

Gods Daily 477

Chapter 477: The Fall of God Mountain Divine Oracles—A World-Shaking Shock!

At the same time, along the interminable battlefield—

The encirclement formed by six hundred million True God–rank imperial troops continued to tighten, like a colossal mill of death, mercilessly grinding down the remaining forces of the Olympian God Mountain coalition.

This scene was nothing short of a one-sided massacre staged for spectators such as Thousandblade Spire, Sanctified Heart Garden, Leonardo, gold coin master, and others.

One Divine Radiant after another fell.

Unar Province shook and shattered. The aftershocks of the battle even spread to the edges of Starreach Province, the Chaotic Realm, and the Starlight Colonnade, drawing still more powerful beings to investigate.

"Your Highness, please withdraw at once!"

Several Divine Radiants fought desperately to shield Cillian, attempting to escort him to safety.

Cillian looked toward Cedric.

At this moment, Cedric's eyes were bloodshot, his features twisted and ferocious from extreme rage and humiliation.

Together with the eight commanders, he was locked in a frenzy of slaughter, refusing to retreat even half a step.

Today, anyone else could leave—

But not them.

They had no face to return!

They could not face the countless billions of citizens along their march who had shouted themselves hoarse, proclaiming the inevitable victory of the Automaton Legion!

"Your Highness, go—now! This is a conspiracy of the Crossbridge Empire!"

"As long as you live, God Mountain still has hope!"

Hedriel resisted incoming attacks while covering Cillian's retreat.

As the Fourth Prince of God Mountain, Cillian absolutely could not die here—otherwise the blow to God Mountain would be even more devastating.

"Crossbridge Empire... I will make you pay for this!"

Cillian let out an unwilling roar of fury before finally being forcibly taken away by his personal guards.

High in the heavens, several God Mountain Divine Oracles who had previously been slain reconstituted their bodies once more. Exhausting all their strength, they broke free from the entanglement of the quasi-sage lord and fled in defeat toward Cloudwood Province.

The quasi-sage lord, Dark Blade in hand, forcibly pinned down two of them.

He did not possess Aurek's invincible might—the kind that could obliterate multiple Divine Oracles with a single sword strike and deny them any chance of rebirth.

Otherwise, he would not have been so easily defeated by Aurek in the past.

Thus, even when a Divine Oracle was wounded by him, the opponent could still revive.

However, if he poured all his strength into fully activating Dark Blade, he was confident he could completely erase one or two of them.

The two Divine Oracles he restrained were swept into the chaotic storm unleashed by Dark Blade. Their escape routes were sealed off entirely.

The quasi-sage lord himself also charged straight into the heart of the storm.

"Boom—!"

Cedric transformed into a blazing pillar of holy light and plunged recklessly into the chaotic storm!

The eight commanders followed closely behind, attempting to assist the two Divine Oracles in breaking free.

Nornid and the other two Divine Oracles of the Ossuary Court also entered the storm, engaging in a ferocious battle within.

Every strand of leaking killing intent and law caused billions of miles of space to collapse continuously—no one dared approach!

In the end, the eight commanders were jointly smashed to death by Prologue Sage and others. Under those merciless attacks, the heavens over half of Unar Province were completely shattered.

"Ah—!"

A Divine Oracle's agonized howl rang out from the heart of the chaotic storm!

The abyssal laws of Dark Blade devoured one Divine Oracle of the Temple of War, while the other had his head cleaved apart!

In the next instant, Cedric seemed to go completely mad, choosing to ignite the entirety of his divine core origin.

Rumble—RUMBLE—!!!

A pitch-black void rift was torn open in the sky above Unar Province!

The colossal explosion echoed across Unar Province, Starreach Province, Cloudwood Province, and countless surrounding worlds.

A destructive energy storm swept through everything, as spatial matter collapsed inward without end!

Holst, Kemmons, and Nornid—the three Divine Oracles—were hit head-on, suffering grievous injuries as they were blasted backward!

The Temple of War Divine Oracle whose head had already been shattered was caught by the core annihilation storm of the self-detonation. His divine flower underwent complete Silent Extinction, leaving no possibility of revival.

The quasi-sage lord was also violently struck. His divine body was torn apart three times in succession, and only thanks to Dark Blade's protection did he barely escape.

Prologue Sage and the others were likewise blasted away, coughing blood incessantly.

No one had expected Cedric to go to such extremes—choosing mutual destruction without hesitation!

