

Guardian 701

Chapter 701 Chrysant's Belle

"Hm."

Kaze nodded indifferently.

He disapproved of Zenny.

Kaze once rescued Brenda from being trafficked. Yet, Zenny made a false accusation about him.

Kaze turned to Don for help, and Don was the reason Zenny lost his cushy job from pulling strings at the Traffic Department. Zenny had been unemployed since.

Later, Zenny and his mother, Lyla, got into several rows with Kaze.

Zenny's family and Kaze went way back but not in a good way.

Benedict, Zenny's father, was a superior at Lilyrose Wholeness Medical Center.

The medical incident five years ago was an elaborate plot to frame Agnes, and Benedict played a role in the conspiracy. Benedict was held in detention, waiting for trial now.

Knowing that Kaze was not keen to see him, Zenny made a quick exit after saying hello.

"Don't let Zenny come here anymore. I suspect he might have something to do with Brenda's abduction." Kaze's intention was not to talk bad about Zenny.

Zenny's behavior was rather suspicious back then.

“Alright. I'll be mindful. I'll divorce him if he's really involved.”

Winnie was horrified.

She was aware that Zenny never took to Brenda.

Brenda was not his daughter after all.

However, she would not put up with Zenny if he had done something so heinous.

“Godfather.”

Brenda ran out of the house and threw herself into Kaze's arms with glee.

+16 BONUS

Kaze carried her and entered the villa.

Winnie followed them with a smile.

Not too far away, Zenny cocked his head back and observed the trio with a grimace.

His eyes were filled with malice.

After a brief exchange with James' parents, Kaze drove Winnie and Brenda out.

They approached the road to Dynasty Hotel.

Along line of fancy cars stretched toward the parking lot entrance.

It was clear these people were there to attend the party.

“Mom, I want ice cream. Grandpa and Grandma won't let me have any.”

Brenda clung to the car window and watched enviously as children indulged in ice cream on the street.

“Be a good girl now, Brenda. Grandpa and Grandma don't want you to get an upset tummy from eating ice cream.” “Oh.”

Amused by Brenda's antics, Kaze said, “It's okay to have ice cream once in a while. Why don't you take Brenda to enjoy one while I park the car?”

“Yay! You're the best, Kaze!”

Unable to say no,

Winnie took Brenda out of the car,

Once they bought an ice cream cone, Winnie walked with Brenda to Dynasty Hotel. The hotel entrance was buzzing with activity.

Many influential families and representatives of corporations received invitations to the party and they graced the Vinlands with their presence, a testament to their respect,

“The Vinlands are unstoppable. They made the Quints change their family name and took over their assets. The Vinlands are indeed wealthier than the Sunrise Lees.”

“I know, right? The Sunrise Lees were only part of the upper class ten years ago, but Vinlands have been around for decades. Many of their family members are accomplished.”

“The family sent their youngest, Hudson, to organize everything in Lilyrose. The man is full of promises. The Vinlands have big plans for Lilyrose.”

“I heard Hudson’s daughter, Yume, is Chrysant’s belle. She will be attending the party tonight too. I’d love to catch a glimpse of her. Some attending guests chatted among themselves. They were filled with anticipation.

Tonight was not just about befriending the Vinlands; many were looking forward to checking Yume out too.

A lot of families were represented by their most successful kin. Their motives were clear.

“We’ll wait here for Kaze, Brenda can enter the venyatdadtter later.”

Winnie led Brenda to the hotel entrance.

“Alright.”

Brenda licked her ice cream.

A group of well-dressed youngsters hurried toward the door. “Ugh!”

One of the young men was not looking and bumped Brenda on the ground.

The ice cream cone was knocked off Brenda's hand. "Brenda!" Winnie exclaimed and got down to help Brenda up. "I'm fine, Mom. The mister wasn't looking," Brenda said.

She got up on her own while scrunching her face in pain. "She's fine, but we're not."

A woman's angry voice was heard. "Why didn't you kee ateye on your child? She @uied Yume's new dress!"

Chapter 702 Mood Fouled

The woman talking was Lyn Bluenid.

She was part of the group of youngsters.

Even though her companion knocked Brenda over, Lyn lashed out at Brenda and Winnie instead. "I'm sorry. My child didn't mean to. She was bumped into. I'm so sorry."

Despite her rage, Winnie did not want to cause any trouble and apologized.

"Your words mean nothing. Do you know the cost of Yume's dress? It was 200 thousand dollars! Don't try to run away from this. It's not over.

Lyn glared at Winnie and Brenda.

