Chapter 501: Upgrade, Level 20 Void Warlock

The fate of Olympian God Mountain had been sealed.

The remaining cleanup and integration tasks were naturally left to others within the Empire.

Having witnessed the curse of a Sage Lord-level witch being easily broken and the witch herself instantly killed, all the powerful beings observing the battle felt an overwhelming fear and confusion regarding Kaos's rank.

However, a few of the oldest beings among them sensed a faint, indescribable familiarity from the final blow.

The years were too long, and the flow of time had dulled their memories, so they could not immediately recall where this feeling of familiarity stemmed from.

"Peace Committee... they are definitely going to intervene, right?"

"Silas's decision to flee is probably a gamble on this, hoping that the Crossbridge Empire will be destroyed, and then, when the time comes, he will raise his hand to preserve the basic foundation of God Mountain."

Chaotic Realm, Amethyst Highlands—Nalodebi gazed at the vast God Mountain domain, which had swiftly changed ownership, feeling a deep sigh.

Another powerful figure beside him spoke.

"Even if the Peace Committee intervenes, Crossbridge Empire's risk in taking over all of God Mountain would effectively resolve future direct conflicts."

"As long as they can withstand the Committee's strikes and force the Committee to acknowledge their position in the God Realm, they will have succeeded."

"For the Committee, it's just a change of rulers—the only thing that matters is that Crossbridge Empire now holds dominion."

"But don't forget... that sword is still nailed at the entrance of the Committee's gates!"

Nalodebi's voice trembled with an unspoken shock, his curiosity about the Crossbridge Empire Emperor growing immensely.

What kind of figure could be so domineering, even crazy enough to do this?

To force four peace envoys to retreat with a single sword and then stick the sword at their doorstep as a deterrent?

"This is truly... a fascinating Emperor!"

On the other side, the Snake Lady with the green pupils sensually licked her lips.

Feeling the imperial might and dominance radiating from that golden sword, she could not help but gently sway her graceful body, her eyes sparkling with a strange light.

Bumet and Dioke said nothing in response.

They had always been intimidated by the might of the Crossbridge Empire's legion and the majesty of the Empresses, but had overlooked the true master of the Empire.

Even the Snake Lady herself, not to mention the two of them, now found themselves strongly curious about the mysterious ruler of the Empire.

"Let's go. We are heading to Ael Fortress!"

Sherana said to Lora.

Lora asked with some concern.

"Does His Majesty intend to cooperate with the Crossbridge Empire?"

She was worried. After all, the Peace Committee had clearly stated that it was going to intervene and punish the Crossbridge Empire.

This was obviously a murky situation, and getting involved might be hard to escape unscathed.

Though Sherana had brought a few hundred thousand years' worth of loyal subordinates, including some Divine Oracles, if they truly became involved in a confrontation with the Committee, their strength might not be enough to withstand the strain.

And not many of them were loyal enough to go mad with her!

Sherana did not answer directly.

Boom—!!!

At that moment, an even more astonishing surge of destructive energy erupted from the direction of Devers Divine Empire, drawing their attention once again.

Chaotic Realm, Starlight Colonnade, and other regions' experts were equally astonished.

Eternal Winter Divine Empire had not ceased fighting. Instead, they gathered all their strength to launch a brutal attack on Devers Divine Empire.

At this point, they had already entered the heart of Devers's main province, showing that they were in a to-the-death battle stance.

Both Crossbridge Empire and Frostwinter Realm had completely ignored the Peace Committee's warning of intervention.

Now, the Celestial Light God Realm had truly become chaotic!

"I've heard that Star Sea has also ignited into war. Although it's a small-scale conflict, it has already affected the fate lines of the countless races in the starry sky, and many worlds have fallen into chaos... We should not take sides too hastily."

In a forbidden area of Starlight Colonnade, an ancient relic who had been asleep for many ages spoke to offer a warning.

Several forbidden experts, who were observing the war from the sidelines, nodded and quietly retreated deeper into the forbidden area.

At the same time, a Sage Lord-level expert from Devers Divine Empire had entered the battlefield with the World Relic "Punishing Whip."

The battle's intensity skyrocketed as they clashed, causing the heavens to tremble and the stars to quake.

The Crossbridge Empire army began to steadily clean up the aftermath of God Mountain, taking control of the vast region and incorporating it into the Empire's domain.

Three Crossbridge Empire Divine Oracles and Prologue Sages led the army into the royal palace and suppressed the core area of resistance using the World Relic Ouros Disc.

Josephine, Fiona, Belinda, Elizabeth, and Beyoncé also entered the royal palace.

For now, the Empire had not intervened in the war between Devers Divine Empire and Eternal Winter Divine Empire.

But everything that was happening there was being closely watched by Lucio and Philip.

Once the God Mountain domain was consolidated, the Empire would inevitably continue its expansion.

Meanwhile, the Doom Legion was already mobilized and ready to counter any potential strikes from the Peace Committee.

The semi-Sage Lord expert, who had been severely injured and repeatedly killed by Silas in previous battles, had fallen to Divine Oracle rank due to old wounds.

However, Ares had now broken through to Divine Oracle rank in battle!

Harry and other battle generals had also advanced to semi-Sacred Envoy rank.

Along with the overall enhancement of their attribute powers, many new skills were unlocked with these new ranks.

Reaching Sage King rank would allow them to more deeply master the laws of elements, and their ability to manipulate various attribute powers would grant them unmatched combat strength.

After Ares had slaughtered Emperor Claren and wiped out the Litaran Empire, he did not stop. Instead, he capitalized on the momentum and led his forces into the Chaotic Realm.

He intended to bring this vast and chaotic region into the Empire's fold as well!

Eura Continent, Supreme Sanctuary.

Aurek no longer hesitated and decided to immediately upgrade the summoning authority of his troops.

However, he found himself in a brief dilemma over which type of summoning to upgrade.

Currently, he possessed 1.116 trillion Emperor Points.

If he used them to upgrade the two strongest summoning types—Space and Soul—he would only have enough to upgrade one of them to level 20.

But the combat power and strategic advantage brought by this would far surpass other summoning types.

After all, the battle capabilities of a Void Warlock and Soul Warlock in higher ranks far exceed those of others at the same level.

Alternatively, he could use the Emperor Points to upgrade other summoning types like Destruction to level 20, giving him a double advantage in terms of numbers.

After weighing the current battle situation, Aurek chose the former.

In a battlefield as fierce as the Celestial Light God Realm, where top-tier powers converged, quality was more crucial than mere numbers.

He no longer waited to accumulate more Emperor Points, decisively choosing to upgrade the Void Warlock authority!

[Void Warlock authority upgraded to level 20. You can now cultivate: 6,553,600 level 20 Void Warlocks per day.]

[Next upgrade requires: 400 trillion Emperor Points.]

[Note: The base power of a level 20 Void Warlock is comparable to level 1 Sage King rank. Their control over the Space law has increased tenfold, and all space-based skills are now unrestricted.]
