

Gods Daily 455

Chapter 455: The Birth of the Dark Sage Lord

Abyss Demon Realm.

As time passed, Judicatory Sanctum was successfully swayed by the Council of the Dark Order.

The Gargoyle tribe's stance remained ambiguous, fluctuating based on the victor.

It seemed that they would side with whoever appeared to be winning.

The gargoyles of the Abyss Demon Realm were a branch of the gargoyle tribe from Starry Chaos.

Their racial characteristics were peculiar.

Low-level gargoyles were hideous, while high-level ones were stunningly beautiful, resembling the most flawless sculptures!

News of the alliance between Judicatory Sanctum and the Council of the Dark Order had reached the Crossbridge Empire.

Lucio and Philip began discussing countermeasures.

They examined the astrological and divination texts they had obtained from the High Priest of the Giant Elephant Demon Race.

After thorough research, along with their own insights, they finally discovered a method to break the magic array set by the Court of Prophecy.

Philip and Lucio worked together.

One used the terrain and energy veins to direct the magic array's power toward Judicatory Sanctum, while the other, using starry trajectories and the river of fate, influenced the great tide of the Abyss Demon Realm, diverting the attention of the Court of Prophecy's astrologers to the stars.

The goal was to transfer the entire magic array's influence onto Judicatory Sanctum!

This magic array had already dragged the Crossbridge Empire into its influence, and it had been set up with the help of many skilled astrologers, who had invested a lot of time and resources.

It was impossible for just the two of them to completely destroy it, so transferring its effects was the best solution.

After all, Judicatory Sanctum held enough influence in the Abyss Demon Realm's great scheme.

Lucio had also set up layers of Tarot cards to confuse the astrologers, granting them a chance to act covertly.

The astrologers of the Court of Prophecy were indeed fully occupied with the celestial disturbances caused by the starry movements.

Boom—!

Over a month passed, and suddenly a great tremor came from the direction of Dark Hill.

In an instant, the entire Abyss Demon Realm shook violently.

Even the world's great forces and the laws of the demon realm were thrown into chaos.

Lucio suffered backlash, spitting blood.

The astrologers of the Court of Prophecy also encountered backlash, but they were overjoyed. Only the emergence of an unparalleled Sage Lord could cause such a disruption in the world's flow!

This meant...

The ancient star-watcher instantly appeared before Dark Hill.

Barclay, Hayden, and other members of the Sword of Order also rushed to the scene.

Three quasi-Sage Lords were present. James also arrived.

The entire Abyss Demon Realm was suddenly filled with auspicious signs.

Order and rules began flowing toward the Council of the Dark Order.

The Flower of Laws and golden light spread, and the divine light formed by the supreme rules expanded and spread through the void. All beings in the Abyss Demon Realm watched in awe.

Golden Feather Plateau.

The sage gazed into the distance and murmured, "I never imagined that in such a world, someone could break free of their shackles and ascend to Sage Lord."

"The Council of the Dark Order's fortune is indeed extraordinary."

Many reclusive powerhouses also stared at the celestial phenomenon, seemingly understanding something, their minds shaking with emotion.

"This... this is the ascension to Sage Lord!"

Prologue Sage and other reclusive Divine Radiants were moved.

In that moment, they understood why the Council of the Dark Order had been adopting a defensive stance. It was to buy time for the birth of a Sage Lord!

In that instant, they too felt a sense of dread.

The power of a Sage Lord could suppress the entire Demon Realm!

Even a Divine Oracle would seem as insignificant as an ant before them.

Miles, the head of Judicatory Sanctum, and the other adjudicators also took to the sky, gazing at Dark Hill, where the Council of the Dark Order was.

In Dark Hill.

A round energy shield flew out, with brilliant and dangerous arcs of electricity swirling inside. At the center of the arcs was a sacred yet indistinct light shadow.

It was unclear who or what it was; it appeared to be entirely made of light, with only a rough outline visible.

The figure stood with his hands behind his back.

The shield seemed like a world of its own, jumping within it.

In the next moment, the shield appeared in the outside world, as if it existed as a separate dimension. Within that shield, he was a Sage Lord. Outside, everything was insignificant.

"Greetings, Dark Sage Lord!"

At this moment, even James bowed in respect.

"Everything... should be settled now."

The voice of the Dark Sage Lord echoed from within the shield, cold and unyielding.

The World Relic, the Ouros Disc, also trembled violently.

James stood upright, giving the order to personally lead the charge.

All the Sword of Order and peak-level warriors mobilized. The Order Legion began to march.

Every legion within the Council of the Dark Order's territory began to mobilize, swearing to fight the Crossbridge Empire to the death!

...

Silver Sorcery Palace.

Aurek stood enveloped in the glow of law, stepping forward. In just over a month, the 18th-level Soul Warlocks and Void Warlocks had cultivated nearly 100 million soldiers!

With the help of divine pills and a large number of Emperor Points, Aurek had successfully advanced to the ninth level of Divine Oracle.

Now, he consumed another divine pill, intending to use the pressures and resources of war to make a breakthrough to a quasi-Sage Lord!

Aurek held Otto, the cautious and fearful man, and descended upon the front lines of the Holy Kare Mountains!

One hundred million God King-level troops quickly assembled. Prologue Sage and other strong figures followed closely behind.

Everyone looked up at the towering figure of the Emperor in the sky. Then, their gaze shifted to the distant battlefield.

The entire military force of the Council of the Dark Order was gathering, a massive force under the darkened sky.

The defensive Ouros Disc rose into the air, emitting terrifying light that pierced the void. Everyone knew what that light meant.

A Sage Lord had descended!

The pinnacle war, one that would determine the fate of two realms, was about to begin.

Joshua, Scarlet Witch Antoine, and Lord of Sacred Light, along with others, were filled with anxiety.

A Sage Lord... this was a rare existence even in Starry Chaos, and in the history of the Abyss Demon Realm, they were almost unheard of.

Facing such an imposing force, even before the war began, an invisible pressure hung over them, suffocating them with its intensity.

...

The entire Abyss Demon Realm's inhabitants fell into panic.

They did everything they could to prepare defenses and tried to flee from the Holy Kare Mountains, the battlefield that was about to become a purgatory.

Many strong beings frantically fled to lower worlds, for they all knew what was coming next.

The Council of the Dark Order had gathered all their strength.

And the Crossbridge Empire... had sent reinforcements in the form of a 100 million-strong God King army!

As soon as the endless God King army appeared, everyone knew just how terrifying the coming war would be.

The Council of the Dark Order had struggled to form a 10,000-strong God King army. The Crossbridge Empire's reserves, however, were so vast that they could bring forth a hundred million in one go!

Originally, the worried Joshua, Lord of Sacred Light, and others now couldn't help but twitch their lips in disbelief.

It was as if they were reminded of the saying...

"You can guess how many secrets there are in the world, but never guess how many legions the Crossbridge Empire can summon!"

The Council of the Dark Order's side.

James personally arrived at the front lines, wearing his Artifact of Authority-level armor—the Dark Armor! He wielded the Dark Blade, also an Artifact of Authority.

Three quasi-Sage Lords stood beside him.

Hayden, Barclay, and the eleven Divine Oracle-level powerhouses also moved out.

Hundreds of Sacred Radiance-ranked warriors also mobilized.

The Order Legion donned dark armor.

The ancient star-watchers from the Court of Prophecy stood ready in the rear.

The most striking figure was the one in the air, within the circular shield— the Dark Sage Lord!

Though he seemed formless, he radiated an aura that surpassed all things. His status was incomprehensibly exalted!