

Guardian 631

Chapter 631 Revealing Real Power

“River North Corporation and other companies are out as well. I heard they messed with the wrong person from Mountain Dew Estate. I believe it is the new owner. They are all thrown out already.”

“Who is the new owner of the estate? Is he that powerful?”

“Who cares, it’s none of our business. The auction is more important now,”

The tumultuous crowd was silenced all of a sudden as several people walked inside.

Narian was in the lead, followed by his assistant and others.

“Mr. Narian Lee, you’re finally here! The Sunrise Lees had a harvest this time!” A group of people went up to Narian, flattering him with sugar-coated words. “Nonsense. We are the Lee family from the capital and we are rich! Lilyrose is just a small city! Who is capable of fighting us here? Who has the nerve to compete against us?”

Narian spewed nothing but arrogance the moment his lips moved.

He looked down on the people who surrounded them, showing no respect for them.

Despite being looked down on, the representatives from different companies dared not voice their grievances. They had to keep wearing the smiley face and bow to Narian.

Narian pushed them away and headed straight to Kaze.

The representatives knew the history between Kaze and the Lee family, so the moment Narian approached Kaze, they knew they were in for a good show.

“My dear cousin brother, I heard you spent two billion to bid for Mountain Dew Estate?” Narian asked derisively.

Everyone was shocked upon hearing Narian. They all turned their attention to Kaze.

They were not in the restaurant earlier and did not know that Kaze was the new owner who bid for Mountain Dew Estate.

“It’s none of your business.”

Kaze was beside Darcy, seated, and refused to look at Narian.

“Two billion? I bet that’s the money the top three families compensated to Shangrila Group and it’s almost hit the bottom. No wonder Shangrila Group is not here for the auction today.”

Narian continued, “You are really a smart ass. You could use the two billion to borrow more money and buy a ton of the top three families’ assets. Instead, you spent it on a moderately priced estate.”

He thought Shangrila Group was the one who bid for the Mountain Dew Estate.

What he did not know was that Shangrila Group had no interest in the auction today, hence the absence.

Winnie had fixed the roadmap for the company’s development, which was to focus on the biomedical field and renewable energy, nothing else.

Darcy’s doubts faded upon hearing Narian. She too believed it was Shangrila Group who bought the Mountain Dew Estate.

“I bought it for my wife, and I am happy with my purchase.”

Kaze did not even bother explaining to Narian.

Darcy shot a glare at him! He bragged in front of her again!

However, since they were in public, she did not want to embarrass him.

Narian felt strange when he saw the nonchalant response from Kaze.

He grunted and then looked at Darcy. "Darcy, I told you to divorce this man here during our last meeting and be with me. What are your thoughts on that?"

"Narian, are you trying to mess with me?!"

Kaze looked up fiercely.

Darcy was his bottom line that no one could cross.

He had the urge to kill Narian on the spot.

"Kaze, stop it!"

Kaze calmed down and conserved his murderous intent.

"Kaze, if only you are half as capable as how you brag."

He stared at Darcy with a lustful gaze.

Chapter 632 Disgusting

Narian then walked away with arrogant cackles.

Darcy became worried. She had a feeling that Narian would target her during the auction later.

“Don’t worry, Darcy. He’s just a clown. He won’t be able to make fun of anyone soon,” Kaze said.

Darcy simply hummed a reply.

“My entrepreneur friends, let us begin the auction today!”

The auctioneer’s voice came from the podium.

The floor was silenced immediately.

“The first property on our auction list today is Genting Limited, starting with twenty million with each increase no less than one hundred thousand...”

The first on the list was the company that Quarter Group aimed for.

Genting Limited was not a big company but its business would complement Quartet Group’s shortcomings.

Darcy could merge the companies if she could get it.

She did some research with her team about Genting Limited and believed they had a good chance to win the bidding.

Many bidders were from big companies and they had their eyes on bigger or same scale companies, so they should not be interested in a smaller company like Genting Limited.

Therefore, Quartet Group decided to go after the smaller ones.

As for the bigger targets, Quartet Group was not capable of competing with others and hence, did not even consider bidding for them.

