

Guardian 131

Chapter 131 Ten Thousand People Deployed for Arrests

Following the scream, two thousand people in the hall switched their attention to the big screen on stage. The screen was switched back to the Golden Edge construction site.

It was still live but the workers with the congratulatory banner were gone.

Loud sirens could be heard from the site.

Then police cruisers entered the frame, followed by multiple green armored cars.

Common police officers and riot police officers came down from the cruisers.

The green armored vehicles unloaded a battalion of fully-armed soldiers. They were equipped with live rounds and were ready to take out their targets.

“Arrest them all!”

The captain of the operation gave the signal.

The police officers and soldiers charged into the construction site

In less than a minute, more than a hundred gangsters were arrested.

Some gangsters were bleeding and bruised, and they were dragged across the ground like ragdolls. They were thrown into the armored vehicles mercilessly.

Bob, one of the board members, was horrified when he saw the scene.

He stomped his foot and shouted, "They are my men! Why are they being arrested? Who gave the order to arrest my men?" No one answered him as everyone was still captivated by the screen.

The captain of the operation then went up to the camera and saluted.

"Commander, Lilyrose Anti-Riot Police Squad together with Special Operation Team C1 had completed the operation at Golden Edge construction site.

"Over the past two days, the gangsters have been causing trouble at the construction site. They forced the workers to purchase construction materials at an exorbitant price from an organization run by gangsters alike. We have arrested 105 suspects in this operation and we will be bringing them back."

After the report, the captain saluted again before he cleared out his men from the scene.

They came and went like the wind and the entire operation lasted less than two minutes.

Everyone stiffly turned around to the chief of police, Don Braders.

Don looked at Bob on stage and asked, "You asked who ordered to arrest your men right? Well, you have the answer. I gave the order. Is that enough?"

Many of the guests were shocked.

Then, Shin said, “And me. The commander of the Tiger Fangs gave orders to the Strategic Department to arrest some criminals. Do I need your permission for that?”

Bob's face turned pale.

The others gasped in shock as well.

Before they could figure out why, the screen had switched to the next construction site.

The same operation was being carried out. The riot police and soldiers arrested the gangsters in a flash and went off. The same happened with the third, the fourth, and so on.

After some time later, all the construction sites that held congratulatory banners to congratulate Roger were all cleared out.

The visuals on the screen started to get repetitive but the arrest was still going on.

Many of the gangster bosses had turned pale as they watched.

The operation had begun for some time now and none of the gangster bosses got a call from their men. The men that they sent to various construction sites were marked down. When they were arrested, they did not even get the chance to call their boss.

The gangster bosses simply watched as their men got arrested.

Almost two thousand people in the hall were stunned.

More than a hundred construction sites and countless gangsters were arrested.

They wondered how many men the police force and the Tiger Fangs had been deployed to carry out the operation. No one was able to give an accurate number.

Then, the screen showed the vice chief of police, Norman Henner, saluting at the camera and saying, "Commander, the cooperation between the Anti-Riot Police Squad and Special Operation Team C1 has been completed.

"The police force and the Tiger Fangs had mobilized 10,500 officers and soldiers to carry out the operation across 109 construction sites.

Chapter 132 Fallout Everything went dead silent. Underneath everyone's mortified look was their hearts pounding anxiously.

The numbers that the vice police chief provided were like three heavy attacks that landed on everyone's heart, inflicting critical damage.

More than 2,300 gangsters were arrested and they were the men of the fifteen board members of the society. The gangsters were scattered across 109 construction sites yet they were all arrested in less than five minutes. The police force and the Tiger Fangs mobilized more than ten thousand men for the operation.

An operation with ten thousand police officers and soldiers! It had never happened before in the history of Lilyrose. The most surprising thing was that no one got news on it or foresaw it coming.

Roger's blank look said it all. Even after all the gangsters were arrested, he still had no idea how it happened. "Why? Why did you arrest them?"

Roger looked in Don and Shin's direction with a blank look, murmuring.

The fifteen gangster bosses and their men were the foundation of his status.

With them, the Construction and Material Society was able to defeat Perfect World Group.

With them, he, Roger Hilfinger, became the underworld king.

