Chapter 402: Not One Giant Elephant Demon Race Left

Dorrak immediately gave the order.

"Command the Silver Legion to switch to a defensive stance. Do not actively engage the giant elephant demon race."

"Wait until their main force completely flanks the side of Noke Province, and then strike. The goal is to drive them toward the Secondary Demon Realm."

Zansin acknowledged and then suggested, "This matter is crucial and should be reported immediately."

"If His Majesty approves, perhaps stronger forces will be sent to assist, ensuring the effectiveness of the expulsion."

Once the giant elephant demon race was successfully driven into the Secondary Demon Realm, Suggwoth, who was launching an all-out assault on Sky Province, would certainly come to their aid.

At that time, combined with the remaining forces of the Dawonru Empire and the Demonwing Empire's opportunistic advance, the Crossbridge Empire's forces would find themselves surrounded on three fronts.

Moreover, if the giant elephant demon race breached the Eura Continent, it would force even more of the Crossbridge Empire's armies to return and defend their homeland.

Dorrak quickly wrote down these analyses and strategies and sent them as an urgent war report to the Demonwing Empire court.

Noke Province.

Collisions and impacts raged across the sky.

The high-ranked giant elephant demon race forces were just as ferocious.

Each giant stood over a thousand meters tall, with immense strength.

After devouring countless lives, their combat power had risen to terrifying levels.

This race was not native to the Abyss Demon Realm but had fallen here from the boundless starry sea.

Their bloodline possessed a devouring trait that allowed them to inscribe divine runes, imbued with godly power, on their skin by consuming living beings and absorbing their blood essence.

The more runes they had, the stronger their body became, with far superior defense and power compared to others of the same rank.

They could even resist many powerful magical and divine attacks!

However, for War Bear, stopping the giant elephant demon race was not impossible.

With just the titans and the God General-ranked Frostbound Warlock legions, they were enough to hold their ground.

But now, the giant elephant demon race had unleashed its full force, overwhelming the battlefield.

Among them, True God and God King-ranked warriors outnumbered even the forces of the Dawonru Empire, and the oppressive aura of the Sage King rank enveloped the battlefield.

With only Cyriel, a single God King, it was impossible to turn the tide of battle.

War Bear had no choice but to withdraw his forces toward Sky Province.

Sky Province Frontline.

Suggwoth, fully committed to the attack, had already learned of the upheaval in Noke Province.

Lucio warned, "The giant elephant demon race's sudden assault on Noke Province is likely an attempt to enter the Eura Continent and cut off our army's rear."

"This race poses a real threat to the empire. We cannot ignore it."

Suggwoth fell into deep thought.

Sky Province could be delayed, but the direct threat to the empire's heart and foundation by the giant elephant demon race had to be dealt with first.

"Harry, lead five million Frostbound Warlock soldiers and draw one million soldiers from each legion to rush to Noke Province."

"The members of the Noble Council of the Clouds, please go as well."

Suggwoth quickly deployed the forces.

Hunter Harry nodded to accept the order.

Joshua briefly pondered and then agreed. Despite the proximity of the enemy, Dawonru Empire, dealing with the giant elephant demon race was clearly more urgent than their ancient enemy.

The vast devastation of the Giant Elephant Mountains, where all life turned to ruin, was common knowledge in the magic realm.

Now, the monsters had emerged amidst the chaos, and the consequences were unimaginable!

Just as Harry and the others were about to leave, Golden Armor suddenly appeared inside the tent.

He walked straight toward Suggwoth and handed over a scroll sealed with the imperial wax.

Suggwoth bent over to take the scroll and unfurled it.

There was only one sentence written on it:

"Not one giant elephant demon race left."

Suggwoth's eyes gleamed with cold, ruthless light.

Golden Armor spoke solemnly, "This race devours imperial soldiers and covets the empire's foundation. His Majesty is enraged!"

"He has ordered that the general eliminate their entire race by any means necessary."

Tredy, Joshua, Antoine, Fiona, and the others stood still, their expressions turning serious at the mention of "extermination."

"Exterminate them?" Fiona analyzed calmly, "The giant elephant demon race is vast, with at least over two hundred million members, and they have Sage King ranks overseeing them."

"To eliminate them, we would likely need to halt the assault on Sky Province and concentrate all forces. Only then would it be possible."

"If too many troops are drawn from here, the Dawonru Empire might seize the opportunity to counterattack, leaving our forces vulnerable on both fronts."

Golden Armor replied, "His Majesty has already dispatched other legions to reinforce us."

"Just maintain pressure on Sky Province!"

More reinforcements?

Joshua's heart trembled.

With over ten million God General rank soldiers already, it was terrifying enough. If even more forces were added, the Crossbridge Empire's military might have already reached the level of a Divine Empire!

Suggwoth reorganized, diverting half his forces to assault Noke Province. He also ordered Merolle and Tredy, two God King-ranked experts, to defend the outskirts of Sky Province against a potential counterattack from the Dawonru Empire.

With the Void Warlock's Transdimensional Leap, tens of millions of soldiers were swiftly deployed to the Noke Province battlefield.

Meanwhile, the White Lady also crossed through the dimensional gate and arrived at the battlefield!

Giant Elephant Mountains.

On the Star Observation Platform, magical light flickered.

The high priest, holding a scepter, sat at the center of the magic circle.

Suddenly, his body trembled violently, and he spat out a mouthful of blood.

He rose, shouting hoarsely, "Quick! Send a message for Morga to retreat from Giant Elephant Mountains immediately!"

"High Priest, what has happened?" a God King-ranked giant priest asked anxiously.

"The extermination of our race has arrived, right above us!"

The high priest's voice was hoarse, and his aura quickly diminished.

Almost simultaneously.

Balzer, who had just broken through Black Edge City, and his kin suddenly halted their charge.

They stared in horror at the sky.

There, a violent and unstoppable force had torn the sky apart.

Beyond the crack, countless silent and oppressive figures in armor stood.

Behind them, Morga and the tribe's priests' pupils shrank in shock.

The millions of giant elephant demon race warriors near Black Edge City froze in place, staring up at the tear in the sky.

At the very front, a towering figure clad in armor and holding a battle axe stood before the tear.

It was Ares!

Eighty thousand titans stepped out from the crack, heading straight for Black Edge City.

"The empire's reinforcements have arrived!"

War Bear, stationed outside the city, immediately recognized the Crossbridge Empire's titan legion.

Cyriel also nocked his bow and observed.

On the other side.

Suggwoth, Joshua, Antoine, Fiona, and the others had also arrived.

When they looked up at the torn sky, their eyes widened in disbelief.

It was as if they had seen something impossible!

Boom—!

The eighty thousand True God rank titans entered Black Edge City, and all of them activated Titan combat techniques.

Their bodies rapidly expanded, growing into towering figures thousands of meters tall!

As their feet slammed down, the earth cracked, and the entire magic realm trembled!

They gazed down at the giant elephant demon race below, who now appeared unbelievably small.

All the powerful figures monitoring the Sky Province battle immediately turned their attention toward Black Edge City.

A titan reached down, grabbed a High God-ranked giant elephant demon race warrior by the hand.

The warrior struggled in terror, but the titan tore the giant apart with his hands.

"Ahhh—!!"

A horrified scream echoed across the battlefield.

The giant was torn apart, with only the head and upper body left, crushed into a bloody mess.
