

Gourmet 1691

Chapter 1691: The Heavengod of Life Is... Back!

Was Er Ha immortal?

The surrounding experts could not help but suck in their breath as they watched him recover instantly after he was cut in half by the sword.

Lord Dog, on the other hand, had a bold conjecture in his mind as he stared at Er Ha's back. 'Could he be the reincarnation of Heavengod Life? This is quite... possible, judging by his shameless nature...'

The ancient Heavengod with the Immortal-Slaughtering Sword in hand trembled. The look in Er Ha's eyes made him feel a chill, one that rose from the depths of his heart.

"You... Who the hell are you?!" He could not help but ask. From what he saw, it was hard for him to believe that Er Ha was just a God from the lower realms.

It was impossible for a God to recover so quickly from the wounds inflicted by the Immortal-Slaughtering Sword. Bestowed to him by Heavengod Transmigration, the sword could even seriously injure an ancient Heavengod with just one slash!

"I'm your grandfather!"

Although Er Ha kept recovering, the searing pain was an intense torture to both his soul and his body. He was in so much pain that all his muscles were cramping.

Blood kept trickling down from him and pooled under his feet. While no one paid it any attention, it slowly seeped into the ground as if something was absorbing it from below...

"How dare you!" The ancient Heavengod gathered his senses again, and he chose to throw caution to the wind. He hacked Er Ha repeatedly with the sword, cutting him in half with every slash.

The horrible scene sent chills down the backs of the ancient Heavengods who were controlling the array. Lord Dog, on the other hand, was fuming, and he kept struggling to break free of the array.

The ancient Heavengod cut down Er Ha so many times that he began to feel afraid. Finally, after he killed him one more time, Er Ha no longer recovered as if he was really dead.

“He’s... dead at last!” His heart was pounding. Glancing at the corpse on the ground, he could not help but exhale deeply. Beads of sweat kept running down from his forehead.

The ancient Heavengod could not believe that he was frightened by a God. But it did not matter anymore, for everything was over now. He had killed the guy at last.

“You can’t come back to life now, can you?!” he bellowed angrily. The next moment, he looked up and rested his eyes on Lord Dog. “It’s your turn now!”

The ancient Heavengod took a deep breath, then, with the sword in his hand, he sped toward Lord Dog. As he was closing in, he raised the sword and thrust it out. The blade glowed like blood and seemed powerful enough to destroy the Chaos Space!

...

Yun Tianyi sat uneasily before the stone door. She was shaking inside. Since all the others went to fight, she and Bu Fang were the only ones left in the Temple of Heavengod Time.

She was very anxious, and she wondered how the battle was going.

Heavengod Time and the others seemed to be trapped by the enemy. She really wanted to go there and help them, but she was ordered to guard the Heavengod behind the stone door so that he could complete the cooking.

She did not dare to disobey the order, though she also could not understand why cooking was so important at this critical juncture.

Suddenly, the stone door began to tremble and rumble. Yun Tianyi was stunned, then she jumped to her feet, turned around, and stared at it. ‘Is His Excellency done?!’

The trembling went on for a long time before it finally stopped. Yun Tianyi did not dare to breathe too loudly as she fixed her eyes on the door. Soon, she felt a sense of loss, for the door did not move again.

She moved closer to the door, trying to peek through the crack to see what was happening inside. However, the crack was too narrow for her to see anything.

Suddenly, the door trembled again, then it slowly opened. That startled Yun Tianyi, and she quickly jumped back a few steps, looking like a child who had been caught doing something bad by an adult.

“Your... Your Excellency...” she greeted timidly.

Bu Fang glanced indifferently at her. He looked somewhat tired, and his aura was a little weak. However, he was in good spirits. “Where are the others?” he asked.

Yun Tianyi hurriedly told him that Lord Dog and the two Heavengods had gone to fight Heavengod Transmigration’s faction, and the Chaos Space was in a mess now.

When she had finished speaking, she looked curiously at Bu Fang. She did not see him holding a dish. Then, she turned her head and looked into the chamber. She found no dishes as well, except for the scorching aura and the rich power of the Law that filled the air.

“Come... Let’s go there and have a look.” Bu Fang’s expression remained unchanged. He knew that Heavengod Transmigration would make a move, but he did not expect it to be so quick.

Yun Tianyi hurried over and followed at Bu Fang’s side. She found that he had an aura that made her subservient, and it was growing stronger and stronger.

They walked out of the Temple of Heavengod Time. As soon as they stepped outside, a thunderous rumble rang out, while all kinds of the terrible power of the Laws came raining down on them like a giant net. Yun Tianyi’s expression changed dramatically, but Bu Fang still kept a calm face.

As deadly attacks kept raining down, God Kings and God Emperors emerged around them, while two ancient Heavengods sat cross-legged in the sky, looking down at them with cold faces.

“You guys are finally coming out...” said one of the ancient Heavengods in an indifferent voice.

These two ancient Heavengods were not Heavengod Transmigration’s guardians, but their strength was fearsome. After all, every ancient Heavengod possessed the strength of a Saint of the Great Path.

“The Array of a Hundred Gods! Raise!”

They focused their eyes. They knew Bu Fang was the sixth modern-day Heavengod. However, since Heavengod Transmigration sent them here, they naturally had the means to deal with him.

At the command, God Kings and God Emperors rose into the sky. The power of countless Laws emerged and tangled with one another, forming an array. The next moment, it fell and enveloped Bu Fang and Yun Tianyi.

“Heavengod Transmigration controls the Chaos Space. You have resisted him, so you will be destroyed...” said an elderly ancient Heavengod with a faint smile. Then, he lifted his hand and moved it gently in the air.

The power exploding out from the array, which was constructed by top God Kings and top God Emperors with two ancient Heavengods as the core, was extremely terrifying. The ground seemed to cave in. Fortunately, the Temple of Heavengod Time had fended off that power.

Yun Tianyi had wanted to pull Bu Fang back into the temple, but their retreat path was blocked as well. Now, they had no choice but to face the array.

She gritted her teeth and decided to use the power of her bloodline again. Although she might not be able to defeat the enemy with it, it was better than not doing anything. However, before she could do it, a hand came resting on her shoulder.

The corners of Bu Fang’s mouth lifted slightly. The next moment, Foxy’s eyes lit up, then she jumped away from his shoulder and rushed into the sky.

“These people cannot stop me,” Bu Fang said.

As his voice rang out, Foxy focused her eyes. Suddenly, her snowy white fur turned scarlet as if her blood was about to burn. She opened her mouth, in which bright light began to emerge. Then, a huge Perishing Pot floated out of it.

This was an enhanced Perishing Pot. It was cooked with the best ingredients, which significantly improved its power. Perishing Pots used to be Bu Fang's ultimate weapons. In the past, he did not dare to give them to Foxy because she was too weak, but she was strong enough now.

Foxy's mouth was wide open, and the Perishing Pot spun rapidly before it. Soon, the pot turned into a blood-colored stream of light and sped forward, clashing with the array.

"Will... Will it work?" Yun Tianyi stared at the cute little fox in the sky, confused. Although she had turned scarlet, she still looked very adorable.

A rumbling sound rang out as a huge explosion took place in the sky. Bu Fang stood where he was with his hands clasped behind his back. The power of the Law swirled around him and turned into an energy shield to protect him.

Yun Tianyi was struck dumb. "This kind of power..."

The Perishing Pot exploded and turned into an enormous blood-colored lotus flower, with an extremely high temperature churning in the middle.

Foxy descended from the sky and fell into Bu Fang's arms. After unleashing the Perishing Pot, she seemed a little tired. She rubbed her head against Bu Fang's chest.

Bu Fang stroked her head, then turned to Yun Tianyi and said, "Let's go." His words somewhat startled her, but she followed all the same.

As they walked away, one figure after another fell from the sky. These were all seriously injured God Emperors and God Kings. Some weaker or less fortunate Gods had evaporated.

The two ancient Heavengods sitting cross-legged in the sky widened their eyes in disbelief. They could not believe that a fox had just destroyed their array. How did that happen?!

They were physically and mentally shaken—they wanted to turn and flee.

At this moment, Bu Fang lifted his Taotie Arm. Divine power poured out of him, and the five supreme Laws of the Universe combined and materialized into a palm before him.

The two ancient Heavengods were about to flee when the palm slapped them and threw them to the ground.

Bu Fang ignored them as he walked past them. Behind him, Whitey's mechanical eyes flashed. It reached out its huge palms, ripped off their clothes, and flung them into the distance as if they were rubbish. After doing that, Whitey patted its chest and followed behind Bu Fang.

Yun Tianyi was stunned. 'The sixth Heavengod is indeed... domineering!'

...

A dog bark echoed throughout the skies. The Immortal-Slaughtering Sword had failed to even break Lord Dog's skin. This had terrified the ancient Heavengod who was holding it.

'He truly is Heavengod Time... But as long as the Immortal-Slaughtering Sword is with me, I will still have a chance...' he thought to himself. The dog bark had knocked him flying back, but he quickly stabilized himself. Then, he charged toward Lord Dog again.

The energy of the sword wheeled in the sky like a dragon, while the nine ancient Heavengods who made the array ran at its highest speed, pinning Lord Dog to the ground.

"Die now!"

The Immortal-Slaughtering Sword fell from the sky with monstrous killing intent!

Lord Dog's eyes followed the sword as it approached. Suddenly, the sword stopped and could no longer move further.

The next moment, the ground began to tremble and crack, and then a mighty aura of life poured out of those cracks. All of a sudden, the earth split. Slowly, a ruined palace with broken pillars and collapsed walls rose to the surface, enveloping the array and all the people.

The ten ancient Heavengods were startled. “What... What is going on?!”

Lord Dog’s eyes lit up! “This is... The Temple of Heavengod Life!” His aura fluctuated, and he was extremely excited.

Heavengod Life was... back!

A mighty aura of life blew across the void. Then, a languid yawn resounded through the air.

The pupils of the ancient Heavengod holding the Immortal-Slaughtering Sword constricted. In front of him, the pile of blood and flesh began to slowly wriggle and merge.

Before long, Er Ha had come back to life again, and his aura began to skyrocket!

Chapter 1692: The Rise of Er Ha

“Why is this guy still alive?!” The surrounding ancient Heavengods were all stunned. “Is he a cockroach?! Why can he still come back to life after dying so many times?!”

Even a God should run out of energy after being killed so many times. However, not only was Er Ha not dead, but he seemed to be getting stronger and stronger!

The pupils of the ancient Heavengod, who was holding the Immortal-Slaughtering Sword, constricted. As he watched Er Ha’s aura soar, he was deeply shocked.

He sensed that Er Ha’s aura rushed from the God realm to the God King realm in an instant, and then from the lower grade to the middle grade, then to the upper grade. Immediately after that, he effortlessly broke into the God Emperor realm as if there was no bottleneck at all.

What came after the God Emperor realm was the Heavengod realm, and Heavengods were divided into ancient Heavengods and modern-day Heavengods.

The people present were all ancient Heavengods. As they watched in shock, the guy who had been killed countless times easily broke through the God Emperor realm. It was as if he had stabbed through a thin membrane with a sharp sword. The ease with which he did it was appalling!

“Ohhhh... It feels so good... Ohhhhhh...”

With his eyes closed, Er Ha spread his arms and moaned. His obscene manner made people really want to beat him up. As the ruined temple continued to rise to the ground, his aura finally rushed into the Heavengod realm!

A rumbling sound rang out as a thick light beam poured down from the sky and went through Er Ha in a flash. This was the legendary power of the Law of Life, and with its appearance, the Temple of Heavengod Life seemed to be revived from its dead silence.

At this moment, everyone felt that the whole world had brightened. Even the broken pillars and crumbled walls of the temple were radiating dazzling light!

“This... This is...”

The ancient Heavengod with the sword felt a huge blow in his heart. His mouth fell open, and he watched in disbelief as Er Ha’s aura skyrocketed.

“Heavengod Life! I can’t believe this guy is the legendary Heavengod of Life! Isn’t he supposed to be holy, kind, and compassionate? Why does he look like he needs some punches in the face?!”

The ancient Heavengod felt that his worldview had collapsed.

Lord Dog, on the other hand, was speechless. ‘Heavengod Life, who had wreaked havoc in the Chaos Space many years ago and terrified countless beautiful women of the ancient clans, has returned...’ he thought to himself. ‘Is he about to repeat his legendary stunt of getting someone pregnant with just a mere gaze?!’

Er Ha’s aura was still climbing, but at a slower rate. The main reason was that after reaching the Heavengod realm, it was very difficult for strength to rise at a rapid pace. He was Heavengod Life. In other words, he was reincarnated and returned like Lord Dog, so he had not fully recovered his strength.

Lord Dog did not know whether to laugh or cry. ‘It turns out that Heavengod Life has been by my side since he fell into the Transmigration and reincarnated... He has always been an acquaintance of mine... No wonder this fellow looks so repulsive in appearance!’

Er Ha became more and more handsome. His hair turned golden, and his robe became holy white. His skin was glittering like a crystal and full of elasticity, which made him look more attractive than a woman.

His whole body was radiating white light, and there was a round disc behind his head. It was the condensation of the Law of Life and represented his Causality Throne. Lord Dog could manifest the same disc, but at their level, they could hide it at will. In fact, Bu Fang had one as well, but he had hidden it.

