

Gods Daily 572

Chapter 572: The Primeval Law Clan's Calamity of Extermination

In the Dontz Star Sea Region, within the ancestral territory of the Primeval Law Clan.

After learning that the Annihilation Starfield had been destroyed and that the Oblivion Originkin had been wiped out by the Crossbridge Empire's one billion sage lord legion, the newly appointed Primeval Law Clan patriarch, Frank, had fully strengthened surveillance across the starfield.

The moment the Crossbridge Empire's forces appeared, the Primeval Law Clan would react at once!

The Primeval Law Clan was divided into four branches: the four elemental clans of wind, fire, water, and earth!

The power they wielded came from the inherited legacy left behind after the fall of the Primeval Law Race in the Primordial Epoch.

The one Aurek had slain earlier in the Eastern Starfield was the patriarch of the Fire Element Clan.

"Keep your eyes wide open! The instant you discover anything suspicious, report it immediately!"

In the Star Sea, the patriarch of the Water Element Clan personally conducted inspections, warning the clan experts hidden in the Star Sea one by one.

They had to guard against a surprise strike from the Crossbridge Empire legions!

To that end, the Primeval Law Clan had even set up hidden sentries outside the Dontz Star Sea Region.

"Is the Crossbridge Empire really that terrifying? Even when the Divine Courts attack, we're never this nervous."

At the edge of the Star Sea, an expert of the Fire Element Clan frowned.

Another person beside him said, "What do you know? Have you even heard the latest news?"

"In that battle in the Eastern Starfield, the Crossbridge Empire deployed billions of sage lord legions. Just to attack the Oblivion Originkin, they sent one billion. Do you even understand what that means?"

"Then... then the two Divine Courts are just watching? They're not worried at all about a threat this big?"

A third person cut in, his tone filled with doubt and fear.

At their rank, they had seen the power of the Starfont Divine Court and the Reincarnation Divine Court.

They knew very well in their hearts that the two Divine Courts probably couldn't even field billions of sage lord legions!

If one billion imperial sage lords came killing their way over, they didn't even dare imagine the scene.

Even if those one billion sage lord warriors of the same rank as them didn't attack, they could trample them to death just by marching past!

"The two Divine Courts aren't waiting."

The second expert thought for a moment. "They're preparing. They're drawing in forces from every side."

"They want to deliver a single, decisive blow and completely cripple—or even destroy—the Crossbridge Empire. Even our clan patriarchs are waiting for this chance. They've already sent people to contact the two Divine Courts. We should have news soon."

He paused, then continued.

"Hah... let's just hope that day comes quickly. Living on edge like this is no way to live."

The others were filled with resentment.

...

Prime Law Astral Realm.

Frank stood with his hands clasped behind his back before a grand hall in the clan lands.

Behind him stood several true Sage Masters in respectful silence.

"Is everything ready?" Frank asked.

One true Sage Master nodded. "As soon as the Crossbridge Empire's legions appear, we can evacuate everyone immediately and deny the Empire any opportunity."

"At the same time, we've already notified the Elf Starfield, the Thunder Warden clan, the Star Ape clan, the Blackwing Clan... They've all made preparations to withdraw as well."

"However, there's still no reply from the Starfont Divine Court or the Reincarnation Divine Court. But I've heard that after the two Divine Courts ceased hostilities, they've already begun mobilizing all sides, preparing to join forces against the Crossbridge Empire."

He paused, then added,

"Oh, right. There are rumors from informal channels that the one from the Infinite Divine Realm, as well as powerhouses from the Primordial Epoch, have already stepped out from the poles of chaos."

After hearing this, Frank let out a heavy sigh.

"I only hope they can eliminate the Crossbridge Empire before the Crossbridge Empire comes to attack us."

"Patriarch, everything is fully prepared!"

"Right now we can advance or retreat freely. When the wall starts to collapse and everyone pushes it down, we'll strike too and erase this threat completely!"

Another true Sage Master spoke with full confidence.

The Primeval Law Clan had stood firm from the end of the Ancient Epoch until now. How many disasters had they endured?

Even under threats from the Divine Courts, their clan had never shown the slightest fear.

This time, the cost would merely be greater—but they could bear it!

Frank did not respond. A trace of lingering unease remained in his eyes.

