Chapter 154: The Battle Between the Three-Eyed General and the Peak Master Rank

Golden shards of light shattered like raindrops.

At the same time,

Boundless lightning raged above Overthunder's head, rolling and gathering.

Countless destructive bolts of lightning, like giant serpents intertwining and howling, pierced down from the storm-laden sky.

The space around Overthunder began to twist and collapse.

A massive war bow, entirely formed from lightning, slowly rose before him.

Gripping the lightning bow with one hand, he aimed it at Maria in the distance and instantly pulled the bowstring back to its fullest.

The surrounding destructive lightning seemed to be drawn in, wildly gathering on the bow, forming an extremely unstable lightning arrow that radiated an aura of annihilation.

It continued to absorb the destructive power of the lightning storm in the sky, as if it were going to drain the entire storm dry!

The Mountain Shieldbearers stood as shields, buying Overthunder crucial time.

"This is bad!"

The women behind Maria sensed the deathly aura locked onto them from the lightning arrow, and their faces turned pale.

Maria's elegant expression slightly furrowed.

She lightly tapped the void with her toes, and her figure shot upward.

Her broom erupted with unmatched sharpness, stabbing directly at the roaring lightning storm in the sky!

Vast and surging magical energy poured out, attacking the lightning storm first, attempting to interrupt Overthunder's charge.

Dozens of Mountain Shieldbearers transformed into golden beams of light, shooting toward the incoming attack.

The thousand-layer Holy Light Barrier unfolded again, forming a massive golden shield to block the blow.

Boom!

—Boom!

The magical power ripped through the golden shield in an instant, and the remaining force slammed into the thousand-layer Holy Light Barrier.

One strike pierced through seven to eight hundred layers!

Dozens of Mountain Shieldbearers were violently sent flying, crashing into the mountains below, raising a cloud of dust.

Maria still tried to completely interrupt Overthunder.

But more Mountain Shieldbearers fearlessly launched themselves into the air, using their bodies and shields to form a moving wall.

At the same time,

Overthunder's lightning arrow stopped absorbing energy.

Whoosh—!

A beam of light, condensed to the extreme and dazzling to the point of being blinding, shot through the space like a comet slicing through the eternal night.

With judgment and destruction in its wake, it shot toward Maria and the ten or so women behind her!

Maria flicked her broom lightly.

An irresistible force surrounded the women behind her, pushing them swiftly toward the distant sky, away from the path of the lightning arrow.

She withdrew her broom and softly chanted.

The elements of the world were drawn to her, transforming into a massive energy handprint that reached toward the lightning arrow!

Boom!

The lightning arrow pierced through the energy handprint's center, but the giant hand consumed some of its energy, causing the arrow to explode in mid-air.

It shattered into a storm of destructive lightning arcs, silver serpents dancing and covering a vast expanse.

Maria's broom swept again, and strange ripples spread from her, as if the surrounding space was imprisoned by an invisible force field.

The rampant lightning arcs disintegrated and vanished.

Only a few stray powerful currents zipped past her, crackling with explosive sounds.

Some of the stray lightning arcs fell into the mountains below, immediately causing chain explosions.

Massive clouds of dust shot up into the sky, and the entire earth trembled violently as if an earthquake had occurred!

The remaining Mountain Shieldbearers fully extended their shields to resist the devastating energy shockwave.

Overthunder, wielding the Chaos Warhammer, swung it out.

The boundless aura of destruction spread, sweeping away the residual energy attacking his side.

Then, he moved, transforming into a bolt of lightning, charging toward Maria!

Around him, the Doomsday Warriors and Elemental Assassins took this opportunity to speed up the elimination of the remaining forces.

Dephans, Sochiby, and the others, who had just exited the battle and thought they could catch their breath, were once again targeted by the elusive Elemental Assassins.

The Doomsday Warriors, like sharks smelling blood, continued to surround them. Caught off guard, they were once again thrown into a fierce battle, and at this moment, they just wanted to escape at any cost.

These Imperial soldiers, who dared to face a Peak Master Rank head-on, displayed an incredible fighting strength far beyond what they could cope with.

Meanwhile, the 400 Master Rank Elemental Assassins, who had been lying in wait, now unleashed their full force.

They suddenly burst out from the void in all directions, targeting the women of Skypeak Tower who had just been pushed aside by Maria!

These Skypeak Tower women were also incredibly strong, all being Master Rank.

Several of them had even reached level 9 peak, making them a formidable force anywhere.

But now, they faced the siege of hundreds of Master Rank Doomsday Warriors!

Destructive lightning columns violently pierced through their hastily formed defensive shields, completely breaking their formation.

Elemental Assassins flashed through the void, launching continuous assassinations.

Sss!

Sss!

Two streaks of cold light flashed.

Two heads, filled with shock, flew toward the ground, dripping with blood.

Seeing this, Maria's expression shifted from calm to fury, no longer able to maintain her usual composure.

Her figure flashed swiftly as she attempted to rescue them.

"Judgment Blade!"

Overthunder had already predicted her movement trajectory.

Above her path, the void violently twisted and then suddenly collapsed inward!

A massive pitch-black destruction sword, accompanied by a soul-rending shriek, descended from the rift in the space, aiming to impale her!

Maria reacted by slapping upward, sending out a complexly etched energy formation that acted like the strongest of shields, barely blocking the destructive sword's fatal strike!

Overthunder, holding the Chaos Warhammer in one hand to block the residual energy of the attack, struck the void with his other hand, drawing on the power of destruction.

From the collapsing void, one smaller destruction sword after another materialized, impaling down toward her.

Like rivers returning to the sea, they quickly merged into the first main sword.

The sword continuously grew in size and solidity, with dark red destruction patterns beginning to appear along the blade.

The massive sword collided violently with the energy formation, producing countless dazzling energy sparks that crackled and hissed.

A trace of surprise flashed in Maria's eyes. This method of attack was unprecedented, and its power was nearly on par with the defensive capabilities of Peak Master Rank, defying common sense.

She swept her broom upward.

A beam of condensed white light collided fiercely with the destruction sword! Boom!

The destruction sword shattered, turning into a sky of drifting black energy.

But the impact momentarily delayed her.

Her broom swept across, and the light in the void transformed into ripples of annihilation, spreading outward and pushing back the approaching Elemental Assassins.

The Skypeak Tower women also tried to gather around her.

However, despite the Mountain Shieldbearers' costly defense and the relentless assault of the Master Rank Doomsday Warriors, the Elemental Assassins always found gaps to launch fatal strikes.

This seriously distracted Maria's attention.

Although she was Peak Master Rank with a higher life level, she could not protect everyone from this violent siege unscathed.

"Mentor Maria!"

"We cannot stay here any longer, we should leave now!"
