

God level 751

Chapter 751: Catherine's Letter

Da Fei returned to Divine Punishment City in high spirits. Tachiusu still hadn't made any moves, but the Demon Army under the Despair Plain had mostly withdrawn from the attack range of the giant siege machines of Divine Punishment City. Looking around, the entire Despair Plain appeared desolate. Being able to make the NPC troops change their garrison deployment was definitely advancing the plot, right?

Just then, Blacksmith Will greeted Da Fei, "Lord City Lord, I've been wanting to find you!"

Billbo also jumped out, saying, "Lord City Lord, I donated all the hides in your name, and now Lord Will has decided to take me as an apprentice!"

Da Fei exclaimed, "Taking you as an apprentice? Can you even lift the heavy hammer?"

Will pointed at the siege machines on the mountaintop and laughed, "I'm just teaching him mechanical crafting. Though I can't say I'm excellent in this area either, with such ready-made teaching tools here, not only will he progress, but I will too."

Billbo immediately said, "I also want to craft a world-famous cannon, and I'm thinking of making a machine to quickly load ammo into your Divine Artifact Cannon, Lord City Lord!"

Da Fei joyfully said, "Great, you have potential, I support you!"

Indeed, given the traits of Hobbits, heavy labor might not suit them, but engaging in some craftsmanship perfectly fits. Developing in warfare machines was undoubtedly very fitting for Hobbits' way of combat. Right, Deirdre was an Artillery Master. If she were resurrected, I could establish a crossbow cannon research group, couldn't I?

Will continued, "Lord, in honor of your merit in this battle, I've decided to reward you with a piece of equipment. You can come to the counter and choose."

Wow, hahaha, indeed, the potion shopkeeper rewarded potions, and the mercenary boss rewarded an Elite Angel, so it's right for the blacksmith boss to reward equipment! After all, this task should reward equipment.

Da Fei laughed heartily, "I've had my eye on Mr. Will's S-grade Wind God Gloves. Can you reward that to me?"

Will shook his head with a smile, "I prepared to reward you with the Wind God Gloves from the moment I showed them to you; however, currently, you are still unable to obtain this equipment."

Billbo was surprised, "Even with all the hides I contributed?"

Will sighed, "The hides aren't the Energy Crystals we urgently need. Their value, when converted, is naturally lower."

Energy Crystals, huh? Da Fei immediately pulled out over 50 Volcano Demon Scorpion Demon Wolf crystals and 2 Earth Dragon Crystals, looking hopeful, "How about adding these?"

Though the price of those gloves was 9,000 ordinary Demon Essences, now reduced to 8,000 because of my Temple Crusader status, shouldn't my task reward combined with these 50 Demon Beast Crystals that are worth hundreds be enough?

Will took the crystals and marveled, "From how many hides you've contributed, it's only natural that you would obtain these crystals, but unfortunately, the Wind God Gloves are still a semi-complete Divine Artifact that you cannot exchange for at the moment."

Darn! The harder it is to get, the more I want it! I'm pulling out the big guns!

Da Fei immediately took out three large packs of rare alchemy materials acquired from intercepting the three Mages, confidently saying, "Now this should do, right?"

Will took the materials, his expression changing instantly, "What is this?"

Da Fei laughed, "Adding these, does it work?"

Will laughed aloud, "Lord City Lord, the materials themselves don't say much, but acquiring them implies the fierce battles you've been through. To honor you, I'll reward you with the Wind God Gloves!"

—System Prompt: You have received Will's rewarded S-grade strategic equipment "Wind God's Strike"!

—Wind God's Strike: S-grade strategic equipment, glove position, troop attack speed +3, damage +1, attack +10, defense +10.

Oh yeah! Da Fei let out a long laugh; he finally got it! Although I have many Divine Artifacts, none could replace the +3 attack speed! A regular 10-speed archer, if pushed to 20 speed, means while others shoot once, I can shoot twice; this is a substantial leap forward!

But, a mere one-arrow advantage is not enough for me; I need two, or even three arrows ahead. I want to strike so the enemy can't retaliate. These gloves are the beginning of my rapid-fire path, hahaha!

Will continued, "Lord City Lord, the real value of these gloves is that they are a semi-complete product and can upgrade their attributes. So once you collect a powerful Wind Attribute stronghold's Demon Core Essence, I can attempt an upgrade. Such strongholds rarely exist in the Mortal World; the Demon Cores can't be obtained there, but they are plenty in Hell, so continue to strengthen yourself!"

Equipment that can be upgraded and maintain value is my favorite! Da Fei rejoiced, "Alright, I will definitely strengthen myself! By the way, can it be upgraded to a Divine Artifact?"

Will solemnly said, "That's hard to say. At its current state, the gloves can't possibly withstand the power of an upgraded Divine Artifact, so they need step-by-step upgrades. And I must remind you, Wind Attribute strongholds often have extreme speed, may be defeated but rarely killed. The materials for these gloves came from defeating a Demon God-level Wind Demon stronghold back in the day, costing thousands of angels their lives to kill, and my mistake wasted the result. I've always been chagrined by it, so, Lord City Lord, I hope you can fulfill my wish."

Dear me! You're studying my Titan's Grasp and the siege machine, fixing the gloves—how busy can you get? But, busyness is a sign of capability, and I admire that!

Da Fei said seriously, "Rest assured, Mr. Will, I will specifically improve against Wind Attribute strongholds. So which strongholds in Hell have the Wind Attribute?"

Will nodded, "The top-tier is the Phoenix, the epitome of both Wind and Fire Attributes, and extremely powerful; I don't suggest you challenge it. More commonly seen are the Hell Thunder Dragons, often trained by Demons as Air Force mounts. We need to defeat the strongest among them. Essentially, the Hell Thunder Dragon is the target you need to tackle, which can both strike the Demon Army to improve your reputation and merit, and upgrade your gloves."

Da Fei nodded, "I see. I noticed that General named Tasima seemed to ride an enormous Thunder Dragon. That must be our target."

Will shook his head, sighing, "I suggest you do not challenge the Demon Hero anytime soon!"

Da Fei sighed softly, "I don't want to either."

At this moment, Elena, who had been listening on the side, suddenly said, "Lord City Lord, we've already killed a Wind Attribute stronghold: that giant Electric Eel in the sea, and we obtained a mysterious core, perhaps that's the stronghold's Demon Core Essence?"

Da Fei perked up suddenly, right, Wind and Thunder are indeed one. I only focused on the airborne entities, forgetting about those in the water! Back then, I obtained an unknown item and handed it to Necromancer Isaac for research!

Da Fei smiled with delight, "Exactly, Elena thought it was a Basic Godhood, matching the characteristics of a Demon Core, right?"

Elena nodded, "Its power fully matches a stronghold's standing as well."

Will laughed heartily, "Is that so? Hurry, bring it to me! Generally, mortal creatures do not drop Crystal Cores, but when they do, it's usually the real deal!"

Da Fei said promptly, "Alright, I'll head back to the city to fetch it!"

Without further ado, Da Fei teleported back to Radiant City. At this moment, Radiant City was still a bustling construction site, but the Death Bell Tower finally revealed its full form and was about to be completed! Great, I wanted to see just how awesome the troop building constructed from my rare resources would be.

As Da Fei rushed towards the Alchemy Room in the sewer where Necromancer Isaac was located, a group of advisors supervising work on the construction site called out, "Lord City Lord, Miss Catherine returned yesterday and left you a letter!"

Da Fei was stunned. There's news from Catherine? A letter? Something serious must have happened! Da Fei hurriedly took the thin letter from the advisor and opened it:

—Captain, by the time you're reading this letter, my Golden Spearfish warship has already sailed from Ailein Port in the Lionheart Empire. I expect to pass by Elorin Port in the Elf Kingdom in ten days, and at that time, I hope to join you, Captain, in heading to the Eastern World to rescue my father. Yours truly, Catherine.

The sender's place also had a fragrant lip print in bright red.

Da Fei was dumbfounded! Catherine left first? Dang it! I thought she would accompany me on the Radiant Wings to the Eastern World! Where did this Golden Spearfish warship even come from?

In other words, I only had ten days to prepare, which translates to one real day. I need to settle everything here within this single day. After all, sailing could easily take two or three real days; my last round trip to Fire Dragon Island took eleven real days. If I forget to handle anything here, it'd be too late to regret it once back.

In sum, with time pressing, Da Fei felt an urgent need to seize the moment. It seemed I'd have to pull an all-nighter today.

Just then, the World Channel had new system information.

—China Region Announcement: The "Hero World Cup" individual match international elimination round 7th game will begin in 10 minutes at 16:00; contestants who made it through, please prepare for the match.

Damn it! Has it already unknowingly reached 4:00 PM? Everything's piling up all at once!

Ha! What's the rush for a mere match? This morning, I ruled the world merely by hanging out in the Demon Child Sea Arena, even if the top players worldwide made rapid progress. At most, I'd send my newly incorporated Demon Wolf and Demon Fox to crush them; few have seen them, anyway—not worried they'd get scared to death.

In short, I'm all about instant kills! Also, I'd like to show the Bloodrose ladies my prowess. They better not overestimate themselves and betray me. Humph!

Chapter 752: Upgrading Divine Artifacts Is Not So Easy

Accompanied by a group of advisors, Da Fei arrived at the Alchemy Laboratory in the sewers and met the long-unseen Necromancer Isaac. At this moment, the Necromancer appeared no different from a small Skeleton Soldier.

Isaac bowed and said, "Welcome, Lord City Lord, have you come to inspect my research results? I am very proud to announce to you, Lord City Lord, that our Divine Level Fragment giant slime monster, Douglas, has awakened and can speak! This means this slime monster has entered the realm of intelligent beings, possessing the potential for continuous evolution! In fact, it has already started to evolve!"

Da Fei suddenly felt a rush of joy, thinking of Douglas! The long-awaited historical wheel is rolling forward?

The military advisor immediately added, "The newly awakened slime monster absorbs the pollution from the Pool of Radiance more quickly, and its constitution is more robust and elastic. I suspect that in the end, it might transform into a giant super bouncy ball!"

Isaac proudly stated, "It's entirely possible! My goal is to enable Douglas to freely switch between solid and liquid states, thus granting Douglas the special skill of crushing and devouring, along with powerful capabilities in land and water battles! This would better protect your city, my lord."

So that's the case! But I'm really busy and not just here to see the slime monster, Da Fei laughed heartily and said, "Great! Very good, Mr. Isaac, in the future, feel free to make any requests you have. By the way, I'm here for the Mysterious Core from the Electric Eel. What does Mr. Isaac think it is?"