Even though the company received a billion in funds, Darcy wanted to remain grounded.

As expected, no one cast a bid after the auctioneer's announcement.

Darcy shot a glance at Riley.

Riley raised her hand.

"20.1 million."

No one else cast their bid, which was expected.

People wanted to save their funds to aim for bigger companies.

"Quartet Group, 20.1 million. Going once..."

"Going twice..."

The auctioneer raised his mallet. Right before he slammed it down, someone cast another bid.

“20.1 million and one dollar.”

A woman’s voice sounded.

“Wait, I thought the minimum bid was one hundred thousand, what’s with the one dollar?”

“That’s sick.”

The strange increment sparked a discussion among those on the floor.

Everyone turned in the direction where the voice came from.

It was from Narian’s beautiful female assistant.

Darcy’s expression turned bitter.

Narian came after her after all, in the most disgusting way possible.

“Minimum increment is one hundred thousand, Miss,” the auctioneer said.

“I am topping just one dollar. Is there a problem with that? Do you have a problem with the Lee family?”

Narian glared at the auctioneer.

The auctioneer’s expression shifted multiple times before he said, “Uh...the Lee Corporation, 20.1

million and one dollar...”

He dared not mess with the Lees.

“20.2 million.” Riley cast her bid once more.

Narian’s assistant responded immediately, “20.2 million and one dollar!”

Riley continued, but Narian’s assistant was persistent.

Riley increased to 21 million but Narian’s assistant continued targeting her.

The price went up to 23 million.

“Riley, stop,” Darcy said coldly.

“I know, but they have the money to do it and we don’t,” Darcy said.

The Lee family had no problem with funding.

Chapter 633 Buy the Best

“Genting Limited, sold to Lee Corporation!”

The mallet was slammed on the podium.

The auction continued.

Several smaller companies were put on auction, which were all Quartet Group's targets, yet every single one of them was won by Narian with one extra dollar.

With Lee Corporation on their back, Quartet Group could not even win a single bid!

After the first round of auction, the attendees were given five minutes of break.

Narian strode over with a condescending manner and grinned. "Darcy, I told you I'll show you what a powerful man is so that you can make up your mind to leave this useless trash here. Now you see what I can do. Hahaha!"

"Narian Lee, don't get ahead of yourself!" Darcy was fuming, but helpless.

She could not compete against the Lee family's wealth.

"It seems like you haven't made up your mind, Darcy. I've decided."

Narian grinned widely and continued, "I will block every bid that you place and with that, I will make you remember what I am capable of, for life!"

He then grinned at Kaze. "Trash!"

He turned around and walked away after that, cackling loudly.

Kaze did not even look at Narian. He held Darcy's hand and said, "Babe, don't be affected by him. The smaller companies are meaningless. If you want to purchase a company, let's get the best."

It was the reason why he did not help Darcy bid for the smaller companies earlier.

He wanted the best for his wife.

"Kaze, you don't need to comfort me. We don't have that much money."

Darcy shook her head and continued, "One billion is not that much compared to the bigger companies who are loaded with funds, let alone the Lee family who are substantial."

The Lee family got four billion in funds and even got a huge loan from the bank. They came here to conquer the market of Lilyrose!

Darcy knew she was no match for them.

"You might not have it, but I do."

Kaze said with a smile, "I told you last night that I have a big surprise for you, right? I'll buy Sky Ocean Corporation for you later."

Sky Ocean Corporation?

Darcy was slightly surprised. She bitterly smiled and said, "Kaze, stop joking. It's impossible."

"Then just wait and see."

Kaze knew she would not believe him and there was nothing he could do for now,

The auction for Sky Ocean Corporation was about to begin, and it would be a great opportunity for him to prove it to Darcy.

"Alright, ladies and gentlemen, the break is over. Now we will proceed to our most sought-after property of the day, Sky Ocean Corporation. The starting price begins at three billion..."

The auctioneer's announcement made the air in the hall tense.

Several big companies attended the auction just for Sky Ocean Corporation.

"I'll just say this once. The Lees are getting the Sky Ocean Corporation!"