With them, the Hilfinger family could become a top family.

Now, all the gangsters had been arrested, and it was the chief police and the brigadier general's order.

Roger was thrilled to welcome them to the ceremony. He thought they came to support him but it turned out different than his expectation.

They organized a cooperation and arrested all his men right under his nose, yet he had no idea that it happened. It was absolutely ironic.

Kelly, Jessica, Haiden, Wayne, Zack, and Kurt were stunned. They all looked at Kaze instinctively.

The idiot said he wanted to take them all down and Don and Shin carried out the operation.

Who exactly was Kaze Lee?

“No, it’s not possible! It didn’t happen because of him! He’s just sitting in front of the two VVIPs, so he must have overheard their operation...”

Until now, they still refused to believe that it was Kaze who ordered the operation.

The ones who suffered the most from the operation would be Bob and the other gangster bosses.

All their men were arrested.

They were being targeted by the authorities!

The gangster bosses looked at each other, helpless.

Don then pointed at them and said coldly, “The 2,300 gangsters are your men, right?”

All fifteen of them were horrified.

Bob clenched his buck teeth and argued, “Chief Braders, I have nothing to do with the gangsters! I am just a businessman! Otherwise I wouldn't be elected as a board member!”

“Yeah! We are clean! We have nothing to do with this! We don’t even have records!”

The other gangster bosses echoed in agreement.

They were all gangster bosses. Even if they had criminal records, they would have been wiped. It was extremely difficult to pin them down with loose charges.

Don then chuckled. "After what happened, you people are still lying. Do you know why we arrested the gangsters at the construction sites first? It's all because of all of you. | believe someone is trying to talk!"

Bob and the others were mortified.

With that many gangsters arrested, it was not surprising that any of them would turn on their bosses.

The gangster bosses knew today would be the end of their cri life!

They roamed the underworld for years and now they were about lose everything and might even end up in jail. They refused to accept it.

Bob's eyes gleamed dangerously.

He looked at the other fourteen gangster bosses and said, "Brothers, we won't make it out alive if we don't do anything!"

Chapter 133 Who Is Opposing The Construction And Material Society?

"No! | won't accept this! There are two thousand people here and they are all influential figures. Since we still have some men outside, witty don't we hold them hostage and force the police to let us go!

"After we get out, we'll esmane the civ. With our influence and resources, we can make a comeback elsewhere!"

Maybe Bob had lost his mind or maybe he was born a fugitive. He knew the odds were against him and he considered taking the risk to escape.

The other gangster bosses were horrified, their legs turned weak. Only a few of them had a ferocious gaze in their eyes, wondering if they should take the risk. Most of the gangster bosses were still the same, but Bob had decided for them without their consent.

He turned around and shouted, "You want to turn us?! No fucking way! You think we can't do anything after you arrest our men? Do you know how many people we have around Universal Tower?!"

"Don Braders, Shin Scarlet, one word and my men will come in and take control of the situation. If they kill one or two people along the way and worsen the situation, then it will be on you, chief police brigadier general!"

"Let us go immediately and I will stay away from Lilyrase for life!"

He used this trump card first before stating his terms.

Shim and Don's expression shifted, not afraid but angry. Bob threatened them in public!

Kaze chuckled. Bob was exceptionally ignorant for a gangster boss.

He said, "Lone Wolf, you're up."

Koga then pulled out his phone and contacted the command post of the Garo Spec Ops Team.
"Operation is a go!"

The hall was silenced once again by Koga's command, but the silence only lasted for a few seconds.
Kabaam!

A series of loud explosions came from the second floor.

Then, from the stairs, armed soldiers equipped with live rounds marched in and pointed their guns at everyone in the hall. More than a dozen lasers were pointed at Roger, Bob, and the other gangster bosses.

Even Kelly, Haiden, and the others had a few pointed at them..

They were the targeting lasers from the soldiers' guns.

"Aaaah!"

People started screaming in the hall.

"Silence! We are the Garo Spec Ops Team of Lilyrose, here to carry out a special operation of removing threats and criminals!" The hall was silenced by the shout.

The doors around the hall were broken down and multiple teams of soldiers rushed in.

