

Guardian 211

Chapter 211 Ungrateful

Dean Anstar, the HR director, who was the first to resign.

Behind him were former executives and employees who resigned with him.

They learned that Quintessential Group had overcome the crisis and got more than two billion worth of investment from different major companies.

They regretted leaving the company.

The Group would surely rise to prominence and expand rapidly. The employees of the company would also enjoy all kinds of benefits, so when they heard the company was hiring again, they came back.

Unfortunately, there were too many candidates.

The normal employees got anxious. They were afraid their original positions would be taken, so they teamed up with Dean and the other executives to force other candidates to leave.

Dean was smart as well.

As a traitor, he knew his odds of returning to Quintessential were slim, but if he could get several former employees on his side, then he would have the leverage to negotiate with Darcy.

Therefore, he revealed his former identity and cut the line.

“He’s the former HR director of the company? If we want in, we must go through him. We cannot get on his bad side!” The new applicants immediately opened up a path for him.

Dean and the former employees then strutted in like kings.

The other new applicants were frustrated when they saw the former HR director lead the former employees to cut the line. The former employees and executives under Dean’s lead even mocked the new candidates.

“We are the company’s ex-employees. We will get hired back. You guys can go back where you came from!”

“Yeah! We are close with Mr. Anstar, so there’s no chance for all of you. Get out!”

The applicants dared not defy him and because of him, their impression of Quintessential Group turned sour. If the former HR director led the former employees to cut the line, then the company must have a poor work culture.

“I didn’t expect the company to have such a poor culture! I’m out!”

“Yeah. With our resume, we can get a high-paying job anywhere! We won't take this!”

“Two billion of investment, so what? Quintessential Group is going to die soon!”

A number of applicants turned to walk away.

Dean and the former employees were delighted that their plan worked.

They did it on purpose.

If they did not eliminate the competition, they could never get back into the company.

As for the company’s image being ruined by their filthy tricks, they did not care.

They came back because of the benefits.

If the company went bankrupt one day, they would leave again without hesitation. They did it before and could do it again.

“Ms. Quint, Dean and the former employees are all back. They cut the line and forced the applicants away. Meanwhile, in the office, Riley entered Darcy’s office hurriedly to inform her of the situation.

Darcy slammed her table angrily when she learned what happened.

“Those shameless bastards. What do they think this company is?”

She compensated Dean and the former employees when they left and did not plan to hold them responsible for abandoning the company.

She wanted to end the working relationship on a good note but then they took advantage of her and disrespected the company. She went downstairs immediately and saw the new applicants walking away, complaining about the poor working culture of the company.

She was infuriated but she suppressed her anger as anger could not solve problems.

She raised her voice, "New applicants, hold on! Don't leave just yet!! I am the CEO of Quintessential Group. Please believe in us! The work culture here is not like that!"

Chapter 212 Who Are You?

The candidates stopped and turned around to Darcy.

"Darcy Quint? I heard she was accused by her friend and now cleared her name."

"I heard the banks targeted her and withheld the loans to take revenge on her. She's forced to a dead end and still able to save the company. She's really a capable leader. Let's hear what she has to say."

Even though they were still upset, they were willing to give a chance to Darcy for her reputation.
"Thank you. I will provide everyone with a satisfactory explanation."

After she held the new applicants back, she turned to Dean and the others.

She bellowed, "Dean, you left the company in the face of a crisis and we compensated you for everything. We owed you nothing and now you came to ruin our hiring process? What are you trying to do?"

The new applicants finally knew what happened.

Dean and the former employees were no longer part of Quintessential Group and they were here to cause problems. How shameless! How disgusting!

Dean and the former employees were shocked. They thought they could take advantage of Darcy but she got a preemptive strike on them.

With just a few words, she took control of the situation and seized the moral high ground.