Suddenly, Narian got up on his feet and spoke loudly.

He looked at everyone condescendingly and added, "If any of you wants to compete with the Lee family, you better make sure you have enough resources."

A blatant threat, which was forbidden in the auction.

The Lees were targeting Sky Ocean Corporation at its lowest price.

Despite the blatant threats, not even the auctioneer or organizers dared to stop Narian.

The other representatives found themselves in a bitter situation.

They dared not rise up against Narian, or the Lee family.

Lees.

Darcy then got up from her seat and went out, leaving Kaze behind.

“Darcy, where are you going?”

Kaze was confused.

Chapter 634 An Eye for an Eye

“We’re going home! I’m not staying to let Narian make a fool out of all of us!” Darcy said angrily.

She attended the auction for nothing.

Quartet Group was not able to win any bids,

“Don’t worry. He won’t be talking for long, I said I will bid Sky Ocean Corporation for you.”

Kaze tried to hold her back and bring her back to the seat.

“Are you going or not? If not, I’m going.”

Darcy shook his hand off and strode away. She was angry because she felt helpless in front of Narian.

“Mr. Lee, are we leaving?” Riley asked carefully.

She knew how powerful Kaze was.

Kaze was the owner of Clover Center, where Quartet Group’s office was located.

After observing Darcy for a while, Riley realized that she did not know how rich or powerful her husband was.

“Leave? Not until I smack Narian in the face,” Kaze said angrily.

“Now, let the bidding begin,” the auctioneer said.

“Three billion.”

Narian’s assistant made the first bid.

“Three billion, going once.”

Narian then looked around with a threatening gaze.

The big companies with the capabilities to compete decided to concede when they saw his gaze.

No one dared to place a bid with him watching them.

The bidding for Sky Ocean Corporation should be the climax of the event and everyone expected a bidding war, yet it turned out cold and tense.

With Narian threatening the others, there was no doubt that the Lees would win the bid.

Many of the representatives wanted to leave.

“Three billion going twice.”

“Are you fucking dumb?”

Narian turned to the auctioneer and shouted, “Look, who else is raising the bid against me? Just slam the fucking hammer and finish this! I’m going to lunch!”

He was loud and arrogant.

The auctioneer was frightened. His hand holding the mallet became sweaty.

“Three billion, going thrice...”

“Three billion and one dollar!”

Right before the auctioneer could slam the mallet, a woman’s voice echoed across the floor.

It felt like she mustered all her courage to place the bid.

The entire floor was silenced.

Who had the nerve to place a bid in front of Narian?

Who would dare to challenge the Lees openly?

Everyone turned around, including Narian.

A young woman in professional attire raised her hand.

It was Riley.

Narian widened his eyes and bolted up from his seat. He shouted, “You fucking bitch, do you want to die?”

“Narian, look at you. Bullying a girl? Is that all you can do? Or is that all the Lee family can do?” Kaze asked casually with his legs crossed.

“Kaze, don’t fuck with me!”

Narian was so furious that his cheeks were twitching.

Kaze increased only one dollar in his bid!

“Give it to me!”

Narian snatched the number sign from his assistant and raised it high.

“3.01 billion!”

Riley looked at Kaze.

“One dollar,” Kaze said casually.

Riley raised her hand with the number sign. “3.01 billion and one dollar.”

Chapter 635 Spat Blood

Narian’s brows twitched as his eyes widened.

His assistant could even hear him grinding his teeth out of anger.

Everyone else on the floor gasped.

Kaze was messing with Narian the wrong way!

All of them shot a sympathetic gaze at Kaze because getting Narian mad would result in nothing.

With the Lee family's wealth and influence in the capital, there was no way Kaze was his match.

Instead, Narian would hold a grudge and it would not end well for Kaze.

"3.1 billion!"

Narian raised the sign and pushed the bidding price higher.

He then shouted at Kaze, "Come on, trash! Go on!"

"Go on."

Kaze waved at Riley without even looking at Narian.

"3.1 billion and one dollar!" Riley said.

"Four billion!"

Narian was fuming already.

Everyone on the floor was shocked.