Some injured gangsters were dragged into the hall as well.

All of them were tied and tossed on the floor like trash.

"The men | had outside the building!" one of the gangster bosses cried out loud.

They fell into utter despair.

Thump!

Bob fell to the ground in horror.

A moment ago, he threatened Don and Shin by claiming his men could hold them all hostages and he wanted to escape safely. In the next moment, his men were all apprehended by the Garo Spec Ops Team.

They were finished, and so were Roger and the Construction and Material Society.

Not only did the police force and Tiger Fangs mobilize ten thousand of their men, but even the elite soldiers of the Garo Spec Ops Team were summoned.

All that just to deal with fifteen gangster bosses and their men. The entire operation was targeted at the Construction and Material Society and Roger.

Who could target the society?

Chapter 134 Who Is The Commander?

Not only Roger, Kelly, and Haiden, but the others were confused as well.

All two thousand guests in the hall were similarly baffled.

Then, the vice commander of the Garo Spec Ops Team who led the operation, Jayden Belfast, went up to Koga and saluted.

“Deputy Commander, report! The Garo Spec Ops Team has joined forces with Lilyrose for the anti-riot cooperation and successfully completed all assigned missions. Order, sir!”

Koga saluted back and said, "Standby and wait for the commander's order."

Everyone was shocked.

Judging from Jayden's words, Koga seemed to be the deputy commander of this operation. In that case, who was the main commander?

Shin Scarlet?

It should not be because he had the same rank as Koga.

Don Braders?

Impossible. He was just the chief of police, which was lower ranked than the brigadier general. Shin and Koga were probably taking orders from the mayor, Johnson.

"Could Mayor Brooks be the main commander of this operation?"

Everyone turned their attention to Johnson.

Roger lamented at Johnson. "Mayor Brooks, our families are not particularly close but we are on good terms. Why are you targeting my family and the Construction and Material Society?"

He resented Johnson. The Hilfinger family was on the brink of ascending to the top family rank, yet Johnson stepped in and shattered his dream.

Johnson said coldly, "Roger Hilfinger, you are pathetic. Until now you still have no idea who you offended? | am not the main commander of this operation! | am not worthy."

He was not shifting the responsibility or afraid of Roger. He was not worthy to be the main commander of this anti-riot operation. He did not plan the anti-riot operation and he was not capable of ordering the two brigadier generals around.

His words made the crowd tumultuous.

The mayor claimed that he was not worthy to be the main commander?

Then who planned it?

Roger's eyes blinked several times. His legs weakened and alr lost his balance.

If the mayor did not plan this, could it be someone from the capit

He clenched his teeth and continued to lament, "Who is the main commander? Where is he?"

He just wanted to know who targeted him and the society.

Johnson glanced at Kaze sitting in front of him.

He grinned and said, "Idiot. The operation base is set in your ceremony venue, so the main commander is here as well. As for me, us are just the vice commanders of this operation!"

Everyone was once again shocked!

The VVIPs of the event were just the vice commanders!

The main commander was in the venue as well!

Everyone started looking, especially around the four VVIPs.

However, no matter how the others searched, they could not find someone else with higher ranks than the four of them.

“Don't tell me it's Kaze Lee..... Kelly was anxious and she instinctively made a scornful remark about Kaze.

However, as soon as her words escaped her mouth, she laughed and found her own words amusing. How could Kaze be the main commander?

The others did not believe it either.

The son-in-law of the Quint family was condemned by everyone in the hall. He was the one with the least status and power, everyone step on him without qualms.

How could someone as weak and useless as him be the main commander of the anti-riot operation?

Koga saw the crowd's reaction and it infuriated him.

He grunted and said, "Let us invite the main commander and show them who they are dealing with!"
"Yeah!"

Shin, Don, and Johnson agreed.

They too were angered by the scornful reaction.

The main commander wanted to keep a low profile to conceal his true identity and yet those arrogant people looked down on him.

They felt bad for the main commander.

Then, Johnson, Koga, Shin, and Don got up and stood in a line.

They looked at Kaze respectfully and extended their right arm.

Even Johson, who used to serve in the military, saluted.

