

Golden 62

Chapter Sixty-Two: A Beauty Accompanying Me

Zhuang Rui knew Liu Chuan was a straightforward person who couldn't keep secrets. Even if he didn't ask, Liu Chuan would eventually blurt it out. So, he deliberately ignored Liu Chuan, first covering his stomach with a large towel, then slowly picking up a peeled green radish and taking a bite.

Peeled green radishes are very juicy and have a slightly spicy taste. When chewed, they have a sweet and refreshing aroma. Xu Youxiang of the Yuan Dynasty once praised radishes, saying, "Cooked radishes are as sweet as taro, and raw radishes are as crisp as pears."

Radishes have long been regarded as a good medicine for preventing diseases in winter. They are pungent and sweet in taste and cool in nature. They can enter the lung, stomach and spleen meridians and have the functions of clearing heat, stopping thirst and resolving phlegm, promoting qi and digestion, stimulating appetite and relieving constipation, enhancing function and immunity. Eating them raw can quench thirst and clear internal heat. After taking a bath and losing a lot of water, eating a radish that is as crisp and sweet as a pear and drinking a sip of hot tea, Zhuang Rui closed his eyes and almost groaned in comfort.

Just as Zhuang Rui expected, Liu Chuan got impatient when he saw that Zhuang Rui was ignoring him. He threw down the half-chewed green radish strip and shouted at Zhuang Rui, "Hey, I said, you blockhead, did you hear me? I have something to tell you..."

"What could you possibly have to do? Did you agree to some unequal treaty with Miss Lei again?"

Zhuang Rui didn't even open his eyes, and slowly said that the only person who could make Liu Chuan feel so conflicted, besides his father who only knew how to reason with his fists, was probably his old classmate Lei Lei, whom he had recently reunited with.

"Hey, so you found out, huh? Well, that's good, that's good..."

It seems that this knot in Liu Chuan's heart has been there for more than just a day or two. After hearing Zhuang Rui's words, he subconsciously thought that Zhuang Rui knew about his promise to Lei Lei, and couldn't help but feel happy.

"Get out of here! You didn't say anything, how would I know anything? What's going on? Is it really necessary to go to such lengths?"

In Sichuan dialect, Zhuang Rui felt sorry for Liu Chuan. It was just a relationship, and he was already acting all crazy. How would he manage after they got married?

"Lei Lei called me and said she'll be in Chengdu the day after tomorrow, and then we'll go to Tibet together. Anyway, this car is big enough, so we can just sit in the front, even if it's a bit of a hassle. Doesn't that make sense?"

Liu Chuan glanced at Zhuang Rui and finally blurted out what he had been holding in for days. Seeing that Zhuang Rui had no expression after listening, he cautiously added, "Well, Qin Xuanbing will be coming too. Don't say I won't take care of you. If you perform well in the middle of nowhere, you might just win over that ice queen."

"No...you scoundrel, please don't take care of me, I don't want this opportunity."

Zhuang Rui was speechless at Liu Chuan's shamelessness. It was clearly Liu Chuan who couldn't bring himself to refuse Lei Lei's request, yet now he was claiming it was creating an opportunity for himself. Seeing Liu Chuan frequently making secret phone calls these past few days, Zhuang Rui had a pretty good idea of what was going on.

In fact, Zhuang Rui did not know that Liu Chuan had already made arrangements with Lei Lei before setting off from Pengcheng, but Qin Xuanbing's arrival was a last-minute decision.

Zhuang Rui was quite skeptical at this moment. He wondered if those two delicate beauties could endure the harsh natural environment of Tibet. Before coming, Zhuang Rui had done a lot of research and found out that once they entered Tibet, they might not be able to take a shower for several days in a row. Moreover, it would be very inconvenient for four people to squeeze into one car, even to take care of their physical needs.

However, Zhuang Rui wasn't as averse to Qin Xuanbing as Liu Chuan thought. Zhuang Rui didn't dislike Qin Xuanbing either; otherwise, she wouldn't be second in his dreams. It was just that her overly guarded attitude towards men and her overly cold expression made Zhuang Rui keep his distance.

Since the spiritual energy appeared in his eyes, his mentality has been slowly changing. In the past, he was always humble and dignified when dealing with people of status and wealth, and never felt inferior. Now that he has millions in his pocket, he has no sense of class distinctions. Moreover, Qin Xuanbing seemed to show him some goodwill before and after the treasure appraisal incident that day, which made Xu Wei lose face. This greatly changed Zhuang Rui's impression of him.

As for Qin Xuanbing's other qualities, Zhuang Rui also admired her greatly. According to Zhuang Rui's estimation, her breasts were a full 32D, no, they should be 34D, her waist was slender enough to be grasped in one hand, and her face was pure and refined. These were all things that Zhuang Rui usually focused on. In the midst of a boring trip, having such a beauty join you would undoubtedly be a more powerful catalyst for a man than the engine of a Hummer.

Seeing Zhuang Rui remain silent, Liu Chuan thought the guy was angry, so he quickly crawled over and started patting his back and bringing him water. If he knew that Zhuang Rui was calculating Qin Xuanbing's body proportions in his mind, he would definitely strangle him to death with the towel in his hand.

In preparation for entering the Tibetan region the day after tomorrow, Zhuang Rui and Liu Chuan stayed in the hotel and slept soundly for the entire second day. On the morning of the third day, just after seven o'clock, Liu Chuan got up excitedly and drove to the airport to pick up Lei Lei and Liu Chuan.

By noon, Liu Chuan still hadn't returned. Zhuang Rui washed up and got up, ready to go to the dining room for lunch. Just as he opened the door, he saw Liu Chuan waving his fist, preparing to "knock" on the door. However, there were four people following behind him, two of whom Zhuang Rui had never seen before.

Zhuang Rui's gaze naturally fell on Qin Xuanbing immediately. Perhaps because the weather in Chengdu was relatively warm, Qin Xuanbing was wearing a denim outfit with a low-cut cashmere sweater underneath. Looking down, the tight jeans outlined an alluring curve in her beautiful hips, and her long legs were clearly visible.

At this moment, Qin Xuanbing had lost some of her captivating charm, but gained a unique allure that straddled the line between sexiness and sensuality. That wild charm made Zhuang Rui's heart race.

"Wood, where are you going?"

The door opened abruptly, startling Liu Chuan, who was about to knock. Seeing Zhuang Rui's neatly dressed appearance, he couldn't help but ask.

After hearing Liu Chuan's words, Zhuang Rui finally managed to shift his gaze away from Qin Xuanbing. In just a short while, he felt his lips and tongue were dry. There was an old monk who once said that women are tigers, and that was absolutely true. Zhuang Rui had no doubt that a woman like Qin Xuanbing could devour a man completely, leaving not a trace.

"It's this hour, of course we should go eat. You guys bring your things in first."

Zhuang Rui stepped aside to let the group into the room. Besides Lei Lei and Qin Xuanbing, there was a young girl. She was considered young because she had a baby face, but a great figure, especially her impressive bust, which gave her a youthful yet alluring look. Zhuang Rui had to exert a lot of effort to keep his spiritual energy from wandering over her prominent breasts, and his gaze fell on the man following at the back.

The reason Zhuang Rui didn't notice the man at first was because he was carrying many bags and packages, leading him to mistakenly believe that the man was a hotel waiter. However, after Liu Chuan and the others moved aside, Zhuang Rui realized that compared to this man, he probably looked more like a hotel waiter.