Isaac took out the Crystal Stone encased in a glass bottle and said with utmost seriousness, "My lord, I'm sure this is a Divine Level, a more complete Divine Level than Douglas's fragment. It's just in an embryonic state, requiring a great demand for energy, especially electrical energy. In short, it's an unconscious god in a fetal state."

Da Fei laughed heartily, "Great! As expected of the theologian Mr. Isaac, I am very satisfied with your research! When I come next time, I'll definitely have a good chat with you about life and dreams! So, farewell!"

Isaac bowed and said, "Being able to serve you is my honor, farewell!"

...

Da Fei hurriedly transmitted back to the Divine Punishment City. It must be said that using the precious teleportation energy from the surface world to the underworld for Da Fei's errands was a bit whatever. But this is the privilege of high-end players.

Will was already impatiently asking, "Lord City Lord, did you bring it?"

Da Fei took out the Crystal Core excitedly, "Got it, but my researcher said it's an embryonic Divine Level. Can this be used for upgrading?"

Will was suddenly shocked, "Divine Level? This is hard to say, Divine Level is a far more advanced existence than ordinary Crystal Cores, it's the difference between life and non-life. Even in the Divine Levels of dead gods, the gods' self-awareness remains, and this self-awareness will make upgrading equipment uncontrollable, usually leading to severe failures, resulting in equipment damage."

Da Fei's heart tightened, and he quickly asked, "But my researcher said this is an embryonic Divine Level, an unconscious god's embryo. Is this still not possible?"

Will solemnly said, "The Divine Levels of dead gods are many, but embryonic Divine Levels are very rare. This involves the safety of upgrading equipment, and it requires time for me to be sure! However, even if this Divine Level lacks self-awareness and meets the conditions for an upgrade, Divine Level is indeed an existence surpassing ordinary Crystal Cores. Such cross-stage upgrading still carries the risk of upgrade failure. Once it fails, the equipment will be damaged. Are you sure you want to upgrade?"

Da Fei's eyebrows jumped in shock, "No way? Isn't upgrading this unreliable?"

Will nodded solemnly, "But this Divine Level is clearly Wind Attribute, and its compatibility with the gloves is quite high; once upgraded successfully, these gloves might directly advance to a Divine Artifact!"

Da Fei hurriedly asked, "How high is the success rate?"

Will sighed deeply, "If there is only a 30% success rate, would you try? If you don't want to try, then there's no need for me to observe and study this Divine Level."

Da Fei anxiously asked, "What if Mr. Will observes this Divine Level?"

Will sighed, "If this Divine Level truly lacks a hint of self-awareness, it might raise the success rate to about 50%. If this Divine Level is indeed newly born, a transitional entity between Crystal Core and Divine Level, then it might raise the success rate to 70% or even 80%. In any case, the possibility of failure is still very large, Lord City Lord, think carefully."

At this point, Will's hand emitted a faint white light wrapping the Divine Level and had already begun an observation and perception process.

Oh my gosh! Da Fei's head was symbolically shattered everywhere! What is this? Isn't this just like when I used to play those Korean games, refining equipment?

The saying goes that refining makes one poor for three generations and enchantment ruins a lifetime. Upgrading a piece of equipment from blank all the way to +10 is such a nerve-wracking matter! Especially from +9 to +10, that mere 10% success rate was enough to make many ordinary players shy away!

But for Tycoon players, a 10% success rate was really too high! Tycoons would collect 100 pieces of equipment, refine them one by one, and watch one after another explode without even batting an eye, leaving only 10 +9 equipment pieces surviving! Then, in front of onlookers, the tycoon would remain unfazed as he blew up what was already considered top-quality in the eyes of regular players, ultimately giving birth to a +10!

That's a tycoon! That's grandeur! Back in the day when Da Fei played Korean games, he admired players like this the most! Now thinking about it, compared to them, I was scared to death by a 30% chance. This mindset and courage are hardly world-class for an amateur player, not to mention incapable of being even a nouveau riche; how embarrassing!

The problem is, the tycoon uses sheer numbers to turn low probability into certainty, but I only have one pair of gloves. If they burst, they are gone, leaving only one solution—

Da Fei made a grimace and asked, "Do you have any blessing gemstones to prevent equipment from getting damaged?"

Will was astonished, "What is that?"

Gosh! There's simply no such thing in this game! Da Fei felt even more entangled at the moment. The wisest choice now is, of course, not to upgrade. The problem is, humans are like this. Once you see that a little push can turn a bicycle into a motorcycle, and the success rate is quite high, you can no longer sit still, nor can you easily return to the status quo.

Wait, I have God-level Luck Skill! Once my Lucky Hand is activated, it's 100% lucky, can this work? However, my Lucky Hand was already used when ambushing the three Demon Race Mages, and now it still needs to recuperate for half a day before recovering. Anyway, got it!

Da Fei immediately said, "Mr. Will, I have decided to upgrade the gloves, but I have an unreasonable request. I hope you will join my team at that time. I have God-level Luck Skill and Lucky Hand, hoping to reduce the failure rate."

Will was stunned, "Are you sure about this?"

Da Fei nodded solemnly, "You said it yourself, when at your level, technology is no longer the deciding factor; inspiration and fortune are the keys!"

Will exclaimed, "That's what Reilly said—anyway, since you are willing to try, I've got nothing to say. Let's give it a shot, after all, successfully upgrading the gloves is also my dream!"

Da Fei gritted his teeth, "Alright! Let's fight against fate for our common goal!"

Just then, world information resounded once more:

—China Region Announcement: The second round of the "Hero World Cup" Individual International Elimination Tournament has begun; we wish all participants good luck in the competition.

—System Prompt: Congratulations! You have successfully logged into the World Battle Network System.

—System Prompt: Your current comprehensive military strength is listed as follows, please select the military strength to deploy...

Da Fei exhaled a long breath, truly refreshing my mood, great! It's rare for me not to go AFK this time, I'll give you a straightforward decision. The Hell Volcano Demon Wolf Demon Foxes are all deployed. As for the boss Demon Wolf King, never mind, this Command Value has ridiculously broken the 2000 mark. Bringing it along means I can't bring any other troops. That's fine; at least it avoids scaring the entire world silly.

Simultaneously, at the other end of the world in the European Union Zone, another announcement popped up following the competition announcement!

—European Union Zone Bright Alliance Announcement: The 436th edict of the Bright Alliance Pope, the Pope urgently recruits powerful Warriors to Holy Light City Square for assembly. . .

For a moment, the entire European Union Zone was in an uproar; what's going on? The real situation is currently only known to the Royal Ark Team, because they can no longer hold on!

Chapter 753: The UK Team Praised by the Entire European Union

European Union Zone, Divine Punishment City.

Compared to China's Divine Punishment City, which is desolately empty after killing all around, the Divine Punishment City in the European Union Zone is undergoing a much more ferocious bombardment from the Hell Corps. The second Siege Machine has just been assembled, and the third is already being set up. The roaring explosions shatter the skies above the city's barrier.

Just coming off another failed charge, the Royal Ark Team Command Center is in a stupefied silence; 40 cannon fodder team members were all wiped out again and resurrected back in the city. This time, the Royal Ark Team suddenly suffered a surprise attack from the Hell Air Cavalry. The intensity of the Hell Corps' attacks has drastically increased!

A grim reality is laid in front of the Royal Ark Team—they either gamble everything, using all their reserved Magic Scrolls, even at the expense of a vast majority of their Angel Army, or they wait for their doom! However, depleting the hard-gathered Angel Army in such a harebrained way is absolutely impossible, and waiting for doom is even more so!

At this moment, Prince George with a stern expression, presides over the war strategy meeting: "Although I don't know why the battle has progressed to this point, it is clear that our current situation is beyond our capability to handle alone. We must find a way to mobilize the NPCs to fight together. If the Angel Leader himself takes action, no problems will remain unsolved!"

Lancelot nods: "Exactly, according to the game's usual pattern, NPCs must join the battle at this time, which may even reduce the difficulty!"

The participants unanimously agree; "Indeed, this is the best approach."

Thus, in the game, Lancelot, Bedivere and other formal Crusaders respectfully approach the Angel Leader and solemnly say: "Your Excellency, the scale of the battle has grown beyond our capabilities, we request your main force to join us in the strike!"

The Angel Leader sternly responds: "Are you sure you lack the power to cope?"

Lancelot grits his teeth: "Please forgive my incompetence!"

At this moment, Lancelot is prepared for being scolded and demoted, but if he can only get the NPCs to help tide over this difficulty, Lancelot's personal losses amount to nothing.

Unexpectedly, the Angel Leader says with profound implications: "Perhaps, it is beyond your power to cope, but this is not a reason for my main forces to act; otherwise, the Demons would think we are showing weakness, and it will only strengthen their determination to attack the city. Thus, it's time to mobilize more Warriors to join the battle!"

Mobilize more Warriors to fight? At this moment, the entire senior management of the Royal Ark Team is dumbfounded!

What does this mean? It means lowering the barrier to enter Divine Punishment City! Even directly initiating National War mode, making Divine Punishment City accessible to anyone, thus the secret monopoly and leading position cultivated by the Royal Ark Team in Divine Punishment City may be challenged by traditional strong teams from France, Germany, Sweden, and others. Even more gut-wrenching, once Divine Punishment City becomes barrier-free, the 5 million UK pounds the Royal Ark Team spent on acquiring mission materials in the market today will all become a joke!

And indeed it did!

—European Union Bright Alliance Announcement: The 436th decree of the Bright Alliance Pope, calling urgently for strong Warriors to gather at the Holy Light City Square to combat evil!

And at this moment, the third-string team members of the Royal Ark Team, who were in the middle of a certification quest, suddenly have their quest interrupted by NPCs: "Warrior, justice calls. You've preliminarily met the qualifications to become an Intern Knight. Please bring 10 units of crystal or gemstone, plus 300,000 Gold Coins for teleportation fees, and head to the Holy Light City Square now!"

Not only barrier-free, but also bring your own provisions and transportation pre-arranged, like volunteer trainees! At this moment, Prince George spits blood, and the command center falls utterly silent!

Finally, Gao Wen coughs to break the silence: "I suggest, all our guild members, including peripheral team members, should sign up immediately."

George waves his hand: "Go!"

Just then, another team member comes to report: "Reporting to Your Highness, the seventh round of games has determined its first victory—"

George impatiently interrupts: "Don't talk about the games. I'm not interested in them right now."

The team member hesitates: "But, it involves the Chinese player Da Fei—"

Lancelot asks: "What about him?"

"He decapitated Napoleon from the French Arc de Triomphe Team within just 11 seconds at the start of the match, becoming the first player to advance from this round."

The entire command center erupted in shock! Prince George was especially terrified: "How can there possibly be a player in this world who can behead Napoleon, a top-ranked professional player, in 11 seconds? Quickly switch to his video footage!"

