Chapter 276: Like Crushing Ants

On the other side of Eryndor City, at the Dixon Han city gate, a Divine Envoy was rapidly making his way to provide assistance.

The two middle-aged men halted their steps, carefully observing the entire city of Eryndor, a hint of surprise flashing in their eyes.

"This barrier is no less formidable than the Divine Domain barrier. It seems Emperor Aurek is quite cautious."

One of them detected the subtle pressure from the divine barrier, feeling its suppressive force. Even their strength was somewhat restricted by this barrier.

But this was no longer important.

They had already entered the core of Eryndor City and were now standing before the heart of the Crossbridge Empire.

That was enough!

Since their presence had already been detected, the two no longer concealed themselves.

With a single step, their figures appeared directly at the palace gates.

As the divine barrier was triggered, an invisible force field of suppression formed, attempting to prevent them from advancing.

"A God Fire rank presence has forcefully entered Eryndor City!"

A Divine Envoy from Dixon Han street, who had rushed over, failed to intercept them in time and could only issue a warning to Aurek.

The other wounded Divine Envoy, barely able to bear his injuries, immediately rushed toward the Violet Rose Trade Guild to protect Natasha.

Natasha's eyes also grew solemn.

"I have guards here at the guild. Don't worry about me, go to the palace immediately for support."

She understood full well what it meant when a God Fire rank presence entered Eryndor City.

The Divine Envoy hesitated for a moment, then transformed into a streak of light, swiftly reaching his companion's side, his gaze filled with deep caution as he stared at the two middle-aged men standing at the palace gates.

While the strength of a Divine Envoy rank was considerable, it seemed utterly inadequate in the face of a God Fire rank, who had been recognized by the laws of heaven and earth.

The ordinary citizens of Eryndor City may only be familiar with sage ranks and could not understand the significance of the God Fire rank, but the mere presence above sage rank was enough to make them realize the terrifying power of the approaching enemy.

"A God Fire rank presence has entered Eryndor City! It seems the external battlefield is favorable to the Eastern Domain Alliance!"

Members of the former Pud royal family secretly rejoiced.

All royal family members with power at the master rank or above gazed toward the palace.

They eagerly awaited the upcoming scene!

Will stood in a pavilion, his mind power tightly locked onto the palace.

"Not good! The palace is in danger!"

Sophia's face filled with concern as she immediately flew out of the residence.

Winston followed closely behind.

Gaia, Cole, Chuck, and other high-ranking officials of the empire hurried toward the palace as well!

Inside the palace, squads of royal guards were quickly mobilized.

Mountain Shieldbearers flew toward the palace gates to set up defenses.

Josephine, Lucy, Gloria, and Princess Belinda also came out of their chambers.

Lucy and Gloria soared into the air, using their mind power to try and probe the two middle-aged men.

"Pff—"

In the next moment, the two were struck by a powerful mind power shock, their expressions changing drastically!

"It's a God Fire rank!"

Gloria's lips bled as her eyes filled with unprecedented gravity.

Only the Skyborne Church and White Wing Abbey in the entire Eastern Domain could possess a God Fire rank.

And both of these colossal powers were mortal enemies of the Crossbridge Empire!

...

"This barrier is interesting."

"Where did this tiny Crossbridge Empire get this from?"

One of the middle-aged men spoke without any sense of urgency, as if he wasn't at all worried about being obstructed.

From the Jade city gate to the palace, no one could stand in their way.

This proved that besides the two Divine Envoys, there was nothing but this mysterious barrier in Eryndor City!

He stood before the palace gates, carefully inspecting the situation with a curious gaze.

The other middle-aged man sensed the two Divine Envoys from the Violet Rose Trade Guild, along with several high-ranking Crossbridge Empire officials, heading toward the palace. His eyes flashed with a cold, murderous glint.

He released a wave of God Fire rank pressure.

In an instant, it felt as if the weight of the entire world was pressing down on Eryndor City.

"Just a bunch of ants, no need to waste time on them."

The middle-aged man studying the barrier felt his companion's action and spoke with disdain.

"Let's break the barrier first and kill Aurek. That's the real objective."

Unable to locate the core of the barrier in the short term, they decided to forcefully destroy it.

It was always easier to approach from within than to attack from the outside.

However, his companion did not respond.

He withdrew his gaze and looked.

By rights, the aura of a God Fire rank presence should have caused even sage ranks to kneel.

But not only did the two Divine Envoys remain unaffected, even the empire's ministers flying toward the palace, and the common folk in Eryndor City, seemed unfazed.

It was unclear when, but over twenty thousand soldiers had quietly surrounded the palace, cutting off all escape routes.

Then, one after another, titans began to grow in size, rising like towering giants!

Their enormous figures encircled the two men, towering over them.

The pressure and aura of God Fire rank were unmistakable!

One, two, three, four, five...

The number seemed endless, with each one stronger than the two middle-aged men.

The two men's faces involuntarily twitched.

They looked up at the colossal figures, their palms sweating, their bodies trembling violently.

In that moment, it felt as though they were struck in the chest by a heavy iron block!

Their mentality completely collapsed.

They were only God Fire rank level 2, while these giants' presence dwarfed them!

They couldn't even sense how many titans were present, as the ring of titans surrounding them obscured their perception.

"Gentlemen,"

A God Fire rank titan looked down at them with a smile, asking,

"What did you say earlier? We didn't catch it. Could you repeat that?"

"We... we're sorry!"

One of the middle-aged men struggled to speak.

"We... we were just joking!"

Before he finished speaking, both men seemed to act in unison.

Two beams of divine light shot into the sky, attempting to escape the terrifying encirclement, to flee this dreadful place!

Compared to the Eastern Domain's most dangerous area, Godfall Canyon, Paris city was a true forbidden zone!

Their speed was incredibly fast, and their reactions were decisive.

But one of the God Fire rank titans casually extended a finger and lightly pinched one of the escaping middle-aged men.

In an instant, it was as if he had caught a flying insect, firmly holding the man in place.

The middle-aged God Fire rank struggled to resist.

The titan's other hand reached out, pinching the man's head, and with a gentle pull—

"Ah—!"

A chilling scream echoed through the sky.

The middle-aged God Fire rank's head and body were effortlessly separated like a fragile doll.

The titan casually rubbed the severed head with his fingers, as if brushing off dust from his hand.

The divine halo of the middle-aged man was quickly eroded and destroyed by an overwhelming force.

Outside the palace, the two Divine Envoys from the Violet Rose Trade Guild stared dumbfounded, completely at a loss as they looked at the towering human-like God Mountains.

A God Fire rank presence—

The supreme beings of the Eura continent, standing atop all other beings...

Were effortlessly killed just like that!

The two were utterly stunned!

Winston, Chuck, Gaia, and the others were also completely dumbfounded.

Sophia's gaze froze, her eyes filled with the terror emanating from the titans standing over a hundred meters tall.

Everyone was plunged into profound shock and confusion!

The citizens of Eryndor City were likewise awestruck, their mouths hanging open as they stared at the unprecedented scene.
