Chapter 348: The Mystery Beyond the Giant Gate

In an instant!

The endless starry river and intricate engravings on the gate seemed to come alive.

Boundless and infinite phenomena began to emerge, instantly filling the entire small world, which was on the brink of collapse.

"Did it just open like that?!"

"How... how is this possible?!"

The three eyes on Blood Lion Reo's heads widened in disbelief.

Zach's breath froze as he stared intently at the unfolding scene.

If the image seen in the Moonlit Mirror was true, the opportunity behind the gate would far exceed expectations.

Creak—

At the very center of the Gold Giant Gate, a straight golden crack extended from the top down to the ground.

The golden light was like a curtain splitting the heavens and the earth, dividing the small world into two halves.

With a deep, ancient rumble, the heavy and sacred doors began to slowly open...

A surge of pure, ultimate energy from the source of the world rushed out from the gate, instantly spreading throughout the small world on the brink of collapse.

Ordinary plants and trees bathed in this energy, and in an instant, they transformed into magical, elemental plants, imbued with arcane properties.

The profound and fiery sacred light, which had been suppressed for countless years, now poured out frantically from the slowly opening gap of the gate.

Natasha was enveloped in this light, and her rank unexpectedly rose by a small degree.

Cyriel and the True God entity quickly activated their strongest powers to protect Natasha, their expressions tense with vigilance.

It wasn't until the Gold Giant Gate had fully opened, and no immediate fatal threat was sensed, that the tension in their hearts slightly eased.

But it lasted only a moment.

Natasha's expression became incredibly serious as she retracted the golden Seal of Authority.

She exchanged a glance with Cyriel and the True God entity, then resolutely stepped forward, entering the glowing depths of the gate.

However...

Shortly after they entered, they seemed to be petrified by some spell, standing frozen in shock...

After a long while,

Natasha, Cyriel, and the True God entity silently walked out from the Gold Giant Gate.

Their expressions were frozen in an indescribable shock, even appearing a little numb and dazed.

Deep in their eyes, remnants of a raging storm of emotions still lingered, as if they could not shake off the overwhelming waves of what they had just witnessed.

They stood like statues in front of the giant gate, remaining still for a long time, trying to calm the violent turmoil within their hearts.

This left Blood Lion Reo and Zach outside, utterly confused.

Had they encountered some terrifying, world-shaking entity inside?

But if that were the case, how could they have emerged unscathed?

A deep curiosity filled their hearts, and they couldn't help but peer again toward the mysterious interior of the Gold Giant Gate.

"Is there a way... to take it with us?"

Natasha forced herself to suppress the tumult in her heart, trying to calm the waves in her eyes.

She turned and gave a deep look at the open gate before asking a nearby Void Warlock.

She didn't want to waste a single moment.

Any delay could bring unforeseeable trouble.

She didn't believe that such an extraordinary creation behind the gate could have been made by a mere Sage King rank craftsman.

This secret must be tightly sealed, or it would surely bring unimaginable disaster.

But would she give it up?

That was absolutely impossible!

The being behind the gate, its value was enough to elevate the entire Crossbridge Empire to an unprecedented height, a sight that even gods could not imagine.

The Void Warlock responded,

"Lady, simply taking the Gold Giant Gate itself is enough!"

"It exists outside of the regular world. The gate itself is the portal, and the golden seal is the only key. By using the power of the seal, the gate can be taken."

"Once His Majesty obtains it, we can analyze its world rules and core essence. After fully mastering it, we will be able to bring it from outside the world to Eura."

Void Warlocks, with their control over space laws, had an extraordinary perception of space structures.

No one understood space's essence better than them.

Thus, this task was far from difficult for them.

Of course, if anyone else had come, they might have found it impossible.

Natasha nodded.

She had no thoughts of greed and understood she had no right to claim it for herself.

The best choice was to bring it back to the imperial court as a gift for His Majesty on Divine Dawn Day, aiding Aurek in reaching the peak.

Cyriel had no need for further explanation—she was the king's trusted confidant, personally trained and arranged.

However, the True God entity sent by Elizabeth required vigilance.

Even if she assisted actively, Natasha couldn't fully trust her until she earned the king's absolute trust.

After all, Elizabeth's position was something to consider.

Even Cyriel secretly kept a watchful eye on this True God entity.

The reason was simple...

The things behind the gate were of an unparalleled value, and everyone understood the temptation it posed.

It was enough to make any being lose their sanity, even abandoning all principles.

If Zach and Blood Lion Reo were allowed inside, greed would likely breed unwanted thoughts.

The True God entity turned back and cast a deep glance into the gate before turning to Natasha and Cyriel.

She clearly sensed their wariness but said nothing further.

Natasha took out the golden Seal of Authority and activated the entire Gold Giant Gate.

The ancient divine script on the gate once again fell off, transforming into profound and sacred light that covered the massive gate.

Several Void Warlocks simultaneously cast powerful dimensional fields, severing most of the space structure connecting the small world to the gate.

They directly took control of the towering Gold Giant Gate, preparing to transport it.

This scene made Zach covetous.

Regardless of the unimaginable opportunities hidden behind the Gold Giant Gate, the sheer amount of Starborne Gold used to forge the gate was enough to drive countless worlds into a frenzy.

If word got out that someone had taken the entire Gold Giant Gate, the entire world would likely be torn apart by war!

Boom!

With the extraction of the Gold Giant Gate, the balance of the small world was shattered, and it neared collapse.

Various voids began to tear apart, and forests began to sink, resembling a doomsday scene!

Natasha said nothing further, directly leaving through the void.

She instructed Cyriel to destroy the entire secret realm, leaving no trace behind.

This was to prevent the collapse of the secret realm from attracting external attention and bringing unwanted scrutiny to the taboo associated with the Gold Giant Gate.

The Elemental Assassins continued to clear the path ahead.

Once everyone had exited the secret realm, a number of Elemental Assassins remained behind to handle the aftermath and prevent anyone from discovering the disturbances here.

These precautions were necessary, as she had to consider the safety of Crossbridge Empire.

As a result, she even put aside plans to establish the Court of Darkness near Snail Sea.

The most important thing now was to bring the Gold Giant Gate back to Eura as quickly as possible.

The gate was beyond her comprehension, and if there were any remaining seals or restrictions on it, she would be unable to handle them with her current ability.

Even with millions of attribute warriors guarding them, anything could happen.

She had to ensure everything was foolproof!