"Yes, Your Highness!"

The 11-second video flashed by, and as the massive shadows of a dozen or so creatures let out a feral howl and plunged into Napoleon's dense and numerous splendid army formation, then the entire formation instantly collapsed due to the beheading of its commander, leaving all members of the Royal Ark Team dumbstruck!

Prince George murmured in disbelief, "What kind of troops are these? Dark creatures from the Underground World, Scorpion Lions?"

Lancelot frowned and said, "No, Scorpion Lions do not fly this fast, and this feral howl clearly resembles a trench warfare skill!"

Bedivere suddenly realized, "Please play back the sound of this creature's roar again!"

After three replays, all the team members' complexions changed drastically: "This roar, we definitely heard it during the public beta."

"Exactly, at the very edge of the plains in Divine Punishment City! No, it comes from even farther away, the mountains!"

"So, you're saying, these creatures are Hell Creatures! Has Da Fei also reached Divine Punishment City, and even ventured into Hell, a place we can never reach, and he has even recruited powerful creatures we have never seen before?"

In this moment, Lancelot finally had a moment of clarity: "So that's how it is! Now I understand why the battle situation has developed so strangely, because Da Fei from the China Region is also in Divine Punishment City, and he's rapidly advancing the plot which in turn influences our side of the story!"

Prince George exclaimed in shock, "How is that possible? He plays his game, and we play ours, how could it affect us?"

Lancelot sighed, "Because the Hell Race is different; they have the capability of cross-region national warfare. The Hell Race has been globally interconnected since the server started, and Divine Punishment City in their region is clearly a part of an integrated global system!"

Prince George was astounded, "What about Divine Punishment City in other regions? Are they also being besieged like us?"

Lancelot shook his head, "Probably not, the Divine Punishment City in other regions might not be accessed by anyone and are not ready to trigger any plots."

For a moment, Prince George was shocked, left speechless on the spot.

Just then, the teleportation array in the hall of Divine Punishment City shimmered brightly, as the first batch of unrestricted players with their own provisions from multiple nations arrived. At this moment, the morale of the Royal Ark Team was shattered.

At that time, a player wearing a French flag on their head burst out laughing among the crowd: "Lancelot, I knew it was you guys, I knew it was you here!" The speaking player was none other than Napoleon, who had just been eliminated by Da Fei.

Lancelot, not in a good mood, responded, "So it's Emperor, your performance just now was not up to your usual standard, was it?"

Napoleon, also irritated, said, "I had just entered the arena when I heard there was global news in the European Union Zone, I switched over to see it, and the next thing I knew, I was gone."

At that moment, another player named Einstein from Germany laughed and said, "Lance, I've always thought you British are selfish and love to play tricks, but this time I have to commend you for selflessly unlocking the gates to the Divine Domain, enhancing the strength of our entire European Union Zone. Let's progress and grow together in the coming battles!"

Napoleon clapped and laughed heartily, "Well said, let's give Lance a round of applause!"

In no time, the players from the European Union Zone present responded with a round of applause. Then the teleportation array flickered continuously as more players arrived; newcomers were also confused but followed the others in their clueless applause. Soon, golden name reporters arrived with gold light flashing, and an immediate on-site interview began; Divine Punishment City in the European Union Zone instantly became festive like a joyous holiday.

Quickly, the dramatic developments in the European Union Zone were spread around the world through forums.

However, for Da Fei, who had just ended the match without any challenge and was unaware of these updates, all he could see were the billowing clouds of dust rising from the end of Despair Plain — had Tachiusu returned?

Chapter 754: Bloodrose Leader Arrives at Divine Punishment City

At this moment, China's Divine Punishment City.

Right after the match had ended, Da Fei suddenly heard the alarm blast throughout the city from atop the city walls. Out in the Despair Plain a cloud of dust billowed—a giant creature was charging towards Divine Punishment City!

Is it Tachiusu and Tamilia? Da Fei excitedly pulled out the telescope. No, send the Blood Eagles out immediately for reconnaissance!

Closer, and now visible! Yes, it's a giant dragon! On its back, clinging to vines are none other than Tachiusu and Tamilia—they've succeeded! They truly did it!

In this moment, Da Fei was so moved he was on the verge of tears! That's right, today I've been smiling all day, I'm even sick of smiling! Now I want to cry! Laugh when you want to laugh, cry when you want to cry, this is the state of being for me, haha, wahahahaha! Why am I laughing again?

Regaining his composure, Da Fei immediately rushed to the garrison officer Ror: "Miss Ror, it's our own people, hold your fire!"

Anlicia was also invigorated: "Lady Tachiusu has succeeded in taming the giant dragon and returning!"

"Giant dragon?" Ror's expression changed, then she rallied: "Very well! Ready all troops to welcome the return of our warriors!"

However, something still wasn't right, the giant dragon was still not obeying orders, stumbling and swaying erratically, almost like a mudfish squirming and jumping about on land, probably the reason for the enormous dust cloud it was stirring up? Anyway, as long as the general direction is correct, haha!

Nearing, the giant dragon approached the Despair Plain engulfed in dust, the terrified Demon Army hastily scattered to both sides unable to escape, and as the dragon made another swift twist, it rolled over them leaving a trail of indistinct flesh and blood behind, as the entire Demon camp sounded a piercing alarm across the plains.

To make both friend and foe sound the alarm at once—what a formidable dragon this was!

And the commanding Demon Heroes of the Demon Army quickly reacted, ordering millions of expendable Flesh Demons to launch suicide self-detonation attacks against the dragon! This situation was completely different from the previous one where only a few hundred Sky Cavalry were involved in the attack.

Da Fei couldn't help exclaiming in shock: "Disaster! Even if Tamilyia and Tachiusu can fly back alive, it's tough to say whether the spoils of war from the giant dragon will make it!"

Ror spoke solemnly: "Warrior, although the Demon Army has retreated beyond the range of our siege engines, the enemy is certainly planning their next wave of attacks. They're most likely to send a large number of Flying Demons to forcefully attack and destroy our siege engines without any concern for sacrifices. What we need to do is to take advantage of the dragon's sudden appearance, launch a preemptive strike to further disrupt the enemy, as well as to seize the enemy supplies, to make the Demon Army's next operation difficult to execute. Warrior, please join us in the offensive battle!"

—System Prompt: Divine Punishment City's garrison officer Ror has issued you a merit mission "Harass the Demon Attack Troops". Do you accept?

Da Fei was astoundingly shaken! Holy cow, how phenomenal is Ror's intelligence! Not only has she considered the issue of the Demon Airforce attacking the city which I hadn't even thought about, but she also thought of looting amidst the chaos! And made an immediate decision, ready to charge out! I consider myself a master player, but I feel ashamed!

What else to say now, of course, I accept! The troops to sortie? Certainly, all the Demon Wolves, Demon Foxes, the entire Forest Goddess Power Angels Army!

As the rallying horns of Divine Punishment City sounded, Ror instantly assembled hundreds of Angels to buff each other and make pre-battle preparations, which was almost the entire force of Divine Punishment City, wasn't it? With such a powerful natural ally as the giant dragon, as well as Ror's Angel Army on our side, how could I be satisfied with merely a "harassment" level attack? This time, I want to completely decimate the Demon Army, burn them, kill them, loot them completely, ensuring they'll never dare to besiege the city again in their lifetime. I want to achieve a complete and decisive victory!

.....

The news from the European Union Divine Punishment City instantly shocked the entire world. Divine Punishment City and Intern Knights became the top search terms on all forums and websites.

The Bloodrose Guild, which was about to start collecting UK Region information, didn't need to bother anymore, as all the answers were instantly revealed. The EU Region was teeming with Intern Knights, causing the recently excited Bloodrose Leader Zhou Qing—who was not even a few minutes into enjoying her Crusader title—to be utterly disconsolate.

Everyone knew that the 300,000 Gold Coin teleportation fee was no small sum, not something average players could afford to spend, and those who could afford to teleport over to check things out immediately must be the top players of the EU Region. If so many of the EU's top players successfully obtained the Crusader side-job, then the overall strength of the EU Region in future National Wars would rise to a fearsome level.

Meanwhile, Da Fei's suspicious actions within the Saint Paul Knight Order, along with his nonchalant and ease of handing out three Crusader advancement items, didn't need any explanation either—Da Fei too was far advanced in the world ranking.

The Bloodrose Leader Zhou Qing felt the urgency of time and immediately sent a message to both Blood Arrow Fragrance and Blood Arrow Linglong: "Come join me at the Saint Paul Knight Order right now, the Monastery missions can be put on hold for the time being."

Little Fang, who had just joined the second tier players and successfully infiltrated the organization, knew what was about to happen and, therefore, very willingly and obediently replied: "Understood, Leader."

As the Bloodrose Leader's ship Bloodrose Rosa appeared at the Saint Paul Knight Order, a host of questing players seemed to witness the descent of a Goddess, all kneeling and shouting in worship:

"Leader, I want to join the Guild!"

"Leader, please take me, I am willing to do anything! My nickname is the All-night Steel Man!"

"Leader, we love you!"

Though the Bloodrose Leader Zhou Qing was a familiar figure in the city, every public appearance always drew numerous admirers. Facing the pursuits of her admirers, all she needed to do was to smile and wave calmly to the crowd.

Zhou Qing knew this silent encouragement would make each person feel seen by her, would prevent any sense of being overlooked, and would inspire each to work even harder, looking forward to the next time they could earn her more favored gaze. Zhou Qing enjoyed this feeling immensely, never growing tired of it!

Soon, Blood Arrow Fragrance and Blood Arrow Linglong also arrived. Seeing how the leader captivated everyone in the hall, Little Fang suddenly felt disgruntled: "Showoff! She really thinks she's a star!"

Little Li couldn't help laughing and crying: "But she really is a star, she's been on magazine and website headlines!"

Little Fang let out a long sigh: "It really is good to be born into privilege, some people just can't be compared to others."

Little Li snorted: "Knowing you can't compare, why are you still jealous of her?"

Little Fang retorted unhappily: "I'm just simply annoyed by her! You know, when someone's personal conditions are too good, they can make enemies without offending anyone, just like you should be careful."

Little Li was surprised: "What about me? Who have I made an enemy of?"

Little Fang shook her head and laughed: "Are you really oblivious, or just pretending? Forget it, it's not a big deal anyway."

Now both of them came before Bloodrose Rosa and greeted, "Sorry to keep the leader waiting."

Bloodrose Rosa smiled faintly: "Let's go, enter!"

Watching the trio enter through the back door of the Knight Order, the players in the hall were abuzz: "The Goddess even goes into the backyard! True to her name, so high-end!"

