Chapter 401: Devouring the Eura Continent?

Aurek gazed ahead.

A towering figure clad in full armor, wielding a massive axe, stood motionless.

His body was covered in heavy mithril armor, his face concealed beneath a fearsome helmet. The surface of the armor was engraved with ancient divine runes, radiating a chilling aura of power.

An Immortal War God?

Aurek's gaze sharpened slightly.

Just as he was about to investigate further, the figure of Golden Armor appeared behind him.

Aurek sheathed the Emperor's Scepter and sent the attribute legions he had nurtured to nearby sanctuaries.

Golden Armor should have been fully assisting Suggwoth in attacking the Dawonru Empire, but his sudden return clearly signaled that something had changed.

"My lord!" Golden Armor bowed in reverence.

"What has happened in the Dawonru Empire?" Aurek asked in a deep voice.

"General Suggwoth is currently launching a full-scale assault on the core of the Dawonru Empire, Sky Province, and the Demon Capital," Golden Armor replied.

"However, the giant elephant demon race, occupying the northern border of the Dawonru Empire, seized the opportunity to invade Noke Province at the edge of the Secondary Demon Realm, planning to enter the Secondary Demon Realm while the empire's forces are focusing on Sky Province. Their ultimate goal is to invade the Eura Continent."

Aurek remained silent.

Golden Armor continued, "This time, the giant elephant demon race has sent their entire force, and a Sage King rank is personally overseeing the invasion."

"Intelligence reports confirm that the race has at least four Sage King ranks, and within their ranks, there is a high priest skilled in astrology, whose abilities are unfathomable."

"The giant elephant demon race feeds on living beings. After invading the Dawonru Empire, they have already devoured hundreds of cities and are now advancing into the Secondary Demon Realm. The empire's army has lost tens of thousands of men to their hunger..."

Cannibalism!?

Aurek's brows shot up in anger.

A city, especially one within the Dawonru Empire, easily contains millions of citizens.

And the giant elephant demon race had devoured hundreds of cities in one go!

These were monsters that consumed humans!

Their invasion of the Secondary Demon Realm was only a stepping stone to Eura. They even dared to devour his own army!

If such a brutal race were allowed to enter Eura, it wouldn't be long before the entire continent would be consumed.

"How many members does the giant elephant demon race have?" Aurek's eyes flashed with cold killing intent.

Golden Armor reported, "At least two hundred million."

"They are not a native species of the Abyss Demon Realm but were exiled from the galaxy."

"Their mission as a race is to find the Celestial Sanctuary. We have yet to uncover what connection they have with the sanctuary."

"Two hundred million!"

Aurek turned his gaze toward the Golden Giant Gate, his eyes filled with murderous intent.

Moreover, they were searching for the Celestial Sanctuary—this could not be allowed.

"I want them all dead!"

"Order Suggwoth to exterminate them to the last!"

Aurek gave his command.

Golden Armor hesitated. "If we draw forces away, the assault on Sky Province may slow down, and the Dawonru Empire might use this opportunity to counterattack our army."

"Counterattack?"

Aurek's lips curled into a cold smile.

"I will redirect more forces!"

The eighty thousand titans of True God rank were perfect for the task, and he also planned to dispatch nearly twenty million God General rank soldiers.

No matter the cost, the giant elephant demon race could not be allowed to learn of the Celestial Sanctuary. Aurek would not let them off.

Moreover, they dared to covet the Eura Continent...

This was the foundation of the Crossbridge Empire!

It was his territory!

Golden Armor nodded in acknowledgment.

Aurek summoned the Immortal War God and named him Ares!

Without hesitation, he immediately ordered Ares to lead the eighty thousand True God titans and nearly twenty million God General soldiers directly into the Abyss Demon Realm!

"The giant elephant demon race... titans..."

Both were giants!

Aurek was somewhat curious how long it would take the titans to complete the task!

Noke Province.

Boom—!

Balzer struck the void with a punch, causing the heavens and earth to crack.

He led his army and ruthlessly charged into the Crossbridge Empire's forces.

The Sage King rank of the giant elephant demon race held down the Frostbound Warlock legion, restraining them.

One giant after another charged forward.

The Mountain Shieldbearer summoned a holy light shield to block the giants.

The titans, standing at over a thousand meters tall, clashed fiercely with the giant elephant demon race, their fists colliding with explosive force that shook the heavens.

Cyriel fired three arrows in quick succession, the arrows cutting through the air and momentarily breaking the pressure from the giant elephant demon race's Sage King rank.

The Frostbound Warlocks instantly cast the Icebound Domain, turning the battlefield into a zone of life deprivation.

"Warriors of our tribe!"

"Crush these nuisances, and the entire Eura Continent will become our hunting ground!"

"Kill—!"

Balzer roared.

With a punch, he shattered the heavens and unleashed an endless storm that ravaged everything.

But Balzer stepped into the storm as if it had no effect on him.

The dense swarm of giants continued to advance, their blows so mighty that even the laws of the world were shattered.

They charged fearlessly toward the Crossbridge Empire's forces.

Behind them, a giant elephant demon race general observed the battlefield silently.

Morga's eyes burned with intensity as he fixed his gaze on the Crossbridge Empire's forces. The enemy was made up entirely of Divine Cleric rank experts!

According to the intelligence they had received, such elites numbered in the tens of millions in the Abyss Demon Realm!

If they could devour all of them, the strength of the giant elephant demon race would grow tremendously!

If they could break into the Eura Continent, it would be even more beneficial for their race's revival!

White Sea Territory Border.

At the Silver Legion's forward command center.

The shadows on the sand table continuously shifted, marking the positions of various forces.

Zansin pointed to an area on the sand table where the conflict was particularly intense and spoke in a low voice.

"The giant elephant demon race and the Crossbridge Empire forces have clashed in Noke Province, and the battle is exceptionally brutal."

Dorrak immediately stepped forward and scanned the terrain on the sand table.

"Some of the giant elephant demon race's forces have already infiltrated the White Sea Territory's flank, advancing towards the side of Noke Province."

Zansin added, "I've moved a few black flags representing enemy forces to the appropriate positions."

Dorrak pondered for a moment, a flash of realization passing through his eyes.

"Their intent is clear—they want to break through the Secondary Demon Realm's defenses while the Crossbridge Empire's main forces are attacking Sky Province."

"Their ultimate target is the Eura Continent!"

"This might be our opportunity."

A cold smile appeared on Zansin's lips.

"Let these beasts enter the Eura Continent, and we can force the Crossbridge Empire's army, currently attacking the Dawonru Empire, to return to defend their homeland."

"Additionally, we can seal the passage behind them, trapping them completely on the Eura Continent."

"Then, we let the Crossbridge Empire and these monsters destroy each other."

Dorrak slowly nodded.

The Demonwing Empire certainly wanted to see the downfall of their rival, the Dawonru Empire.

But with the Crossbridge Empire's overwhelming strength intervening, their stance had subtly shifted.

They didn't want the Dawonru Empire to fall too quickly.

After all, the foundation that Crossbridge Empire had shown was already comparable to a Divine Empire.

Once the Dawonru Empire fell, the next target would certainly be the Demonwing Empire.

Keeping the Dawonru Empire alive would at least keep Crossbridge Empire occupied with a major threat.

As for the giant elephant demon race, they were a disaster for any civilization.

They were the most gluttonous predators, and wherever they went, all life turned into their blood food.

The Demonwing Empire was powerless to stand against them.

Leading this catastrophe toward the Eura Continent would be the best strategy!