Dean immediately feigned a pitiful look and said, "Ms. Quint, we were mony, my ongunan have realyned, but you can't rune ud. NC UIT thought the company was done for and we have a family to feed, we cannot just lose our jobs, that's why we left!"

"Yeah! Ms. Quint!"

The other executives did the same and started to beg for mercy.

They made it sound like they were forced to leave the company, so Darcy should show compassion and take them back.

However, Darcy scoffed, "Really? That's not what you said when you threw your resignation letters in my face. You took advantage of the situation and even threatened to sue me.”

She was prepared for this. She told Riley to play the footage of Dean. and the others resigning on the big screen. Their ugly sides were exposed instantly.

Dean's expression turned bitter.

Darcy preempted this!

He never knew Darcy was this sharp and smart back then.

To the former executives, Darcy had always been the unfortunate girl who was tasked to clean up the mess for the Quint family, so they never took her seriously.

Dean knew he could not pretend any longer, so he cut to the chase. and said, “Ms. Quint, we want our positions back. We are pioneers of the company, and without us, the company can’t operate properly!”

The others echoed in agreement.

Darcy grunted and said, “No! | will never let you people come back to the company!” No matter what Dean and the others said, she would never allow “No? Who do you think you are?” questioned an aged voice.

Master Quint and the extended family came strutting in.

“Mr. Chairman!”

Dean and the others were delighted.

Darcy frowned. “Grandfather, they abandoned the company when we needed them most and took advantage of us. I do not trust them. Since we have many new applicants here, we can hire new blood to expand the company. It’s better than to rehire these ingrates!”

Dean immediately went over to Master Quint and begged, “Mr. Chairman, don’t believe her! Before you came, she eagerly raised the salary of the current employees and made some of them chiefs of departments.

“Darcy is trying to fill the office with her people so she can control the entire company, so for sure she won’t let us back, because we are loyal to you, not her!”

Chapter 213 No! | Refuse!

The Quint family came because they knew the company just got two billion worth of investment.

They cut ties with the company when it faced bankruptcy and even made Darcy the CEO to take responsibility for everything.

Now that the company had come back to life and got a huge injection of funds, the Quint family regretted it, especially Rudy and his children. They were afraid that Darcy would root herself in the position of CEO, so they brought Master Quint along.

They got even more anxious and upset after Dean informed them of the company's politics.

"Master Quint, stop Darcy! She's trying to seize all the power for herself and make the company her own kingdom!" All of them looked at Master Quint, hoping that he would relieve Darcy of her duties.

"How shameless are you people to accuse me like that? | did everything for the sake of the Quintessential!" Darcy was upset by their shamelessness.

When the company faced a crisis, they abandoned the ship and saved only their skin.

She stayed to keep the company afloat and finally overcame the problem.

Now, they came back to seize the company and fire her, who saved the company from bankruptcy.

She was disappointed.

What was more disappointing was her grandfather's decision.

"Darcy, we know you've done a lot for the company but now that the company is safe, you are not suitable as its CEO. You should go back to take care of the construction site."

Darcy widened her eyes in disbelief-she was made CEO in less than twenty-four hours and now she was relieved of her position?

“Grandfather, what do you take me as? You made me clean up the mess for the Group and now that it’s doing fine, you want it back? Are you kidding me right now?” shouted Darcy with teary eyes.

Master Quint grunted in displeasure. He bellowed, “I am the chairman of the company, and your grandfather, are you going to defy me?”

Darcy pursed her lips. She was aggrieved but she did not know how to defy her grandfather’s orders.

She was unwilling to hand over the Group back to a bunch of useless people after what she had done to save it. She finally saw the true colors of her so-called family through this crisis.

The Quint family gloated at Darcy’s bitterness and grievance.

“No way. You really think you saved the company? Darcy, you were just lucky!”

“Even if she was capable enough to save the company, she still could not defy Master Quint. One word from Master Quint and she could be thrown out of the Quint family!”