"Hey hey, those two that followed the Goddess, weren't they the ones brought by Big Cousin? They've got some substance to be allowed into the backyard at such a low level!"

"Yes, exactly! Now that's something, Big Cousin must be riding the wave, about to become a national uncle!"

"Holy cow, next time I see Big Cousin, I'll have to suck up to him big time!"

"Why don't you just forget it! Are you planning to brown-nose with your ass?"

...

Bloodrose Rosa and her two companions reached the teleportation array in the backyard of the Knight Order. The priestess of the array reminded, "While I don't know by what means the three of you ascended to the rank of Crusader, your names are not on the church's roster. So, before you're officially registered, each of you only has two free uses of the teleportation array. After that, you'll need to pay the teleportation fees yourself."

It appears there are indeed drawbacks to this opportunistic promotion as a Crusader, and the quest chain can't be avoided. Zhou Qing nodded, "Thank you for the reminder!"

With a flash of light from the teleportation array, the scene went dark during the loading wait, then brightened up - they had arrived in Divine Punishment City.

Then a solemn and imposing voice echoed in the hall: "Welcome to the three new warriors, I am Angel Leader Sazer of Divine Punishment City. I'm very sorry that I'm preoccupied and cannot meet you in person, and I'm also sorry that the garrison officer is engaged in battle outside and cannot receive you. Overall, you'll have to manage on your own..."

Manage on their own? For a moment, the entire Bloodrose Studio, watching the big screen, couldn't help but be shocked and amused!

So, with curiosity, Bloodrose Rosa looked around and walked out of the hall to the plaza, and immediately heard the thundering roars and earthshaking cries of battle below.

The three of them ran to the battlements in a panic and were stunned: "Is this a war?"

And at that moment, Blood Arrow Fragrance suddenly pointed to a light dot flying back and forth in the distance: "Look there, it's Da Fei! Da Fei is flying in the sky!"

Bloodrose Rosa was astounded on the spot: "It really is Da Fei!"

Immediately, the Bloodrose Studio erupted: "Oh my goodness, is this the first time we've seen Da Fei leveling up and questing in the wild?"

Just then, a flash of fire on the big screen reddened half the sky, and the entire Bloodrose Studio exploded again: "Oh my god, what the heck is that fire-breathing giant beast, it's incinerated so many ants with one breath!"

"Which side is this giant beast on? Who exactly is this war against?"

At this moment, Bloodrose Holy Spear shook her head and laughed: "Sister, it looks like you're about to have an unexpected encounter with Da Fei, and he's sure to bring up the Banshee negotiations."

Zhou Qing came back to her senses and said coolly: "Well, that's easy, just say the Banshee was snatched by him, and we thought the book was useless, so we've no idea where we threw it, and it'll take some time to find."

The ladies burst into laughter: "As expected of Big Sister, offending no one and not making any definitive statements, let's see how Da Fei handles this!"

Bloodrose Qiqi laughed heartily: "Maybe Da Fei will be so anxious, he'll straight up trade a Divine Artifact for it!"

The ladies joked: "Right, when he brings out the Divine Artifact, we'll suddenly 'find it'!"

Bloodrose Qiqi laughed heartily again: "Do you really think a Divine Artifact can catch our Big Sister's eye?"

Zhou Qing chuckled: "Depends on my mood!"

The ladies laughed once again.

Chapter 755: The Final Battle of Despair Plain

Despair Plain. When Da Fei and Ror's Angel Army appeared, Tachiusu and Tamilia expertly began to maneuver the dragon's head to spray fire. In an instant, hundreds of Flesh Demons turned to scorched earth within the flames, and along with the dragon's erratic eel-like movements, countless Demon troops were crushed into minced meat.

The disparity in size, speed, and strike range meant that even a single giant dragon wasn't something the Demon Army could easily handle with numbers alone, especially with the full-scale assault from Divine Punishment City. The battle from the start was overwhelmingly smooth.

However, the fighting spirit of the Demon Army was equally determined. The Demon Heroes would never stand by and let the giant dragon's spoils fall effortlessly into enemy hands. Moreover, as long as they could exhaust this giant dragon to death regardless of losses, the Angel Army would be too isolated to pose a threat, and the value of gaining the giant dragon's spoils far exceeded the sacrifice of mere cannon fodder.

Currently, the Demon Army was employing a typical human-wave stamina-draining tactic, letting you kill and kill until your hands were sore!

So, even as the giant dragon continued to wriggle its way closer to Divine Punishment City, reaching the range of its siege machine, the Hell Army still refused to give up the siege.

Now, with piercing whistles in the air, Divine Punishment City's siege machine began firing. Massive burning rocks crashed down like meteors on the crowded Blood Demon group, with countless burning chunks of flesh splattering and flying! Yet, as a wave of Flesh Demons fell, new ones immediately followed, with reinforcements continuously streaming from the direction of the Lava Blood Lake.

At this point, Da Fei felt extremely conflicted, wishing for the demons and giant dragon to annihilate each other, yet fearing the demons might really kill the giant dragon. If that happened, he wouldn't get any piece of the Divine Artifact, and if the dragon died here on the plain, he'd likely get nothing, not even the dragon skin.

So, no matter what, the giant dragon had to make every effort to approach Divine Punishment City—to die best at the city gate, not on the mountain's foot! The problem was the dragon wasn't very obedient. Control over its general direction was possible, but getting it to climb the narrow uphill path leading to Divine Punishment City would be exceedingly difficult.

Unless the entire Demon Army was repelled, it was impossible to guarantee claiming credit for killing the giant dragon. Yet the demons stubbornly refused to let him make the kill and wouldn't retreat!

The more Da Fei fought, the more exhausted he became, the more conflicted his thoughts were, causing a headache! He originally thought controlling the giant dragon meant the Divine Artifact was within reach, but to his utter shock, an unexpected issue occurred at the very last moment! Moreover, Da Fei never imagined new visitors arriving at Divine Punishment City, and all his current battles were being watched by the Bloodrose Leader—no, by the entire Bloodrose Studio.

...

At this time, looking at the wall's big screen display, the Bloodrose Studio was abuzz with chatter.

"Strange, why is there a Space Gate in the square? The European Union Zone doesn't have one, right? Can big sis go in?"

"Don't say things like that, be careful—you might get teleported somewhere weird and not come back."

"Look, that little dwarf in the blacksmith shop is the hero who appeared in the city this morning, right?"

"That's right, it's him, meaning there was already an event in Divine Punishment City in our China Region this morning."

"Could this dwarf hero be another of Da Fei's heroes?"

"No! Sub-Heroes taken in by players have a notification above their heads that says 'Deputy Officer of someone.'"

"Think about it—it's impossible. With Da Fei's lecherous personality, how could he recruit a male hero? That Flower Demon Hero, maybe. Speaking of which, where is that Flower Demon Hero?"

"Fighting! Look closely. There are two green dots on the back of that Fire-spitting Giant Crocodile—those are Hero Auras! It must be the Flower Demon Hero!"

Suddenly, the entire studio was in an uproar!

"This Flower Demon Hero can actually control such a massive beast? That's incredible!"

"Hey, hey, Da Fei took a Nun Hero and a Banshee from us. We can't let him off easily! Big sis, recruit those two heroes for us! They're definitely Epic Level!"

"How could heroes in such a high-end scene be just Epic Level—they're at least Legendary Level!"

"Blood Arrow Fragrance, Blood Arrow Linglong, don't just stand there gawking. Go talk to the blacksmith shop and the neighboring shop."

"Got it."

Needless to say, the studio erupted in awe once more!

"Oh my God! The equipment in this blacksmith shop is amazing!"

"Angels! So all the recruitable species here are Angels, and now we know where the British Team's special Angel Army comes from!"

"The British Team's development is way too advanced! With Noah's Ark and special Angel species, how can anyone stand up to them in future National Wars?"

While the team members chimed in with their discussions, big sis Zhou Qing and several guild higher-ups fell into deep thought. The Bloodrose Guild was probably the second power from the China Region to enter Divine Punishment City after Da Fei. Although this was very advanced relative to the China Region, compared to Da Fei and particularly the British Team, it fell far behind.

How should we develop? How to handle relations with Da Fei? Collaboration or confrontation? The key was, is investing in Divine Punishment City worth it? Was the European Union Zone's current predicament due to the British Zone's advanced development?

Just as she was contemplating, a clanging mechanical sound rang out from the top of Divine Punishment City, and a massive burning stone roared out, trailing long streaks of flame!

In utter shock, Zhou Qing looked up, astounded and slack-jawed, simultaneously causing the studio to explode with excitement again: "Oh my God! There's actually such a large siege machine!"

"Yes, the European Union Zone's Divine Punishment City doesn't seem to have one!"

"The European Union Zone does! But it's used by the Hell Race for sieges there!"

"Could it be that Da Fei has captured the Hell Race's siege machine?"

"How's that possible? Are you saying Da Fei single-handedly accomplished what the entire British Team couldn't?"

"No matter whether it's true or not, at least our China Region has one, meaning our region has no pressure on defense. See, we have demons just rushing up the mountain on our side, while the European Union Zone has already raised three or four machines down their mountain!"

At this moment, although Zhou Qing was forcing calm, an increasing number of impossibilities completely overturned her understanding of the game. She finally realized the extent of Da Fei's high-level existence! Of course, perhaps what she saw was just the tip of the iceberg, so how should she deal with such a controversial figure?

Zhou Qing laughed a little, immediately formulating a plan in her mind.

...

At that moment, Da Fei was still battling fiercely in the Despair Plain. No, it wasn't fierce at all—he was killing effortlessly without retaliation, but that was precisely the issue. It indicated the demons didn't take his army seriously at all!

The giant dragon was already significantly weakened—likely nearing the end. Admittedly, since it got hit with a couple of Divine Suppressions at its lair, was tormented by Da Fei's seed-planting, then besieged by the Demon Air Cavalry, dragged out by Tamilia for a long haul, and eventually encircled here by tens of thousands of Demon Army, its life could only be described as divine punishment, and it was about time to end its suffering.

But the problem was, although Tamilia and Tachiusu were trying hard, they still couldn't control the dragon to charge up Divine Punishment City's upper mountain staircase, let alone the dragon being driven to extreme frenzy from internal and external assaults, making such micro-control impossible.

This meant the dragon skin was probably not going to be his, but no matter what, the dragon must be finished off by Da Fei's hand personally! Yet landing the final blow is absolutely a God-level skill. Could he snatch the final blow from hundreds of Flesh Demons and explosive minions led by heroes?

Looking at the Divine Punishment City just before him, Da Fei, hot with anxiety, suddenly remembered something—the city had a boundary barrier! During his last test, the barrier advanced straight to the Despair Plain's Demon Sealing Array, meaning his current position could be covered by the barrier, no, it could entirely envelop the giant dragon and tens of thousands of Demon Army, even the heroes!