As the Temple of Heavengod Life kept shaking, the array constructed by the ten ancient Heavengods seemed to become somewhat unstable.

“Dammit!”

“It’s the Temple of Heavengod Life’s array...”

“This array has also been revived!”

The expressions of all ten ancient Heavengods changed. It never occurred to them that the rascal was actually Heavengod Life. That was really unexpected. Perhaps even Heavengod Transmigration did not expect that.

Soon, the Temple of Heavengod Life’s array was in full operation. Because of the mutual rejection of two different arrays, the ancient Heavengods could no longer stabilize their array, and it collapsed in an instant.

The moment the array collapsed, Er Ha opened his eyes, which appeared to be misty as if he had just experienced the most intoxicating thing in the world.

“It turns out that I am... so awesome?” Er Ha muttered under his breath. It never occurred to him that he was Heavengod Life! “Hehe... I’m so much stronger now! I’m truly the chosen one!”

He was so excited that his whole body was shaking. With a thought in his mind, the Temple of Heavengod Life began to vibrate. Then, a flower appeared in his hand. It was a strange flower with a stalk covered in thorns and with wine-colored petals that wrapped on top of one another.

This was Heavengod Life's divine artifact, the Thorny Rose. It was a weapon filled with life force, the legendary artifact that once wreaked havoc!

Lord Dog struggled free of the array's restriction, walked up into the sky with his cat-like steps, and hovered in midair. He glanced at the frivolous Er Ha and rolled his eyes.

Er Ha was clad in a white robe that exposed his fair chest muscles. A lock of his golden hair fell over his forehead, and his handsome face was beaming with energy.

'No wonder this fellow could sleep with Heavengod Transmigration's daughter. I bet that old thief will cough up a liter of blood after learning Er Ha is actually Heavengod Life...' Lord Dog thought.

Back then, when Heavengod Life was out for travel, all ancient clans would hide their daughters. Heavengod Transmigration did the same, but in the end, his daughter slept with Er Ha. Perhaps this by itself was transmigration.

"Hey, doggy... I never thought I was so awesome!" Er Ha pushed the lock of hair away from his forehead and chuckled. The Temple of Heavengod Life trembled with his smile.

Lord Dog rolled his eyes. "You're being too cocky... How dare you call me doggy? Even Bu Fang boy has to call me Lord Dog!"

Rumble!

The ten ancient Heavengods landed on the ground at the same time. They had dismissed their array. It was unwise to construct an array inside the Temple of Heavengod Life.

"Hmm... Let's not talk about that now. Let me see... Tsk, tsk, tsk, those old thieves of the ancient clans who had betrayed us are all here."

Er Ha produced a spicy strip and put it in his mouth. He looked more mischievous than before. After recovering his cultivation base and attracting the Temple of Heavengod Life, his memory had come back to him as well.

Although he said those words in a playful manner, his eyes were emotionless as he stared at those ancient Heavengods with chills and killing intent.

“Retreat!”

“We are no match for two modern-day Heavengods! Retreat!”

The ancient Heavengods exchanged glances. Then, they turned to leave without hesitation. Rumbling sounds filled the air, and the terrible aura of the Laws exploded out of them as they turned into streams of light and sped away in all directions.

The temple’s restriction on them was simply too strong!

While toying the Thorny Rose in his hand with a misty look in his eyes and the spicy strip dangling from the corner of his mouth, Er Ha said, “Did I say you can leave? And you... Yes, you with the sword in hand... I bet you had a lot of fun stabbing me with your sword, right? Well... It’s time for me to have some fun...”

Smiling, Er Ha snapped his fingers. The Thorny Rose spun and shot out immediately, its petals breaking apart and falling one by one. The whole temple was filled with bright white light, and as countless wine-colored petals fell in the air, they looked very beautiful.

Lord Dog was speechless when he saw such a flashy move. He should have recognized Er Ha, for his frivolous nature was exactly the same as that of Heavengod Life!

“Let’s do this together... Don’t let any of them escape so they can go back and help that old thief... The Chaos Space is due for a major purge!” Lord Dog said. After that, he turned into a stream of light and sped forward, throwing out his dog paw.

An ancient Heavengod focused his eyes and counterattacked, resisting Lord Dog’s paw with his palm. However, as soon as their blows collided, he coughed up a mouthful of blood and was knocked flying backward, his face turning extremely pale.

Now that he was not suppressed by the array, Lord Dog could finally fight with his full strength. However weak he was now, there was still a gap between the strength of a Chaotic Saint and a Saint of the Great Path. He had been filled with anger for being suppressed by the array, and now he could finally vent his fury. As Er Ha said, it was their turn to have some fun!

He gave every ancient Heavengod a slap with his paw. None of them could resist it, and they all shot away like cannonballs, smashed into the ground, and bounced back into the air. After they fell back to the ground, they hurriedly jumped to their feet, turned, and ran to leave the temple as quickly as possible.

With his robe fluttering, Er Ha descended in front of the sword-bearing ancient Heavengod like a profligate. The Heavengod shuddered, then thrust out his sword without hesitation.

Suddenly, countless wine-colored petals flew over. "It makes me angry to see this sword," Er Ha said. The petals enveloped the sword, spun, and seized it from the ancient Heavengod's hand. Then, they turned sharp and cut off his arm.

"Don't kill me! I was forced to do this... We were forced to submit by Heavengod Transmigration! What happened back then was not our fault! For the sake of Qiqi, please spare my life, Your Excellency!" The ancient Heavengod begged with a terrified look on his face. He saw killing intent in Er Ha's eyes, which made him shiver physically and mentally.

"Qiqi... Oh, that old thief Transmigration's daughter... I've slept with countless women, and she is nothing to me..."

The corners of Er Ha's lips lifted slightly. Now that his memory was back, he finally realized how awesome Heavengod Life was, and he felt somewhat embarrassed as he went through the memory.

He lifted a hand and covered his face with it. His cheeks flushed slightly. With the spicy strip dangling from his lips, he reached out another hand and waved.

With a buzzing sound, countless wine-colored petals fell. The ancient Heavengod only had time to scream before he was killed. His soul jumped out of the broken body, twisting as he stared at Er Ha.

"You will die! All of you will die!" he hissed. Then, he turned into a stream of light and sped into the distance.

Er Ha did not stop him. The soul flew out of the Temple of Heavengod Life. Even though he was in the place that symbolized life, he was full of longing for life.

Meanwhile, the other ancient Heavengods were brought under control by Lord Dog. He had conjured chains with his hair, which contained the power of the Law of Time, and used them to tie them up. These experts who represented the ancient clans in the Chaos Space were now Lord dog's captives.

In the battle many years ago, countless ancient Heavengods of the ancient clans were injured or killed. The bones of Heavengods piled up in heaps in many relics. It was a baptism of blood.

The carnage that took place in those years was still unbearable to look back to. So, Lord Dog had decided to spare their lives. After all, it was not easy for a new Heavengod to be born in today's Chaotic Universe.

Er Ha landed on the ground. The petals had returned to him and turned back into the thorny rose. Holding it in one hand, he came up to Lord Dog.

"Hey, doggy. Well done!" Er Ha said playfully.

Although he had gone through a lot to come this far, and the pain of him being repeatedly killed just now was still in his head, life needed to go on. The right choice was to face it with a smile.

"Shut up... I dare you to call me that again? Don't you think I can't do anything to you now that you've recovered your strength," Lord Dog said, giving Er Ha a sideways glance.

Er Ha chuckled like an idiot. His fair cheeks turned red, making him look somewhat attractive.

Suddenly, the entire Temple of Heavengod Life trembled. A terrifying, brutal aura was approaching! The expressions of Er Ha and Lord Dog changed dramatically in an instant!

Outside the temple, a figure hovered in the sky, surrounded by an aura of blood, death, and sin.

Heavengod Transmigration stuck out his tongue and licked the bloodstain on the corner of his mouth. Then, he looked at the broken Temple of Heavengod Life down below, sneering.

The next moment, he lifted the arm covered in black energy and snapped his fingers. A black ball emerged in front of him. Then, with a flick of his finger, it fell straight down and went toward the Temple of Heavengod Life.

Chapter 1693: Bu Fang Arrived!

It was a black ball about the size of a fist, black as ink. It fell straight down from the sky, drifting lightly like a tiny balloon. The speed at which it fell was not fast, but it was not slow either. With it came an extremely formidable, almost oppressive aura.

Inside the Temple of Heavengod Life, Er Ha and Lord Dog looked up at the black ball as it fell, their faces serious.

“What a strong aura...” Lord Dog said in a grave voice.

Er Ha, while toying with his Thorny Rose, furrowed his beautiful brows and said, “A familiar aura... It’s old thief Transmigration.”

As the black ball was closing in, an extremely horrible aura erupted out of it, spreading in all directions in an instant as if to destroy heaven and earth.

Although the Temple of Heavengod Life was in a dilapidated state, it burst into a blinding light, which illuminated the sky and enveloped everything in a flash. It was a spherical array. Faint white light dots flashed and flowed across its surface like the stars in the sky.

The next moment, the black ball smashed onto the array, and a mighty aura exploded out of it. The terrifying aura soared into the sky like a black dragon, roaring fiercely and destroying everything around it.

The array spun and trembled as if it was going to break and collapse at any time. Under the pressure, the entire Temple of Heavengod Life—everything inside, including its broken pillars and collapsed walls—was shaking violently.

Er Ha narrowed his eyes with a spicy strip dangling between his lips. “This old thief... My temple has just made its debut, and now he wants to destroy it?”

“This aura is a little... strange. It is that palm,” Lord Dog said, his face grave.

Back then, that palm had crushed the temples of all the Heavengods. The five of them had to join forces to barely resist it, and then cut the arm off with their ultimate moves.

Unfortunately, the arm ended up in Heavengod Transmigration’s hands, while the rest of them were thrown into the Transmigration by him. They knew that he must be studying the arm during the years they were away.

The owner of the arm was a supreme being. With just one arm, he had forced the five of them to join forces to barely resist it. They had even nearly failed. His strength exceeded that of the Heavengod, and it was a temptation to everyone.

An explosion echoed throughout heaven and earth. At last, the Temple of Heavengod Life’s trembling stopped. The bright array gradually faded away. It had protected the temple from being completely destroyed.

Er Ha breathed out a sigh of relief, lifted a hand, and patted his chest. “He nearly scared me to death! I thought I was going to be homeless as soon as I got back.”

In the sky, Heavengod Transmigration narrowed his eyes. “Oh? This is interesting... I thought that would break the array...”

His aura was somewhat strange. It seemed to fluctuate constantly. Step by step, he walked down from the sky as if he was descending on a flight of invisible steps. Soon, he stopped over the Temple of Heavengod Life. He focused his eyes and seemed to look through the temple at Er Ha and Lord Dog.

Inside the temple, the ancient Heavengods who were tied up by Lord Dog with the chains of time began to struggle. Lord Dog frowned and lifted his paw. The chains glowed, and the ancient Heavengods’ minds plunged into an endless river of time, unable to escape.

“Dammit... Your divine ability is more awesome than my divine ability of making anyone pregnant with a glare...” Er Ha said in surprise.

“Yours is not a divine ability... I call that... a lewd trick.” Lord Dog gave Er Ha a sideways glance.

Heavengod Transmigration landed on the roof. He could not enter the temple. Suddenly, he raised his thick arm and punched the roof of the already dilapidated building. A loud rumble rang out, and the entire temple shook violently as if it was about to explode.

The force of the blow made Lord Dog and Er Ha shudder physically and mentally. “Hey, be gentle with my temple, old thief!” Er Ha said with a pained look on his face.

Heavengod Transmigration glanced at him. The next moment, he lifted the arm again. His fist was surrounded by wisps of black smoke as he threw it down one more time.

Er Ha’s heart skipped a beat as a loud crash rang out. The array emerged once again. “Doggy, let’s go! We can’t let him destroy my temple!” he said through clenched teeth.

The next moment, with his white robe fluttering and his golden hair waving, he turned into a stream of light and rushed into the sky.

Lord Dog took a deep breath. His fur bristled, and his aura began to fluctuate. However, before he could move out, he heard a rumbling sound. Suddenly, Er Ha flew back and smashed onto the ground beside him.

Without batting an eyelid, Er Ha pushed to his feet and brushed the dust off his clothes. “Doggy... Do I look handsome when I fall?”

Lord Dog rolled his eyes. ‘With his cultivation base recovered now, Er Ha is about as strong as a modern-day Heavengod, about on the same level as me,’ he thought to himself. ‘Yet, he is knocked back by Heavengod Transmigration with a slap... Just how strong is this old thief? This must be his true-self, not a clone!’

“Let’s go!” Lord Dog said. With a rumble, the Law of Time exploded out of him, transformed into chains, and wound around him. Then, he turned into a black stream of light and rushed out of the Temple of Heavengod Life.

Er Ha focused his eyes and waved his Thorny Rose. Countless petals emerged and swirled around him, while his body began to glow brilliantly. He could afford to lose a battle, but he could not afford to look bad!

Stepping on the wine-colored petals, he soared into the sky. The next moment, a thick pillar of light containing the power of the Law of Life thrust out from the top of his head and shot straight toward Heavengod Transmigration.

“You guys are finally coming out,” said Heavengod Transmigration. The corners of his mouth were stained with blood, making him look somewhat evil.