Samus and Deborah gloated at her, even an outsider like Vincent mocked her.

“Ms. Quint, you do not have total control over the Group. We want back into the company and we don’t need your permission! Who do you um you un

Those who stayed during the crisis were Darcy's trusted employees. There was no way Master Quint and the others would use them..

In order to regain control of the company, they would have to rehire their old employees.

“Master Quint, if you don’t want Darcy as the CEO, who are you going to promote next?” Kaze said as he walked over with an expressionless face.

“The company almost went bankrupt because of you, Kaze! How dare you question me!”

Master Quint was disgusted by Kaze’s presence.

He added, “There are a lot of people who can be the CEO. I can make Rudy take the place!”

Due to Rudy's previous incapability, Master Quint removed him from the position. However, after Darcy took over the company, the company slowly slipped out of his grip. Rudy might not be a capable CEO but at least he was an obedient son.

“Rudy?” Kaze scoffed.

He looked at the employees behind Darcy. A lot of them were recently promoted to chiefs and leaders. He asked with a grin, “Rudy Quint as your new CEO. Do you guys accept it?”

“No! We refuse! We won't accept it!”

They were so loud that the building reverberated.

Chapter 214 Prime Prison, Like It?

Master Quint’s expression turned bitter when he heard the employees’ chant.

He looked at his family. If Rudy was not accepted, then he would change to someone else. However, before he could say a word, Kaze spoke on his behalf, saying, "If not Rudy, then how about Samus?" "No!" the employees chanted angrily.

"Deborah?"

"No!"

"Hensen?"

This would be Darcy's uncle.

"No!"

"No!"

"No!"

Kaze mentioned every single name of the Quint family and the only answer he got was a big fat "no". Each loud cry of the name was a slap to the person's face.

"Master Quint, you've heard the people."

Kaze glared at everyone and scoffed, "All of you abandoned the company at dire times, so the company will also abandon you when it's doing great!" Samus, Deborah, and the others were embarrassed.

They resented Kaze for humiliating them, but Kaze could not care less about their feelings.

His expression turned grim before he bellowed, “My wife, Darcy, is the CEO of Quintessential Group. She neither obtained the position because of people’s mercy nor some stack of papers! She got it because she stood with the company at its darkest times and protected it! She earned it!”

Kaze’s inspirational speech won resounding applause from the employees and job candidates. Darcy had earned their respect and they wanted to join the company now more than ever. Under her leadership, Quintessential Group would have a bright future!

However, Master Quint ignored what Kaze said.

He was scared because he realized Darcy was reputable within the company. If she was allowed to develop further, she would have total control of the company just as Dean had said.

Furious, he shouted, “Kaze, stop your nonsense! I am the chairman of the company! I have every right over everything! I will fire those newly promoted chiefs and leaders and reinstate Dean and the others! All the former employees would be rehired as well!”

Only with their return, he could regain control over the company.

He did not trust the people whom Darcy promoted.

Dean and the others were delighted.

“Mr. Chairman, don’t worry! We will be united under your wing!”

They immediately took Master Quint’s side and pledged their loyalty. Darcy got nervous. “Grandfather, if you don’t want me as the CEO, I’ll you up on poomien vur you commo

LUNG DCuir una die vuigIJ DOON.

She believed her grandfather was blinded by power and could not think straight anymore!

He wanted to rehire those traitors just because he wanted a victory in company politics!

“Calm down, Darcy. Dean and the others aren’t coming back. I’ve arranged for them to go somewhere else,” Kaze said with a calm smile as if he had everything under control.

“Kaze, stop talking nonsense! It’s up to the chairman to rehire us, you have no say in this!”

Dean and the others mocked Kaze, though he asked, “Where did you arrange for us to go?”

He looked at Kaze with a provocative look.

Kaze grinned at Dean and the other former executives. “Lilyrose Prime Prison, how’s that?”

“You? Sending us to prison?”