Now was the perfect opportunity to strike, so if not now, when should the barrier be activated?

Overjoyed, Da Fei hurriedly flew to the busy Ror's side in battle: "Miss Ror, please activate Divine Punishment City's barrier. The main enemy forces are all within the barrier's scope, so it's a great opportunity to capture them all!"

Ror was taken aback: "That's right! I was too occupied with killing enemies! The Sea Soul Staff from the warriors contributed so much energy, this barrier's strength is definitely extraordinary, but Your Excellency, once the barrier is used, the consumed energy will decrease your 'Energy Collection' mission reward. Are you certain?"

How could a meager mission reward compare to the giant dragon's Divine Artifact reward? Also, if he could eliminate this group of Demon Army, his 'Harass the Demon Army' mission would make a huge leap forward—it was a no-brainer!

Da Fei immediately said, "Please, Miss Ror, quickly release the barrier!"

Ror smiled, "Very well, as expected of Your Excellency!" Then she transformed into a golden light rushing skyward and disappeared. At this moment, the golden light shield over Divine Punishment City suddenly brightened, and then it rapidly expanded like blowing a bubble toward the mountain's base.

This was the effect Da Fei wanted! He could already imagine how severely tormented the tens of thousands of Flesh Demons would be within such a powerful barrier—how could they contest him for the dragon? Ha ha, wah ha ha ha!

Faced with such a sudden transformation, the Demon Army still showed no sign of retreating because they couldn't escape! At this moment, several Demon Heroes immediately reacted, entering different Sealing Arrays surrounding Divine Punishment City and began casting spells, making the Array glow intensely red!

Da Fei was bewildered. What's this?

At this instant, a golden light descended from the sky, and Ror instantly returned to Da Fei's side, overjoyed: "Your Excellency, the enemy heroes chose to use the Sealing Array to counter our army's barrier, which means they're trapped, and they would never expect that our army's barrier strength is now beyond normal, far from their easy opposition, providing us a golden opportunity to annihilate the enemy entirely!"

Da Fei's excitement was sudden: "Annihilation!?"

As Ror's words trailed off, the golden light shield's color instantly condensed, emanating a metallic-like glow while the expanding speed suddenly accelerated, instantly engulfing Despair Plain where Da Fei stood. Countless demons let out earth-shattering wails, and steam erupting from their bodies formed enormous smoke clouds, obstructing Da Fei's view!

This was the power of the barrier!

Chapter 756: Dragon Slayer and the Victory of the Battle

As the barrier enveloped the Despair Plain, tens of thousands of demons on the plain let out an earth-shattering wail. Inside the barrier, the bodies of the demons rapidly corroded into steam, filling the Despair Plain with thick smoke. This scene was as shocking as Sazer's baptism of the Thunder Angel.

The barrier continued to expand outward, quickly enveloping the Demon Heroes presiding over the Arrays in the Sealing Array. For a moment, blood-red smoke rose from the Demon Heroes' crimson armors, and the red glow of each Sealing Array flickered dimly, on the verge of collapse!

Ror was overjoyed and said, "The enemy heroes' biggest mistake was underestimating the power of our barrier, so they pursued to the foot of the mountain with no qualms, arrogantly thinking they could weaken our barrier's strength by joining hands. But they don't know that our barrier absorbed the Divine Power of the Hydra from the Sea Soul Staff, which is a high-level presence that the Demon Heroes cannot contend with. In this battle, we are sure to win!"

Da Fei nodded repeatedly with excitement, "We're sure to win! Take everything from them!"

Oh my, the Hydra absorbed a thousand years of refined Divine Power from the World Tree's soul, and it's such a waste to use it to eliminate these vermin. If I don't seize all their supplies from the rear, I'd be doing a disservice to the Hydra's spirit in the Magic Wand!

Just then, Da Fei's Demon Wolf and Demon Fox troops also crashed to the ground in agony, their health plummeting. At the same time, the giant dragon, which was still twisting and howling just a moment ago, finally fell with a resounding crash, kicking up a final cloud of dust. It didn't even have the strength to howl anymore.

There was no suspense left in this battle! The victory that should have belonged to me finally returned to my hands after the last scuffle. At this moment, Da Fei felt a huge relief and no joy or sorrow. After all, thinking about it carefully, the giant dragon was really pitiful, just sleeping there, not provoking anyone. It was just that its heartbeat was too loud, which brought about its demise.

As a human, I am greedier than even a demon. After all, even demons didn't kill it while it was asleep. Alas, this is original sin.

Amidst his sentiments, the Sealing Array presided over by the Demon Heroes finally collapsed with a booming sound. Several demons howled in unison, turning into white light and disappearing! Oh yeah!

With the demise of the Demon Heroes and the resistance of the Sealing Arrays gone, tens of thousands of demons across the Despair Plain let out another earth-shattering wail. The white thick smoke rising from their bodies immediately turned blood-red, and the entire Despair Plain was instantly shrouded in a blood mist—then, the tens of thousands of demon carcasses fell simultaneously with a thunderous sound, raising clouds of dust!

At this moment, Da Fei was shocked on the spot, dumbfounded!

In Da Fei's vision, thousands of enemies were densely packed and countless, and the scene of these tens of thousands of enemies falling simultaneously was unimaginably shocking! How much Experience could this battle yield?

Da Fei knew what was coming again, and he waited with utmost anticipation and tension for the screen-filling System Prompts! Da Fei could imagine that the results of this battle would definitely surpass any previous victory! No, previous battles that eliminated at most a thousand enemies simply couldn't compare to this one!

At this moment, a golden light flashed on Tamilia, who was atop the giant dragon!

Da Fei's heart trembled greatly, and he thought, yes, it should be Tamilia who delivers the first news! She has been in a combat state all day long! This golden light meant——System Prompt: Congratulations! Your follower citizen, Tamilia, has gone through rigorous battles, understanding the mysteries of a hero, and has grown into a hero!

Ding! Like a heavenly symphony, the System Prompt flashed across the screen!

—System Prompt: Congratulations! You successfully killed the powerful creature "Hell Volcano Ground Dragon King," gaining +8.66 million Experience! You defeated a true giant dragon and earned the achievement "Dragon Slayer," with achievement rewards: All participating heroes gain +200 Hero Life, +200 Command Power, +20 free attribute points, +5 Skill Points. Your troops' health +2, damage +1, permanent Morale +1.

—System Prompt: You have obtained the spoils "Divine Artifact: Earth Dragon King Boots," "Divine Artifact: Earth Dragon's Heart," and "Unit Building Blueprint, Earth Dragon Nest"!

—Earth Dragon King Boots: Divine Artifact, boots equipment slot, Defense +10, special skill: Earth Domain.

Earth Domain: Aura skill, within a 100-meter radius, troop Move Speed, Attack Speed, march speed +10%, restores health and Stamina +10% every 10 seconds. Offers a certain chance to inflict knockdown and crush effects on enemies and effectively resist knockdown and crush.

—Earth Dragon's Heart: Large Divine Artifact, mechanical device, cannot be carried. It's a petrified heart that has absorbed the Earth's power over a long time, containing endless surging energy.

—Unit Building Blueprint, Volcano Earth Dragon Nest: Enables recruitment of Hell Creatures, Volcano Earth Dragon, must be built in a Lava Volcano location.

—System Prompt: You are the first player in the world to kill a giant dragon, would you like to publicize your achievement on the World Channel? Publicizing will grant you 10,000 world reputation points and also boost your rank in the World Hall of Fame.

...

Advanced hero! Divine Artifact drop! Publicize ranking or not? Every time this happened, Da Fei felt his eyes weren't enough to see and his brain wasn't enough to think!

But it wasn't over yet, as Da Fei prepared to check Tamilia's advanced Hero Attributes, another row of System Prompts flooded the screen:

—System Prompt: Congratulations! You defeated the Demon Hero Army, achieved victory in battle, gained +27.56 million Experience! Earned +2.53 million Gold Coins! Acquired spoils Demon Essence +6,717, and A-Rank strategic equipment "Blood Armor Cloak," "Blood Armor Battle Dress," "Blood Armor Boots."

Blood Armor Battle Dress: A-Rank strategic treasure, +25 Defense, all troops' health +10%.

Blood Armor Cloak: A-Rank strategic treasure, Morale +3, all troops' health +1%.

Blood Armor Boots: A-Rank strategic treasure, +5 Defense, troop Move Speed +10%, all troops' health +2%.

—System Prompt: Congratulations! You earned the achievement "Victory in the 16th Battle," with Command Power reward +10.

—System Prompt: Congratulations! You earned the achievement "Victory in the 10th Glorious Battle," with Command Power reward +20, Personal Life +20.

...

Then a golden light flashed above Da Fei's head, and the newly advanced hero Tamilia continuously flashed with golden light!

—System Prompt: Congratulations! You successfully leveled up to 48, gaining +1 free attribute, +1 Free Skill Points, Basic-level Ranger auxiliary Attack bonus +1, Basic Reconnaissance Sentinel auxiliary Attack bonus +1, God-level Navigator free attribute point bonus +1...

—System Prompt: Congratulations! Your Vice Hero Alicia leveled up to 43!...

—System Prompt: Congratulations! Your Vice Hero Alina leveled up to 37!...

—System Prompt: Your team hero Tachiusu leveled up to 68!

—System Prompt: Your follower hero Tamilia leveled up from level 2...

...

—System Prompt: Your follower hero Tamilia leveled up to level 31...

At this moment, Da Fei couldn't think at all, completely overwhelmed by the flood of System Prompts! At this moment, he just needed to laugh heartily, right? Ha-ha, wahaha!

And just as tens of thousands of demons crashed to the ground, the entire Bloodrose Studio fell silent!

Chapter 757: God-level Vine Master Tamilia

As the tens of thousands of demons fell with a thunderous crash, the victory cheers of the Angel Army echoed across the plains, and the bells of triumph sounded from Divine Punishment City.

Ror shouted, "Now is the time to seize the enemy's supplies, let's take this opportunity to achieve even greater victories!"

In an instant, the Angel Army advanced towards the open plains in the rear. Da Fei's excited and exuberant mood quickly calmed down. After all, this kind of cleanup job wasn't something he should do; his immediate priority was to tally up the loot.

As for the "Would you like to announce the dragon-slaying information" prompt in front of him? Was there even a question? Develop quietly, show off flamboyantly, of course, he was going to announce it! In this information era, fame equals benefits. He wanted the whole world to know that his last defeat of the gods wasn't a fluke. Haha, wahaha!

—China Region World Channel: Warm congratulations! China Region player Da Fei has become the first player to slay a giant dragon and received the 'Dragon Slayer' achievement title!