Her gaze darted back to the woman, catching the creamy smudge on her dress. Lyn reached for a napkin and attempted to wipe the stain off Yume's dress.

"Are you alright, Yume? Do you want the brat to compensate you?" the other men and women asked. Like a beacon in the crowd, the woman's radiant presence drew everyone's attention.

Her long, beautiful hair framed her face.

The strappy, long dress exposed her shoulders and complimented her flawless.

skin.

She was slender in build, her waist thin.

The sparkling high heels added an ethereal vibe to her look.

“Who is she? She’s more gorgeous than Taylor.”

“Her companion called her Yume. She must be Hudson’s daughter, Chrysant’s belle.”

“It must be her. The Vinlands are definitely the finest, and it shows in their genes.”

Many men, young and old, were blown away by Yume’s beauty.

Most women, on the other hand, felt small.

Winnie scowled.

It never occurred to her that tension would arise between her and Yume’s group at the Vinlands* party. Ignoring her companions’ concerns, Yume stared at Winnie and Brenda with a blank face.

She was in a foul mood.

Winnie drew close with Brenda to apologize once more.

“Hello there, Ms. Vinland. I’m so sorry about earlier. Brenda, apologize to the lady.”

“I’m sorry, lady,” intimidated by Yume’s gaze, Brenda said timidly.

“Oh, that’s Winnie, the general manager of Shangrila Group.”

“The child must be her daughter with James. | met her at Jade Estate the other day.”

Many recognized Winnie.

Some did not expect Winnie to be so quick to apologize to Yume.

Shangrila Group had been making big splashes in Lilyrose lately.

“Shangrila Group? I’ve never heard of the company before. So what if she’s the general manager?”

Lyn added in disdain, “My family owns Blueray Group in Chrysant, and | bet it’s a bigger group than Shangrila. Juno here has a family business in Chrysant too. His family runs Star Corporation which is more established than Shangrila.

“We are confident that any one of our companies could outperform Lilyrose’s. “Don’t get me started on Yume. Her family is in the top 1%. Shangrila Group is no threat! The attendees were from various families and corporations.

They were upset by Lyn’s cocky attitude, acting as if Lilyrose was beneath her.

However, they had to keep their thoughts to themselves.

Blueray Group and Star Corporation were well-known giants in the state ,

These companies were powerful.

Chrysanth City housed the headquarters of their companies.

They saw the Vinlands as their leader.

These corporations tagged along during the Vinlands' expansion to Lilyrose.

"What do you want to do about it, Yume? Should Winnie frowned, not wanting the matter to escalate further. It would be ideal if money could resolve the issue. "We are happy to compensate you, Ms. Vinland," Winnie said.

Yume replied coldly, "My dress was airlifted from abroad and the dress now.

"200 thousand dollars isn't much, but my mood is ruined."

Chapter 703 Bring Your Face Closer

"Hear that? 200 thousand dollars means squat, but your brat ruined Yume's mood."

Lyn glared at Winnie.

She asked with a smirk, “Why don’t | slap the general manager of whatchamacallit to make you feel better, Yume?” Yume would not even look at Winnie.

“| heard that your late husband was close to Darcy’s family?”

Winnie was taken aback by the question.

She later nodded.

Yume gave Lyn a nod and stopped talking.

“Alright. Yume has agreed to move past the matter if | get to slap you.”

Reading Yume’s mind, Lyn told Winnie.

Ek.

The onlookers gasped sharply.

Yume’s group was a cocky bunch.

Lyn wanted to get physical with Winnie just because Brenda accidentally ruined a dress.

As the general manager of Shangrila Group, Winnie was a respectable figure in Lilyrose.

If the offending party did not come from power or wealth, the consequences might be worse for all they knew. “Just forget it, Ms. Vinland. The child didn’t do it on purpose. She’s a good kid. She got up on her own when she fell.” “Yeah. The girl apologized along with her mother right away, and they are willing to replace the dress.”

Some could not take it anymore and tried to talk senses into the group.

“Shut up, peasants!”

Lyn shot angry looks at those who stood up for Winnie and Brenda.

She brushed off these locally influential individuals.

“Yume is the princess of the Vinlands and she is Chrysant’s belle. Her suitors are legion, enough to form a line stretching from Chrysant to Sunrise. No one wants to make her sad.

“One slap is a very light punishment.” Lyn raised her hand to strike Winnie. Winnie was not going to take the hit, so she pulled Brenda back.

“It’s better for us to move past this, Ms. Vinland. Your companion bumped into my child and knocked the ice cream onto your dress.”

Winnie pointed at Juno.

Juno kept to himself right from the start.

He had no intention of apologizing to Brenda.