The bunch did not believe his nonsense!

Then, a group of men in uniform came in.

“The people from the Economic Investigation Division again?”

Darcy and her employees were stunned.

The Economic Investigation Division came earlier and arrested Maurice, so what were they doing here again? Had they made Quintessential Group their home base?

The Economic Investigation Division went straight to Dean and the other former executives and cuffed them.

“Dean Astar, Gavin Hunter, and the lot of you are suspected of embezzlement of company funds while you were working for Quintessential Group. All of you are hereby arrested for the crimes that you have committed.”

Chapter 215 First Intimate Contact

Dean and the others were stunned.

Like Randal Song and his men at the construction site, they were all Rudy’s right-hand men. Since Rudy was incapable and could not control them, they embezzled a lot of money from the company.

“Ms. Quint! We're sorry! We're wrong! We are the pioneers of the company, we contributed to the company so much! Don't arrest us!”

Dean and the other former executives grabbed the officers’ legs and begged Darcy for mercy, hoping that she would spare them. “It's too late now.”

Kaze waved and told the Economic Investigation Division to take them away.

After the lot of them were arrested, other ex-employees scattered and left the building immediately.

Some of them looked horrified. They must have done some shady things themselves as well.

However, Kaze did not plan to go after them as there were too many, and besides, not all of them had committed serious crimes that could be charged. It would be more than enough to make an example out of Dean and the former executives.

Kaze looked at Master Quint and said, "Old man, now my wife can remain as CEO, right?" "Kaze, I'd strangle you if I could!"

Master Quint glared at him with clenched teeth as he walked away in

Since the current employees sided with Darcy while Dean and the other former executives were arrested for embezzlement, he could not remove Darcy from the position at the moment.

He was afraid that if he pushed too hard, she would leave the company, bringing along the employees and starting her own company. The odds were slim but it was possible and he did not want to bet on it.

"Kaze, you will pay for this!"

The rest of the Quint family cursed Kaze one by one before they too left in frustration.

The useless retard relied on Darcy's status to insult them in public!

They would take revenge on him when the chance arose, and they would make him pay twice as much for the humiliation.

Kaze did not care about the incapable fools' anger. He looked at the job applicants and said, "This is Ms. Quint's answer. She is capable, enough to lead everyone to new heights and achieve even more in the future! At the same time, she would also make those vermins pay for what they did!"

His words sounded powerful after what happened. Even though the candidates had not been officially hired, Darcy had successfully erected a strong image of a CEO in their hearts.

From today onward, Darcy would have total control of the company. Even though she had never thought of taking full control, as her husband, Kaze decided for her and supported her.

When they returned to the office, Darcy looked at Kaze strangely." Kaze, how many more things are you not telling me? | didn't even get the chance to investigate Dean and the other ex-staff and you've uncay reported menti.

The employees thought she was the one who pulled the strings but she had no idea at all. was Kaze who helped her to deal with Dean.

When Kaze asked Perfect World Group for help, she had no idea as well.

Kaze held her hands and said, "Darcy, I've done a lot of things behind your back but you just have to know that everything was done for you. You just have to focus on running the company and I'll do the rest for you. I'll protect you and ensure a smooth sail from here on."

He had all these planned out and wanted to leverage this situation to let her take full control of the company.

The Quint family made her the scapegoat by naming her CEO, but Kaze turned it into a golden opportunity and made a fool out of them.

He was well-prepared to deal with them.

“Thank you, dearest hubby.”

Darcy was deeply moved. She hugged Kaze by the waist and looked at him.

Kaze’s presence gave her a sense of safety.

“Darcy, if I remember correctly, this is the first time you call me hubby. I’ve gone through a lot to earn that.” Kaze was excited. It must mean Darcy had finally accepted him.

“Then I shall call you Kaze from now on!”

Darcy blushed. She wanted to escape Kaze’s embrace but he clamped her by the waist and stopped her from running off. After a few playful punches, she kissed him.

