Chapter 514: Crossbridge Empire in Big Trouble

Boom, boom...

Ares activated his Immortal Divine Body, his physique rapidly expanding to tens of millions of meters.

Streams of powerful force and divine patterns etched into his body, glowing with incomparable power.

His blood-red battle axe also grew infinitely in size, and with a mighty swing, he struck the giant hand that was coming toward him.

The cold light from the axe blade instantly illuminated the entire mountain peak, and the space shattered and collapsed completely.

The slash hit the empty space in front of the giant hand, causing it to momentarily falter.

The five Primordial Giants stood silent, watching Ares with some surprise, as if they hadn't anticipated that such a complete force law existed in this world.

However, Ares's counterattack also made their five pairs of eyes explode with destructive intent.

The giant hands clenched into fists and slammed toward the mountain peak with terrifying force.

These five giants were ranked at the level of ancient Sage Lords.

The leader stood over a billion meters tall, his power comparable to a Sage Master, even able to influence the laws of order.

With a single punch, the entire Celestial Light God Realm trembled violently.

Clang—!

A sword's ringing resounded through the heavens.

The golden sword hanging above the royal palace's divine temple soared into the air in response.

At the same time, Aurek, who was in the process of breaking through in the Supreme Sanctuary, frowned slightly.

A silent fury ignited within him, causing the imperial might over Eura Continent, Abyss Demon Realm, Olympian God Mountain, and even the Chaotic Realm to flare with blazing golden flames.

The Peace Envoy of the Sun and other allied Sage Lords also stepped out of the royal palace and flew toward the sky.

The immense power of the quasi-Sage Master expanded with supreme rules, forming a vast space to resist the destructive fist.

At the same time, they tore through the void, attempting to divert the battle's aftermath away from the royal palace to avoid further destruction.

"You're looking for death!"

The leader of the giants roared, his sound waves causing all beings to cough up blood.

As if enraged by the interference from the quasi-Sage Masters, the star power in their fists erupted, tearing open a crack in the Starlight Colonnade!

At that moment,

Kaos appeared.

With a wave of his hand, the surrounding chaos retreated like a tide, and the star domain was consumed by the chaos.

The five Primordial Giants were forced to retract their heads, stumbling back into the chaos outside the starry sky.

"Found you after all!"

The giant leader swiped his hand, clearing the obstructing clouds in front of his vision.

At the same time, Ares crossed over the Starlight Colonnade, battle axe in hand, charging into the chaos.

The Peace Envoy of the Sun rode the Ouros Disc and followed closely behind, diving into the depths of the chaos.

The ancient Sage Lords of the Celestial Light God Realm, along with the Sage Lords hidden in the light, all looked toward the void beyond the stars.

At this moment, Kaos's expression was more solemn than ever.

From his aged eyes, a golden glow erupted, and with a single hand, he manifested a massive rule giant blade over tens of millions of meters long, swinging it fiercely toward the five giants.

"Hmph!"

The five giants, now in the chaos, were like fish in water.

Their fists, wrapped in countless stars, pushed entire star domains toward Kaos.

The Primordial Giants were the primordial divine race of Starry Chaos, one of the oldest beings, possessing primal divine power that surpassed that of ordinary life forms.

Though the leader's strength could only rival a Sage Master, he could unleash chaotic divine power beyond that of a typical Sage Master.

Their bodies were incredibly powerful, and within them, the sun, moon, and stars were embedded.

To them, stars were like pebbles, and the vast star domains were like their backyard.

Only five of them dared to face Kaos, a true Sage Lord, head-on.

Ares, with his Immortal Divine Body at tens of millions of meters, crushed the star domain underfoot, swinging his battle axe in an attempt to clash directly.

With his physique advantage, he was barely able to engage one of the giants in a face-to-face battle.

The strength of the battle axe, combined with his unmatched battle techniques and the immense power granted by the force laws, allowed him to temporarily hold back one of the giants.

The Peace Envoy of the Sun rode the Ouros Disc, madly extracting the vast source of stars, transforming it into a massive disc of tens of millions of meters, rapidly suppressing this area of the Star Sea.

The chaos in the battle made the Celestial Light God Realm's laws of order collapse, and numerous domains naturally began to collapse.

"What's going on? Could this be reinforcements summoned by the Office of Light?"

An ancient Sage Lord from Cloudcrown Sanctum whispered.

"No, they are here for the true Sage Master of Crossbridge Empire!"

A figure hidden in the light spoke淡淡 (calmly).

He didn't know Kaos's identity, but the supreme rules and primal essence emanating from him felt familiar, as if he had sensed it before somewhere.

Now, the arrival of the Primordial Giants clearly confirmed some of their speculations.

The battle in the chaos was fierce.

But under the suppression of the Ouros Disc, Ares and the Peace Envoy of the Sun worked together to kill one of the giants.

Meanwhile, Kaos seized the opportunity, slaying three more and cutting off half of the body of the giant leader, who was comparable to a Sage Master.

This giant, however, did not hesitate and swiped his hand from the chaos toward Olympian Mountain's summit, where the royal palace's divine temple stood.

It was like a falling star carrying boundless destruction as it crashed down.

The golden sword exploded with dazzling divine light, like a column of light converging, instantly piercing through the giant's hand.

At the same time, powerful beings from multiple directions launched devastating attacks to assist in breaking it apart.

However, a finger still fell to the east of God Mountain, instantly crushing the territory of two major continents!

Kaos's eyes ignited with rare fury.

He took the Ouros Disc from the Peace Envoy of the Sun and crushed the remaining body of the giant leader.

A chaotic essence, carrying half of the giant leader's head, rapidly fled from the Star Sea.

Kaos chased a great distance but ultimately could not catch up.

Ares and the Peace Envoy of the Sun brought the four Primordial Giants' bodies back to the Celestial Light God Realm.

Though the battle's fluctuations had subsided, the beings in the Celestial Light God Realm were still in fear.

This was their first encounter with primordial beings from the chaos, and their power made them deeply wary of the chaotic starry sky.

A single finger could crush two major continents—what terrifying power that was!

Josephine and others looked at the devastation in the two continents, their fury rising.

The stationed Crossbridge Empire legions were not spared, all suffering devastating blows.

If it hadn't been for the golden sword and other strong beings acting in time, that one strike might have even destroyed the royal palace's divine temple.

What was even more enraging was that these giants were clearly targeting the Crossbridge Empire!

"Who are they targeting?"

In Icecrystal Palace, White Lady Shirino's expression grew serious.

The Primordial Giants, this chaotic race, was one of the most terrifying in the Starry Chaos.

For the current Crossbridge Empire, this was undoubtedly a huge challenge.

Alvin, standing to the side, slowly spoke,

"They're targeting the young girl in the royal palace's divine temple. Looks like the Crossbridge Empire is in big trouble."

Shirino immediately understood upon hearing this.

...

"If things go as expected, this news will likely spread soon."

"The Peace Committee headquarters will come, and the Primordial Giants will come again. Crossbridge Empire will face significant pressure."

By the Heavenly Mountain Pillar, the graceful figure looked toward the Sea Temple Master.

The Temple Master fell silent.

The Primordial Giants, a race from the chaotic region, represented the very chaos order itself.

They were unlike ordinary world beings, each possessing incomprehensible strength, having survived since the birth of the universe, with a foundation that was immeasurable.

They adapted to the chaos and controlled a higher level of chaotic order.

This was why even just a handful of them dared to challenge a true Sage Master!