All four of them saluted Kaze in front of everyone.

"Commander, the anti-riot operation's arrest missions are completed. Awaiting further orders!" All four of them said loudly together.

Chapter 135 Roger Hilfinger, Do You Confess Your Crimes The hall with two thousand people was dead silent.

However, in places that the ears could not hear, people's hearts were pounding rapidly. They breathed heavily and some even forgot to breathe.

Shocking!

Astonishing!

Unbelievable!

Not a single word or all of them combined could describe their feelings. .

The abandoned son of the Lee family, the son-in-law of the Quint family, the retard who had been locked up in the psychiatric ward for five years, the trash that everyone looked down on, was the main commander of the anti-riot operation?!

The mayor, the brigadier generals, and the chief of police all listened to his command. Then, under everyone's blank gaze, Kaze, who had been sitting for while, finally got up.

He looked at Roger, whose face had turned pale and his eyes had turned blank. He smiled and said, "Roger Hilfinger, what do you think of this?"

Roger asked him a similar question when he was on stage. Now, Kaze wanted to return the favor.

Roger's expression looked strange. His cheeks flushed, his veins popped, and his Adam's apple moved. His bloodshot eyes even Splat!

He spat blood all of a sudden!

His body wobbled like a wavering kite falling to the ground.

He managed to catch the chair beside him to prevent himself from collapsing.

“Why you? Why are you the commander of this operation? | don’t believe it! | don’t believe it!” Roger shouted like a madman. His shirt was tainted with his blood and it made him look terrifying.

He had planned meticulously to bring back the Construction and Material Society. It was to help the Hilfinger family attack Perfect World Group so that he could annex the company’s wealth.

It was also to elevate his family to become one of the top ranking families!

Yet Kaze never took him seriously.

He was nothing but a pawn in the master game! He was not even the pebble on the street!

He did not believe he would fail at the hands of an inconspicuous retard, but facts had proved him wrong.

The mayor and the other three VVIPs had made it clear.

It was the inconspicuous retard that he ignored who ruined his future, his career, and his meticulous scheme.

The new building that he used as the headquarters of the society was ruined in less than half an hour since its opening. “This isn’t real! This isn’t real!”

Kelly suddenly screamed madly, looking desperate and dis

She was the chief secretary of the society, the woman who had Henry's seed and the future missus of the Hilfinger family. Now, Kaze ruined it all for her!

"So, I was the clown!"

Jessica, who was sitting in front of Kaze, almost passed out due to shock.

She looked down at Kaze and called him a clown.

Now, Kaze turned out to be the commander of the operation, someone that she could never afford to offend.

Haiden, Wayne, Zach, and Kurt were stunned as well.

They had been bullying Kaze since their university days and they thought they had reached the peak of their career by joining the Construction and Material Society.

They looked down on their former classmate and condemned him.

Now, Kaze had destroyed the society.

They finally remembered what Kaze said about how the society would not exist after today.

They sneered at him and called him an idiot for that.

Now, they were the ones who were embarrassed.

The other two thousand guests were stunned as well.

Kaze then walked up to the stage under the scrutiny of many eyes and approached Roger.

Johnson and the others followed him up on stage.

There were three hundred elite soldiers from the Garo Spec Ops Team in the hall and they all aimed their guns on stage. Should anyone lay a finger on Kaze, they would be executed on the spot.

Especially Roger since there were more than a dozen lasers aimed at his head.

Kaze looked at the dispirited Roger. He chuckled and said, "Roger Hilfinger, do you confess your crimes?" Roger said the same thing to Kaze before.

Thump!

Roger could no longer shoulder the pressure and knelt before Kaze.

Chapter 136 All Kneel

"Kaze, I was wrong. I shouldn't oppose you! Please let me go, please spare my family..."

Roger knelt before Kaze, prostrating and hitting his head on the ground. He knew he was finished when he found out Kaze was the main commander of the operation. The Construction and Material Society was over, and so was the Hilfinger family.

Based on what he did to Kaze, there was no reason for Kaze to spare him.

Even the Lee family from the capital could not protect him anymore.

He did not know who Kaze was, but as someone who could order the army around, he was someone so powerful that not even the Lee family could offend him.