He raised the hand and pushed it down. With a rumble, a gray vortex emerged over his head, and then it flew down and smashed Lord Dog and Er Ha.

Lord Dog’s paw vanished in an instant, while Er Ha’s thick light pillar was also scattered by the vortex. They both flew back and hovered in midair, facing Heavengod Transmigration.

Lord Dog’s hair bristled. The next moment, he transformed into a white humanoid figure. As for Er Ha, he was still looking as handsome as ever.

“Eh? I can’t believe it’s you, Heavengod Life...” Heavengod Transmigration said as he rested his eyes on Er Ha. He appeared to be somewhat astonished. He finally understood why the little God in the lower realm survived his palm strike. It turned out that he was Heavengod Life.

In fact, after he had banished the four Heavengods and made them plunge into the Transmigration, he had no idea who they had reincarnated into. However, with the return of Heavengod Time, the other Heavengods should be coming back as well.

‘That guy is responsible for all this!’ Heavengod Transmigration thought of Bu Fang, and his mood darkened in an instant. Now, after transplanting the mysterious arm, he hated that chef from the bottom of his heart.

He just found that chef very disgusting, and he wished he could slap him to death. Of course, he had to kill the two Heavengods in front of him first.

“Hehe, old thief, are you surprised?” Er Ha said, smiling. He was holding the Thorny Rose with his eyes narrowed. The look on his face made people want to punch him.

'The life force of Heavengod Life is indeed fearsome... He's almost immortal.' Heavengod Transmigration took a deep breath and clenched his fists.

After learning Er Ha's true identity, the anger in him grew even more. Back then, he had hidden his daughter from this obscene guy, but in the end, he still slept with her after returning from transmigration.

"Er Ha... Do it now!"

Lord Dog sensed that Heavengod Transmigration's aura seemed to become a little unstable with anger. The wisps of black smoke swirling around him and his Law of Transmigration seemed to be clashing with each other, causing him to have a hard time controlling his power.

Kill an enemy when he's weak...

Lord Dog certainly understood this. Without hesitation, he threw out his paw. The void burst apart in an instant, and an oppressive rumbling filled the air.

Er Ha made his move as well. The wine-colored petals spun and turned into a pair of wings on his back. They flapped, pushing him straight toward Heavengod Transmigration.

Putting a hand on his brow, Heavengod Transmigration managed to stop his head from reeling. Then, his eyes turned scarlet, flashing with menace.

The Law of Transmigration spread down to his palm. He lifted the palm and stopped Lord Dog's paw. At the same time, he threw a punch at Er Ha with the transplanted arm, which shattered the latter's wings and turned them into scattering petals, then hit him hard in the face.

Er Ha's head twisted as he was knocked flying backward. "F*ck you... Old thief, you cannot hit someone's face in a battle!" He fell to the ground with a crash, kicking up a cloud of dust and creating a deep crater.

Lord Dog barked and continued to swing his paws out in a constant attack.

On the ground, Er Ha flipped and jumped to his feet. With the Law of Life swirling around him, he quickly recovered. Then, he soared into the sky again... only to be punched in the face again and fall to the ground with half of his face twisted.

“Damn you!” Er Ha growled. He flew up again, but in just a flash, he was thrown to the ground one more time. “Why is it always me who gets hurt?!” He was fuming!

Suddenly, Lord Dog was thrown down as well, creating another deep crater on the ground. They both looked up and sucked in their breath at the same time.

“This fellow is too strong,” Lord Dog said.

“You guys really disappointed me...” With one of his eyes turned scarlet and the other normal, Heavengod Transmigration shook his head. He did not conceal the disappointment on his face.

He was very lonely now, for he could not find anyone who could match his strength. He had thought the two modern-day Heavengods could let him feel the true power of this transplanted arm, but they were too weak.

“After giving part of your Causality Thrones to that chef... you’re no longer qualified to fight with me.” Heavengod Transmigration sneered. He lifted his hand. The terrible power of sin immediately spread and swirled around the black arm, while countless rifts emerged in the void around him.

Lord Dog sucked in a cold breath. “That’s... the Soul Demon’s aura! This maniac is really in league with the Soul Demon!”

The playful look on Er Ha’s face had vanished, replaced by a grave look. He could sense a horrible aura of death in Heavengod Transmigration. He was Heavengod Life, and yet he could still sense the death aura. It showed how terrifying Heavengod Transmigration was now!

“He must be getting serious now!”

Sure enough, Heavengod Transmigration’s transplanted arm changed. It swelled up abruptly, becoming even larger than his body. Insect scales appeared and covered the whole arm. The next moment, he let out a deafening roar and clenched his palm into a fist.

A rumbling sound rang out as the power of sin towered into the sky, shaking heaven and earth. Then, the fist smashed toward Lord Dog and Er Ha at a speed that was as fast as teleportation!

“Dammit!”

Lord Dog’s pupils constricted, while Er Ha shuddered. They both sensed the aura that crushed their temples in the punch. The familiar aura put them in a bit of a trance.

With a buzzing sound, the Temple of Heavengod Life appeared in front of Er Ha and Lord Dog. The punch smashed hard onto the array. As Heavengod Transmigration’s eyes shone with excitement and violence, the array rotated to its maximum speed and glowed blindingly.

Crack, crack...

Soon, cracks began to emerge across the array. Er Ha rose into the sky and kept sending the power of the Law of Life into it. The array rotated and tried its best to resist, but...

With a loud boom, it burst apart! As it broke into pieces, Heavengod Transmigration’s fist was knocked away, but his excitement did not disappear.

Er Ha gave a miserable howl and fell from the sky. Lord Dog hurriedly lifted his paws and pressed them against his back. However, both of them were pushed toward the ground by a tremendous force.

Just when they were about to hit the ground, a strong wind blew past them. A lean figure tore the void, stepped out of it, slowly raised a hand, and rested it on Lord Dog’s back, stopping both of them from falling.

Chapter 1694: Trust

Bu Fang showed up just in time, at least for Er Ha and Lord Dog.

“Hey... You’re finally here, Bu Fang young man. If you had arrived a little later, I might have been killed...” Er Ha stared at Bu Fang with a pair of watery eyes and the ring of light behind his head.

Bu Fang put down his hand and glanced indifferently at Er Ha. “Who is this idiot...”

Lord Dog grinned, while Er Ha was speechless.

Yun Tianyi stood behind Bu Fang with an appalled expression. She glanced at Lord Dog, then at Er Ha. The terrible aura emanating from the latter terrified her.

‘This... This is... another Heavengod! That rich and holy aura... He’s Heavengod Life! Good heavens!’

Meanwhile, terrifying rumbling sounds of explosions kept echoing out from different places in the Chaos Space. The battle was in full swing now.

“Bu Fang young man... Don’t you recognize me? I’m Er Ha! The handsome, cool, incredible Er Ha!” Er Ha widened his eyes and almost put his face in front of Bu Fang’s.

Bu Fang pushed Er Ha’s face away grumpily. Of course, he recognized Er Ha. But if truth be told, he never thought that Er Ha would be the legendary Heavengod Life.

‘No wonder he’s so full of life and can’t be killed like a cockroach. He had even survived Heavengod Transmigration’s slap...’

Lord Dog interrupted the greeting between Bu Fang and Er Ha. “Watch out... There’s something strange about this old thief,” he said.

This was the first time he spoke with such a serious tone. Heavengod Transmigration had fused with the arm, which made him feel a little uneasy. After all, the arm’s strength had terrified them back then, for it had crushed their temples.

The Temple of Heavengod Life’s array had been destroyed. In the sky, Heavengod Transmigration walked down step by step with a frightening and mighty aura, which made those who sensed it want to kneel before him.

Yun Tianyi’s heart was pounding. She thought it was unwise for her to come into a fight of this level.

“The Soul Demon’s aura...” Bu Fang was very sensitive to this aura. He was not too surprised to sense it from Heavengod Transmigration, though. After all, the calamity of Soul Demons was the work of this fellow.

He had long suspected that Heavengod Transmigration was in close collusion with the Soul Demons. So many lives were slaughtered, plunged into Transmigration, and turned into this Heavengod’s power. He had to admit that Heavengod Transmigration was indeed a maniac.

“You’re here... I’ve been waiting for you,” Heavengod Transmigration said with a faint smile. His thick Soul Demon arm was raised, surrounded by the aura of sin, and his eyes were cold as they fixed at Bu Fang. He wanted to kill Bu Fang even more than he wanted to kill Lord Dog and Er Ha.

“Heavengod Time, Heavengod Life, and the stinking chef... I had thought of killing you all at once, but unfortunately, Heavengod Space and Heavengod Destruction are not here.”

He shook his head and grinned. Without the restriction of the array, he seemed to become somewhat carefree.

Suddenly, the air exploded as he sped forward. He was so fast that no one could see him with naked eyes. After countless years, Heavengod Transmigration’s strength had reached an unfathomable level. Together with the arm, his strength was unmatched.

Bu Fang only felt a blast of air blow into his face. His spirit sea stirred, then a gust of wind kicked up. A rumbling sound echoed out as the Black Turtle Constellation appeared in front of him, spinning.

With a deafening boom, Heavengod Transmigration’s fist struck the wok, knocking it to the ground. The ground caved in instantly, while the Temple of Heavengod Life trembled.

The wok had only delayed the Heavengod for a brief moment, and then he was closing in. Lord Dog’s figure flashed, and he was in front of Bu Fang. The Law of Time fell like a waterfall, turning into a huge clock before them.

“The Law of Time?” Heavengod Transmigration narrowed his eyes. One of them was normal, but the other one was scarlet and filled with violence.

Facing the Law of Time, he thrust out another punch. The clock was shattered in an instant, and Lord Dog was hit by a tremendous force. He flew backward, plowing a deep trench in the ground before smashing into a wall. The wall collapsed, while Lord Dog sank deep into it.

Er Ha felt his heart tremble. “Why did you do this to my temple?!” He was depressed inside. The Temple of Heavengod Life had just recovered. Was it going to be turned into ruins again?

“Old thief... Every injustice has its perpetrator and every debt its debtor... Why don't we fight in the Temple of Heavengod Time?!” Er Ha placed his hands on his hips and bellowed.

Lord Dog muttered, “What an idiot...”

Bu Fang rolled his eyes. As for Yun Tianyi, she was struck speechless.

Heavengod Transmigration glanced indifferently at Er Ha. Then, he stomped the ground, causing it to collapse.

With a sonic boom, he appeared in front of Er Ha and thrust out a palm. It was a blow from the Soul Demon arm. The evil force that came with it made Er Ha's pupils constrict.

Countless flower petals gathered rapidly before him and turned into a shield. However, it failed to block the blow and was smashed by the punch, breaking into pieces in just a flash. Er Ha's body twisted under the palm strike, then turned into a white figure and was brutally smashed into the wall.

Invincible! Heavengod Transmigration was almost invincible at this moment! The two modern-day Heavengods were no match for him!

“My power is peerless! I will suppress all the realms in the universe!” Heavengod Transmigration said wildly, his scarlet eye flashing.

Bu Fang took a deep breath. Looking at Heavengod Transmigration, his face grew graver.

Rumble!

In the twinkling of an eye, Heavengod Transmigration disappeared. When he reappeared, he was already in front of Bu Fang, thrusting out his Soul Demon arm.

Bu Fang raised his Taotie Arm to counter it. The tremendous impact of the collision knocked him flying away and threw him into the ruins where Lord Dog was buried.

“Weak... You are too weak. Although you have obtained the Causality Thrones of the four Heavengods, your strength is only about the same as that of an ancient Heavengod... No matter how strong an ancient Heavengod is, he is merely an ant in front of a Heavengod with a proper Causality Throne.”

Heavengod Transmigration clenched his fists and smiled. The next moment, he raised the Soul Demon arm and rubbed his fingers against each other. A black ball began to rapidly gather. It spun, emanating shocking energy waves. The destructive aura contained in it was extremely terrifying.

“It’s time to end this...” he said. “I’ve been waiting for this moment for countless years. Ever since I banished you all into the Transmigration, I’ve been waiting... No one can stop me now! I want to go beyond the Heavengod realm! I want to become the master of the Chaos Space!”

Heavengod Transmigration roared. The next moment, he violently flung out the black ball in his hand.

Consisting of highly concentrated and extremely unstable energy, the black ball’s power was even stronger than one hundred nuclear bombs combined. If it were released in a starry sky that was not as stable as the Chaos Space, it could easily destroy countless stars.

“Er Ha... Stop it!” Suddenly, Bu Fang’s indifferent voice rang out from the ruins. The rubble exploded in the next instant, and he emerged from it, holding the Dragon Bone Kitchen Knife in his hand.

Er Ha was immersed in his grief at the moment, so he was somewhat confused when he heard that. However, he did not hesitate. His figure flashed, and then he was in front of the black ball.

“I’ll stop it!” Er Ha said. “But I have a small request. Can you give me a... spicy strip?” He looked as if he was going to face his death, with his white robe flapping noisily in the wind.

Bu Fang shook his hand, then a golden spicy strip shot out in an instant.

Er Ha held it between his lips. Now that he had the spicy strip, he seemed to be full of power. “Come on, baby!” He focused his eyes. The Law of Life gathered rapidly and turned into a huge white rose behind him.

The air was filled with a rumbling sound as the black ball approached. Pulled and twisted by the tremendous amount of energy, the void seemed to be on the verge of collapsing.