Due to Kaze's annoying bidding strategy, Narian got so angry that he increased ten million in his bidding price.

"Trash! I've put in another ten million but I will make Shangrila Group and Quartet Group pay!" Narian grinned.

"Go on."

Riley raised the sign once more. "Four billion and one dollar!"

"Five billion!"

Everyone else gasped in astonishment.

Narian had completely lost his calm,

He topped the bidding price no matter how many times Kaze outbid him.

One hundred million, two hundred million, and so on.

"Five billion and one dollar!" Riley said with the sign raised.

Narian grunted, "Six..."

"Sir, we cannot go higher than this. Five billion is all we got for now," said one of the butlers.

Narian clenched his teeth tightly. He struggled for a moment and ultimately put down his sign.

“Congratulations to Quartet Group for winning the bid on Sky Ocean Corporation!” the auctioneer announced,

Everyone released a breath of relief,

The bidding war was so fierce that everyone forgot to breathe.

No one expected there to be a bidding war for Sky Ocean Corporation, especially since everyone thought the Lee family would get it.

Sky Ocean Corporation started with three billion and managed to seal the deal with five billion and one dollar.

“Don’t you get ahead of yourself!”

Narian grinned and added, “I’d like to see how you are going to pay five billion. If you can’t, the breach of contract will kill you for sure!”

Five billion was an astronomical figure that could cause a storm in any market or industry.

Even the Lees relied on the supporting funds of four billion and loans from different banks to seize the required funds for the auction.

Narian did not believe Kaze had that much money.

“Riley, go sign the contract. The auction house will receive the money soon,” Kaze said without even looking at Narian.

“Oh...Uh... Okay...”

Riley was completely stunned by the astronomical amount.

A while later, Riley came back with an excited look on her face.

“Boss, it’s done!”

Narian’s smile froze all of a sudden. The other representatives of different companies reacted the same.

Everyone looked at Kaze in shock.

With that, everyone started to believe Kaze had the money to buy Sky Ocean Corporation.

Narian glared at Kaze.

He felt defeated, humiliated and aggrieved. All kinds of emotions were flashing on his face.

Kaze had five billion?

How? How did it happen?

Chapter 636 Useless

“Let’s talk about the other procedures when we go back. I have to go find my wife.”

Kaze stood up as all eyes were on him.

He stretched and wanted to leave the auction and what he said left everyone speechless.

He spent five billion to purchase Sky Ocean Corporation and he looked like he had just bought a toy.

“Oh, right.”

At the exit, Kaze suddenly turned around and pointed at Narian.

He had never taken Narian seriously throughout the entire auction except now.

He said, “Useless.”

He then walked away without turning back.

He was not loud at all but he spoke clearly.

Compared to Narian's shouting earlier, Kaze's nonchalant demeanor felt more powerful and indubitable.

"HUH? What the fuck? He called me useless?! Why? Based on what?!"

Narian was furious, even his expression turned ugly.

The entire floor was filled with his furious shouts.

He was called useless by Kaze, the one who everyone called a useless trash.

Aggrieved, Narian almost teared up due to his strong emotions.

"Well, Kaze just spent five billion to purchase Sky Ocean Corporation."

"If you are capable, you can do it as well; if you can't, just shut up."

"Don't embarrass yourself."

Several representatives from other companies mocked Narian after his defeat.

Due to Narian's threats, they were forced to give up on Sky Ocean Corporation earlier and they too were aggrieved.

Now, seeing Narian helplessly lose the bid to Kaze, it made them feel great.

“Who? Who the hell said that? Come out here!”

Narian shouted furiously.but no one stood out,

Everyone scoffed at him and left the auction, leaving Narian alone with his angry shouts

“Aaaaaargh! I’ll fuck you up, Kaze Lee!”

Kaze returned to Orchid Chalet and saw Darcy packed up their luggage.

She was ready to leave.

“Darcy, you’re leaving already? I bought Sky Ocean Corporation...”

Kaze got nervous. He did not get to do what he should have done last night, so he wanted to stay for another night.

“You keep telling yourself that.”

Darcy rolled her eyes at him and insisted on leaving.