The massive anti-riot operation, involving tens of thousands of police and soldiers, managed to go unnoticed by the Lee family, despite having their men all over the city.

It was the best proof that Kaze was more powerful than the Lee family!

Kaze scoffed and said, "You went after my wife, do you think I'll let you go that easily?"

Roger shuddered. He regretted what he did to Darcy and Kaze.

The Hilfinger family's current predicament, the root of it all, could be traced back to Darcy.

Kaze's gaze passed over Roger's head and landed on Kelly. "Kelly, you

Kelly shuddered. She fell on her knees immediately.

She cried, "I'm sorry! Kaze! I was wrong!"

"Shut up!" Kaze shouted.

Kelly immediately covered her mouth, afraid to make a single noise.

Kaze then looked at Bob and the other gangster bosses. "You people wanted me to kneel as well?"

Thump!

All fifteen gangster bosses knelt together, shuddering in fear as they looked at Kaze.

All the ferocious gangster bosses who ruled the underworld were shaking like little lambs before the slaughter table. Gold Tooth and Dan gloated at them.

Awhile ago, these fifteen men were acting like tough gangster bosses as the board members of the Construction and Material Society.

Now, they were being confronted by the authorities and they might end up getting the bullet.

They were labeled as gangsters and all their men were arrested, it was difficult for them to escape the punishment. If not for Kaze, Gold Tooth and Dan would end up like them as well.

Kaze literally saved them!

Kaze then looked at the other guests.

He stood high on the stage, speaking like a superior judge, "All of you wanted me to kneel as well?"

Thump!

Someone knelt immediately and it started a domino effect. Almost all the guests knelt instantly.

All the CEOs of big companies and heads of top families dared not defy the man who could determine their life and death.

Jessica knelt among the others, trembling. Almost two thousand people knelt before Kaze, a grand scene that rarely happened.

The two celebrities, Andrew and Liv, witnessed something that they would never forget for life. They were grateful and at the same time, deeply admired Kaze.

Although they had many fans across the country, they were still astonished by the scene before them.

Kaze was unfazed. He said casually, "It seems like all your legs are working fine. All of you knelt as soon as I said so." All the guests looked down in horror.

They tried to force Kaze down to his knees because they wanted to flatter Roger.

They simply played along to trample Kaze's pride and no one cared about the feelings of a retard.

Now, they faced the consequences.

After a full minute, Kaze said, "Other than those from the Construction and Material Society, all unrelated personnel leave immediately. Remember to keep your mouth shut about what happened today. Take this secret to your grave, or I will make you."

Everyone was relieved. They got up immediately, but quietly, and left

Chapter 137 Return The Goods

After most of the guests had left Universal Tower, another group of people came in from the Sky Cloud Tower, which was opposite the building.

“It's Ray Forrester and the people from Perfect World Group!” “The chairman's assistant, Snow Frost, is also there!”

Everyone made way for the group as they strutted into the Universal Tower. They entered the building proudly as if they had just won the war. “I finally know what is going on! The Construction and Material Society has been snatching their employees yet they didn't respond at all. It's not that they don't care or are scared, they are preparing for something big!”

“Mr. Forrester is known for being calm and patient. We are fools to think that Perfect World Group is over. Now they are delivering the final blow to Roger Hilfinger!”

“Yeah! Roger Hilfinger even said Ray Forrester dared not attend the ceremony. Look what's happening now!” “We are the clowns, and so is Roger Hilfinger...”

The guests dispersed gradually, mocking themselves as they went.

Ray and his men from Perfect World Group entered the event hall.

When they saw the people from the Construction and Material Society on their knees, Geoffrey Godman and the other board members of Perfect World Group smiled brightly.

Only Ray and Snow responded calmly. The two of them had expected

No matter what Roger did, he was nothing but a clown to Kaze.

Kaze could squish him like an ant.

“Mr. Chairman.”

Ray, Snow, and the other board members went up to Kaze and bowed.

Everyone from the Construction and Material Society, including Roger, was once again stunned.

Kaze was the chairman of Perfect World Group!