—World Channel Announcement: Warm congratulations! China Region player Da Fei...

Needless to say, the World Channel erupted with excitement! Those monastery female players who had just joined the guild were screaming loudly in the guild channel!

"Brother Fei!!! You are so amazing, you just had a monastery, and now you've slain a giant dragon; you are a god!"

"Brother Fei, I want to have your babies!"

"Brother Fei, we love you, we'll stick with you without any second thoughts!"

"Brother Fei, if you wish, we can immediately rally those sisters still doing tasks at the monastery to join your guild and open a big harem for you!"

Da Fei laughed heartily in response, "No big deal, no big deal, everyone stay calm, you'll get used to it, haha, wahaha!"

Da Bing immediately said, "Exactly, exactly, for Brother Fei, who even defeated the gods, slaying a dragon is a piece of cake, right? By the way, recording a recruitment video is necessary, beauties only! We'll help vet for Brother Fei!"

"Soldier, you're so annoying, we're all beauties!"

Brother Hao laughed even louder in the guild channel, "Everyone, see this, sticking with Brother Fei is the right path! To celebrate Brother Fei's dragon slaying, I'll reward everyone in the guild with 10,000 dollars each, new beauties, report your accounts!"

The whole guild blew up again, "Brother Hao, we love you!"

"Brother Hao, I want to have your babies!"

"Brother Hao, please accept my jujube flower!"

"Beauties, Brother Hao will really reward you, you'll witness Brother Hao's generosity instantly!"

Meanwhile, Da Fei's friend notifications flashed wildly, from Ma Yinglong's, Shenlan's, Star Goddess Bu Feiyan's, Fleeting Blossom's, to harem beauties', and of course, the newly added Little Fang's and Little Li's, nice, they got it; they even knew to send their regards to him first.

However, could they not be so enthusiastic? Every time he hit the world headlines, they all swarmed over, and he didn't even have time to check the newly popped Divine Artifacts, nor the attributes of the new hero Tamilia with a wahaha! As per the usual practice, he sent a group reply of "Clearing Area," and planned to chat with them later when there was time, wahaha!

Da Fei immediately waved his hand, "Transport the giant dragon's body!"

That was the immediate priority now. After all, a divine beast like the Hydra held great value even in death, needless to say, a giant dragon, it was definitely full of treasures. But its size was quite a challenge; Ror might have to send someone to help, right?

At this moment, Anlicia laughed and said, "Lord City Lord, let me drive the car down for transportation, this Hell Car has transforming wheels, climbing mountains is no issue."

Da Fei suddenly rejoiced, "Right, we have a car, hurry and bring it down!"

"Got it!" Anlicia immediately flew back to the city.

Now, Tamilia and Tachiusu laughed as they flew to Da Fei, "Report to Lord City Lord, we've successfully completed the mission!"

Da Fei exclaimed with joy, "You all worked so hard, you've created a miracle! Lady Tachiusu, I really don't know how to express my gratitude!" Oh my gosh, I only found out today you're level 68, how much of my over 30 million experience did you take?

Tachiusu laughed and said, "Don't thank me, Tamilia is the real miracle creator!"

Tamilia's smile was as bright as spring flowers, "Under Lord City Lord's cultivation, I have successfully advanced to the hero profession 'Vine Master,' but I'm not suitable for leading troops into battle, let me continue to toil diligently for you!"

Da Fei rejoiced, "Great, what I need most now is a construction-type hero, let me see your attributes!"

—Tamilia: Administrator of the Vine Space, a vine demon born from the essence of the Holy Vine Flower, her life merged with the Holy Vine, possessing Divine-level capability in cultivating vine plants. She gradually comprehended the mysteries of the Holy Vine during the war against the giant dragon in Divine Punishment City, advancing to the hero profession 'Vine Master.'

Vine Master: Each time the hero levels up, 1 point of magic power and 1 free attribute point are increased. Each level of professional skill enhances the defense of vine plants by 5% and life by 5%.

Talent Specialty: Holy Vine Control. Tamilia's control over the Holy Vine, Holy Vine Seeds, and Vine Space will further improve with level advancement.

Character: Resolute and decisive, meticulous and patient.

Race: Vine Demon (mutating)

Level: 31.

Loyalty: 100%

Command Power: 231 (Level up Command Power +31, Dragon Slayer achievement +200)

Hero Skills: God-level Vine Master (Sub-skills: Bloodsucking Mastery, Mana Absorption Mastery, Stamina Absorption Mastery, Vine Hibernate Mastery, Vine Stealth Mastery, Long-distance Vine Manipulation, Live Parasitism) Master-level Vine Tenacity (Sub-skill: Tenacity) Master-level Vine Cultivation (Sub-skills: Barren Growth, Accelerated Growth, Accelerated Transplantation)

Bloodsucking Mastery: The vine troops controlled by the hero increase their bloodsucking ability by 1%-5%.

Mana Absorption Mastery: The vine troops controlled by the hero increase their mana absorption ability by 1%-5%.

Vine Hibernate Mastery: The vine troops controlled by the hero can better enter a rapid hibernation.

Vine Stealth Mastery: The vine troops controlled by the hero are less likely to be discovered by the enemy.

Long-distance Vine Manipulation: Master-level skill, the hero can operate the lurking vines from a distance away from the battlefield, its effect correlated to the strength of the vine species.

Live Parasitism: God-level Vine Master skill, the hero can control vine seeds to parasitize some living beings. This skill has high selection requirements for seeds and parasitized organisms.

Master-level Vine Tenacity: Each skill level increases vine tenacity by 10%; when the damage value of prey captured by the vines is less than their tenacity value within a certain period, no damage will be inflicted on the vines.

Tenacity: The plant species controlled by the hero gain an additional 5 points of tenacity value.

Master-level Vine Cultivation: Each skill level increases the growth speed of vine species by 10%.

Barren Growth: Reduces the negative impact of barren terrain on vine growth by 10%-50%.

Accelerated Growth: In fertile terrain, vine growth speed can be further increased by 50%.

Accelerated Transplantation: The hero speeds up the transplantation of plant species.

Remaining Skill Points: 3 points.

Personal Attack: 29

Strategic Attack: 0

Personal Defense: 21

Strategic Defense: 0

Magic Power: 31

Knowledge: 31

Personal Damage: 24-31 (Basic damage before profession advancement 18-25, damage +1 every 5 levels)

Magic Resistance: 75%

Life: 512, (Basic life before profession advancement 250, Dragon Slayer achievement +200, level up +62 points.)

Mana: 910 (Basic mana before profession advancement 600, Knowledge +310)

Attack Speed: 13 (Quite fast)

Stamina: 150.

Skills: Flying Creature, Holy Vine Space Advanced Manager, Divine-level Vine Forest Master, Master-level Gardener, Holy Vine Symbiosis.

...

These are Tamilyia's attributes! A hero profession Vine Master never seen before, and advanced directly to God-level! That's right, being an administrator of the Holy Vine Space, she started as a Divine-level Vine Forest Master, originally with a high starting point, then paid the price of absorbing eleven Holy Vines, and absorbed the energy of three powerful Demon Race mages, then progressed after defeating the giant dragon; with such step-by-step accumulation, it has to be at God-level!

Who said she's unsuitable for combat? Before she was even a hero, her control over the Holy Vine was already extremely ruthless; now that she's become a hero with so many added skills, isn't she unbelievably powerful?

But thinking carefully, her skills have significant limitations, they must be vine-based, and probably only used for defense, indeed not very suitable for frontal attacks. But it's okay, after all, my Flying is her home, her mission is to fully defend Flying and manage the Holy Vine Space on Flying, so her development should be as a construction-defense type hero.

However, as a follower hero, she is not a vice hero officially recruited by me; her growth is up to her own decisions. On this point, I need to give her guidance to prevent random allocations.

Da Fei was deeply moved, "Tamilyia, from now on, the defense of Flying is entrusted to you. I have decided to appoint you as the First Officer of Flying. When I'm not aboard, you can maneuver Flying within safe areas as you see fit, so, sailing skills are a must for you to learn, and various Lord System construction skills are what you should study as well."

Tamilyia bowed and said, "I shall heed Lord City Lord's teachings!"

Tachiusu laughed heartily, "Miss Tamilyia, in the future you might become a clan leader, you'd better study those Lord construction skills well!"

Tamilyia laughed and said, "I will solicit advice from Lady Tachiusu."

Tachiusu shook her head with a bitter smile, "Hardly, since I became a hero, I have been fighting the Evil Branch Tribe continuously, I am no good at construction either, I should seek guidance from Lord City Lord!"

Da Fei laughed even more heartily, "Hardly, hardly, I'm just now... just now considering a transition, let's all make progress together, haha!"

As a follower hero, Tamilia's relationship with me is like an ordinary citizen with the Lord of the city, the loyalty is not as reliable as a vice hero. But Tamilia is different, her home is on my ship, her loyalty is unquestionable. This is good too, there is no need to recruit her specifically, saving me a tactical position.

In short, after checking the hero, it's time to see the Divine Artifact.

Chapter 758: The Strategy of the Royal Ark Team

When Da Fei's Dragon Slayer announcement was broadcasted worldwide, it once again stirred a sensation across the China Region and the World Zone, and the shock received by Bloodrose Studio, who were at the scene watching, was imaginable!

A giant Siege Machine, annihilating tens of thousands, slaying a dragon; to be precise, they were numbed by shock! After a long time of staring dumbfounded, the beauties in the studio finally let out a long sigh, sourly saying, "We thought it was just a giant crocodile, turned out it's a giant dragon."

"Exactly, and it's a dragon that can't even fly. This achievement is so inflated. If he's so great, why doesn't he go kill a flying dragon?"

"It's clearly due to the power of that golden light that he could kill it. In the end, it's all thanks to the NPC, not as amazing as imagined."

"Exactly, why doesn't he do it himself? And intentionally making the information public to show off, it's obviously misleading the whole world with false advertising!"

"Da Fei is just that kind of person, so disgusting!"

"Anyway, even though it's inflated a bit, it's still a dragon after all, and it should drop a Divine Artifact, right? If he brings up the Banshee matter, we should ask him to trade it for a Divine Artifact!"

"Right, let's see if he still has anything to show off!"

Meanwhile, Zhou Qing took off her helmet and went to the window, constantly rubbing her eyes and face, and Bloodrose Holy Sword curiously asked, "Sister, what's wrong?"

Zhou Qing solemnly said, "Just brewing some emotions."

Bloodrose Holy Sword laughed and said, "It's just slaying a dragon and getting a Divine Artifact, what's there to brew—" At this point, Bloodrose Holy Sword suddenly paused: "Wait, Sister, you're not going to use the Babe Trap, are you?"

