a medium-sized ship. Second, learn Advanced Navigation Skill and the sub-skill Towing, or at least make sure your vice hero knows it. Third, don’t bother me if you can’t manage it!”

Invincible Soldier was shocked, “Could it be Brother Fei knows the legendary Divine Skill Navigation?”

“Oh my!” Da Fei patted Invincible Soldier’s shoulder in surprise, “Nice job, kid! You actually know about Navigation?”

Invincible Soldier smiled obsequiously, “Of course, I studied a bit during the beta test. Rest assured, Brother Fei, we’ll definitely make it happen and won’t disappoint you!”

Da Fei said approvingly, "Great, I'm heading to Elorin. Once you make it big, come find me, and I'll take you on international long-distance runs!"

Invincible Soldier nodded excitedly, "That's awesome! Thank you, Brother Fei! Thank you!"

Da Fei then looked at Invincible Wei beside them and said with surprise, "This guy doesn't talk much, huh?"

Invincible Soldier hurriedly said, "This is my classmate, a straightforward guy who doesn't talk much but is very reliable. Don't worry, Brother Fei."

Invincible Wei finally spoke for the first time, "Hello Brother Fei, thank you!"

Da Fei nodded, "Well, not bad, goodbye!" With those words, he walked towards the Teleportation Array with his head held high, accompanied by three beautiful vice heroes, under the eyes of the crowd.

Invincible Soldier hurriedly said, "We'll see Brother Fei off!" and followed Da Fei all the way to the Teleportation Array.

Da Fei was even more satisfied in his heart. This Invincible Soldier seemed to understand things well! The feeling of having little brothers truly was different; no wonder that guy with the Hemorrhoid Ointment name was so cocky. Hahaha!

"Brother Fei, take care!" Invincible Soldier respectfully said beside the Teleportation Array.

Da Fei nodded, just about to teleport when he suddenly remembered something and asked, "You're not going to Elorin? You can build your reputation faster there and buy the ship sooner."

Invincible Soldier coughed awkwardly, "Well, we have tasks on this side, can't go for now."

Invincible Wei spoke, "Brother Fei, we lost the National War, got wiped clean, and have no money for the Teleportation Array."

Invincible Soldier's face changed with shock and he kicked Wei hard: "Don't talk nonsense!" Then he smiled at Da Fei and said, "Nothing like that, just doing some tasks will settle it."

Da Fei made a sound of acknowledgment. Indeed, they've just joined me, who would be happy if the first thing they did was ask for money? What if they're just begging scam players? If it were before, anyone asking Da Fei for money would get kicked out immediately. But today Da Fei felt different, today was full of joy and happiness.

So Da Fei laughed heartily, "I see! Truly honest people speak honestly! Not bad, I admire you guys. Handy Soldier is tough, I admire that! Let me be honest too, just killed dozens in the recent raid and don't have much money left, here's 1000 Gold Coins for your travel!"

Invincible Wei also said, "Brother Fei, I'm sorry!"

Da Fei laughed aloud, "Let's go, to Elorin!"

"Yes, Brother Fei!"

With a flash of white light, they arrived in Elorin. Elorin was a harbor city, completely unlike the giant forest of Farolan. There's no big trees by the sea, so it looked similar to a human city, which made Da Fei feel very familiar.

Da Fei strutted confidently toward City Hall with his beautiful little brothers. Unsurprisingly, this walk drew the crowd's astonishment, and the entire city channel was buzzing: "Da Fei is back!"

This was the feeling of returning home gloriously! Who said I'm not an Honorary Citizen here? Now let me hear who dares to curse me? I slaughtered Star internally and took down the Americans externally, aren't you afraid? Hahaha!

Right then, a group of people blocked Da Fei's path, with unfriendly faces. Oh my? Someone still held a grudge and wanted to settle old scores, huh? Haven't you watched the National War stream, or what? Today I have my little brothers, so I can't afford to lose face. Time to do what I'm best at, dealing with all sorts of dissatisfaction!

A player named "Sea and Sky" wearing well-equipped gear was evidently their leader, and he squinted, saying, "Da Fei?"

Sea and Sky laughed maniacally, "This is our Blood Sea Studio's territory, you got it?"

So that's it! It's that knucklehead. If it were in the past, I might have feared his God-level Hero, but now who fears whom?

Da Fei chuckled, "I don't take past matters to heart, no need to fear. We can all make money, I won't be putting pressure on you!"

Sea and Sky angrily said, "Let's see you bring out that big ship of yours, you arrogant prick!"

Oh, really think my big ship sank, huh? Da Fei stepped forward, patted his shoulder, and sighed, "I'm the guy who completed the epic National War mission. Even without the big ship, my level is way above your big boss by several streets, you truly have no standing to be my enemy. I advise you not to do anything foolish!"

With this, the color on the faces of the blocking crowd changed. Hmm, better, even if they're just minor characters, the intelligence wasn't too bad.

Sea and Sky furiously said, "I'm the big boss, I'm Brother Tian!"

Da Fei smiled, "Yes, yes, I'm going trading now, ready to take on any challenges you present. Better prepare, or else, if you find yourself relegated to being freight captains, I won't refuse! Please step aside since prolonged blocking may get you caught by city management!” He finished, laughed heartily, and walked away.

Indeed, Blood Sea Wave was back to the Desolate Barbarian Pirate Islands. This time, Blood Sea Wave’s goal was to find a way to instigate master Barak against Rock, then steal Rock’s Tiger Shark Battleship. Compared to Da Fei’s shabby old ship, the Tiger Shark pirate ship boasted great speed, powerful firepower, solid defense, and a large crew. Once acquired, revenge and rising to power were just around the corner.

At this moment, Invincible Soldier following Da Fei exclaimed excitedly, “Brother Fei! You’re so awesome! Being with you, we have status and confidence!”

Da Fei chuckled, “World-class professionals are no match for me, I kill swathes at a time, not to mention them!”

Da Fei shook his head, chuckling, “Let’s not dwell on the past. Now I’m a world-class celebrity representing the image of the China Region, and I emphasize winning people with virtue. Remember this as you hang out with me, don’t be bullies or villains, understood?”

Both nodded excitedly, “Got it, Brother Fei, we understand!”

Da Fei smiled, “You should at least make a name for yourselves first, right? Otherwise, how do you have the face to recruit others?”

“Brother Fei, you’re absolutely right. We need to achieve something first, not to embarrass you.”

The gatekeeper was pleasantly surprised, “So it’s Mr. Da Fei returning victoriously. The Mayor has been expecting you for a long time, please come in!”

This is the scene I was hoping for, I’m counting on your help with my ship!