Though it was not as surprising as him being the commander, or maybe they had already accepted their cruel fate. Even if Kaze called himself the God of War, they would believe him as well.

Kaze nodded and said, “Ray, I want you guys to take over what is left of the Construction and Material Society.” Roger was devastated. He knew based on Kaze’s words that the society was completely gone.

Ray nodded and said, “The Construction and Material Society forced various construction sites to sign a contract with them. With the help of those gangsters, the construction sites were coerced into signing the contract with an exorbitant price. If Perfect World Group took what they had and continued using their contracts, I’m afraid people might complain.”

He despised Roger’s methods of solving problems with violence.

Increasing the material price would only force the developers to reflect it on the consumers.

Ultimately, the project’s reputation would suffer, and it could even ruin

Ray wanted to ensure fairness and avoid harming the market.

Kaze waved and simply said, "Then rip the contracts in front of the construction sites. The Construction and Material Society may have damaged people's trust, but Perfect World Group is determined to restore it."

"Good idea, Mr. Chairman."

Ray flattered him, but it was indeed a good idea.

Perfect World Group was still new in the industry, so this would be a good way to win people's hearts.

Now that the Construction and Material Society had damaged people's trust, Perfect World Group should step in and build a positive image for themselves. From now on, Perfect World Group would be known as a generous company.

With people's support, Perfect World Group could go further. Only then could it reach greater heights. "Mr. Chairman, what about the Hilfinger Corporation?" Ray asked. Roger closed his eyes in despair.

He knew he would lose his company but it was still hurtful to hear it himself.

Chapter 138 Top Three Families

"You don't need to worry about that. The core business of Hilfinger Corporation was originally a division of Quintessential Group that got separated. Now it's time to return it to its rightful place."

Kaze then looked at Roger. "Tell your employees to clear out the company's properties and possessions. Tomorrow, my wife will come to take over your company. If you agree, your son lives."

He made it clear that only Henry would be spared, not Roger.

It was the most he could offer.

Henry got what he deserved, so his life did not matter anymore.

Roger, however, must die.

It was a little present that Kaze prepared for his family back in the capital.

Man proposed, and God disposed.

Roger pulled his phone out and called the general manager of Hilfinger Corporation, Jay Buster, and delivered Kaze's instruct Kaze pulled a chair over and sat down. "Now, let's talk about v happened five years ago. Other than the Lee family and the Hilfin family, who else is involved in the encirclement and division of Quintessential Group?"

Roger took a deep breath. Even though he knew his fate was sealed, he dared not keep any secrets from Kaze.

"Mr. Lee, the three top families are involved. The Hilfinger family was powerless back then and we only got Quintessential Group's Construction Division. We only got so much. The three top families

"Which three families?" Kaze asked.

"The Everia, Golding, and Chapman families, but the Lee family is the mastermind, so they got the most." Roger had given up on his life, so he revealed everything he knew.

Back then, Quintessential Group was expanding rapidly and they got involved in every field, granting him power that could affect the entire city.

The three top families were jealous of the Quint family, so with the order from the Lee family, they teamed up and annexed the Quint family's businesses.

Ultimately, the Everia, Golding, and Chapman families received a huge boost in their businesses.

All three families had a long history in Lilyrose that could be traced back more than a hundred years ago. They were involved in every field as well and their network spread across every corner like tree roots. Even Johnson had to gain their support to become mayor, or else he would not have won the campaign. It was not exaggerating to call the three families the kings of Lilyrose.

Kaze, however, did not take the three families seriously.

He said coldly, "Quintessential Group is my father-in-law's life and blood. I will make them return twice as much as they have taken from them!"

No one suspected Kaze anymore, including Roger.

Kaze controlled the political world and the military like his own arms. One word and he could mobilize ten thousand police and soldiers. He even single-handedly wiped out the Construction and Material Society.

Even the top three families would shudder before absolute power. Kaze then asked, "Who was behind my father-in-law's car crash?" Roger was still on his knees when he shuddered.

“Mr. Lee, I am not responsible for that. I don’t know what happened. The Hilfinger family was nothing back then and the Quint family was rising to prominence. Even if I could, I would not dare to hurt anyone from the Quint family. The Hilfinger family was able to get some benefits from the annexation of Quintessential Group because of Henry.