“You will stop it?” Heavengod Transmigration sneered indifferently.

As the black ball closed in, Er Ha threw out both his hands, and his palms touched it. The energy began to twist. He roared as his palms began to lose their flesh, revealing the golden bones. The flesh had turned into ashes in a flash. Meanwhile, his white robe was being torn and ripped from him.

Er Ha’s eyes shone with madness. He bit the spicy strip hard, as if he could hold back the black ball by doing so. Soon, both his arms vanished. However, he stepped forward instead of retreating, blocking the black ball with his body.

Before long, his body began to crack as well, and the ring of light behind his head had shattered. Although he looked miserable, he managed to hold back the black ball.

Yun Tianyi was shocked. It was hard for her to even think that the idiotic and narcissistic guy would give up his life to resist the black ball. ‘Is he not afraid of death? Even though he is Heavengod Life, the blow will still make him suffer greatly, and it might even wipe out his soul!’

Er Ha naturally knew the consequences, but he still stood up at Bu Fang’s call without even batting an eye. What kind of trust was that?

Bu Fang glanced at Er Ha, and his eyes grew serious. Of course, he would not let Er Ha suffer this pain for nothing. He took a deep breath, and the mental force in his spirit sea began to boil.

The next moment, he thrust out the Dragon Bone Kitchen Knife and slashed the void into pieces. Then, he shot a hand into the broken void as if he was trying to pull something out of it.

With a buzzing sound, the Law of Time spread and wound around his arm, which began to grow old and wither at a speed visible to the naked eye.

It was time for the dish that he stored in the river of time to show up. Bu Fang's eyes grew sharp. "Come out now!" he bellowed in a commanding voice.

There was a flash of gold. A golden beam of light sped through the river of time, then transformed into a dish with a pair of energy wings. It was the dish Bu Fang had cooked according to the golden recipe, a dish with a spirit.

Bu Fang reached out his hand and grabbed the dish, then forcefully pulled it out from the river of time. The Law of Time stacked around his arm and turned it old, then young, then old again. It was as if he was going through the baptism of time.

Finally, the river of time collapsed and dispersed, and the dish was pulled out by Bu Fang.

At this moment, Lord Dog rushed out of the rubble.

"Lord Dog, eat this!" Bu Fang said in a serious voice. Then, he waved his hand, and the golden dish turned into a stream of light, rushing toward Lord Dog.

Lord Dog's eyes turned red as he looked at Er Ha desperately trying to fend off the black ball. His body grew larger abruptly, then he opened his mouth and swallowed the golden dish in one gulp.

As soon as the dish entered his stomach, golden energy spread from him like ripples, while the Law of Time began to surge like a pot of boiling water!

Chapter 1695: It's Time for a Change of... Heavengod Transmigration

Lord Dog had swallowed too fast, and the golden light was too bright, so no one could see what the dish was.

Only Lord Dog knew what it was. The familiar flavor, the feeling of it moving slowly on his tongue, and the rich, bursting aroma... They all told him the same thing: the dish Bu Fang cooked according to the golden recipe was not a strange dish. It was... Sweet 'n' Sour Ribs!

It was a bowl of delicious Sweet ‘n’ Sour Ribs!

For a moment, Lord Dog could not help but want to give a sonorous bark. He never thought he would eat a bowl of Sweet ‘n’ Sour Ribs. ‘As it turns out, the recipe that had been hiding for so long in my temple is my favorite Sweet ‘n’ Sour Ribs!’

His whole body was shaking, and the power of his Law of Time began to skyrocket. Lord Dog opened his eyes. His black fur seemed to become shinier, and his hands and legs seemed to become longer.

A buzzing sound filled the air as the Law of Time swirled around his paws and turned into numerous rings, each emanating an extremely terrifying aura.

Bu Fang took a deep breath. His arm was old and rotting like that of a dying elderly man. After he cooked the dish, he had stored it in the void and wrapped it with the Law of Time. So, he felt the power of time even when he retrieved it by himself.

However, he was fine. He exhaled, and the Law of Time churned and swept across his rotting arm. In the blink of an eye, it recovered completely and was full of life once again.

‘Lord Dog had eaten the dish. The change that should have happened to him should have happened by now...’ Bu Fang thought, looking expectantly in Lord Dog’s direction. He wanted to see to what extent Lord Dog’s strength would recover after eating the dish in the golden recipe.

‘Besides, that dish...’ The corners of his mouth lifted slightly. Bu Fang never expected that the dish he cooked according to the recipe would be Sweet ‘n’ Sour Ribs.

He was glad that the dish was Sweet ‘n’ Sour Ribs, so he was able to complete the last step of the cooking at the most critical moment without falling short. After all, he was too familiar with it—the steps of cooking it had been deeply engraved in him.

...

Er Ha’s aura of life churned. He was fighting against the black energy ball, and it seemed that he could be annihilated at any time.

However, Heavengod Transmigration's attention was not on him. Instead, he was looking at Lord Dog in the distance. What was happening to Lord Dog at this moment caught his attention. He narrowed his eyes. 'That familiar feeling seemed to have... returned.'

Rumble!

A river of time tore through the chaos and descended, tumbling violently as it wheeled around Lord Dog, causing his weak aura to keep climbing. The digestion of food gradually perfected his flawed Causality Throne. Soon, it reached the perfect state.

Lord Dog did not turn into a glowing humanoid figure but maintained the appearance of a big black dog. However, a ring of light emerged over his head, rotating slowly as streams of strong aura poured out of it. Suddenly, he had the look of someone who had weathered countless hardships, and his aura became somewhat holy.

Rumble!

The river of time churned, and Lord Dog walked out of it with his elegant cat-like steps. Heavengod Time had returned in his peak condition! At that moment, the whole Chaos Space seemed to tremble!

Yun Tianyi shed tears of joy as she watched from down below. She was very familiar with that mighty aura. It belonged to Heavengod Time in his peak form! The almighty expert who could reverse time with just a thought!

Boom!

There was an explosion, and Er Ha was blown into a cloud of ashes by the black energy ball. However, a brief moment later, tiny particles slowly gathered at Bu Fang's side and turned into him.

As the least likely of the five Heavengods to die, Heavengod Life was certainly not so easily wiped out!

The energy of the explosion began to spread, sweeping out in all directions in powerful ripples. The Temple of Heavengod Life seemed to be on the verge of being completely destroyed.

Er Ha was shuddering in pain, but there was nothing he could do. Heavengod Transmigration was too fearsome. They had no chance to defeat him without fully recovering their strength. In fact, it was still very difficult for them to win even if they had recovered all their strength.

However, he could pin his hope on Lord Dog. After all, of the five Heavengods, Lord Dog was considered the strongest in those years. He was even stronger than Heavengod Transmigration. Of course, that was when the old thief had not fused with the Soul Demon arm.

The ripples of energy spread, shattering everything they enveloped in a flash, including the Temple of Heavengod Life.

Lord Dog narrowed his eyes, his tail wagging in the air. He lifted a paw and lightly touched the ripples with it. A click rang out as the boiling energy ripples froze in an instant.

After freezing the energy ripples, Lord Dog looked calmly at Heavengod Transmigration in the distance and said in an indifferent voice, “Are you now regretting what you have done?”

Fully recovered, he now had the strength to confront Heavengod Transmigration. The old thief had fused with the Soul Demon arm, yes, but it was not that easy for them to fuse completely. After all, that was an arm of a supreme being.

“Regret? Of course... I regret not knowing what you have reincarnated into when I sent you guys into the Transmigration... Otherwise, I would have eliminated you all before you can return, and I would not have to deal with these troubles now!” Heavengod Transmigration sneered.

Lord Dog shook his head and bared his sharp teeth. “In that case, I will kill you today! It’s time for someone else to replace you as Heavengod Transmigration!” he said in a domineering manner.

With his cat-like steps, Lord Dog walked in the air. The next moment, he disappeared from where he was. The void seemed to shatter as he moved extremely fast through it and appeared in front of Heavengod Transmigration.

Their power of the Laws collided. The clash between two Heavengods was neck and neck, for their strength was about on the same level!

The ripples of energy spread, ring after ring. Whenever Heavengod Transmigration used his Soul Demon arm, it was blocked by Lord Dog.

As a buzzing sound filled the air, Lord Dog drew a circle with his paw and lightly pushed it forward. The circle spread and enveloped everything that was shattered. Wherever it passed, the ruins rapidly recovered, and the broken stones pieced back together at a speed visible to the naked eye. It was as if time had been turned backward.

Heavengod Transmigration's pupils constricted. He moved far away, watching the ring of light from across a great distance.

Soon, the destroyed Temple of Heavengod Life and even the shattered array were completely restored. Er Ha was elated. He did not expect this. "Aye, my temple is back!" He was very surprised.

Bu Fang, on the other hand, fixed his eyes on the battle and watched intently. Lord Dog seemed to be conducting a tutorial on the use of the Law of Time. He had used every wisp of the divine power of time to great precision.

"The Law of Time..." Heavengod Transmigration said coldly.

The strength of Heavengod Time, who was fully recovered, was on a par with his. Back then, if that palm had not seriously injured the four Heavengods, he would not have had the chance to send them into the Transmigration.

Now, although he had replaced his arm with that arm, he could not completely fuse its strength with his. There was always a slight obstruction. His strength was improved, but the obstruction had made it increase only ever so slightly.

Lord Dog walked with his cat-like steps. The ripples of time spread with every step he took.

Heavengod Transmigration kept moving, while the Law of Transmigration fell behind his back, rushed forward, and collided with Lord Dog's Law of time.

The collision of the two supreme Laws produced a kind of soundless waves, and then the Law of Transmigration was devoured by the Law of Time. The void began to twist continuously at the center of the impact.

Heavengod Transmigration's pupils constricted. "This is impossible!" It never occurred to him that the power of his Law would be no match to a dog, who had been banished for countless years!

Lord Dog continued to draw circles, and his paws slapped the void.

The circles enveloped Heavengod Transmigration, and his face immediately twisted. He found that his body seemed to be twisting as well. For a moment, he turned into a baby, and the next moment, he was a dying old man.

It was the power of time, and it kept affecting his body. However, he quickly got rid of it. The Law of Time was amazing, but it was very difficult to thoroughly transform a Heavengod.

After exchanging a few blows, however, Heavengod Transmigration noticed something wrong. "You... You've become stronger!" he said in shock with his huge arm raised.

Lord Dog was very calm. He had indeed become stronger. He was no longer the Heavengod Time he used to be.

"I want to thank you for your Transmigration. Without its help, I would not have such a long time to look for myself, and perhaps even if I could still recover, my strength would only be the same as before. But now... I've returned, and I even have the power of the Sweet 'n' Sour Ribs... I'm no longer the same!

"I have... become stronger," Lord Dog said indifferently. Then, he lifted his paw and pointed at Heavengod Transmigration's Soul Demon arm.

"That thing doesn't belong to you, so it is useless for you to fuse with it. What doesn't suit you will never suit you... A forced fusion will only weaken your power of the Law and prevent you from unleashing stronger strength."

Heavengod Transmigration held his head with one hand. He was a bit confused now. There was a booming voice in his head, and it kept affecting his sanity.

"Dammit! You're talking nonsense... I'm the strongest... I'm the strongest in the Chaos Space... I'm the Lord of the Chaos Space!" Heavengod Transmigration's face became grim.

Holding a spicy strip between his lips, Er Ha looked at Heavengod Transmigration from down below and shook his head. “What a pathetic young man. He lacks the most basic understanding of himself. Is the power that could hurt five Heavengods really that easy to control? He should have known this...”

Bu Fang was indifferent. He knew something was very wrong with Heavengod Transmigration’s condition just by looking at him. As one of the supreme Laws of the Universe, the Law of Transmigration was very proud, and it would not want to fuse with another power.

Perhaps the side effect was not so severe after the transplant, but as time passed, the repulsion between the Law of Transmigration and the power of the Soul Demon would become more and more violent.

Eventually, it might lead to the explosion of Heavengod Transmigration’s body. The consequence of the repulsion between energies was naturally an explosion, and the power...

Based on Bu Fang’s estimation, the power might be enough to destroy half of the Chaos Space. After all, a supreme Law carried too many things. Once the Transmigration collapsed, the consequences would be extremely serious. It would cost the Chaotic Universe at least a billion years of evolution.

“The Lord of the Chaos Space?” Lord Dog sneered and raised his paw.

The tiny paw glowed brilliantly, while the Law of Time kept swirling in the sky and soon gathered into a huge paw. It was a paw condensed of time. Affected by it, everything in the surroundings was moving faster through time.

“Let me give you a ride... you idiotic Lord of the Chaos Space,” Lord Dog said in disdain.

Then, he slapped out the paw. Under the paw, time was moving faster and faster!

“GET LOST!”

Heavengod Transmigration became very cranky. He jerked the Soul Demon arm up and threw it at the paw. However, the paw suddenly seeped into the arm like water...

Heavengod Transmigration froze instantly.

Chapter 1696: Being a Soul Demon Is Better Than Being a Heavengod?

Time was both loved and hated by people. At the moment, Heavengod Transmigration hated it!

Lord Dog's paw had accelerated the flow of time and melted into his Soul Demon arm. He felt as if his head was about to burst. There was a constant rumble in his ears, and his eyes shot with blood.