“The ice cream didn’t come from me. What do | care?”

Juno rolled his eyes. “You said | bumped into your child, but | don’t remember knocking anybody over.” The crowd found Juno tasteless.

Brenda was only a child. Yet, she and her mother apologized right away.

Juno, on the other hand, denied the whole thing ever happened.

“Why waste your breath with her, Juno?”

Lyn pointed at Winnie. “Bring your face closer, or I promise you that Shangrila Group’s days are numbered. “Isn’t Shangrila Group successful in Lilyrose? Well, I’ll show the general manager a thing or two.”

The onlookers read the room.

Lyn was trying to make an example of Shangrila Group and establish dominance. in Lilyrose.

The crowd was livid.

Nevertheless, Lyn was backed by Blueray Group and a mammoth like the Vinlands.

The attendees had to hold their tongues.

“Sob, sob. Please, lady. Don’t hit my mom. I’ll apologize to you.”

Brenda broke out in tears.

She cried and pleaded for her mother.

“Shut up, brat! You're so annoying!”

Lyn glared at Brenda.

“Well, I'd like to see you try. How are the Shangrila Group's ones:

Finding Lyn unreasonable, Winnie took Brenda's hand to leave. She would not be attending the Vinlands' party..

“Hold it right there. Did I say you could leave? I told

Refusing to let the whole thing go, Lyn raised her
Smack! The loud slap made everybody's heart drop.

Chapter 704 Identity's Irrelevant to Punishment

“Don't hit my mom!”

It was dead silent at the entrance of Dynasty Hotel.

The crowd froze as if time had stopped.

Only Brenda's heart-wrenching cries pierced through the air.

“Don't cry, Brenda. No one can hit your mother on my watch.”

A tender voice belonging to a man rang in the girl's ear.

Brenda felt a gentle stroke on her head.

She opened her tearful eyes and saw Kaze before her.

“Godfather!”

She exclaimed with joy before whining to him, “A mean lady is trying to hit Mom!”

“It's okay, Brenda. I punished the mean woman,” Kaze said with a smile.

He glanced at the woman on the ground with her hand over her cheek.

Woah!

Only then did the stunned onlookers seem to come to life.

The scene erupted into chaos.

They stared at Lyn who had collapsed to the ground.

The high and mighty woman threatened to slap Winnie.

Now, she lay on the ground with a swollen cheek.

One of her heels fell yards away.

Lyn looked like a mess.

A figure jumped in when Lyn tried to strike Winnie.

The next thing they knew, the woman was smacked to the ground.

“The audacity! Who are you? How dare you hit Lyn!”

The men and women around Yume snapped out of their shock.

They glared at Kaze.

“She gets to attack Winnie, but no one can fight back? Who made the rules? You?” Kaze uttered nonchalantly. “How dare you hit me! Do you know who | am? How dare you!”

Lyn was helped to her feet, but she was livid.

The last thing on her mind was retrieving her lost heel.

With one foot bare, Lyn stood there wobbly and yelled angrily at Kaze.

“| don't.”

Kaze looked disinterested. “I only hit those who deserve it. Who you are is irrelevant.” Eek.

The onlookers gasped sharply.

To think Kaze could be so cocky.

“Who are you? Tell me your name. | want to kill you!” Lyn shrieked in rage.

As the daughter of Blueray Group's chairman, Lyn had always been the one calling the shots. Yet today, she was assaulted. The individual was not even interested to know who she was. "You are unworthy to find out."

Without looking at the woman, Kaze turned to ask Winnie. "What's going on here?" Kaze had just arrived on the scene after parking the car. All he saw was Lyn running after Winnie to attack her. He did not hesitate to strike back.

It was only now he could get to the bottom of the situation.

Winnie recounted the whole ordeal in a low voice. Lyn was livid by then.

She shouted at the crowd, "That's one arrogant besty ty wou of y shout know W O heis. Tell me right now!"

"We don't know him."

Everybody shook their heads.

In actuality, many among the locals knew Kaze.

Those who did not recognize Kaze got their answers

Kaze was a well-known figure in Lilyrose after all.

However, the crowd knew better than to reveal the truth.

Kaze had done something they had wanted to do but had no guts to. Lyn had it coming for looking down on the locals.

Darcy's crazy husband often made headlines for assault anyways not be brought to those who were not sound of mind.

It would be ideal if Kaze could give Lyn a couple more slaps.

Chapter 705 My Wife's Prettier

"Bastard! You don't even have the guts to say your name.

"Don't think for a second you can hide because you withhold your name. Once I find out, I'll kill you!" Lyn glared at Kaze and gnashed her teeth.