Golden-Plumed Gryphon, Wasteland Lord Cain, gold coin master, and other observing powerhouses were also affected by the blast.

"Worthy of a legion commander—ruthless enough!"

"But for him... this might actually be the best ending."

Wasteland Lord Cain spoke in a low voice.

As the supreme commander of the Automaton Legion, Cedric had seen his legion annihilated in the most humiliating way possible. Even if he survived and returned, he would have no face to confront anyone.

Rather than that, it was better to die on the battlefield and secure a relatively dignified end.

And yet...

Recalling the terrifying strength and bizarre methods displayed by those hundred million God King—rank troops and five to six hundred million True God—rank troops, Cain, the gold coin master, and the others still felt suffocated.

Hundreds of thousands of Sage King—rank elite troops had been swallowed whole in the blink of an eye—without leaving even scraps behind—while the enemy still appeared utterly at ease.

That dual onslaught of soul attacks and spatial laws...

Even a million Sage King troops would likely face total annihilation!

Three mighty Divine Oracles had fallen!

Eight commanders, dozens of Divine Radiants...

The Automaton Legion and the Sacred Guard Legion had been wiped out one after another.

This time, Olympian God Mountain was bound to erupt in total upheaval!

...

Lucio and Philip, however, had long since grown accustomed to such scenes. After being shocked numb, they felt little emotional fluctuation.

They immediately ordered Hunter Harry and Pippin to lead the army in an assault on Cloudwood Province.

Not a single member of the Olympian God Mountain coalition that had invaded Unar Province would be allowed to escape.

After eliminating the remaining enemies, the imperial army crossed the border directly and advanced into Cloudwood Province, throwing Leonardo and the other officials into utter panic.

If even ten Divine Oracles could not stop that quasi-sage lord wielding a Proto-World Relic, they had no choice but to retreat and fortify.

...

Eura Continent, Aetherian Sanctuary.

A mirror avatar of Aurek descended upon the throne.

Suggwoth, Overthunder, and the others who had been guarding the Abyss Demon Realm had already returned to report.

"Your Majesty! All subordinate worlds under the rule of the Abyss Demon Realm have now been fully incorporated into the Empire's territory."

"The islands of the Snail Sea, as well as the Holy Kare Mountains and the remnants of Yuli's forces, have also been subdued and integrated."

"Lord Winston and Lord Heimerdinger have already dispatched officials to govern the various regions."

"The Judicatory Sanctum and the remaining gargoyle clans have fled beyond the heavens. According to the latest reconnaissance, that region has shown frequent disturbances recently. It appears to be an ancient gateway from the Abyss Demon Realm leading to the Starry Chaos—referred to by the locals as the Lesser Starry Realm."

Suggwoth reported.

This return was precisely because of the disturbances beyond the heavens.

Aurek had long been aware of this matter. Just because he had not acted during the demon realm campaign did not mean he failed to value it.

After a brief moment of thought, he issued his decree.

"In the past, powerful figures of the demon realm traveled through that place to venture into the Starry Chaos. It indeed holds strategic value for the Empire's future deployments."

"Continue close surveillance, but do not provoke it for now. At the same time, register all Sacred Radiance—rank experts of the demon realm and bring them under centralized management."

"Your subject obeys!"

Suggwoth bowed.

"You may withdraw."

After dismissing Suggwoth, Aurek extended his mind power deep into the Imperial Academy.

Kaos seemed to sense something and raised his head toward the direction of the Divine Sanctuary.

"Beyoncé is currently in the god realm. You should go up and take a look as well."

Aurek's voice echoed.

With Aurek personally overseeing Eura Continent, it was time for Kaos—this special existence—to go out and demonstrate his value.

Even if he truly was a Sage Master, that power only had meaning if it was used.

The Empire was currently in a phase of outward expansion. What it needed most was frontline deterrence and breakthrough strength—not merely rear-area foundations.

After all, the situation in the Celestial Light God Realm was complex. Supreme Holy Realm experts had once set foot there; there must be Sage Lords, and perhaps even Sage Masters lying in wait!

He needed sufficiently heavyweight powerhouses to anchor the situation.

Besides...

Beyoncé truly ate far too much!

Aurek felt he had suffered a slight loss in that regard, so it was only natural to recover it from Kaos.

As for whether Kaos might seize the opportunity to leave—

Aurek was not worried at all.