Time was flowing through his body, causing it to flicker. Red lines emerged across his arm, making it look even more hideous, while its muscles beat like a heart.

"What have you done..." Heavengod Transmigration's pupils constricted. He held his head with one hand, and his face was filled with pain. It was really painful. He felt as if his head was about to burst.

Meanwhile, the booming voice kept ringing out as if to seduce him.

"Accept me...I can give you power! Become one with me! You will be the true Lord of the Chaos Space! Accept my power! No one can stop you!"

The voice was very gentle and magnetic, and it made Heavengod Transmigration shiver all over.

His Law of Transmigration had lost control, and the power of sin was surging. The clash of the two energies seemed to crack his body, and he could not help but cough up a mouthful of blood.

Lord Dog walked slowly in midair. With his strength recovered, he was now one of the strongest beings in the universe, and the whole Chaos Space seemed to stabilize significantly with his presence.

Er Ha soared into the sky and came to Lord Dog's side. "What's up with this old thief?" He was overjoyed when he saw the pained look on Heavengod Transmigration's face. The enemy's injury was his source of happiness!

Bu Fang put one hand behind his back and lifted the other. A rumbling sound echoed out from the ruin in the distance. Suddenly, the ground cracked, and with a thud, the Black Turtle Constellation Wok flew out and fell into his hand.

The corner of Er Ha's mouth twitched as he looked at the large hole created by the black wok.

"This is the backlash... How could he touch the Soul Demon power? What a fool," Bu Fang said coldly.

Lord Dog nodded. They all had experienced the wickedness of Soul Demons. Fortunately, the cosmic portal in the Chaotic Universe was sealed, or else the calamity of Soul Demons would have gone out of control.

If the Soul Overlords of the Seven Sins in the Soul Demon Universe descended to the Chaotic Universe, the people would be plunged into an abyss of misery. After all, each of the Great Soul Overlords was equivalent to a modern-day Heavengod.

Rumble!

Heavengod Transmigration's fleshly body began to swell up. Clearly, under the catalyst of time, he was losing control over his own power. Once the power exploded, he was very likely to die.

Of course, this would only happen when he did not give up the Soul Demon power. He was, after all, a Heavengod. As long as he cut off the Soul Demon arm and gave up the power, he could still recover after a long time. But, if he did not cut off the arm, he would die.

Would he give up the arm? Bu Fang and the others did not have the answer. They just watched with narrowed eyes.

Lord Dog had constructed an array and sealed the surroundings of Heavengod Transmigration, trapping all the energy inside. By doing so, the energy would not destroy the Chaos Space once it exploded.

A clicking sound could be heard as fine lines began to emerge across Heavengod Transmigration's face. Bu Fang and the others focused their eyes.

“It has begun...” Lord Dog said.

The backlash of energy began to destroy Heavengod Transmigration’s fleshly body. He held his head with one hand and kept coughing up blood. The terrifying power made him very uncomfortable.

‘Why?! I’ve spent countless years plotting this... Why didn’t it work?! I’ve sacrificed so many living beings and devoured so many souls in the Transmigration... But why didn’t it work?!’

Heavengod Transmigration’s eyes were shot with blood, and his temples beat rapidly. The blood-colored lines kept covering his body, making him look like a ferocious demon!

“Crazy... This is crazy... Is he really that obsessed with power?” Er Ha covered his mouth with a hand as an incredulous look came over his face. “He will die if he continues like this...”

“This is the consequence of greed. Even a Heavengod cannot escape from it. The power of Soul Demons was born because of this. In fact, the Seven Sins, including Greed, Sloth, and Pride, are the most primitive emotions and the lust of mankind,” Lord Dog said.

“Give it up...” Lord Dog told Heavengod Transmigration. “The power of Soul Demons cannot be controlled by Gods. We innately repulse this power...”

“Get lost!” Heavengod Transmigration bellowed. His eyes were red, and he kept roaring and hissing. He almost scratched his skin raw and bloody. The gray Transmigration seemed to be contaminated and turned black, looking extremely weird.

“I want to become the Lord of the Chaos Space! I want power!” Heavengod Transmigration threw his head back and roared.

Rumble!

A terrifying aura erupted out of him as if to destroy everything. At that moment, heaven and earth were shaking.

Lord Dog’s eyes grew even more serious.

“What a maniac...” Er Ha twitched his lips in disdain.

Suddenly, Bu Fang and the others heard a ripping sound, and then their expressions changed dramatically.

“He is really... crazy this time!” Lord Dog said.

As everyone watched with grave faces, Heavengod Transmigration grinned, reached out a hand, and thrust it into his chest. His flesh and bones broke apart, and blood spewed out of the opening. Then, he pulled out his beating heart, clenched his hand, and crushed it into pieces...

“Hehehe...”

As soon as the heart was crushed, an invisible power was unleashed from inside Heavengod Transmigration. It was a very bizarre feeling.

The gray Transmigration became weaker and weaker, and it was spinning slower and slower. Then, with a ripping sound, the power of the Law of Transmigration detached from Heavengod Transmigration.

“I want power...” Heavengod Transmigration laughed wildly.

Upon looking at that, Er Ha sucked in a cold breath, while Bu Fang twitched the corner of his mouth. Lord Dog, on the other hand, had an exasperated look on his face.

“He’s a fool.”

In the end, the three of them could only come to this conclusion.

Down below, Yun Tianyi was stunned. It never occurred to her that Heavengod Transmigration would give up the power of the Law of Transmigration and choose the power of Soul Demons!

“Is this guy’s head stuffed with shit?!” Er Ha was somewhat speechless.

Roar!

Heavengod Transmigration roared as the invisible power split from him and the gray Transmigration detached from him.

Without hesitation, Bu Fang soared into the sky, stretched out a hand, and released his Law of Transmigration to wrap the detached Transmigration.

“Hehehe...” Heavengod Transmigration covered his face with a hand. After losing the power of the Law of Transmigration, his Causality Throne began to crumble. Before long, it shattered into pieces and melted into the chaos.

Under the control of Bu Fang, the Law of Transmigration, which had lost its host, slowly fused with the Chaos Space as well.

“It never occurred to me that a Heavengod would choose the power of Soul Demons and give up the essential power that had raised him to where he stands now...” Lord Dog felt somewhat lost.

“He will regret it,” Bu Fang said indifferently.

Now that he had lost the Law of Transmigration, Heavengod Transmigration was completely controlled by the Soul Demon arm. After his fleshly body had fully merged with the power of Soul Demons, his aura began to transform, becoming stronger and stronger.

“Good boy... Now feel the power!” Heavengod Transmigration’s eyes turned scarlet, and he looked excited as he listened to the voice in his head.

A pair of leathern wings poked through the skin on his back and spread, emitting an evil aura. Heavengod Transmigration looked at his body in fascination.

Suddenly, Lord Dog disappeared, and when he reappeared, he was already in front of Heavengod Transmigration, thrusting out his paw.

Just now, he did not dare to make a move because he feared that the backlash would explode and destroy half of the Chaos Space. But Heavengod Transmigration had given up the power of the Transmigration, and such a foolish behavior had completely infuriated him. He had decided to kill the fool before he could merge with the power completely!

Er Ha was making his move as well. He was very familiar with the strategy of killing the enemy when the enemy was weak!

Rumble!

The attacks of Lord Dog and Er Ha instantly smashed Heavengod Transmigration to the ground. The power of the Law of Time and the Law of Life made him howl painfully.

Suddenly, the arm began to expand, growing larger and larger. In just a few moments, it became so huge that it seemed to poke through the whole Chaos Space. A sinful aura surrounded the arm as Heavengod Transmigration raised it, his face ferocious.

“What a wonderful feeling!” Heavengod Transmigration grinned, revealing two rows of pointy teeth.

Even then, the Law of Time fell. Time seemed to turn into numerous sharp blades, and they were all trying to hack the arm off Heavengod Transmigration’s shoulder.

Er Ha and Lord Dog joined their forces and attacked together.

Rumbling sounds filled the air, and plumes of black smoke spread in all directions. At that moment, the whole Chaos Space had noticed the battle.

Many experts who were fighting each other were struck dumb. “What is going on?” someone asked.

At this moment, the experts who had submitted to Heavengod Transmigration felt something that was restricting them was gone. An uproar broke out among them.

“What kind of monster is that?”

“Heavengod Transmigration? All of us have been serving this disgusting thing?!”

“Those who are not our kin are sure to be of a different heart! This is a Soul Demon! This is a sinful creature!”

Everyone was suddenly filled with righteous indignation. If Heavengod Transmigration was still a Heavengod, they would submit to him, but clearly he was not a Heavengod anymore. In fact, he had transformed into a Soul Demon, and all Soul Demons must be killed! The two sides that were fighting each other instantly ceased fire.

The nine ancient Heavengods who were sealed by Lord Dog were stunned as well. They could not believe that Heavengod Transmigration was this kind of person. What did he take them for? Was everything they had offered to him all these years wasted?

The Law of Time and the Law of Life cut through Heavengod Transmigration’s shoulder, ripping the arm apart. It seemed that the arm was about to detach from the body when it wriggled and joined back to the shoulder. Then, an even more terrifying aura exploded out of his body!

Lord Dog, Er Ha, and the countless living beings in the Chaos Space were stunned at this moment and felt chills run down their spines.

The aura was exactly the same as the aura that had wreaked havoc in the Chaos Space many years ago! The chaos that had messed up the Chaos Space was about to happen again!

Chapter 1697: The Foxy Gatling Gun Is Online

A terrifying aura pervaded the sky.

All eyes were rested on Heavengod Transmigration. No, this guy could no longer be called Heavengod Transmigration, for he had given up the power of the Law of Transmigration and chosen the power of Soul Demons.

He had transformed into a monster and acquired mighty power. However, in the eyes of others, the price was too huge.

His former subordinates were confused and filled with indignation. They never thought that he would make such a decision. For a moment, they were all disheartened. When they recalled what he had done, they felt their hands were stained with sin and blood.

Heavengod Transmigration's laughter echoed through the air. Lord Dog and Er Ha kept attacking him. However, perhaps because he had merged with the power, he had become much stronger.

He punched again and again, almost knocking Lord Dog and Er Ha flying away. Everyone was surprised by his strength.

After losing the power of the Law of Transmigration, no other power could repel the power of Soul Demons, so his strength had become even more terrifying. He had almost turned into a Great Soul Overlord.

Rumble!

Many places in the Chaos Space were shattered, and experts fell off in the distance. The faces of Lord Dog and Er Ha were grave, while Bu Fang watched with his hands clasped behind him, frowning.

The battle continued, and it was a messy fight. The experts in the Chaos Space could not stand Heavengod Transmigration, who had abandoned the Law of Transmigration, so they surrounded him and kept attacking him. His former minions also turned into his foes.

For a moment, heaven and earth were shaken by the power of countless Laws. However, even though Heavengod Transmigration was enveloped by so many attacks, he remained calm. He felt that he had touched another level, and these people could not even break his defense.

Lord Dog was still fighting, while Er Ha landed at Bu Fang's side, panting for breath. "Bu Fang young man... This fellow's skin is too hard!" he said with a grave look in his eyes.

"The power in the Soul Demon arm had merged with Heavengod Transmigration. Although the fusion is not complete yet, he's already very strong... All Soul Demons have hard skin and are very difficult to defeat," Bu Fang said.

He looked up at Heavengod Transmigration, who was fighting all the experts alone in the sky, and thought that the fellow had made a right bet. After giving up the power of the Law of Transmigration, he had obtained stronger power.

Heavengod Transmigration narrowed his eyes as he felt the power spread out of his arm. Suddenly, he reached out a hand and clutched the throat of a God Emperor. Then, he opened his mouth and sank his pointy teeth into the poor fellow's skin. Blood spilled with an eerie shriek.

Everyone went mad and panicked. Heavengod Transmigration was assimilated by the Soul Demon, and he was now a Soul Demon!

“So delicious... I'm so hungry!” Heavengod Transmigration's eyes were scarlet. He began to move at high speed in the sky, crushing or killing a God King or a God Emperor with each trick and move.

Suddenly, Lord Dog moved. He slapped Heavengod Transmigration with his paw and knocked him flying away, falling into the chaos. A rumbling sound echoed out, and the entire chaos seemed to tremble violently.

It was that palm that smashed the Temples of Heavengods back then, and now it emanated the aura of Soul Demons. This meant that the Soul Demons already had their eyes on the Chaotic Universe many years ago. This was not good news for Lord Dog and the other Heavengods.

Huge chains of time slithered down and tied Heavengod Transmigration's body to the ground. Lord Dog planned to suppress and seal him up, but... he failed.

In the blink of an eye, the chains were broken, and Heavengod Transmigration soared into the sky again. He looked less and less like a human.

Bu Fang stopped watching. He had to prepare to make a move as well because he had a feeling that Heavengod Transmigration was about to flee; the latter might want to tear the barrier and flee the Chaos Space. What had once been his pride was now a means of restraining him.

If he really fled the Chaos Space, he would be free to go anywhere, and it would be extremely difficult to capture him again. And when he completely restored the arm's power, he would definitely bring them an unmatched terror and calamity!

The terror was beyond the imagination of the average person. When a modern-day Heavengod fled and hid in a secret place, no one would be able to find him, unless he wanted to be found. So, Bu Fang felt that he could not let him escape.

