

Gods Daily 331

Chapter 331: Empire Divine Dawn Day

He needed resources from the Abyss Demon Realm, as many as possible!

The Abyss Demon Realm was the enemy, and so was the so-called God Realm!

How strong the God Realm truly was still remained a mystery!

After a brief moment of thought, he opened the system panel.

Now, he had 10 trillion Emperor Points.

He planned to upgrade the level of some core legions to Divine Cleric rank.

The legions he had previously nurtured that hadn't yet reached Divine Cleric rank would be used to maintain order across the Eura Continent.

The Frost Attribute Legion, Destruction Attribute Legion, and Life Attribute Legion were all level 11, while the Titan Attribute Legion was at level 12.

The required Emperor Points to upgrade to level 13 were not much.

Aurek chose to upgrade.

[Frost Attribute Legion authority upgraded to level 13, capable of nurturing 51,200 units per day]

[Emperor Points required for next upgrade: 25 trillion]

...

[Destruction Attribute Legion authority upgraded to level 13, capable of nurturing 51,200 units per day]

[Emperor Points required for next upgrade: 16 trillion]

...

[Life Attribute Legion authority upgraded to level 13, capable of nurturing 51,200 units per day]

[Emperor Points required for next upgrade: 15 trillion]

...

[Titan Attribute Legion authority upgraded to level 14, capable of nurturing 102,400 units per day]

[Emperor Points required for next upgrade: 50 trillion]

[Note: Level 14 Titan Attribute Legion has an individual power comparable to Grand Divine Cleric level 1, with a 51,200-layer Holy Light Shield!]

...

After upgrading all the core legions to Divine Cleric rank, Aurek focused on upgrading the Titan Attribute Legion, intending to send them to guard Twilight City in the Abyss Demon Realm.

Now, the total number of units being nurtured daily by all attribute legions had reached 716,800, and all of them would possess Divine Cleric rank power.

Since the battle with the Four-Winged Demon legion, he had already nurtured tens of millions of legions.

But clearly, this was still far from enough!

After sweeping across the Eura Continent, the territories that needed to be guarded were vast and numerous.

At present, the main legions above Divine Cleric rank were concentrated in Godfall Gorge, and they were the core of the Empire's attribute legions.

After advancing to God General rank, Aurek's imperial power and law force underwent a qualitative transformation.

Moreover, a vague figure of an emperor had appeared in the skies above Eryndor City!

This omen signified that the Crossbridge Empire was about to enter the true era of unification.

In the Council Hall, Aurek stood holding his scepter.

The steps above had become an absolute forbidden zone, filled with an awe-inspiring pressure.

Winston, Heimerdinger, and other imperial ministers were deeply shocked.

Looking up, it seemed as though the emperor's steps had been raised by countless layers!

As they stood below, they could only feel that the figure above had become increasingly unreachable!

Gaia respectfully reported the progress of the expansion of Eryndor City.

Winston reported on the overall situation of the conquest of the Eura Continent.

"Your Majesty! The imperial legions have now fully taken control of the Eura Continent, with minimal resistance in various territories. The final phase of the conquest is now underway."

"The main difficulty lies in territorial governance. Governor offices, security bureaus, and supervisory institutes have been established in various regions, and it will take some time to fully integrate the Eura Continent into the Empire's territorial and legal system."

"Additionally, the imperial coronation ceremony, the Divine Dawn Day for the entire continent, is being simultaneously prepared. It will be held once the Empire's laws and institutions are thoroughly rooted in the Eura Continent."

Winston's voice trembled with excitement as he reported.

The other imperial ministers shared his excitement.

Unifying the Eura Continent!

This unprecedented achievement, the grand unification, would be written by the Crossbridge Empire!

And they were all witnesses and participants in this magnificent history!

Once the officials finished governing the territories and fully integrated the Empire's laws and systems into the continent, the entire Eura Continent would be completely part of the Crossbridge Empire's sacred dominion.

The Divine Dawn Day coronation ceremony would announce to the world!

On that day, the Crossbridge Empire would declare to the world, and the world's laws would resonate with it, forming an unparalleled, divine crown.

And Emperor Aurek would ascend to the pinnacle of the heavens, receiving the gaze of endless subjects!

That day would become one of eternal remembrance!

It would be the most glorious moment in the long river of time on the Eura Continent!

"Since the officials of the various regions serve as ministers of the Empire, I will bestow titles and rewards based on their merits."

"The heavy responsibility of commanding the vast territories will also be entrusted to you all."

Aurek's voice was grand and reverberated in the void.

The arrival of this day filled Aurek's heart with an unprecedented sense of accomplishment.

This was a grand goal that once seemed unreachable, but he was about to achieve it!

This was the emperor's great work!

It was also a man's supreme achievement.

Those seemingly unreachable dreams, as long as one dares to chase them and put them into action,

They could be touched, even grasped in one's hands!

...

The day of the unification of the Eura Continent was designated as Divine Dawn Day!

This signified that from this day forward, the Crossbridge Empire would officially become the sole ruler of the Eura Continent.

The sacred light of the Crossbridge Empire would shine upon the entire world, and its glory would protect every citizen of the Empire!

On that day, Emperor Aurek would also accept the coronation and blessings of the world!

He would receive the gazes of the Empire's millions of citizens, as well as those enemies who had once been crushed beneath his feet!

The specific arrangements for Divine Dawn Day were being organized by Chuck.

Internal pressures had been eliminated, and now the real pressure came from the external.

Once the major policies were set, the responsibility for governing the territories would be shared by the imperial ministers.

As for the official system,

This was the core issue of territorial management after the unification of the Eura Continent.

Through Royal Grace, titles would be granted, and numerous officials would be appointed to strengthen the management of the vast territories.

For example, Saint Elber River had been granted a Saint Elber River Guardian, who would oversee the river and its basin.

The Anubichi Mountain Range and Ankidor Mountains had also been given corresponding mountain lords to manage them.

In the future, as the Empire's national fortunes continued to grow, even small lakes could have their corresponding water lords or guardians appointed.

This was the extraordinary power of Royal Grace.

...

In the royal gardens, Aurek stepped inside.

Princess Belinda was not here.

But there was an unexpected guest—Elizabeth!

She was meditating in the Sacred Baptismal Pool.

Aurek had previously ignored her with the intention of giving her a little reprimand.

But unexpectedly, she didn't hesitate and took full advantage of the Empire's resources!

Now, although she had shed her empress's robes, her inherent regal demeanor could not be concealed. Her presence remained powerful.

This was the dignity that came from long years of high position. If placed in the past, she would undoubtedly have been an extremely successful female ruler.

Without the loose royal robes, her tall, graceful figure, and curvy form were fully displayed.

Though slightly less charming than Natasha, she surpassed her in that high, cold, and proud air.

Keeping a once high-ranking empress in the harem might itself be a remarkable achievement.

Elizabeth draped herself in a light veil, her entire body appearing as pure and translucent as snow.

In fact, she wasn't very accustomed to bowing to Aurek.

After all, she had never imagined a day when she would have to lower her head to anyone!