Just then—in the eastern region of the Prime Law Astral Realm.

A patrol squad of sage-rank experts was carrying out routine inspection.

Suddenly, the Star Sea fell into darkness.

In that pitch-black darkness, where one could not even see one's hand, even light itself seemed to be swallowed.

"Enemy atta—!"

These patrolling clansmen reacted extremely fast and instantly realized what had happened.

But their reaction was still too slow.

The Elemental Assassins, long hidden in wait, moved as one with the darkness.

Their figures crossed and flashed silently.

Those patrolling clansmen were instantly chopped into countless pieces, and the darkness swallowed them like a tide.

When the darkness receded, the void was perfectly clean, without the slightest trace left behind.

"Careful, enemy attack!"

"Who is it?"

"Puchi—ahhh!!"

Elsewhere, similar assassinations were unfolding at the same time.

This time, Overthunder had sent two hundred million sage lord-rank Elemental Assassins to infiltrate every part of the Dontz Star Sea Region.

In the Prime Law Astral Realm alone, about one hundred million had infiltrated!

All assassins launched their attacks at the exact same moment.

The Primeval Law Clan instantly lost one hundred million clansmen, all of them elites of sage rank or above!

Within a short span of time, another two to three hundred million experts were silently erased. Even for the Primeval Law Clan, such losses were enough to make their hearts bleed!

Frank suddenly lifted his head before the hall.

The other true Sage Masters and quasi-Empyrean Sanctum experts also sensed it at the same time.

Rumble, rumble, rumble—!

Figures shot into the sky one after another, their powerful auras stirring violent changes in the Star Sea.

The entire Prime Law Astral Realm was shaken.

Frank arrived in the starry sky. Sensing the now-empty defense points, his expression turned ugly to the extreme.

"Where are our people?!"

"Damn it, how did they get in?!"

"I'm afraid they've all been murdered by the enemy..."

Countless sage lords and Sage Masters searched like mad, but could not find a single enemy shadow.

That drove them into a frenzy—and terrified them.

Before they could even react, several hundred million experts had died silently just like that!?

One could imagine how terrifying such methods were.

"The whole clan, listen up!"

"The Crossbridge Empire's legions have already broken in—retreat immediately—!"

A quasi-Empyrean Sanctum expert let out a heaven-shaking roar.

His voice instantly spread through the vast star-realm and entered every ear.

All lifeforms were stunned.

Enemy attack? Since when?

They hadn't sensed any disturbance at all!?

At that moment, outside the Dontz Star Sea Region—

a giant tens of billions of meters tall stepped into the starfield.

It was the Cursefont Star God.

He unleashed a void beam, crossing the boundless chaos sea in an instant and arriving directly at the Prime Law Astral Realm!

He threw a punch.

Boom!

The world barrier shattered on the spot.

The experts patrolling the Star Sea were so frightened by this sight that their souls almost left their bodies; they could barely speak.

When Ares led the Titans in, they finally let out despairing screams.

"Quick, quick—send word back to the clan—!"

"This is bad, Patriarch! The Crossbridge Empire has broken in!"

Streaks of dazzling arrow-light crossed the Star Sea and fell into the vast starfield.

Frost spread with the arrows, completely freezing world after world—each dozens of times larger than the Celestial Light God Realm!

Time and space itself seemed to freeze into eternal stillness in that instant.

"Th-this... is this the Crossbridge Empire's legion..."

"What kind of power is this? Why are they all standardized single-attribute legions?"

"Too terrifying! We can't resist this at all..."

Countless Primeval Law Clan experts instantly fell into despair.

They fled madly toward the outer Star Sea.

And at that very moment, the one hundred million sage lord-rank Elemental Assassins lurking at the flanks activated slaughter mode!

They rapidly swept toward every branch of the Primeval Law Clan, encircling and killing as they went!

Piercing screams rose and fell across the Star Sea!

Those experts who had just escaped back felt their hearts seize again.

By now, they had been driven to a dead end, with nowhere left to hide.

Frank and the true Sage Masters and quasi-Empyrean Sanctum experts, relying on their rank advantage, frantically slaughtered the Elemental Assassins attacking the tribes.

But with over one hundred million warriors, could they possibly kill them all in time?

And this was only what had appeared before their eyes!