Kaze looked around for Riley but the girl had returned to her own room.

No one was there to prove his words.

“Are you coming? If not, you’ll have to walk down alone!”

Darcy dragged the luggage out of the room but Kaze was still stunned inside.

She glared at him, upset.

“Alright, let’s go.”

Kaze felt helpless but he could not do anything about it. He followed her to the parking lot to retrieve their car to leave.

Darcy then called Riley. “You guys can go back to the office later. Kaze and I are leaving now...”

“Ms. Quint, Sky Ocean...”

Before Riley could finish, Darcy stopped her. “I know! I know! Narian got it right? Whatever. It’s not something we should be looking at anyway. That’s all.” o

She then hung up the phone.

Kaze slid to the side and allowed the car to overtake them.

“What’s going on?”

Looking at the car in front of them, Darcy developed a bad feeling.

It did not look like the car lost control or whatever.

Kaze frowned and stopped the car as well.

Two people came down from the car with baseball bats, glaring at Kaze and Darcy.

Then, another car came up to them from the back with two more armed men.

“Kaze, what’s...”

Darcy’s expression shifted greatly as she knew danger had descended upon them.

Chapter 637 Break the Arm

“Don’t worry, it’s going to be fine. Just stay in the car.”

Kaze tapped Darcy’s hand and then got out of the car.

He then leaned against the car and waited,

The four men were slightly surprised.

They thought Kaze would lock the door and call for help, but he got out of the car instead.

The men approached him.

They dragged the baseball bats along the asphalt road, causing irritating screeches.

“Who sent you?” Kaze asked.

Even though his first thought was Narian, there were a number of people who got into a conflict with him in Mountain Dew Estate.

“You should know who did you mess with,” said one of the men.

“Someone wanted us to break your legs. You want to do it yourself, or we have to do it with our bats?”

One of the men then handed Kaze the baseball bat, looking at him with a contemptuous grin.

Kaze saw their bulging muscles. The men were obviously trained, which explained their boldness.

“I’ll do it myself.”

Kaze reached out to the baseball bat.

Swoosh!

The moment he touched the bat, he twisted it and swung it back at the man’s face.

“You punk!”

The man had expected resistance from Kaze, hence his unfazed look.

He grunted and crouched his fingers into a claw. His fingers were slender like twigs but they were covered with calluses.

“I have practiced my claw attacks for more than two decades. My palm is as tough as stone and I can crush a rock with my bare hand! I'll crush every bone on you!"

The man launched his claw attack at the bat and clashed with it.

Upon collision, blood spewed.

The hand was smacked off from the arm and flew into another man's face.

"Aaaah!"

The man screamed excruciatingly as he looked at his arm without a hand.

The ferocity on his face was replaced by pain and horror.

The other three men were mortified.

One swing of the bat and he smacked off the hand of a guy who had trained his hand for two decades.

It did not just break the bones or tear the skin but it ripped off the hand from the arm! ox

The hand grew from the arm, connected by bones and muscles, not glued onto it!

How could one swing smacked off the hand with such ease?

They all looked at Kaze in horror.

How powerful must Kaze be to swing the bat like a sword?

The pain slowly turned into regret.

The man who lost his hand shouted in pain, "GET HIM! FUCK HIM UP!"

Bang!

Kaze swung the bat at the man's chin, causing a loud clunk.

The man was then knocked down to the ground.

All four men were ferocious thugs. Despite the horrifying power that Kaze displayed, they were not deterred and quite the opposite, their ferocity was aroused.

The man on the ground, who lost his hand, wiped the blood off his chin.

"GET HIM!"

The other three swung their bats at Kaze.

"Kaze, watch out!"

Darcy screamed in the car with a pale face.

Bang! Bang! Bang!

All three men were knocked down to the ground.

Two of them passed out as their jaws were crushed.

Kaze showed no mercy at thugs like them.

“Who sent you?”

Chapter 638 Break Narian Lee

Crack!

Before the man could finish, Kaze stomped on his leg.

“Aaaargh!”

The man screamed in pain once more.

Kill him and abduct Darcy. Kaze knew exactly what Narian was trying to achieve.