“Besides, the two brothers of the Quint family, Hector Quint and Rudy Quint, were not on good terms. Rudy had been eyeing the company for a long time and he did many terrible things to Hector. I have no idea if he did it alone or if he got help from other families.

“All I can say is that the Hilfinger family has nothing to do with Hector Quint’s car crash! I swear!”

Ray shook his head. “Mr. Chairman, the surveillance footage of you is being handled by the Lee family. I copied this footage secretly.”

“Hmm. Keep it up.”

Kaze waved and took the tablet away.

Meanwhile at Sunrise City, the capital, there was a grand manor located in the suburbs.

It was huge and beautiful. It was the residence of the Lee family. The place was decorated beautifully and it was livelier than usual.

It was the birthday of Karina Lee, the daughter of the head of the family, George.

The entire family was celebrating her birthday. There were many guests from other families of Sunrise. George stood on the stage and looked at the guests with a bright smile.

Ten years. It had been ten years since the Lee family moved from Lilyrose to Sunrise, and the family was doing better day by day.

Who would have thought that the family could achieve this much in just ten years? He looked at his daughter who had dressed beautifully for the event. His eyes were overflowing with love.

“My dear daughter, I heard you received a lot of presents from the handsome young men of various families, and it seems some of them really like you. Are you interested in any of them? If yes, tell me and I'll be the matchmaker.”

Karina curled her hands around Vanessa Lee's arm, her mother, and said with a pout, “I don't want to marry that soon. I find it more gifts and compliments, take me to fancy restaurants, and such. If I'm feeling down, I can just post a status and many of them will come simping after me. Isn't that nice?”

While the family was chatting, a loud voice came from the entrance.

“Jan Janiro presents Ms. Karina with a million-dollar Patek Philippe ladies watch and Slovaski diamond necklace. He wishes Ms. Karinal forever young and as beautiful as diamonds...

“Hoffman Gibbs presents Ms. Karina with a brand new Porsche 911.

“The CEO of Tropic Storm Media, Ahmad Abstine, presents Ms. Karina with one of his media companies.” All rich young men came with expensive gifts.

Everyone in the Lee family was happy with the gifts.

Then, a strange announcement was made.

“Kaze Lee of Lilyrose presents a coffin!”

Chapter 139 Forge a Coffin

Roger finally understood the situation.

Aside from Kaze's current status and power, his previous identity must be prestigious and dignified as well.

Henry simply bullied Kaze during his university days and because of that, the Hilfinger family received so much benefit that they grew larger.

Kaze looked at the gangster bosses kneeling on stage.

"What about you people?"

"Mr. Lee, we have no idea as well. We were just goons a few years back. Mr. Quint is someone that we could never get close to." All fifteen of them immediately confessed.

They had no grudges against Kaze. Even if they were apprehended, the worst punishment would only be jail time. If they were somehow related to Hector's car crash, then they would lose their lives.

Ray then said, "Mr. Chairman, if they are the culprit, I would have dealt with them a long time ago. Based on what I know, it might be related to a few former underworld bosses who had either retired or left the underworld.

"However, it's a complicated incident as it involves many things. Plus, it has been five years and I haven't received any news on it either."

A few years ago, Ray was not the richest man of Lilyrose.

He had been helping Kaze to investigate the matter but it was an old case and much evidence had been tampered with, so he could only

“Keep it up. As long as it happens, it will leave clues.”

Kaze got up and looked at the gangster bosses.

“Other than Roger Hilfinger, take the others back. If they are clean, let them go; if not, lock them up.”
The fifteen gangster bosses, Kelly, Haiden, Wayne, Zach, Kurt, and the others all turned pale.

They were then taken away by Don’s men.

“Master Lee has given us a second life!”

Gold Tooth and Dan were in awe.

If not for Kaze, it would be seventeen instead of fifteen gangster bosses.

Kaze then looked at the two of them and said, “You two have one day to fill in their positions.”

Gold Tooth and Dan were stunned. They did not expect Kaze to reward them with such a huge opportunity. Fill up the positions of fifteen gangster bosses? How many territories and businesses would that be? The two of them suddenly became the most powerful people the underworld.