Chapter 216 Parasite

“Kaze, are you done?”

Darcy looked at Kaze, blushing.

Kaze had been hugging her for a while and his hands were getting naughty. "I'm never done with you, hehe..."

Kaze finally let go of her after taking in her scent. He released her with a heavy heart, well aware that he should not cross the line.

The intimate contact today was a good start to their romantic relationship. 2 Darcy then returned to her desk to resume work. She would call some of the newly promoted chiefs or leaders into the office for discussions.

Now that she had become the CEO of Quintessential Group, she was responsible for everything in the company and would only be busier than before.

Though she enjoyed being occupied; being able to concentrate at work and having no one to drag her down felt great. Kaze did not disturb her. He went to the other room with his phone and waited for her to finish work.

"I'm done. Let's go home."

Sometime later, the door opened and Darcy popped her head inside.

Kaze then drove Darcy back to Horizon Mirror.

"Darcy, Kaze, you guys are back!"

Sky was outside the house, seemingly bored. He bolted up immediately when they came back. “I saw the news! Kaze, you’re awesome! I knew you could do anything!”

“Sky, you are flattering him.”

Darcy glanced at her brother and was happy he accepted her husband.

Before Sky returned, she worried that the boy would not accept Kaze and would cause a lot of trouble. If even her own brother could not accept her husband, she would feel terrible.

Now it seemed like she was overthinking.

“I am not flattering him. I am telling the truth!”

With utmost admiration, Sky looked at Kaze, his almighty hero.

Kaze smiled and asked, “What are you doing out here? Isn’t it cold?”

“Larry Laime and his parents are here. I don’t want to see them,” Sky said with pouty lips. Darcy frowned as well. “What are they doing here?”

She was not particularly fond of the Laime family either.

“Are they our relatives or something?” It was Kaze’s first time hearing that name.

“Relatives? They are like parasites in our family!”

Darcy quickly nudged Sky and said, "Mind your words. Don't let them hear you."

"Hey little brat, who are you calling parasites?"

A frivolous young man with a cigarette hanging in his mouth came over. His expression turned grim when he overheard Sky. Larry's arrival put a bitter look on the siblings.

"I told you to be mindful of your words!" Darcy rebuked softly before she turned to Larry and explained, "Larry, you heard him wrong. Sky said he found a parasite in his food at the restaurant."

Kaze had never seen Darcy so afraid of a person. Sky even zipped his mouth and dared not make a noise. "Shut your ass! I heard you!"

Larry grunted and tossed his cigarette on the floor. He glared at them. So what if my family are parasites? I'm sucking your family's blood for life because your family owes us that much! Fucking pieces of shit."

The young man was vulgar and disrespectful.

Kaze disliked him. He said coldly, "What did our family owe yours? I'll pay it back." "You? Motherfucker!"

Larry sized up Kaze and scoffed, "Fine. Put a knife to your neck and cut your head off!"

Chapter 217 Medical Incident

Kaze would never do as told. His eyes gleamed coldly and wanted to teach Larry a lesson. However, he frowned when he saw the righteousness in the young.

man's face.

Something was not right.

"What do you mean?"

Did the Quint family owe the Laime family a life?

Larry scoffed, "Stop acting stupid, you fuck. If you don't dare to cut your neck with a knife, then sit back and let me suck off your family!"

He then lit another cigarette and strutted into the house.

"Agnes, I'm thirsty. | want tea!"

His arrogant voice could be heard from inside the house. He was like a king who returned to his palace. Kaze looked at Darcy and Sky. "What do we owe him?"

Darcy sighed and started recounting the past.

"Five years ago, when my mother was still the section deputy chief of Prime Hospital, a medical incident happened and a patient lost her life."

The deceased was Larry's older sister, Letty.

Agnes was the person in charge. She lost her medical license and was fired by the hospital.

