Chapter 62: Yours

Suzanne sat across from Juliana and stared straight at her with eyes full of suspicion.

She couldn't help but ask, "Are you really Juliana?"

In the past, Juliana was just a delinquent teenager. Whether in terms of dress or temperament, she looked like a bad girl who was a trifler.

But now, Juliana was wearing the simplest leisurewear, with her hair tied in a bun and no makeup.

However, her elegance made her look like an honorable queen.

The more Suzanne watched, the more she doubted, "I don't think you're Juliana!"

Juliana should not be like this; Juliana was supposed to be a stupid woman that had been raised to be good-for-nothing!

Juliana merely raised her eyes and glanced at her lightly, "I don't think Selene is Jermaine's daughter either."

Suzanne choked for a moment but did not speak to Juliana again.