“Narian, you bastard!”

Back in the car, Darcy, who was mortified, shouted angrily, “Kaze, let’s call the police.”

“I’m afraid he will be released after one day he’s arrested.”

Kaze denied her suggestion.

He looked at the man on the ground. "Call Narian and tell him the job is done. Tell him to come over."

The man was still suffering from a broken leg but he dared not defy Kaze anymore.

He endured the pain and made a call to Narian.

"Sir, it's done."

"You got Darcy already? Great! Nicely done. I'm on my way."

Narian hung up the phone with an evil laugh.

A while later, a motorcade consisting of expensive cars came down from the estate.

Narian came out of his car and went over to the scene.

He realized only one of his men remained conscious and everyone was injured.

He was shocked.

"I knew Kaze was strong but not this strong. I should have sent more men. But he's finally dead. Thank goodness! This is what you get for messing with me!"

Narian laughed and then asked, "Where's Darcy?"

The man on the ground with the broken leg pointed at the car.

"Darcy, Kaze is dead. My condolences. Come with me and I will take care of you. Hahaha..."

Narian went over to the car.

He thought Darcy was so horrified that she could not even speak. He bent over to have a closer look but then he saw Kaze instead.

"Kaze?! What? How?"

Narian's grin was frozen and his voice was silenced.

Kaze, who he assumed had fallen off the cliff, was sitting in the car alive and well.

Kaze looked at him with a grin. "How am I still alive?"

Narian was not stupid. He immediately looked at the man with the broken leg.

"You fuck! You betrayed me?!"

The man looked away in silence.

"Kaze, you are indeed stronger than I expected. I didn't expect my bodyguards to lose to you."

Narian was furious when he looked at Kaze but he did not look afraid at all.

“Consider yourself lucky this time.”

He then wanted to talk away.

“Hold on. Did I say you can leave?”

Then, Kaze came out of the car.

Narian turned around with a glare. “Do I need your permission to leave? What the fuck are you trying to do? Touch me and the Lee family will come after you!”

“Idiot, I called you here not to listen to your nonsense.”

Kaze kicked up the baseball bat on the ground and caught it with his hand.

“How dare you!”

the knee.

Clunk!

Narian fell to the ground and hugged his knee in pain.

“Stop it! How dare you hit Mr. Lee?!”

Narian's assistant and the others tried to stop Kaze,

"How dare you make me kneel?! You are courting death... Argh!"

Narian's knee was broken.

He screamed excruciatingly but Kaze remained unfazed.

Bang!

Another knee was broken.

"If you fall, I'll break your arms as well."

Chapter 639 Vicious? I'm Not Even Finished

Narian was mortified when he heard Kaze's frosty and merciless voice.

He was frightened and his eyes were teary.

The arrogant and rude young master of the Lees was gone and was replaced by a frightened boy.

"Kaze, the Lee family will come after you! You have no idea how powerful we have become! No one can save you!" he shouted his lungs out.

"Do you know why I didn't push you over the cliff?"

Kaze's words stopped Narian's crying immediately.

Narian could tell from Kaze's calm tone that it was not just a bluff. Kaze would really kill him if he continued to scream.

"That's because I want the Lee family to see what happened to you, and I want every one of them to know, including that old geezer, George. If all of you don't come to Lilyrose and apologize to my wife within a month, they will end up just like you."

Kaze then turned around and went back to his car.

The car then drove off from everyone's frightened gaze.

"Kaze, you are being too fierce just now," Darcy said after they left the scene.

"Fierce? I didn't even do anything."

Kaze smiled. "A few years ago, the Lee family plotted the accident and made your father a cripple and he's wheelchair-bound until now. Aren't they being fierce?"

He once thought of healing Hector, granting him the ability to stand again.

However, after some observation, he gave up on that thought.

It had been many years since the accident and the golden timeframe to heal his legs was long gone.

“But after what you did to Narian, I’m afraid the Lee family will come after us.”

Darcy was worried about retaliation.

In fact, everything that happened to her family in the past few years was all caused by the Lee family and it had traumatized her.

She was worried.

