Chapter 57: Wings of Thunder

[Doomsday Warrior]

[Quantity: 1]

[Initial Level: Elite Rank Lv1 (Can be upgraded using Emperor Points)]

[Skills: Power of Doom]

[Unit Description: A combat-focused unit with immense battle power. It can absorb and control the Power of Doom, including but not limited to destructive elements, natural disasters, earthquakes, etc. The higher the level, the greater the destructive power.]

Upon seeing the description of the Doomsday Warrior, Aurek's face lit up with both surprise and excitement!

The Doomsday Warrior's level was not particularly high, only Elite Rank Lv1.

Compared to the Elemental Assassin, which was Elite Rank Lv8 right from the start, this seemed somewhat lacking.

But what truly caught Aurek's attention was the Power of Doom that they controlled.

They could not only absorb destructive power but also use it during combat to deal massive, powerful damage over a wide area.

From the description alone, the real combat power of the Doomsday Warrior seemed completely unmatched by its level.

But upon further thought, this actually made perfect sense.

The soldiers summoned by the Emperor's Scepter were the elite of the elite, their strength naturally unparalleled.

Aurek had a vague feeling that when the Doomsday Warriors appeared on the battlefield, they would bring about a terrifying change to the entire war!

It could be said that every Doomsday Warrior was born for combat and destruction!

"Do you wish to summon today's Doomsday Warrior?"

Without any hesitation, Aurek immediately chose "Yes."

Thanks to the Emperor's Scepter's level, he could summon 50 soldiers each day.

In the next moment, a purple light flickered before him.

After a few seconds of waiting, dozens of towering warriors clad in purple-black armor appeared before Aurek.

Unlike the Elemental Assassins, each Doomsday Warrior had massive muscles, making them look incredibly strong.

The most striking feature, however, was their eyes.

All of the Doomsday Warriors had no pupils, and their eyes were entirely pitch black. If one looked closely, they could even see the aura of destruction swirling within their eyes.

What Aurek didn't expect, however, was that among the Doomsday Warriors, there was actually a female warrior!

Unlike the imposing, fierce male Doomsday Warriors, the female warrior's physique was even more exaggerated.

Her purple-black armor gave her a uniquely alluring presence.

Cold, mysterious, and tempting!

"Greetings, my lord. We will follow your will and destroy all of your enemies!"

"Very well!"

Aurek nodded and then immediately spoke,

"Now, show me the abilities you possess."

The female Doomsday Warrior stepped forward and approached the other 50 Doomsday Warriors.

Aurek noticed that she seemed a bit different from the others; there was a spark of intelligence in her eyes, something that the others lacked.

Though he wasn't sure if it was just his imagination.

"As you command, my king!"

The next moment, an overwhelming wave of destructive power surged from her body.

What happened next left Aurek in awe.

He saw the Doomsday Warrior unleash the power to destroy all matter!

No, not just matter—she could even destroy space itself!

Aurek could clearly see that the space around her began to warp and crack!

And these cracks began to spread further and further!

It was important to note that they were still in Valoria Palace, Aurek's residence.

The materials used to build the palace were known for their resistance, yet even those were being damaged by the female Doomsday Warrior's power!

"My lord, as you can see, this is my power: I can destroy any substance."

Hearing this, Aurek couldn't help but take a sharp breath.

Just then, the sky above suddenly darkened with dense clouds.

"My lord, what I will demonstrate next is the Thunder of Destruction. Please, come outside to witness it."

Aurek paused for a moment, then walked outside.

To his surprise, the Doomsday Warrior had floated up into the air, heading directly for the center of the storm clouds.

Her armor was now glowing with blinding light.

The surface of her armor was surrounded by bolts of electricity!

At that moment, the Doomsday Warrior in front of Aurek seemed like the legendary female war goddess!

Finally, Aurek had a direct opportunity to experience the true combat power of the Doomsday Warrior!

Even though they were only Elite Rank Lv1, the destructive power they controlled was something even Expert Rank warriors could not match!

What was more important was that the Doomsday Warriors could absorb this destructive power and then unleash an even stronger release!

From this perspective, a Doomsday Warrior, with enough buffs stacked, might even be able to take on a Hero Rank warrior!

Aurek couldn't help but eagerly anticipate what it would look like when the Doomsday Warriors entered battle!

"From now on, you will be the commander of the Doomsday Warriors. As for your name, you shall be called Violet Thunder!"

"As you wish, my lord!"

...

Aurek was very satisfied with the Doomsday Warriors' combat capabilities.

He even found himself eager to send them out on missions.

But reason prevailed, and he controlled his impulse. The Doomsday Warriors had not yet seen battle, so they were still his ultimate hidden strength.

For now, Aurek had no intention of sending them on missions.

However, with the addition of this new unit under his command, Aurek felt even more confident about the future!

After understanding the power of the Doomsday Warriors, Aurek turned his attention to the points store.

But the current status of the points store showed that everything was sold out.

It seemed that a refresh was needed, using a Shop Refresh Card.

[Detected that you have one Shop Refresh Card. Would you like to use it immediately?]

Without hesitation, Aurek chose "Yes," and after a brief moment, the status of the points store changed from "Sold Out" to "Restocked."

Aurek eagerly opened the points store, only to find that this time, instead of a unit card, a piece of equipment was available.

[Wings of Thunder: Absorb the power of thunder and forge your wings. Grants the ability to fly and unleashes thunder-based destructive attacks.]

[Price: 20,000 Emperor Points]

Such an item!

Aurek's eyes widened, and his spirits lifted!

Especially the flight ability—it was an incredibly rare and valuable ability.

Typically, only Master Rank warriors had a limited ability to hover.

But flight was clearly far more powerful than mere hovering.

This item was certainly very useful.

Aurek didn't hesitate and immediately spent the points to purchase the Wings of Thunder.

As for the remaining points, Aurek planned to use them to level himself up to Elite Rank.

After all, if his own strength remained too weak, he might become a potential vulnerability in the future!
