Chapter 254: Silent Extinction of the Stars and Surrender

"Aurek Veynar..."

"What exactly is he? How can he bring forth so many mysterious legions?"

They racked their brains but couldn't come up with any clear answers.

"Relying purely on physical strength... truly savage, truly powerful!"

Philip, watching the scene from behind, couldn't help but gasp in awe.

Not only was it powerful, but it was also more ferocious than he could have ever imagined!

He could no longer just watch!

With a sweep of his hand, a star chart, etched with complex star orbits, floated before him.

His hands formed seals as magical energy was poured into the diagram, causing countless light points to appear, aligning with the real stars in the sky.

"Damn!"

The council members charging to the front lines hadn't even gotten close to the Titans before being struck by the terrifying force field, their insides damaged.

Looking at these giants, who seemed to have walked out of a myth, their mouths twitched in fear.

The sheer force of this pure strength completely surpassed their expectations.

The seven Divine Envoy rank directors switched to ranged attacks, firing beams of divine power imbued with various laws toward the Titans.

The Titans, however, countered with unrelenting heavy punches. Their Steel Skin provided incredible resistance to magic, allowing them to withstand the impact of various elemental attacks.

Meanwhile, the Doomsday Warriors and Void Warlocks seized the opportunity to strike.

Devastating lightning bolts and spatial traps precisely intercepted and diverted the elders' attacks.

At that moment,

Roar—!

A soul-shattering beast's roar echoed from deep within the Stellar Merchants' Guild.

A magical beast, its forehead marked with starry runes and surrounded by starlight, charged out of the barrier.

Upon closer inspection, it was a powerful magical wolf!

It opened its mouth and unleashed a concentrated beam of starlight, slamming into the Empire's army, instantly causing significant casualties.

This was a magical beast of Divine Envoy rank 1!

After the Starlight Wolf appeared, an elderly figure in a starry robe stepped forward.

A vast divine power at Divine Envoy rank 6 swept through the land.

The holy halo behind him shone brightly, forcibly dispersing the joint attack of the 200,000 Stellar rank Empire soldiers.

"President!"

All the Guild members gazed up at the figure—he was the hope of everyone.

The old man's cold eyes swept over the rampaging Titans, his killing intent palpable.

"Ten thousand years ago, we were able to suppress the Veynar royal family. Today, we can bury you steel puppets as well!"

He raised his hand, and a droplet of starlight, radiating endless starlight, rose from his palm.

In an instant, a crushing sense of oppression from the stars engulfed the battlefield.

The space warlocks' portals became unstable, and the Doomsday Warriors' energy operations slowed, as if their power sources were being blocked.

This was the semi-artifact, Starlight.

It was forged from the core of collapsing stars, imbued with laws close to divinity.

Its power was purer and more aggressive than Ordon Theocracy's Book of Radiant Light!

A single drop of Starlight could suppress 200,000 Stellar rank soldiers!

This was the ultimate confidence that the Stellar Merchants' Guild had to face the Empire head-on!

The seven Divine Envoy rank directors and the Sage rank council members were invigorated and immediately seized the opportunity to inflict massive casualties on the Empire's soldiers.

However, just as they were about to strike, Harry and one hundred Sage rank Doomsday Warriors suddenly stepped out of the void without warning.

The overwhelming aura immediately locked onto the seven Divine Envoy rank directors, surrounding them completely.

"Not good!"

Guild President Antonio cried out in shock.

"Sage rank warriors?! A full hundred of them!"

"Damn it! How many more tricks does Aurek have hidden up his sleeve?! This damn bastard!"

The council members, who had still held onto a glimmer of hope, were on the brink of collapse.

Faced with the 200,000 Stellar rank soldiers, the tens of thousands of mighty giant warriors, and now the sudden appearance of one hundred Sage rank warriors...

The constant revelations of power were nearly driving them to despair.

Lower-level Guild members were stunned into silence. Some of the unwilling Grandmaster rank and Master rank members tried to rush out of the barrier.

In the blink of an eye, they were smashed into pieces by the Titans, along with their protective artifacts.

This terrifying scene sent the other members into a state of sheer terror, and no one dared to step forward again.

These giants were nothing short of monstrous!