In fact, Bu Fang also had his eyes on the arm. Since it could give Heavengod Transmigration such a fearsome strength, it might not be just the arm of a Great Soul Overlord. It could even be the arm of... the legendary Soul God!

He heard that the Soul God was full of malice for him, so Bu Fang naturally did not mind to grill the arm as if it was a pork knuckle! Of course, before he could do that, he had to defeat Heavengod Transmigration first.

Bu Fang might find that difficult to achieve if Heavengod Transmigration had not changed. However, he always had a natural advantage when facing Soul Demons. Perhaps even Heavengod Transmigration did not expect that.

“You go first. I’ll be right there,” Bu Fang said, glancing at Er Ha.

Er Ha gave him a quizzical look, then rushed into the sky and fought Heavengod Transmigration.

Bu Fang took out the body of Pride Great Soul Overlord. A buzzing sound filled the air as the Dragon Bone Kitchen Knife appeared. Narrowing his eyes, he grabbed the handle and ran the blade across the body, removing all the bones.

Foxy and Shrimpy sat on his shoulders and watched curiously.

When he had removed all the bones, he placed the body on the White Tiger Heaven Stove and shook his hand. The kitchen knife spun before arcing across the air, slashing down. A burst of chopping sounds echoed out, and the blade moved so fast it almost vanished.

Bu Fang’s arm seemed to turn into a thousand arms in a flash. With every slash, he cut the Soul Overlord’s body into pieces. It was as if he was chopping beef.

When the body had turned into a heap of minced meat, he held the kitchen knife horizontally, pushed its sharp edge under the meat, lifted it up, and slapped it back onto the stove. Then, he continued to mince the meat.

Foxy squeaked. She wondered what Bu Fang was going to cook.

“Your favorite,” Bu Fang glanced at her with the corners of his mouth lifted slightly. He was making meatballs. However, he did not use beef this time. He was going to let Foxy shoot to her heart’s content.

Bu Fang’s eyes glowed with anticipation, and so did Foxy. Shrimpy was spitting bubbles, looking somewhat confused.

Bu Fang’s movements were extremely fast and smooth. Even though this was Soul Demon meat, he was able to capture the energy flow in it easily and used it in a reasonable way.

Soon, the Soul Overlord’s body was processed into a large heap of minced meat by Bu Fang. The size of each piece of meat was uniform, and the energy distribution was balanced as well.

He washed his hands with the Spring of Life, then began to knead the minced meat. Within a short work, he had made many small, round Soul Overlord balls.

Foxy kept jumping on Bu Fang’s shoulder, and her two little paws were also kneading in front of her chest, following Bu Fang’s rhythms.

Soon, a large blue-and-white porcelain bowl was filled to the brim with Soul Overlord balls, each containing a tremendous amount of energy. Even though they had not been cooked, they were already extremely terrifying.

Bu Fang rubbed his fingers. A crimson flame rose from them, burning in his palm. With a flick of his finger, the flame jumped into the Black Turtle Constellation Wok.

The water in the wok soon came to a boil. He hesitated for a while, then threw all the Soul Overlord balls into it. Using the Qilin Transmigration Ladle, he stirred them slowly.

The meatballs in the wok were milky white, with glittering energy flowing over them. When Bu Fang scooped them out, they soared into the air, looking like transparent glass beads and glowing brilliantly.

He baked the meatballs with the crimson divine flame, evaporating all the water in them. Then, he poured the oil he had meticulously concocted using the grease extracted from a kind of God-King-level spirit beast into the wok. Finally, he added the meatballs into the oil.

The oil immediately began to sizzle and churn, bubbling.

Meatballs were Foxy's favorite. She was so excited that she hugged Bu Fang's head tightly, her tails wagging. Her little eyes were filled with joy, and her mouth opened with drool dripping out of it.

Her greedy look made Bu Fang want to smile. Indeed, the aroma of the meatballs in the oil was delicious. It was quite similar to when an egg was just added into a wok and began to fry. The fragrance would always rush into your nostrils and seem to flow in your veins.

Bu Fang focused his eyes and raised his hand. The power of the Law kept gathering around it. To increase the power of the Soul Demon balls, the Law of Destruction was the obvious choice.

He fused it into the meatballs together with the Explode Gourmet Array, causing them to be filled with terrifying explosive energy. He had to handle them carefully now, for a careless mistake could make them explode. Of course, they were extremely delicious as well.

"Foxy, open your mouth," Bu Fang said.

The little fox's eyes lit up. She jumped into the air, stroked with her front paws as if she was swimming, and quickly came in front of Bu Fang, blinking at him.

The corners of Bu Fang's mouth lifted slightly. With a flick of his finger, the oil in the wok burst, and one Soul Demon ball after another shot out of it.

Foxy was ready. The meatballs went into her mouth continuously, and she kept swallowing them. Her eyes brightened with every meatball she ate. In the end, even her fur had turned crimson as the Heavengod blood boiled inside her.

When the last meatball shot out of the wok, spinning, Foxy swooped down and swallowed it. After that, she fell into Bu Fang's arms, narrowed her eyes, and rubbed her head against his chest.

"What a gluttonous little fellow... I can't believe you really ate all the meatballs..."

Bu Fang was somewhat speechless. That was the body of a Great Soul Overlord, yet it was devoured by this little fellow! Shrimpy, perched on his shoulder, glanced at Foxy and rolled its eyes in disdain.

Rumble!

In the distant sky, Lord Dog and Er Ha locked Heavengod Transmigration in a fierce battle. The latter was using the power of sin now, causing half of the sky in the Chaos Space to turn black.

He roared, then his arm swelled up abruptly and knocked both Lord Dog and Er Ha away.

Bam! Bam!

The ground kept crumbling as Lord Dog crashed into it. Er Ha, on the other hand, hit the ground, bounced back, then fell again and rolled a few times.

The expressions of all the people in the Chaos Space changed. Couldn't even the two modern-day Heavengods stop this treacherous Heavengod Transmigration? What should they do now?

If they allowed this fellow to escape, the secret of the Chaos Space would be fully exposed in front of the Soul Demons, and it would be a disaster to the entire Chaotic Universe.

Once Heavengod Transmigration returned with an army of Soul Demons, the Chaotic Universe would be powerless to resist!

Heavengod Transmigration's body was falling apart. This was the backlash from fusing with the arm. However, he was very excited. Panting, he raised the Soul Demon arm and waved it, forcefully tearing an opening in the stable void. He squinted at the opening and could not wait to step into it.

"Wait for me... The throne of the Lord of the Chaos Space belongs to me. The day when I return will be the day of your doom! I'll be back!" he said solemnly.

He was stepping into the crack in the void when suddenly, an indifferent voice rang out, "Hey... Did I say you can leave?"

Heavengod Transmigration paused, while all the people around him lifted their heads and looked over.

Bu Fang's face was indifferent as he held Foxy. The little fox's cheeks bulged, her eyes widened, and her little tails wagged from side to side. Both her hind legs were held in his hand, while her belly rested on the other hand. She stretched her front paws straight as if she was going to fly.

"A half-baked modern-day Heavengod like you also wants to stop me? Ridiculous!" Heavengod Transmigration sneered, then turned to step into the void and leave.

Suddenly, Bu Fang shook his head. "It seems I was underestimated. This is so annoying..." he said in an indifferent voice. After that, he lifted a palm and lightly slapped Foxy on her buttock.

The little fox's eyes widened in an instant. "Ah... Da Da Da Da Da Da Da Da Da..."

Chapter 1698: Stop, My Pork Knuckle!

'What is this guy trying to do?'

Heavengod Transmigration paused. He never took Bu Fang seriously. He could not kill Bu Fang now, but he did not think a half-baked Heavengod could pose him any threat.

What puzzled him was that this half-baked Heavengod dared to stand up right now, pointing a little fox at him. 'Does he think he can make me stay like this?! How naive!'

He sneered, waved the Soul Demon arm, shattered the void, and pushed half of his body into the crack. Dreadful energy with incredible destructive power filled the crack, but when it lashed at him, he only felt as if someone was scratching at his skin.

Suddenly, he raised his eyes slightly, looked into the distance, and saw the stinking chef give the little fox a slap on the buttock...

"Ah... Da Da Da Da..."

The fox's mouth opened immediately, and then one golden meatball after another shot out of it.

'What the heck? Meatballs?!' Heavengod Transmigration looked confused. 'So... Is this chef trying to kill me with a bunch of meatballs? He wants to kill a Heavengod with meatballs? How could he come up with such a stupid idea?'

The surrounding people were somewhat speechless when they found out that Bu Fang was trying to use the meatballs spat out by the fox to intercept Heavengod Transmigration, who even Heavengod Time could not stop.

"Is he an idiot?!"

"Did he take Heavengod Transmigration for a fool?"

"At any rate, Heavengod Transmigration is a respectable figure. He should at least show him some respect..."

The air was filled with shrill whistling sounds as the harmless-looking meatballs flew across the sky at a great speed, causing energy ripples to spread.

With half of his body hanging in midair, Heavengod Transmigration sneered, lifted his hand, and slapped his palm at the meatballs. "Save these for yourself!" he said. He did not sense any threat in them.

With the slap, energy waves poured forth. However, the meatballs were too fast. Before he could stop them, they tore the energy and struck his palm. That stunned him and all the people around him.

"Kill him, Foxy! Avenge your brother Er Ha!" Down below, Er Ha jumped to his feet, put his hands on his hips, and burst out laughing.

Lord Dog was also quite excited. Under normal circumstances, it was impossible for Bu Fang to let Foxy attack. He knew very well that the power of beef meatballs could not defeat Heavengod Transmigration. But... those were not beef meatballs!

Yes, the moment Lord Dog and Er Ha saw those meatballs, they knew they were not beef!

Boom!

There was an explosion, just as they expected. The whole Chaos Space seemed to shake at that moment, while blinding light dazzled all eyes. Everyone was stunned, confused. They could not believe the power of these meatballs was so terrifying!

Foxy was still shooting. She had devoured all the meatballs made with the body of a Great Soul Overlord. Even she did not know how many meatballs she had accumulated.

They kept shooting out of her mouth, each seemingly shattering the void. Destructive energy waves spread in all directions, which contained the aura of Soul Demons, while a rich meaty aroma enveloped the entire Chaos Space.

“It smells delicious!”

“This... What is this smell? Why does it smell so good? My mouth is watering!”

“Do meatballs smell so good?”

For all the Gods in the Chaos Space, the air was filled with a delicious fragrance, but for Heavengod Transmigration, what he was smelling was a foul stench. The stench that enveloped him made him feel suffocated and almost drove him mad!

“It stinks!”

Heavengod Transmigration was fuming. His stomach was cramping, churning as if everything inside was about to rush out. The uncomfortable feeling upset him. Even his pores seemed to be inhaling the stench. It was so foul that he felt like dying!

“He’s a chef! Why did he cook something as stinky as shit?!”

When he saw the intoxicated faces of the people down below, he thought he was seeing things. He simply had no idea what the aroma of food meant to Soul Demons.

Suddenly, a meatball shot into his mouth. His eyes widened in an instant. The next moment, a loud boom rang out, and a tremendous amount of energy erupted, knocking him flying backward and pulling him out of the crack in the void.

The void kept crumbling. The explosion had wounded him. He was now covered in blood and no longer looked as high-spirited and vigorous as before.

Heavengod Transmigration felt that he reeked of that disgusting stench. Just now, he did not think these meatballs would be too powerful, but he found that he was wrong as soon as they exploded.

“This is... the meat of a Great Soul Overlord!” He looked incredulously at Bu Fang, who was in the distance. Countless meatballs filled the air between them.

“You’re right. These meatballs are made with the meat of a Great Soul Overlord...” Bu Fang said.

In his arms, Foxy’s head kept moving up and down, and blinding light was spewing out of her mouth. He gave her a gentle slap, and she stopped shooting.

The little fox’s mouth parted slightly as wisps of hot steam rose from it. Her eyes were rolling—perhaps she had nodded too much that she felt a little dizzy. She waved her paws as if asking Bu Fang, “Is it over?”

Terrible explosions filled the sky in the distance, causing the void to crumble. Heavengod Transmigration was trapped in an energy vortex. In this situation, he could not travel through the void, for his body might be torn apart by the energy.

When the smoke cleared, Heavengod Transmigration looked miserable. His body was riddled with holes, and blood kept flowing out of them. The explosion of the Soul Demon meatballs had seriously injured him.

“Beautifully done, Foxy! I’ll treat you to spicy strips after this battle!” Er Ha’s eyes lit up.

Foxy burped when she heard that, exhaling a puff of white smoke.

Suddenly, Heavengod Transmigration took a step and sped toward the distance.

Bu Fang focused his eyes and gave Foxy's buttock another gentle slap. "Let's continue, and don't stop this time," he said.

Foxy burped again. After resting for a while, she resumed her rapid firing.

Bu Fang stood in midair and kept a distance from Heavengod Transmigration. He made Foxy keep shooting. Every meatball exploded on Heavengod Transmigration's body, making him scurry here and there like a frightened rat.

Heavengod Transmigration's heart was filled with hatred. He had fused with the arm and had obtained unparalleled strength. He felt he was about to become an invincible being and the Lord of the Chaos Space. But... why would he be chased by the meatballs shot out by a fox?!

Suddenly, a meatball broke through his defense, sank deep into his muscles, and exploded. He howled. The aroma flowed inside him, making him kneel in midair and begin to vomit.