With these words, the whole Bloodrose Studio erupted in shock: "No way? Is Big Sister going to use the Babe Trap on that rascal?"

"My god, Sister has always been straightforward and unyielding with the leaders of the three large guilds, how could she think of such a thing?"

Zhou Qing annoyed said, "Stop talking nonsense, from now on, no one, especially Qiqi, is allowed to insult Da Fei in public."

Bloodrose Qiqi exclaimed, "No way? Has Sister really been conquered by a Divine Artifact?"

Zhou Qing chuckled, "I'm here to teach you how to deal with rascals!"

Bloodrose Holy Sword laughed heartily, "Exactly, once Sister plays the Babe Trap, even the rascalist of rascals will have to obediently serve Sister till death, just you watch!"

"Wow!" The beauties present were all astounded.

Zhou Qing shook her head in annoyance, then in the game, she signaled to Blood Arrow Fragrance and Blood Arrow Linglong: "When Da Fei returns, you two need to be sweet with your words, sticky in your actions, got it? Hey, are you listening?"

Little Fang and Little Li finally snapped out of their shock from Da Fei's dragon slaying: "Yes, Guild Leader! We'll definitely sweet-talk Brother Fei until his heart melts!"

Zhou Qing nodded, "Good, just like the video you sent me, and familiarity breeds fondness, you can be even more intimate."

So this is what you're really like, Bloodrose, huh? Little Fang secretly felt superior, considering her and Da Fei weren't just casual acquaintances; they were old friends who exchanged S-level equipment. She felt absolutely no pressure to get intimate, hahaha!

.....

Meanwhile, when Da Fei's dragon slaying news was announced in the European Union Zone, the bustling interviews in Divine Punishment City came to an abrupt silence.

Da Fei, once again it's the Chinese Da Fei! Slaying a demigod, slaying a god, dragon slaying, this Da Fei time and again redefines what it means to be a high-end player, making these high-end players from EU Zone in Divine Punishment City once again realize the gap.

And the British Royal Ark Team indeed subtly guessed the insider details. Suppose the giant dragon slain by Da Fei resides even deeper within hell—of course, this is incredibly hard to believe, but the Royal Ark Team must consider the worst case scenario and accept this reality. What does this imply?

It implies that Da Fei has once again severely weakened the Hell Power and advanced the plot. Consequently, under his influence, the Divine Punishment City in the European Union Zone will face an even more fierce attack from the Hell Race! Does this mean, even though Divine Punishment City now gathers top warriors from all regions, it's still uncertain if they can repel the attacking Hell Corps? And if they fail to repel them, they won't be able to officially become the Crusaders, and might even die in vain within Divine Punishment City, losing Experience, demoting levels, and wasting Gold Coins and time?

At this moment, an opportunity once again presented itself in front of the Royal Ark Team!

Indeed, if they could secretly sabotage other nations' players, trapping them to die in the battlefield of Divine Punishment City, and consequently reap the benefits for themselves, then the UK might continue to maintain its monopolistic leading position in Divine Punishment City. As long as they force the Divine Punishment City NPCs to intervene and end this siege, this emergency recruitment event will conclude, and everything will revert to the starting point, making others undertake hidden tasks if they want to come to Divine Punishment City. The 5 million pounds, equivalent to 50 million RMB, spent by the Royal Ark Team on material costs would not be in vain!

In short, in Europe, it has always been the UK tricking you, and you should never think about taking advantage of the UK!

Decisively and without hesitation, just as players from all nations in the city were still stunned by the world announcement, Lancelot climbed onto the city wall and delivered an impromptu speech to all the players:

—"Ladies and gentlemen, warriors, today is the day we in the European Union Zone have gathered in response to the Pope's call. I can clearly tell you that the rewards in Divine Punishment City are incredibly generous; you've seen it in the blacksmith, mercenary store, and pharmacy. I can also clearly tell you that our team has already gained a lot of benefits, but we are not satisfied; we seek more interests, our goal is the National War. We need to amass more Angel Sailors for our Noah's Ark, hence we need larger scale battles, and we need cooperation, so everyone is here!"

"Now, as you can see, this Chinese man named Da Fei has once again achieved brilliant success, and we have once again realized the gap. You all realize this, right? Mr. Napoleon, even if you were fully focused on watching the match earlier, how long do you think you could withstand against Da Fei? This is the reality we face now, gentlemen, warriors, please let us join hands and catch up fiercely. Allow us to be the Royal Ark Team taking the lead in demonstrating monster-killing for everyone!"

"And by killing and gathering 500 Demon Essences, one can exchange for an Angel. What we need to do is to kill monsters safely and efficiently to amass troops, and our ultimate goal is those Siege Machines. I'll immediately post all the information about the monsters here on the website, and of course, everyone else can also quickly learn to kill monsters in their own ways..."

For a moment, Lancelot's speech stirred a round of applause from players of various nations.

Indeed, at this moment, the British Team is completely selflessly contributing, with the UK wholeheartedly helping and protecting the players from different EU nations to quickly amass troops. On this level, the UK is simply a selflessly contributing Angel that shows no trace of malice. Of course, all these players are top experts; any subtle malicious act cannot escape their eyes, so the UK would not resort to such lowly tricks.

The UK's strategy is much more sophisticated, knowing that once the players from other countries get stronger, their ambitions will grow. They won't walk to the rhythm of the UK anymore; they'll try to seize greater merits to surpass the UK. When that happens, the situation will become uncontrollable, and even if the UK doesn't take action themselves, these players will ultimately be their own downfall.

This is the UK's strategy, a grand trap yet seemingly invisible! However, the prerequisite is that the Hell Army gives enough implementation time for the UK's plan.

...

Now, Da Fei finished checking all the loot. The Divine Artifact boots don't need much explanation. Brother is transforming into an Attack Speed style at a crucial moment. This Divine Artifact effect of the Earth Domain increases all speed by 10% and also restores 10% health and Stamina every 10 seconds. Damn, it's freaking awesome, truly worthy of being a Divine Artifact. Let brother laugh out loud for a moment, hahaha, and then put them on!

As for the B-grade Spider Demon boots that Brother is retiring, they actually have their unique points too. All army life +1, 30% resistance to binding – these attributes can't be replaced by the Divine Artifact. Anyway, I'll give them to Tamilia. When I'm not there, she has to command the Flower Demons on the ship and probably her upcoming new Evil Demon race will be as weak as the Flower Demons initially. Comparing to Divine Artifacts, this B-grade gear is even more useful for weak soldiers. Later, once I get another Divine Artifact garment, I'll give the Spider Demon Armor to her as a family treasure.

Next up is this godly artifact "Heart of the Earth Dragon" as big as a dining table. Turns out, it's a machine, and the key is Brother has no idea how to use it! No worries, the more confusing it is the more high-end and appealing it is to me, I'll ship it back first.

Then there's the blueprint for the Earth Dragon. This must be constructed in the Lava Volcano, completely alike to Nightmare Stables? Well, let's put it aside for now, and see if there is any progress in developing the Nightmare Space.

Lastly, there's a bunch of A-grade equipment obtained from defeating the Demon Team. It seems to be a set? Damn, even though it's not that great, it's still better than my current Spider Demon Armor. Fine, I'll make do with it; this +3 life Spider Demon Armor will soon be passed on to Tamilyia.

Tamilyia is thrilled, "Thank you, Lord City Lord, for the reward!"

Look at that, obedient yet assertive and so easily satisfied – that's a hero with a perfect personality who doesn't cause headaches for their master. Honestly, it's way more reassuring to leave the Flying to her than to Anlicia, that headache-inducing woman, hahaha! Anyway, I will definitely invest heavily in cultivating you in the future.

Just then, the gate of Divine Punishment City opened, and a giant, flaming Hell Assault Dog roared while dragging a cart downhill. Da Fei couldn't help but burst out laughing! Actually, Anlicia isn't always a headache, she also gives Brother some peace of mind. Anyway, once Brother leaves, the task of remaining behind will be handed to these two.

Next, it's time to reply to messages from various guild leaders. It's time to share the joy with everyone – shared joy is double joy, isn't it? You must be very happy, right? First, let's take a look at the comforting letters from my wife and my sister.

— "Brother Fei, hello, we and the guild leader have come to Divine Punishment City, and we are cheering for you!"

Da Fei was suddenly stunned. They came? With the guild leader? Damn! No way! Did they end up giving the cross intended for Junxiang's alt to the guild leader instead? Damn, what a headache!

Chapter 759: Contact with the Bloodrose Leader

At this moment, Da Fei felt incredibly awkward. He could never have imagined that his well-thought-out plan would end up in the hands of the Bloodrose Leader. Should he blame Little Fang and Little Li for being too naive, or himself for making assumptions?

In any case, since he had run into the Bloodrose Leader here, he might as well have a good chat about the Banshee. But, having announced to the world about slaying the giant dragon and with her having witnessed the dragon slaying herself, what if she asks for a Divine Artifact in exchange for her cooperation? That would be troublesome!

The more Da Fei thought about it, the more awkward he felt. Trading Divine Artifacts was out of the question, but perhaps he could help her advance to God-level Light Magic. Of course, the prerequisite was that she needed to be at the Master-level Light Magic first. If she wasn't even at the Master level, that would be incredibly frustrating.

Just as Da Fei's thoughts raced, Anlicia drove the Hell Giant Dog cart clattering down the mountain steps. Da Fei realized that the eight wheels under the cart had been adjusted to a gear shape, making climbing easier, just as expected for a Hell Race special vehicle designed for mountain operations. What amazed Da Fei even more was that Anlicia could actually drive this vehicle!

Damn, if our army could use the enemy's siege machines, driving a trailer was nothing! All units, let's load the dragon's body!

At this moment, the Ror Army, which had just gone to the enemy's rear, returned, with each Angel holding a package. Normally, only units with production skills could carry items, so this must have been the Lord System skill "War Plunder."

—War Plunder: Troops gain an additional loot equipment bar, with Master-level War Plunder allowing them to carry up to 10% of the maximum stamina worth of supplies per unit. Troops with 100 stamina max can plunder 10 supplies. While plundering, the unit's marching speed is greatly reduced, and stamina consumption increases. If they re-enter combat, they must drop the plundered supplies to fight.

Of course, the pirate units mentioned earlier naturally had the "Plunder" special skill, allowing them to fight without dropping plundered materials.

In any case, seeing the Angels almost grazing the ground with their flight, it was clear that each Angel had reached the 10% plunder limit.

At this time, Ror saw Da Fei loading the giant dragon and immediately shouted: "Lord City Lord, the enemy's rear is unguarded, and many supplies have been abandoned. This is a great opportunity for us to replenish. Let's first help the Lord City Lord transport the giant dragon back to the city, then could we borrow a couple of trailers from you to transport the supplies?"