“Don’t worry. Nothing will happen, and we are just getting started,” Kaze said.

No words were necessary, anymore at this point.

Darcy suppressed her worries.

No matter what happened, she had decided to stick with Kaze and face the challenges head-on.

When they returned to Horizon Mirror Mansion, Agnes came over immediately.

She sighed when she saw Darcy walking normally and looking healthy.

“Kaze, thank goodness you didn’t do anything to her, or else you wouldn’t be stepping into this house.”

Kaze knew what Agnes was referring to. “Mother, Darcy and I are married, it’s normal for us to do something together.”

“Married? You are just here staying at our house temporarily and the cool–down period is only a month.

Once that’s over, you two will get a divorce!”

Kaze was speechless. It seemed like Agnes was still bothered by it.

“Darcy, how was the auction? How many companies did you acquire?”

Hector wheeled himself over.

Agatha and the younger ones also came over, wondering how Darcy did at the auction.

“Not a single one,” Darcy grumbled.

“Not one? I thought you have one billion of funds, yet you can’t get even one?”

Everyone was confused.

“The Sunrise Lees targeted us.”

Darcy did not want to go into details.

“Not one...”

She glared at Kaze again.

“Don’t be sad, Darcy. It’s Kaze’s fault, not yours. Go have some rest.”

273

“Okay.”

Darcy went upstairs with a long face.

Kaze was speechless and helpless.

Chapter 640 Brag Again

“Mr. Chairman, Ash Lester is already on her way.”

Before Mountain Dew Estate, Kaze already knew that Ash was the manager hired by the Butterworth

Queens to take care of the family’s investment matters.

She was extremely capable.

“I got it.”

Kaze then hung up the phone.

During lunch, Nelson, who was taken away because he accepted the gifts of the top three families, finally came back.

Everyone welcomed him back.

“Nelson, will the case affect your career progression?” Agatha asked.

“Affect my career progression? It’s not even a case.”

Since he was in front of his family, there was nothing he could not say.

He happily took a sip of wine and said, “It’s just a small matter. My boss already talked to me and I got detained for two days and had to write a review. That’s it. It’s over.”

“I bet it’s Kiev’s father who helped you.”

Agatha felt relieved.

“Yeah. Someone just wants to watch me burn but I have a strong background and connections.”

Nelson shot a gaze at Kaze. “My boss is the vice commander of the South River Strategic Department!

He can do whatever he wants, and so do I! No reports will work on me!”

He knew it was Kaze who reported him.

Kaze simply smiled it off and said nothing.

“Nelson, I thought you were supposed to be at work today, why did you come back?” Agatha asked.

Nelson then put his wine down and said, "After lunch, I want everyone to follow me, except Kaze. You can do whatever you want."

Kaze frowned. He knew Nelson wanted to exclude him and he believed the man had some strange ideas in mind.

"Uncle Nelson, you guys go. I have to go back to work later."

Darcy was unhappy to know that her uncle intentionally isolated Kaze.

"No!" Nelson waved and said indubitably, "Darcy, you are the main feature today! Everyone can stay home except you!"

"Where are we going, Nelson?" Agnes asked.

Nelson wore a mysterious look and said, "You'll know if you come. It's a good thing for Darcy!"

"Darcy, why don't you follow your Uncle Nelson for once? Your company will be fine. You have many employees working for you," Agnes said, hoping to change Darcy's mind.

"I'll go if Kaze goes," Darcy said.

"Fine. He can come too."

Nelson compromised.

“The auction at Mountain Dew Estate has just ended and Sky Ocean Corporation was auctioned off at five billion and one dollar, making history in the city’s auction deal.”

The announcement was made on TV.

“What? Five billion? Who won the bid?”

Everyone was surprised.

Rose asked, “Darcy, do you know who won the bid?”

“Who else if not the Lee family? But I thought the original price was three billion, why did it become five billion?” Darcy was slightly confused.

“I won the bid,” Kaze said.

“You? Huh? If you win the bid, I’ll eat my hat!” Nelson said.

As expected, no one believed him.

“Come on, let’s go!”

After lunch, Nelson brought everyone out.

while later.