Then, more meatballs sank into his muscles and exploded. Soon, the Soul Demon arm, which had merged with him and could not be ripped apart from him by Lord Dog and Er Ha, was broken by the explosion of the few meatballs.

Heavengod Transmigration howled miserably. All the people down below did not know what to say when they saw that.

Suddenly, the broken arm seemed to turn sentient. It spun and slapped Heavengod Transmigration. A terrified look came over his face as his body was shattered by the palm, breaking into countless pieces.

A twisting soul rose from the broken body. The next moment, a powerful suction erupted from the arm and pulled Heavengod Transmigration's soul into it.

All the people fell silent as they watched. Heavengod Transmigration had perfectly demonstrated the consequences of colluding with Soul Demons. The arm had turned back against him and killed him with a slap.

Bu Fang closed Foxy's mouth. The little fox's big eyes rolled as she looked into the distance. Heavengod Transmigration had disappeared, and what was left in the distant sky was the arm, which gave her an unprecedented sense of crisis.

Lord Dog soared into the sky, while Er Ha sped over from the distance, landed at Bu Fang's side, and stared at the arm with a grave look on his face.

"Is it over?" Er Ha asked.

"No... It's just getting started," Lord Dog said. His expression grew graver as well. The psychological shadow the arm gave him had not yet vanished.

The arm hovered in midair. The broken void kept grinding at it but failed to hurt it. After absorbing Heavengod Transmigration's soul, it seemed to have come back to life.

Suddenly, the arm rose. That made Bu Fang, Lord Dog, and the others all tense up. The next moment, cracks began to appear across it, then they expanded and turned into countless scarlet eyes, each emanating a savage aura.

Finally, a large eye appeared in the palm of the arm, staring coldly at Bu Fang. The way it looked at him made him stop breathing for a few moments.

Foxy, frightened by the eye, burped. She seemed to think that it was not right to burp in such a serious atmosphere, so she hurriedly covered her mouth with her tiny paws.

"That look..." Bu Fang was shocked, and he felt his blood was flowing faster and faster.

Just when the crowd thought the arm was about to do something, it tore the void and fled. Everyone was stunned, while Bu Fang twitched the corner of his mouth.

"Stop! My pork knuckle!" Bu Fang cried out. The Law of Space swirled around him as he ripped the void and appeared in front of the arm in an instant.

"Pork knuckle?" All the people in the Chaos Space were confused. Then, they realized that Bu Fang had had his eyes on the Soul Demon arm.

“Does he regard the Soul Demon arm as a food ingredient? He’s indeed a chef... The way he looks at his enemy is always so... unique.”

The arm tore the void, bolted into it, and vanished in a flash. Gradually, the void healed. The only thing that was left was Heavengod Transmigration’s broken body.

Lord Dog and Er Ha flew over. Looking at the healing void, they were speechless.

“It... escaped.” Er Ha smacked his lips. “Is Heavengod Transmigration dead?”

“No... Although he was devoured, my intuition told me that he’s still alive...” Lord Dog said. It was not that easy for a modern-day Heavengod to be killed.

“But don’t worry. The void he tore open did not lead to the Chaotic Universe. It should be connected to another universe...” Lord Dog added.

“It doesn’t lead to the Soul Demon Universe either,” Bu Fang said. He did not sense the aura of the Soul Demon Universe. He had once sealed the cosmic portals, so he was very familiar with the aura.

Lord Dog nodded. They were sensing the aura that floated around the spot where the arm had vanished.

“This aura...” Lord Dog said thoughtfully. “It felt like that place to me...”

Bu Fang gave Lord Dog a quizzical look. It seemed that Lord Dog knew where the arm had gone to. The last look the arm gave him still filled him with dread. He thought he could not let the arm grow in the dark.

“Where is that place?” Bu Fang asked.

Lord Dog’s fat jiggled as he glanced at Bu Fang and grinned. “It is a place abandoned by the world called Void City.”

Chapter 1699: The Rice of Redemption

“Void City?”

Lord Dog’s words startled Bu Fang slightly, and he frowned. He knew the name. It was the city where the noble lady who took Nethery away came from.

He never thought he would hear it from Lord Dog. “How much do you know about this city, Lord Dog?” he asked, taking a deep breath.

“You mean Void City?” Lord Dog paused. He was surprised that Bu Fang would be interested in this place. “I don’t know much about it. It is a forbidden and powerful place. Since ancient times, many ancient Heavengods and even modern-day Gods were banished to this city, and they remain there to these days,” he said.

“There should be records about Void City in the Temple of Heavengod Space. Find the temple, and you will learn more about it. Besides, if you want to go to that city, you need the temple’s help.

“The Temple of Heavengod Space has the most complete and detailed map of the universes.”

Bu Fang fell silent.

Er Ha leaned over and said, “Bu Fang young man, why do you want to go there? That is not a fun place.”

“Nethery is taken away, and the lady said she’s from Void City,” Bu Fang said, his face expressionless. He had not told Lord Dog and Er Ha about this, and their pupils constricted as soon as they heard that.

“The Cursed Goddess... Void City... Is Nethery chosen by the Queen of Curses?” Lord Dog sighed. If that was the case, things would be tricky to handle. The relationship between Void City and the Chaotic Universe was not good.

However, they did not think too much. They descended and landed on the ground.

The surroundings had turned into ruins. The Temple of Heavengod Life, however, had fully restored, thanks to Lord Dog's Law of Time.

Lord Dog's gaze swept around. All the ancient Heavengods, God Kings, and God Emperors lowered their heads guiltily as his eyes met theirs.

Heavengod Transmigration had abandoned them and even destroyed their admiration for him. Now, these Heavengods chose to unreservedly submit to Heavengod Time.

What came next was simple. Under the pressure of Lord Dog's aura, all ancient clans bowed their heads. If truth be told, they were overjoyed to submit to Heavengod Time.

This was not the end, of course. These experts of the ancient clans needed to atone for the sins they had committed in the past.

Lord Dog, as Heavengod Time, could easily see every major event of the Chaos Space in history by looking into the river of time. The experts of the ancient clans shivered, for they knew that their sins would soon be discovered by Heavengod Time.

Lord Dog cast his gaze into the river of time. The more he looked, the more his face grew uglier! "You bastards!" He snorted coldly, and a terrible aura spread from him.

The group of God Kings and God Emperors shuddered. A fuming Heavengod was a dreadful being, and what he would do to them was even more terrifying.

As for how Lord Dog would punish them, Bu Fang did not know. It had nothing to do with him. In any case, he could clearly feel Lord Dog's anger.

Many experts of the ancient clans who had committed the most heinous crimes were sent into the jails in the Chaos Space by Lord Dog. Once Heavengod Space returned, they would be banished to Void City.

Some experts who had committed monstrous crimes were instantly wiped out by Lord Dog. The Law of Time fell over them. Tortured by the endless time, these experts decayed and rotted away.

...

With the recovery of Lord Dog's cultivation base, the Temple of Heavengod Time gradually restored to its original appearance. It was not as magnificent as the Temple of Heavengod Transmigration, but it was still a grand building.

As the number one spokesperson for Lord Dog, Yun Tianyi's status had soared to a great height in the Chaos Space. The mighty experts of many ancient clans did not dare to offend her.

The punishment of Heavengod Time had completely purged the sins in the Chaos Space, and the foul atmosphere that pervaded the air seemed to clear away. The Gods who lived here cheered for the changes.

Now that order was restored, Lord Dog and the others had more important matters to solve.

In the depths of the Temple of Heavengod Time, a round stone table was placed. It was surrounded by figures now. The table was huge, and the figures that surrounded it were all the top experts in the Chaos Space, including Lord Dog, Yun Tianyi, Er Ha, Bu Fang, and several ancient Heavengods of some powerful ancient clans.

They sat around the table with serious faces, discussing matters including the recovery of the other Heavengods.

"Heavengod Transmigration had betrayed us and fled. He had given up the Transmigration, so we now have one extra Causality Throne. Since there is no new Heavengod who can inherit it... Bu Fang will temporarily hold it," Lord Dog said, gazing at everyone.

As Heavengod Time, his aura was mighty, and it spread across the whole place.

No one dared to say anything. Bu Fang was a Heavengod who had comprehended the five supreme Laws, which included the Law of Transmigration. Therefore, nobody objected to that.

Bu Fang had wanted to refuse it. He just wanted to cook and not become Heavengod Transmigration. This was not his cup of tea. However, Lord Dog told him in a serious manner that the Transmigration was crucial to the Chaos Space.

Heavengod Transmigration managed the cycle of life and death of the entire Chaotic Universe. It would be fine if the Causality Throne was left empty for a short time, for the Transmigration could adjust itself. But once it was vacant for too long, the Transmigration would collapse.

Once that happened, countless souls would wander the universe and turn into cosmic energy. This would lead to the constant reduction of lives in the universe. Therefore, the Causality Throne of Transmigration could not be left vacant.

Bu Fang reluctantly accepted it. But he told them that once they found a suitable candidate, he would immediately give up the throne.

Lord Dog nodded and agreed to that. Then came the time to vote. Unsurprisingly, everyone voted for Bu Fang. Just like that, he became the supreme... Heavengod Transmigration.

Apart from this topic, they also discussed the recovery of Heavengod Space and Heavengod Destruction.

No one knew where they were. When they were sent into the Transmigration, Heavengod Transmigration had sealed their memory. Their strength was weaker than that of Heavengod Time, and their life force was not as insane as that of Heavengod Life. Therefore, no one had any clues to their whereabouts.

Lord Dog had returned, and he wanted the Chaos Space to return to its former glory. So, he had to find the other two Heavengods. But it was no easy task to find them. After they were reincarnated, they might be a blade of grass or a rock.

Even if they were reincarnated as humans, to find them among the countless people in millions of small worlds across the Chaotic Universe was no different than finding a needle in a great ocean.

“I think they might be just around us...” Er Ha said with a spicy strip dangling from his lips. “Think about this. Even reincarnated, Heavengods should still attract each other. Just look at Lord Dog and me... We are so deeply attached to each other.”

Lord Dog rolled his eyes. “Who said we are deeply attached to each other?” Regardless, what Er Ha said got him to think. Then, he narrowed his eyes, which seemed to flash as he glanced at the snoozing Bu Fang, as well as Foxy and Shrimpy who sat on his shoulders.

If the two Heavengods had reincarnated into someone they knew, would they be related to Bu Fang? Whether it was Lord Dog or Er Ha, they both had an inseparable bond with him.

They could make Bu Fang the starting point to tackle the matter. The two Heavengods were lost in thoughts. Yun Tianyi and the experts of the ancient clans all nodded in agreement, their hands touching their chins. Their intuition told them that the two Heavengods were right.

Bu Fang woke up with a start and felt a chill run down his back. “Why are you all looking at me like that?” He glanced at everyone with an expressionless face.

“Hehehe...” Er Ha grinned, rubbing his hands.

Bu Fang narrowed his eyes. “I don’t like that obscene smile. Don’t ask me for spicy strips for one year.”

Er Ha was dumbstruck.

Lord Dog told him about their analysis. Bu Fang was doubtful. Could that be real? He only had Foxy, Shrimpy, and Whitey with him now. Whitey was a product of the System, so it could not be a Heavengod. That left them with Foxy and Shrimpy. Could these two little ones be... Heavengods?

The meeting was soon over—many things in the Chaos Space needed to be fixed. Foxy and Shrimpy were made to stay by Lord Dog. He wanted to study if these two little ones were the reincarnations of the Heavengods. As for Bu Fang, he went to the Temple of Heavengod Transmigration, led by Yun Tianyi.

Bu Fang had the Law of Transmigration, so he quickly took control of the temple. As he walked inside, he could not help but sigh with emotion. Heavengod Transmigration had lived a good life for countless years.

Yun Tianyi introduced every part of the temple to him. When he opened the treasure pavilion, he saw mountains of shining treasures, all of which were rare and precious. Inside the divine herbs pavilion, a myriad of sentient divine herbs was flying back and forth. The pills pavilion, the library, and all the precious treasures of Heavengod Transmigration were now his.

“Why is there no food ingredients pavilion?” Bu Fang twitched his lips.

Yun Tianyi did not know how to answer. Heavengod Transmigration was not a chef, so why would he need a food ingredients pavilion?

They opened up the underground palace. The tapping sound Yun Tianyi's heels made as they contacted the ground echoed in the empty air. A strong smell of blood greeted them, and they both frowned at the same time.

Bu Fang snapped his fingers. A divine flame emerged, illuminating the whole underground palace and revealing everything. They paused.

In front of them was a huge pool of blood. Broken chains, souls, and bones of Heavengods and Gods floated inside. It was like a jail that trapped all the souls. Countless souls knelt along the edge of the pool, crying soundlessly at Bu Fang and Yun Tianyi.

"How could he do this..." Yun Tianyi's eyes were red. She sensed many bones and blood of Heavengods from the Yun Clan. Back then, the Yun Clan was captured by Heavengod Transmigration, and many of her people were slaughtered.

Bu Fang sighed. The Law of Transmigration swept out and sent all those souls into the Transmigration. When they drifted into the Transmigration, these souls wept tears of joy. For a moment, the sound of weeping filled the underground palace.

Bu Fang was silent as he watched. Suddenly, the God of Cooking Sets emerged. Glass-like grains of rice fell over him, while different ingredients floated around him.