Oh yeah! Seeing that I was heading to the city, I knew they'd help. Ror's intelligence was truly out of this world. Not being a hero would be a waste of that brainpower!

Da Fei said joyfully, "Great! Then please, Miss Ror, lend a hand!"

Now, hundreds of Angels put down the supplies and stepped forward to help. There's strength in numbers, and soon they hauled the giant dragon onto the cart. Then hundreds of Angels pushed the cart, and like that, with the rumble of wheels, this unprecedented giant spoil of war returned to the city.

Returning, only with the dragon's corpse transported back was the mission truly complete. But a new confrontation was just beginning!

Now, Da Fei could already see Little Fang and Little Li waving and jumping on the city wall, along with Bloodrose Rosa watching him. This would be Da Fei's first face-to-face encounter with the Bloodrose Leader in the game, right? It was also the first meeting between the most famous man and the most famous woman in the China Region, and Da Fei couldn't help but feel a bit excited.

To be honest, as an older single young man, Da Fei had not only fantasized about the Star Goddess Bu Feiyan, but also had ideas about Zhou Qing's modeling photos. Of course, any normal man would have thoughts like these, right? Reflecting on this made Da Fei even more nervous.

What kind of impressive opening line should he use to show his style without provoking the other into outrageous demands? Da Fei had thought about this question for days without a solution, but seeing Little Fang and Little Li jumping enthusiastically seemed to diffuse the awkwardness. So, he decided to start with them.

Thus, Da Fei waved towards the city, and Little Fang and Little Li jumped even more energetically, waving more exaggeratedly.

So enthusiastic? What does this signify? It signifies that after being promoted to Crusader, their status in the Bloodrose Guild must have increased. Da Fei immediately hatched a plan: if negotiations with the Bloodrose Leader failed, he could offer to help them grow without compensation. Bloodrose couldn't refuse this offer, because the Bloodrose Leader was very busy and couldn't camp here for long-term development. Little Fang and Little Li garrisoning would be necessary. If Da Fei appeared to suffer a loss on the surface, the real advantage went to his own people! Wahaha, that's the plan.

As the gates of Divine Punishment City opened once more, amidst the Angels guarding the city singing praises, the returning combat troops were welcomed back triumphantly, and various blessings once again showered all over Da Fei.

In the golden light, Little Fang and Little Li rushed to Da Fei, linking arms with him on either side, shaking and acting coyly, "Brother Fei! You're amazing! We admire you so much!"

This scene stunned Da Fei on the spot. What the heck! This wasn't Little Fang, this wasn't my sister! How could they be like this? Is this the Bloodrose Guild's flattering tactic?

While still in shock, Bloodrose Rosa gracefully stepped forward and smiled, "Brother Fei, pleased to meet you, thank you for sending us such a great gift, and thank you for broadening our horizons. May I ask what brings you to me, Brother Fei?"

Chapter 760: Contact with the Bloodrose Leader_2

Da Fei was stunned, thinking this Bloodrose Leader talked pretty normally? Okay, the more normal the better, saves me a headache.

Da Fei coughed slightly and said, "Well, it's like this, I had a bit of a spat with your guild before. Looking back, I was broke and shortsighted, my bad."

Bloodrose Rosa looked surprised, flattered, and said, "So that's what it's about? It's nothing, we haven't cared about that for a long time. Can't believe Brother Fei has been thinking about it!"

At this point, Bloodrose Rosa smiled openly, "Brother Fei, you're such a touching guy. We've always been afraid that you would retaliate against us!"

What the heck! I was the one afraid you'd retaliate! Da Fei quickly laughed heartily and said, "No, no, am I that kind of person? That's just others badmouthing me. Even if I was broke and shortsighted before, now things are better, I must improve my persona."

Little Fang beside him immediately laughed and said, "Brother Fei, from your generous act of recruiting members at the monastery and giving us stuff, we could see right away you're not that kind of person!"

Oh my God! Don't butter me up, can you tell I'm your husband yet? Da Fei laughed loudly and said, "Just some trivial things, not worth a smile."

Bloodrose Rosa smiled even sweeter, "Brother Fei, with your persona, if you're coming to me for something, it can't be as simple as giving things. Do you need the help of the beauties in our guild?"

Da Fei's heart tightened, finally getting to the point? But with Bloodrose's status, merely three crosses would definitely not be enough; I must first demonstrate some prowess!

Da Fei laughed and said, "Speaking of which, I find it hard to bring up as well. By the way, I wanted to ask if the guild leader's Light Magic has reached Master-level. If it has, I have a way to help the guild leader reach God-level. By the way, the two beauties saw my Nun Hero, didn't they? It reached God-level Light Magic, that's how it was able to converse with the old nun at the monastery's entrance."

Though it was unclear how Selvia triggered this story, if God-level Light Magic could trigger Angel Alife's story, it could naturally trigger Nanny Rong.

Upon hearing this, Little Fang and Little Li were shocked, "It's God-level! Brother Fei, you're amazing!"

And Bloodrose Rosa's face changed drastically, "Now I understand! For someone like Brother Fei, who can slay gods and dragons, if he says he can, he definitely can!"

Saying this, Bloodrose Rosa shook her head and smiled wryly, "It's just embarrassing for us; as female players, we're lacking. Our guild doesn't have anyone who can advance to Grandmaster Light Magic yet."

Da Fei was instantly dumbfounded, shocked. Was Bloodrose commanding the battlefield smoothly? Were they truly inexperienced? Nun skills and Light Magic complement and boost each other, breaking the bottleneck to Grandmaster is so easy. Don't tell me not one in your guild is an upgraded nun? Or do they also have a way to boost skills, dismissing my offer?

Bloodrose Rosa smiled again, "Does Brother Fei mean to say you want our guild to assist Brother Fei in developing here? No problem, whether it's money or people, our guild has no problem, just need Brother Fei to help us with the high-level quests."

Da Fei's heart skipped a beat, so this was one of her conditions, as expected, she had plans to develop here!

Before, Da Fei would certainly have wanted to monopolize the Divine Punishment City, this elite secret realm. But things were different now, Da Fei was already the City Lord of Divine Punishment City, having gained the upper hand, eager to attract investments. The more players, the better. The monsters players defeat and the troops accumulated indirectly expand territories and defend the city for Da Fei as the City Lord. There's no reason not to welcome this!

But wait a minute! This can't be counted as her condition, after all, she already moved in, and Da Fei couldn't stop her from developing whether he wanted or not. Instead, Da Fei had set such a good situation, paving the way for her descendants to enjoy the shade. Even without Da Fei, she could still mix in well.

So in all this time, no progress actually happened. Let's stop the nonsense; first, let's make a small gesture, then proceed directly to the point!

Da Fei laughed and said, "As expected of the guild leader, that is my meaning! But you guys have no troops, starting is hard, but don't worry, I can lend you some troops."

Bloodrose Rosa clapped her hands in delight, "Thank you so much, Brother Fei, for the support. To cooperate with Brother Fei is really our guild's fortune!"

Little Fang and Little Li were even more excited, "Thank you, Brother Fei!"

Da Fei laughed and said, "No need, it's all fate!"

At this point, Da Fei began to discuss the matter, "By the way, there is a little thing, I'm embarrassed to mention!"

Bloodrose Rosa smiled even sweeter, "Brother Fei, please speak! If you want the personal details of our guild beauties, that's a bit difficult!"

Oh my God! Are you intentionally trying to tempt me? Wait until I accomplish this big task before accepting your temptation! Now that our relationship has been laid out to this extent, you wouldn't show me a bad face, right?

Da Fei coughed and said, "It's like this, back then I took your guild's summoned Banshee, and then she became a hero, very important to my development, but the Banshee Hero accidentally died in battle and needs the book with which you initially summoned her to resurrect her, so—"

Saying this, Da Fei looked at her face, seeing Bloodrose Rosa covering her mouth with a drastic change in expression! Da Fei was shocked, no way, changing face just like that? Wait a minute! This expression looks like she's about to cry, not change face?

Da Fei couldn't help but say, "Guild leader, what's the matter?"

Bloodrose Rosa looked mournful and trembled, "Brother Fei, does the Banshee Hero really need that book to be resurrected?"

Wait, wait, wait! This drama is not right! What exactly is going on? Da Fei suddenly became bewildered, "Well, I'm not sure, guild leader, what happened?"

Bloodrose Rosa covered her face, shaking her head, "I'm embarrassed to tell Brother Fei, afraid Brother Fei will be upset and hit someone!"

Oh my God! Speak up, just say what you need, open up about Divine Artifacts, don't give me a headache! Da Fei hastily said, "Why talk like that, guild leader, weren't we just laughing, am I the kind of person to turn face?"

Bloodrose Rosa rubbed her eyes and sighed, "The day Brother Fei took away the Banshee, our guild was very angry, and a team member thought the book was useless. In anger, they just threw it away!"

Da Fei was shocked and dumbfounded, "Thrown away?"

You're full of crap! You organized hundreds of people at the Duke's house to attack Deirdre; if she hadn't equipped the time hourglass from the Duke, she would have died in the city! This shows that you must have known Deirdre's background; otherwise, who would pay the price for red names just to kill a Vice Hero for a level drop? Nobody would believe that!

Da Fei also suddenly realized! After all, we've been chatting and laughing for so long, now it's just smile and weakness, just to trap me, now it's the time for her real negotiation. But why didn't she directly make terms and instead lied about losing it?

Very simple, she doesn't know how much high-end resources I actually have, so she won't easily speak up. Meaning, her appetite is larger!

Sure enough, Bloodrose Rosa hurriedly said, "But the book was thrown away in the monastery, it might have been picked up by a cleaning nun, so there might still be a possibility to retrieve it! Since this hero is so important to Brother Fei, we will try to look in the monastery, please give us some time!"

Oh my God! The pitiful look really makes me afraid to lose my temper and change my face, otherwise, if she records a video on the spot and broadcasts it nationwide, I'll become a villain oppressing women, oh right, is she one of those women?

At this point, there is no choice but to hope she doesn't give me a headache, looking forever with no result on purpose! Which means, I have to pacify her in everything afterwards, otherwise, she could just say, "Didn't find it?"

Oh my God! Then let you see my two cards first, don't think you've taken me for granted!

Da Fei could only sigh deeply, "Although I also have two flying hero candidates at present, they are, after all, not Banshees. In terms of racial advantage, it's still difficult to replace the Banshee's status. In short, let's not think about those unpleasant things before we find it; let's focus on the present, and look to the future."

Bloodrose Rosa bowed slightly, "Really sorry, Brother Fei, we will do our best to find a way."

Could this be any more insincere? Da Fei sighed, "Don't say that, it's me who wronged you guys in the first place!"