Even though she was punished and the Laime family was compensated, a girl of Darcy's age died in her hands, and that scared

It became a nightmare that haunted not only her but also the entire family.

The Laime family used the incident to blackmail Agnes for almost everything over the years.

No matter how terrible Agnes and her family were doing, they would figure out a way to fulfill the Laime family's requests. "But we've made up to them after what we've done over the years."

Sky grumbled, "I remember when I was still in high school, the Laime family came to us for Larry's school fees, so Dad and Mom gave them the money that was supposed to be mine! I couldn't afford the semester, so I became the laughingstock!"

He went to the same high school as Larry but Larry was one year younger than he was. Academics were not Larry's strong suit, and he always mingled with gangsters outside school.

He even bullied Sky when he got the chance, but Agnes and Hector never held him responsible. Even Sky's friends laughed at him for being bullied by a junior.

It was the main reason Sky became such a timid boy.

Kaze learned about the medical incident a while ago, and Darcy reminded him not to mention it in front of Agnes.

He had a hunch that the incident was more than met the eye, but he did not expect a girl's life to be involved.

“Let's go in and see what they want this time.”

Darcy sighed and went inside.

Larry was smoking his cigarette on the couch. He shook his leg as he

There was a middle-aged man and woman on the other end of the couch.

They were Larry's parents, Lance and Naomi.

Lance was smoking as well while digging his toe.

Naomi was munching on peanuts and spat the husks all over the floor.

“Lance, Naomi, Larry, here's your tea.”

Agnes made drinks and served them.

Lance grabbed the cup of tea and gulped it down but he spat it on the couch as it was scalding. He glared at Agnes angrily and bellowed, “It's so fucking hot! Are you trying to kill me with that?!” Agnes immediately apologized.

“Agnes, why didn't you inform us that you moved?”

Naomi spat the husk on the floor and clicked her tongue. "If not for the news, we wouldn't learn that your daughter became the CEO of Quintessential Group and your family has moved into Horizon Mirror." "Why? Afraid of us finding out?"

Chapter 218 Demanding Money "That's certainly not the case, Naomi. We've known each other for years, why wouldn't we tell you?"

Agnes smiled awkwardly and added, "We just moved in and haven't tidied up everything. I was planning to inform you in a day or two.

When she moved into Horizon Mirror with her family, she indeed did not want the Laim family to know, but she could not escape them forever.

The three of them waited for her outside the house and when she returned from grocery shopping, they caught her. Naomi grunted and scoffed, "Agnes, are you taking us as fools? We called you and asked if you've moved, but you stammered!

"I know what you're thinking. You don't want us to know that you moved into a big house so we can't get money from you. But can you run from us forever? Don't forget you are the reason my daughter is dead! You owed us! And you can never ever repay us!"

She slammed the tea table suddenly, startling Agnes.

Her words pried open Agnes' old scar.

"Yes, I understand, Naomi. It was my mistake. I accidentally caused Letty's death. I am sorry..." Her eyes teared up as she apologized profusely.

Darcy and Sky felt terrible when they saw their mother bow repeatedly.

The scene had happened countless times for the past five years.

Even the two of them had done the same.

They could not do anything since they owed the Laime family their daughter's life.

"Ma, stop wasting time on her. If her apology worked, Letty would have come back to life."

Larry crossed his legs on the tea table and then he looked at Darcy and her family. He said, "I'll be straightforward. I want some money to start a business."

"How much do you want, Larry?"

Agnes had seen this coming. All she could do was find out the amount and then send the family off. From the moment they stepped into the house, the living hall became smokey and dirty.

"A million." Larry waved his finger.

"A million?" Agnes was surprised.

The Laime family asked for money many times before, ranging from fifty-odd thousand to a few hundred thousand. Agnes could not do anything and went to borrow money just to fulfill their demands.

This time, Larry asked for an exorbitant amount.

Ptoey!