Meanwhile,

The hundred Sage rank Doomsday Warriors, under Harry's command, launched a siege against the seven Divine Envoy rank directors.

Although the strength of the Divine Envoy rank far surpassed that of Sage rank, under the pressure of both numbers and Harry's command, four of the directors fell!

The Starlight Wolf howled as it charged into the fray, its own Divine Envoy rank power just as terrifying.

Its body expanded rapidly, charging toward Harry and the others, trying to save the remaining three directors.

Harry instantly summoned all nine of his Demon Slayer Daggers, his figure dissolving into the void.

The next moment, he appeared like a ghost behind the Starlight Wolf.

Seeing this, the Guild President immediately transformed into Starlight, unleashing his vast Divine Envoy rank 6 power in a single blow aimed at Harry!

Over fifty Sage rank Doomsday Warriors quickly withdrew, combining their strength to unleash the Dawn Judgment!

The light of holiness and destruction intertwined in a waterfall of energy, forcibly blocking the Guild President's attack.

Seizing this fleeting opportunity, Harry pierced the Starlight Wolf's magical core with a single strike, severely wounding it!

The remaining fifty Sage rank warriors swiftly finished off the remaining three Divine Envoy rank directors.

On the other side,

The Titans roared in fury, forcing back the Starlight's oppressive power, charging toward the remaining Guild forces like moving mountains.

Void Warlocks continuously created spatial traps to restrain them. The Titans nearly killed every single Stellar rank senior officer in their path, and even their dissipating souls were obliterated by the sheer power.

The Guild's Stellar rank forces, numbering fewer than a thousand, were rapidly consumed under the Titans' rampaging fists.

The remaining Sage rank council members were drenched in blood, struggling to hold on.

But before they could even catch their breath, the second wave of attacks from the 200,000 Stellar rank soldiers arrived.

Having just finished their hunt of the Divine Envoy rank directors, the Doomsday Warriors joined the fray, and the remaining Sage rank forces in the Stellar Merchants' Guild were quickly wiped out!

The entire foundation of the Stellar Merchants' Guild was overrun by the Empire's army as if they were cutting through vegetables!

Witnessing this scene, Antonio's heart nearly shattered!

Thousands of years of accumulation, the blood, sweat, and sacrifice of countless members, were being destroyed piece by piece right before his eyes!

But he could do nothing but rage helplessly!

At that moment,

Philip, high above the clouds, completed his preparations.

The star chart before him blazed with light, and the stars in the sky seemed to shift, causing the Starlight Guardian Barrier surrounding the Guild to violently shake, then shatter with a deafening crash!

A beam of black Starlight, originating from the depths of the cosmos, pierced through space, striking the Guild President directly!

"This... is... Silent Extinction of the Stars?!"

The Guild President was struck with a jolt of terror.

The starlight surrounding him was visibly tainted with ominous blackness.

He turned sharply toward the distance, his pupils shrinking when he saw the figure controlling the star chart.

"Philip!"

In the world of astrologers, starlight represented life, while the silence of the stars symbolized extinction!

In all of Eura, the only being capable of altering the stars' fate was the Apostle of Fate, Philip!

The Guild President clenched his fists, desperately trying to activate the semi-artifact, Starlight, to dispel the encroaching power of Silent Extinction.

But Harry had already arrived.

He struck the Ancient Beast Skin Drum with a mighty blow!

Boom—!

A drumbeat, as if from the distant past, reverberated through the soul, making even the Starlight tremble.

The Guild President coughed up a mouthful of blood, his starlight eyes slowly being consumed by the dark silence.

Harry immediately unleashed his Demon Slayer Daggers, and the nine daggers, burning with holy flames, struck through the old man's divine body, pinning him in the void!

The battle quickly drew to a close!

Without the support of their powerful warriors, and with the barrier shattered, the remaining Guild members knelt in terror.

"Stellar Merchants' Guild surrenders!"

"We are willing to submit to Crossbridge Empire!"

"Please, Emperor, show mercy and spare us!"

Everyone silently watched, their hearts filled with mixed emotions.

Even powers as strong as Ordon Theocracy and Stellar Merchants' Guild could only crawl and beg for survival in the face of the Empire's blade!

The iron hooves of Crossbridge Empire were unstoppable!
