Chapter 233: The Fall of the Divine Envoys

Harry had already triggered the power of nine Demon Slayer Daggers.

Destructive energy rippled through the void.

His strike failed to directly hit the Curtain Weaver and instead merged silently with the surrounding environment.

He didn't pay much attention to Abyss Chorister, Edward, or Richard IX.

Thousands of Imperial soldiers were fully engaged in holding them back. Even though these enemies were incredibly powerful and could easily kill thousands of Stellar rank warriors, the desperate assault of tens of thousands of soldiers was enough to delay them for a while.

Furthermore, the Void Warlock, Doomsday Warrior, and Elemental Assassin worked in perfect coordination, and even a Sage rank would find it difficult to break through their blockade in a short period of time. The Void Warlock's control over space was sufficient to effectively restrain them!

This bought Harry invaluable time and energy.

The battle raged from dusk into the deep night, and then from night to dawn!

Large sections of the Fallen Immortal Gorge turned to ruins in the heat of battle.

Tens of thousands of towering mountains were leveled, and the ground was sunk into deep craters.

Powerful figures from outside arrived, but a mere glance at the world-shattering devastation was enough to send them fleeing in panic.

Those who were slower to flee were caught in energy whirlpools and torn into pieces by destructive energy.

However, the more the battle raged, the more the Curtain Weaver began to feel something was wrong.

The battle zones of the others had expanded far and wide. But his area, the one with the Original Sage Rank, seemed to be controlled by some invisible force within a relatively fixed range, which felt extremely strange.

His powerful Sage Rank mind power quickly swept across the surroundings. Then, his expression changed drastically, and he immediately tried to break free from the battle zone.

"Trying to run now? It's a bit too late!" Harry sneered.

He clasped his hands in front of his chest, forming a strange hand seal.

His eyes closed tightly, and he uttered a few words.

"Magic Break Stealth!"

In an instant!

The forces of the previously missed flying daggers and destructive energy suddenly exploded from all directions in the battle zone spanning tens of thousands of miles!

Each blast of energy carried horrific killing and destructive properties.

The terror of Magic Break Stealth lay in the fact that Harry could store and hide the attack energy generated by the flying daggers in the void.

Simultaneously, these energies would absorb all the destructive forces generated by the battle and the chaotic energy created by the tearing of space, continuously enhancing themselves.

Then, they would condense the most fundamental tearing power in the void, forming a special Demon Slayer Field to lock down the battlefield.

As Harry completed the hand seal!

The hidden energies exploded instantly, turning into countless invisible flying dagger illusions that slashed from all directions, sealing off every escape route.

There was no way to dodge!

The Curtain Weaver's expression became unprecedentedly solemn.

The divine halo behind him exploded with an unprecedented brilliance, and a series of law patterns gathered in front of him, forming a solid light shield to defend.

An ancient divine artifact spear was also drawn, and he thrust it fiercely into the void.

The spear tip emitted a thousand-foot holy light, trying to tear apart this terrifying domain!

Harry, however, remained unfazed!

In this domain, magical energy and all other forms of energy would be greatly diminished and absorbed by the field!

After the flying dagger illusions were blocked by the light shield, the energies flying out of the void began to rapidly gather, forming even larger, more destructive flying dagger illusions!

They then crashed into the light shield like a storm, forcing the Curtain Weaver to exert even greater power in response.

The more the flying dagger illusions gathered, the greater their destructive power continued to accumulate.

Finally, they transformed into massive blades that pierced through the heavens, violently smashing through the Curtain Weaver's Sage Rank shield.

Seizing a fleeting opening!

Invisible Demon Slayer Daggers pierced through his body, cutting and tearing.

The Original Sage Rank witnessed this in horror, hastily preparing to intervene.

"Dagger Grave Magic!"

Nine floating Demon Slayer Daggers had, at some point, sealed off the space around the Original Sage Rank.

They formed a complex and vast flying dagger array, forcibly dragging the Original Sage Rank into the array's center.

At once, the internal and external spaces were cut off, and even the external laws were severed.

The Imperial soldiers attempting to assist were isolated outside the array.

"Damn, what is this thing?!"

"You're just a lower Sage Rank! How can you—?!"

The Original Sage Rank felt the fatal threat.

Being within this Demon Slayer Array, he felt the nine flying daggers slowly eroding his Sage Rank authority.

The entire array produced immense binding forces, aiming to drag his holy body into the void.

"This is on you!"

Harry couldn't kill two Divine Envoys simultaneously!

He had no choice but to use his ultimate skill to temporarily trap the strongest Original Sage Rank and create an opportunity for Lucy.

Dagger Grave Magic was even more domineering than Magic Break Stealth.

If Harry were dealing with the Original Sage Rank alone, he would be confident in killing him.

Lucy was a Sage Rank level 6, a formidable force.

With the assistance of the Imperial Legion, she too had the potential to land a fatal blow!

"After all this preparation, it's time to reap the rewards!"

Lucy's figure melded into the Demon Slayer Field.

Extreme light-based energy erupted suddenly, like a miniature sun igniting at the core of the field.

While the Curtain Weaver struggled to fend off the endless onslaught of flying daggers, Lucy transformed into an extremely sharp light sword and pierced through the Curtain Weaver's forehead.

The Curtain Weaver instantly exploded into a burst of mixed holy light, which quickly dimmed!

The Divine Aspect core of the Curtain Weaver was shattered with this blow!

Lucy's figure reformed in the void, coldly watching him.

The Demon Slayer Field rapidly contracted.

The flying dagger illusions grew denser and denser!

"No—!"

"Do you know who I am?! Ah—!"

A desperate scream filled the gorge.

Tens of thousands of years of painstaking cultivation!

He was so close to stepping into the divine realm.

One last step, just one step away from true godhood!

But now, he was about to fall here! How could he accept it?

Hearing that scream filled with despair, the Original Sage Rank trapped in the Demon Slayer Array also felt a massive shock, growing frantic.

Lucy's words, laden with spiritual pressure, echoed in his mind, driving him into panic.

All those years of accumulation, his position! Honor! Wealth! Joy!

He had so much, and yet, the thought of truly perishing here filled him with endless regret and unwillingness!

He frantically attacked, trying to break through the array!

"Panicking now, Original Sage Rank?!"

Lucy flew to the edge of the array.

The pages of the Silent Sacred Tome rustled loudly, casting an invisible silence law that temporarily stabilized the shattered array.

At the same time, Lucy seized the Original Sage Rank's exposed flaw, and a beam of holy light shot rapidly onto his nose.

A pure, radiant light instantly pierced through the Original Sage Rank's head!

The Original Sage Rank let out a painful soul-shattering scream.

His remaining holy body instinctively erupted with a final burst of destructive energy, sending Lucy flying and causing her to spit out blood.

The Demon Slayer Array collapsed immediately.

Lucy endured her injuries, summoning vast magical energy from the surrounding void, like a river of stars flooding and swallowing the Original Sage Rank's broken body.

The Silent Sacred Tome was flipped upside down!

Holy purification power ground his remains and Divine Aspect core into base energy particles, leaving nothing behind!

A top-tier powerhouse of the Eura Continent had fallen!