Lance cleared his throat and spat into the ashtray in front of him.

The noise alone gave Darcy and Sky goosebumps.

Lance cleared his throat again and glared at Agnes. "Look at this house. It cost at least ten million, right? So what is a million to you? Stop acting poor!"

Ten million?

Lance was missing one zero, but Agnes would never tell him the real price of Horizon Mirror.

Naomi chimed in, "Agnes, your daughter is now the CEO of Quintessential Group. She has all the money of the company, I'm sure she can come up with a million."

"That money belongs to the company!" Darcy argued.

"I don't care whose money!" Naomi shouted at Darcy.

She added, "I just know that if your mother didn't kill my daughter, she would definitely be as successful as you or better!" Darcy's expression turned bitter and helplessly shut her mouth.

Kaze had been observing for a while and finally decided to intervene. He said coldly, "You keep talking about your daughter but why do I feel like you are using her as a money tree?"

His words silenced the living hall. Naomi bolted up from the couch like a cat's tail being stepped on. Who the fuck are you, punk? What are you talking about?" "He is Darcy's stupid husband."

Larry got on his feet and stared at Kaze. "You useless piece of fuck, this is no place for you to make noise!"

Chapter 219 Last Million "Kaze Lee right? Get the fuck out of my face right now!" Larry pointed at the door as if he was the owner of Horizon Mirror. Kaze's eyes gleamed coldly. "This is my house. YOU should leave!"

He was upset by the mess the Laime family caused. He had not asked them to leave because Agnes owed them a lot, but Larry crossed the line by asking him, the owner of the house, to leave and his patience ran out.

Larry must be joking!

Larry scoffed, "Are you fucking with me now? Your house? You are also a useless parasite that lives under Agnes!" His gaze looked dangerous as he rolled his sleeves.

"You don't want to fuck off, then I'll make you!"

Larry threw a kick at Kaze.

Kaze was furious. He simply lifted his leg and Larry's kick landed at the back of his calf.

Larry felt like he kicked an iron wall.

"Ouch!"

Larry cried in pain. His tanned face flushed and his expression turned bitter.

“Fuck! How dare you fight back!”

Larry swung a slap at Kaze.

Kaze grunted. A hint of ferocity flashed across his eyes. He caught the slap easily and twisted the hand backward.

Larry cried in pain again.

“Kaze, stop!” Darcy cried suddenly and came over to stop him.

He knew Kaze was ruthless and Larry’s arm would be broken if she did not intervene.

Kaze frowned but he let go of Larry's arm.

Darcy breathed a sigh of relief. He tugged Kaze’s arm and said, “Let him go. He’s not like the others who tried to take advantage of us.”

“What is so different about him? He’s like the other ignorant fools.

who think too much of themselves.”

Kaze glared at the incapacitated Larry on the floor.

He knew what Darcy meant. It was a debt that Agnes owed and could never repay, but he had seen through the Laime family.

They spoke of the late Letty again and again not because they missed her but because they used it to take advantage of Agnes and family, blackmailing them for money.

They had no love for Letty.

Larry sat on the floor, incapacitated.

Kaze released him in the end but he was still hurt by the twist and was panting heavily.

Lance and Naomi helped him up immediately.

Naomi screamed angrily, "Agnes, how dare your stupid son-in-law hurt my son?! You have killed my daughter and now you want to kill my son?!" "Naomi, Kaze has a mental disability, he cannot be triggered. He doesn't mean it.

Agnes explained immediately. He knew Kaze was mentally sound but she had to come up with an excuse to defuse Naomi. If she said Kaze beat Larry on purpose, then the Laime family would lash out at them. Agnes then glared at Kaze. "You, shut up, or I will throw you out of the house!"

Kaze was expressionless as he went silent.

Larry sat on the couch to rest for a while to regain his composure. He stared at Kaze with fear and viciousness.