Kaze then added, “Don’t celebrate too soon. | don’t want to see messy situation like before. | hope you two can give the underv an overhaul and put things back to where they belong.”

With light came darkness.

Even if Gold Tooth and Dan were not given the chance, others might grab the opportunity and cause even more problems. 2/3

Therefore, Kaze decided to put the two of them in charge since he already had shackles around their necks.

“Yes, Master Lee!”

Gold Tooth and Dan were thrilled. Kaze’s words lifted their spirits.

Kaze then looked at Roger and said to Koga, “Give him a gun.”

“Dan, buy a coffin for him and then send it to the Lee family.”

Kaze then walked out of the hall.

Bang!

A gunshot was fired.

The chairman of Hilfinger Corporation and the Construction and Material Society killed himself on the first day of his new career. “Mr. Chairman, you should look at this video.”

Outside Universal Tower, Ray handed Kaze a tablet playing a video.

Kaze had a look.

The video showed the psychiatric ward of Lilyrose.

There were two people on screen. One was James and the other one was Kaze, or more precisely, Kaze's substitute at the psychiatric ward.

The substitute was locked up in a place surrounded by electrified barbed walls. He jumped and hopped around like a child.

Chapter 140 Coffin as Birthday Present

When Kaze saw the substitute, he saw himself.

When he was locked up in the psychiatric ward for the first year, his condition was exactly like the substitute. However, Kaze had it worse than the substitute.

24 hours a day, every minute and every second of his life was recorded and he had to pretend to be a retard in front of the camera.

He would never forget it for the rest of his life.

The screen showed James visiting the substitute.

James accompanied him patiently, talked to him, and played with him.

"When was this?" Kaze asked.

Ray said, "Two years ago, before James White got into the car crash."

James visited the psychiatric ward that day and wanted to bring Kaze out to a better place for treatment. However, the substitute was under constant surveillance and the Lee family would never allow him to take the substitute out. James failed in the end.

After that, James never visited because of the car crash.

Then, after the problems with his company, he jumped off the building and killed himself.

Kaze asked, "If there's footage of him in the ward, what about the footage of him during the crash?"

He wanted to start investigating from there.

Ray shook his head. "Mr. Chairman, the surveillance footage of you is being handled by the Lee family. I copied this footage secretly."

"Hmm. Keep it up."

Kaze waved and took the tablet away.

Meanwhile at Sunrise City, the capital, there was a grand manor located in the suburbs. It was huge and beautiful. It was the residence of the Lee family.

The place was decorated beautifully and it was livelier than usual.

It was the birthday of Karina Lee, the daughter of the head of the family, George.

The entire family was celebrating her birthday.

There were many guests from other families of Sunrise.

George stood on the stage and looked at the guests with a bright smile.

Ten years. It had been ten years since the Lee family moved from Lilyrose to Sunrise, and the family was doing better day by day.

Who would have thought that the family could achieve this much in just ten years? He looked at his daughter who had dressed beautifully for the event. His eyes were overflowing with love.

“My dear daughter, I heard you received a lot of presents from the handsome young men of various families, and it seems some of them really like you. Are you interested in any of them? If yes, tell me and I'll be the matchmaker.”

Karina curled her hands around Vanessa Lee's arm, her mother, and said with a pout, “I don't want to marry that soon. I find it more gifts and compliments, take me to fancy restaurants, and such. If I'm feeling down, I can just post a status and many of them will come simping after me. Isn't that nice?”

While the family was chatting, a loud voice came from the entrance.

“Jan Janiro presents Ms. Karina with a million-dollar Patek Philippe ladies watch and Slovaski diamond necklace. He wishes Ms. Karina forever young and as beautiful as diamonds...

“Hoffman Gibbs presents Ms. Karina with a brand new Porsche 911.

“The CEO of Tropic Storm Media, Ahmad Abstine, presents Ms. Karina with one of his media companies.” All rich young men came with expensive gifts.

Everyone in the Lee family was happy with the gifts.

Then, a strange announcement was made.

“Kaze Lee of Lilyrose presents a coffin!”