Inside the underground palace and facing the eerie pool of blood, Bu Fang began to cook. It was a heavy dish. At least, Bu Fang cooked it with a heavy heart.

The ingredients flew, and smoke and fire filled the air. Soon, porcelain bowls filled with rice glowing like crystals were pushed out, drifting across the void. The aroma pervaded the palace and seemed to turn into a peaceful tune. It was as if a supreme being was chanting sutras to clean the hatred in these souls.

"What is this..." Yun Tianyi pressed her lips together and asked Bu Fang with a heavy heart.

“This is the rice of redemption...” Bu Fang said as he gave each of the souls a bowl of rice that could clean the hatred in them before sending them into the Transmigration.

The drifting souls were surrounded by the aroma. They squatted before the bowls and ate with relish, their faces filled with intoxication.

The divine energy of these souls had been extracted by Heavengod Transmigration, and they were now shapeless souls. They no longer had the ability to affect reality, so they could only eat the essence of the rice of redemption but not the actual rice itself.

When they had eaten to their fill, Bu Fang unleashed the Law of Transmigration and opened up the Transmigration. One contented soul after another flew into the gray vortex.

Suddenly, Yun Tianyi’s eyes turned red. She lifted her hands and tried to touch the souls in front of her. The pair of souls, a man and a woman, seemed to smile at her.

Their hatred had been cleaned after eating the rice of redemption, and they would be reincarnated several years later after flying into the Transmigration.

“Thank you...” Yun Tianyi said to Bu Fang, wiping tears from the corners of her eyes. The pair of souls was her parents. They were deluded by hatred, but the rice had restored their sanity. They could now fly into the Transmigration with peace and would not be turned into ashes.

Bu Fang nodded in silence. Sometimes, he was amazed by the magical effect of delicious food. The rice of redemption he cooked with an impulse filled him with emotions.

After witnessing this scene, Bu Fang finally understood how miserable life was under the rule of Heavengod Transmigration.

That Heavengod Transmigration deserved a thousand deaths. Even though he had fled to Void City, Bu Fang would not spare him. He would avenge these poor souls.

They left the underground palace. Bu Fang stood at the center of the temple, and for the first time, he saw the Transmigration that belonged to Heavengod Transmigration.

The gray vortex that he saw once slowly unfolded in front of him like a beautiful painting, spinning in midair. A stream of mental force flowed out of his spirit sea and merged with it.

Suddenly, Bu Fang's pupils constricted. He saw a lot of things in just a flash...

Chapter 1700: One Hundred Years of Transmigration

One could see many things after merging with the Transmigration.

The Transmigration could be described as a huge cycle. When an individual died, the soul would enter it, then wander for countless years until the consciousness and memory disappear. The soul would be then sent into a fleshly body and turned into a new individual.

This was the Transmigration of the Chaotic Universe, the foundation of its endless life.

Bu Fang saw the lives of too many people. The Transmigration was not ruthless. Instead, it was like a huge collection of emotions. All kinds of emotions gathered in it, fermenting and brewing, as if they would explode one day.

He retreated from it and exhaled deeply. The Transmigration had filled him with emotions. It was as though his experience had become richer and deeper. It was not bad to peer into the Transmigration, so Bu Fang began to do that with relish.

...

The two little ones, Foxy and Shrimpy, stood in front of Lord Dog, who was pacing back and forth with his elegant cat-like steps, his tails wagging.

Before him, Foxy squatted on the ground, staring at him with her pure, innocent eyes that shone like gemstones. She did not seem to understand why he asked them to stay. Shrimpy, on the other hand, lay on the ground, spitting bubbles.

Lord Dog narrowed his eyes. Behind him, Er Ha stood in a relaxed posture, holding a spicy strip between his lips. The man and the dog seemed to be plotting something serious.

Foxy and Shrimpy were confused.

“Little fox, come here and sit down.” Lord Dog beckoned at Foxy with his paw.

Foxy did as she was told obediently because she knew that she could not offend this dog. Just the jiggling fat on his face already filled her with dread.

Buzz...

Lord Dog shook his paw. The power of a Law emerged—it was the Law of Space. Then, he lightly waved the paw, and the silver Law of Space immediately shot forward and swirled around Foxy.

Although he was Heavengod Time, he had also mastered the other supreme Laws. Of course, his comprehension of these Laws was not as strong as the other modern-day Heavengods, but he could still control the Law of Space.

It circled Foxy once. There was no reaction, and eventually, it disappeared.

Lord Dog narrowed his eyes. “Looks like she’s not...” He sighed. If Foxy was the reincarnation of Heavengod Space, she should be responsive to the Law of Space. But the cute look on her face told him that the Law had no affinity for her.

As for the Law of Destruction... Lord Dog thought it was even less likely for Foxy to be Heavengod Destruction. How could this cute little fellow be the reincarnation of that terrible man with huge muscles, who destroyed everything everywhere he went?

Lord Dog could not accept that.

He had tried the Law of Space on Shrimpy as well. However, it also did not give any response. Apart from spitting one extra bubble, nothing happened to it.

Reluctantly, Lord Dog let them go. The two little ones left the temple and flew excitedly in the Chaos Space.

“Arguably, the other two Heavengods are very likely to be related to Bu Fang... But if these two little ones are not them, who could they be? They could be anyone when even that idiot Er Ha is a Heavengod... This is so difficult to judge.”

Lord Dog scratched his head with his paw, pulling off a few strands of fur. As Heavengod Time, he still had many things to handle, so he naturally did not have time to entertain Shrimpy and Foxy.

But Lord Dog believed that the return of Heavengod Life and Heavengod Time was enough to influence the Chaos Space, and eventually trigger the return of the other two Heavengods. Only it would take some time to happen.

Since Heavengod Transmigration was considered dead, the Chaos Space no longer needed to stay closed, so Lord Dog and Er Ha used their Heavengod power and opened it.

A rumbling sound rang out immediately. At that moment, the entire Chaotic Universe began to shake. The three divine dynasties, numerous great worlds, and countless small worlds—as well as some nameless continents—could all feel the changes in heaven and earth.

The Great Path had become stronger. The energy between heaven and earth became richer, and more and more geniuses emerged like mushrooms after the rain...

Time passed. One day, the Xiayi Divine Dynasty woke by the deafening rumbles of thunder as another Heavengod Tribulation descended. The Divine Emperor stood towering between heaven and earth, transcending the tribulation with his mighty power.

This was his second time transcending the tribulation, and the lightning stretched for thirty thousand miles above the divine dynasty. With mighty divine power, he broke the heavenly lightning, ripped apart a passage, and rushed into the Chaos Space.

He had acquired the power of an ancient Heavengod. Later, he met Lord Dog and Er Ha in the divine dynasty. It never occurred to him that they were both modern-day Heavengods. The revelation shocked him, and he did not know what to say for a moment.

Meanwhile, the hidden geniuses and experts of the Chaotic Universe were beginning to break through as well.

Back then, the Chaos Space was closed, and heaven and earth were controlled by Heavengod Transmigration. Countless top God Emperors had failed to break through to the Heavengod realm and were wiped out.

So, many people with extraordinary talents had suppressed their cultivation base, waiting for the opportunity. And now, the opportunity had come.

One after another, those wandering top God Emperors rushed into the realm of ancient Heavengods. For a moment, the overall strength of the Chaotic Universe began to elevate. A flourishing age had descended.

Time passed, and the years went by. The higher one's cultivation base was, the more numb one became to the passage of time. One hundred years passed in the twinkling of an eye.

In the Chaos Space, the Temple of Heavengod Transmigration had acquired a completely new look. There was a little restaurant outside the temple, with a long line of people waiting in front of its door.

If anyone from elsewhere were here, they would be surprised to find that the people waiting outside the restaurant were all the top mighty experts with noble status in the Chaos Space. Among them were newly promoted Heavengods, top God Emperors, and even the chiefs of ancient clans.

And there was a fat black dog lying in front of the door of the restaurant. No one dared to step within three meters of the black dog. Not even Heavengods. Because the dog was the supreme overlord of the Chaos Space, Heavengod Time!

Of course, if that same person were to peer inside the restaurant, he would discover a handsome man, who was clad in a white robe with a spicy strip between his lips, boasting with a group of people. The man was none other than Heavengod Life, Er Ha.

The little restaurant had gathered the strongest beings in the entire Chaos Space, so no one would dare to cause trouble here. The atmosphere was extremely harmonious.

Ting-a-ling!

The kitchen's curtain was lifted. A lean figure walked out of it. He was holding a blue-and-white porcelain bowl, which contained rippling golden liquid. It was a bowl of soup called the 'Dragon Bone and Dark Phoenix Soup,' which was a very flavorful dish.

The chef was none other than Bu Fang, who had temporarily assumed the throne of Heavengod Transmigration.

After comprehending the Transmigration for one hundred years, his temperament had changed significantly. He had merged the comprehension he got from it into every dish he cooked, turning them extremely flavorful.

It was a hundred years of rapid precipitation for Bu Fang. Not only did his cultivation base improve greatly, but his temperament had also become much calmer. Before this, his cooking skill and strength had elevated too fast, and they might be a little unstable, but the hundred years of precipitation had vanished the worry.

Although Bu Fang was still at the level of a Saint of the Great Path, no one could tell his actual fighting prowess.

"Bu Fang young man, the renovation of the Temple of Heavengod Life has completed. Also, I've finally found the hidden recipe!" Er Ha raised his brows and said excitedly to Bu Fang.

Bu Fang set the dish in his hand down on a table. The golden soup swayed and spilled a little, filling the air with a rich aroma.

"Oh." He nodded, wiped his hands with a clean square of cloth. "Give me the recipe. Once I've cooked the dish, you can come here and take it," he said."

Er Ha grimaced immediately. "Can you come to my temple?"

Bu Fang glanced at him.

"I can't take that recipe out of the temple. I'll prepare the best kitchen for you... the best cooking environment!" Er Ha said solemnly.

Bu Fang rolled his eyes. All the same, he closed the business for the day. After talking for a while to the regular customers in the restaurant, he left with Er Ha.

He had cooked the dish in Lord Dog's recipe a hundred years ago. That time, the dish had perfected Lord Dog's foundation, restored his cultivation base to the level of a Chaotic Saint, and made him the strongest being in today's Chaos Space.

And now, Er Ha finally found his recipe. Bu Fang was somewhat speechless. He could not understand why the fellow had to spend a hundred years to find a recipe.

They arrived at the Temple of Heavengod Life, which was richly decorated by Er Ha. All kinds of flashy decorations covered the once simple building.

Lord Dog once told Bu Fang that countless years ago, Heavengod Life was an upright and unsmiling handsome man. But for some reason they did not know, he had become so idiotic after being reincarnated.

Bu Fang carefully took the golden recipe from Er Ha. Looking at it, he felt his eyes light up. A terrible aura began to tumble in his spirit sea. The golden recipe seemed to illuminate his spirit sea, turning it as bright as day.

He had a feeling that if he could help the five Heavengods cook the dishes in their recipes, he might level up. The System, after upgrading, did not provide him any hint of breaking through his cultivation base.

In fact, at his level, there was not much the System could do to help him. He had to explore the way by himself, and he had an intuition that he could make the breakthrough by helping the Heavengods cook the dishes in their recipes.

Bu Fang had searched the Temple of Heavengod Transmigration, but he could not find the recipe. He thought perhaps he could only find it after a new Heavengod Transmigration appeared.

He memorized the content of the golden recipe. After that, he felt that countless ingredients were flying in his head. The dish in the golden recipe was not an ordinary dish, so the ingredients were not easy to find. It would be very difficult to cook it successfully in one go. Naturally, he needed to take it slowly.

So, in the following days, Bu Fang stayed in the Temple of Heavengod Life. He began to simulate the cooking at a steady pace. Er Ha, on the other hand, walked back and forth in front of the door, impatient. After all, the dish would affect his lifelong happiness!

A few years later, Bu Fang completed the simulation. He clasped his hands behind his back and left the temple with Whitey, Foxy, and Shrimpy, traveling in the Chaos Space and the Chaotic Universe to search for the ingredients.

Er Ha knew that it was pointless for him to be nervous, so he just stood outside of his temple, waiting for Bu Fang's return.

Finally, Bu Fang returned, and he began cooking the dish immediately. A rumbling sound echoed through the air as lightning gathered over the temple. The whole Chaos Space was shaken.

Lord Dog, the ancient Heavengods, and the experts of the ancient clans all gathered around the Temple of Heavengod Life. The changes in heaven and earth had attracted their attention.

At last, with a deafening rumble, shafts of golden light and a tremendous amount of energy burst out of the temple. The dish that Er Ha had been waiting for was finally ready.

The stone door in the temple opened with a crash, and Bu Fang walked slowly out of it. All eyes turned and rested on him. He held out his hand, and a golden spicy strip floated over his palm.

This... Was this the dish cooked according to the golden recipe? The crowd was stunned, then an uproar broke out.

The moment Bu Fang completed the dish, a deafening rumble rang out in the boundless Chaos Space, and plumes of smoke and dust rose into the sky.

Someone was terrified to find that a ruined temple was slowly rising from the ground in the Chaos Space. Lord Dog appeared over this temple in a flash. He looked astounded as he rested his eyes on it.

“The Temple of Heavengod Space? Heavengod Space hasn't returned yet... Why did this temple appear first?”