"I won't forget this, you fuck!" "Larry, forget about that piece of shit. We are here for the money!" Naomi looked at Agnes. "My son wants the money to start a business. You have to give the million today or we are not leaving. We can stay here, in your house. I believe you won't throw us out. Letty would haunt you at night!"

Agnes sighed helplessly. She then went into her room and came back out with a bank card.

The card contained the million dollars Darcy borrowed from Miru the other day to pay Gold Tooth to support Kaze.

Darcy wanted to give it back but Miru said to give the money to Agnes and Hector as a present.

Agnes did not use a penny from it because she wanted to give it to Sky.

Sky was graduating soon, so the money could support him whether he wanted to start a business or find a job. Now, she was forced to give the money away.

She gave the card to Naomi and said helplessly, "Here, a million. This is the last we can offer."

Chapter 220 The Car Was Stolen

"There's a million in this card? Are you serious?"

Larry's eyes shone greedily when he heard there was a million in the bank card.

He snatched the card and held it in his hand like he had gotten his precious.

He eagerly asked for the PIN to access it.

The card was Darcy's, so the PIN was her birthday.

Agnes told Larry the PIN, and only then the family decided to leave.

They got up from the couch and swept the husks and ashes off their clothes before heading to the door. Agnes and her family breathed a sigh of relief.

Before they stepped out, Naomi said, "Can any of you drive us back? This neighborhood is huge! We walked quite a bit to reach your house."

"Kaze, drive them back, and mind your manners!"

Agnes was afraid that the Laim family would give her more trouble, so she urged Kaze to send them off. Larry glanced at Kaze and nodded. "Fine. Little piece of shit, you can drive us back!"

He resented Kaze for hurting him earlier and decided to humiliate him on the way back.

Kaze glanced at him coldly and was about to go drive the car around when Sky snatched the car key from Kaze and said, "Kaze, I'll drive mom: i just you my moon190;

To Sky, Kaze was the almighty brother-in-law and he should not be Larry and the family's chauffeur.

"Let Sky do it," Darcy said. She was afraid Kaze would get into a scuffle with the Laime family again.

Agnes did not want anything else to go wrong, so she agreed. She just wanted them to leave as soon as possible. Sky brought the car around and drove Larry and his parents away.

Awhile later, Sky came back looking upset.

"Sky, where's the car?" Darcy asked.

Sky grumbled, "After I drove them out of the neighborhood, Larry said he wanted to test drive, so I passed him the wheels, but that ass kicked me out! He said he wanted to start a business and must look good, so he took our car!" "What? That's daylight robbery!" Darcy was upset as well.

She had been driving the Audi A4 since she graduated from university. To buy it, she saved for a few years and it was the only car the family had. They treated it with care and love.

Ren Joestar presented her with a two million Maseratti before but she declined.

To her, no expensive car would be better than the one she bought with her hard-earned money.

“Darcy, we can save up to buy a new car. You know how they are, you should be glad they didn’t take our house.” Agnes felt terrible seeing her daughter teary. She felt bad as well but there was nothing she could do.

Darcy did not want to give her mother a hard time, so she sulked in silence.

She stomped to her room and slammed the door.

She was sulking for the entire night, locking herself in the room, and even skipping dinner. Kaze saw how badly she was affected, so he planned to take the Audi A4 back for her. Larry was just a simple-minded thug.

It would be a piece of cake dealing with people like him.

Kaze could send Gold Tooth or Dan to frighten the punk and he would return the car.

It was late, so Kaze planned to do it tomorrow.

Suddenly, Agnes got a call from Skylar View District's management which said that Lance and his wife were back. Agnes told the guards to let them through and she went out of the house to wait for them. Kaze, Sky, and Darcy came out as well when they heard the phone call.

Soon, the management's buggy with Lance and Naomi onboard arrived before Horizon Mirror.

Naomi jumped off the buggy and shouted, “Agnes, you've ruined Larry!”