The onlookers kept mum about Kaze's identity.

They refused to tell Lyn his name and there was nothing she could do about it.

"You don't have to know my name to kill me.

By then, Kaze had learned the whole story.

He glanced at Lynn. "You're just a lapdog if you need to know who I am to kill me. You only bully the weak." The crowd knew Darcy's loser husband could fight, but they did not know he had a mouth on him too.

"How dare you call me a lapdog!"

Lyn went ballistic.

“Shut up if you’re too scared to kill me.”

Paying her no attention, Kaze pointed at Juno. “Did you knock my goddaughter over?”

“What? Are you trying to scam me for money?”

With a raised brow, Juno said curtly, “Well, you’re barking up the wrong tree.”

“I’m not scamming you for money.”

Kaze added indifferently, “I only want you to apologize to Brenda and compensate her with an ice cream cone.” The apology made sense.

The ice cream cone was a different story.

Everybody was speechless.

Juno was stunned, too furious to say anything.

“If you apologize to Lyn on your knees, | might consider apologizing to the dumb kid,” he sneered.

“| didn’t do anything wrong. Why should | apologize?”

Kaze shook his head.

“Nothing wrong?”

Juno blurted furiously, “You have the nerve to attack Lyn. Don’t you know who she is? She’s the daughter of Blueray Group’s chairman. She has the right to punish others, not the other way round.”

The men and women near him echoed his sentiment. They relayed the same message to Kaze.

Kaze scowled. “I don’t want to waste my breath. I’ll ask you one last time. Are you going to apologize to Brenda and buy her an ice cream cone?”

Juno scoffed in contempt.

He could not be bothered to answer Kaze.

“I guess you won’t learn your lesson.”

Kaze approached Juno.

Juno was horrified by his attack on Lyn earlier. He took a couple of steps back.

“Enough!”

Yume, who had said little so far, finally spoke up.

She stared at Kaze with a blank face and said callously, “You must be here to attend the party. Since you won’t apologize to Lynn, you can forget about attending the event.”

Kaze looked at the proud woman amusedly.

He had learned who she was from Winnie.

“Oh, my. Is the Vinlands’ party so exclusive that attendees have to attend on their knees?” Yume grimaced.

She could sense Kaze’s nonchalance.

Before she could say anything, her friends yelled at Kaze with their fingers up his nose.

“How dare you! How could you speak to Yume in that manner? Don’t you know who Yume is? She’s the princess of the Vinlands. Her father is hosting the event tonight.”

“No one in the city will decline to attend an event hosted by the Vinlands. Don’t tell us that you’re not here to suck up to the family.”

“Maybe he’s here to catch a glimpse of Yume. He just wants to pursue Yume and climb up the dobiat ladder through the Vinlands. That’s a joke. I bet he didn’t think he was standing before Yume.”

“Yume is the prettiest woman in Chrysalis. She has more admirers than any other girl here. How does he think he is? Fat chance that he’s going to get with her.”

Lyn, Juno, and the others taunted Kaze.

They felt superior to Kaze.

“The princess of the studied Yume’s face.

Yume looked condescendingly at “Either kneel or get lost.”

Her brief words and offhanded tone reflected her icy princessy image. Kaze suddenly smiled.

Without warning, he raised his hand and slapped Yume in the face. Smack!

It made a loud noise.

Kaze's flat voice echoed in the air.

“Chrysant’s belle, my ass. My wife’s prettier.”

Chapter 706 Get Off Your High Horse

“Chrysant’s belle, my ass. My wife’s prettier.”

It was dead silent at the entrance of Dynasty Hotel.

Kaze’s words lingered in everybody's mind.

Yume was the princess of the Vinlands and the most beautiful woman in Chrysant.

Yet, Kaze called bullshit on it.

That was not the only thing.

It never occurred to anybody that he would slap Yume in the face.

Kaze got right down to it.

The fact that Yume was a woman did not stop him.

How could he hit a delicate woman?

The crowd stared at the red handprint on Yume's cheek.

They felt bad for her.

"How dare you hit me!"

Yume lost her cool.

She stared savagely at Kaze.

Everybody could read the fury in her voice.

Kaze had enraged the Vinlands' princess.

"I mean, she was asking for it, but the idiot is done for. No one can save him after the stunt he pulled."
"He won't be charged for assault, but the Vinlands have a million ways to make, him suffer." "Yeah. No one can face the wrath of the Vinlands."

Many gave Kaze sympathetic looks.

Kaze was only getting himself in trouble by hitting Yume.

His whole family would go down with him too.

“How dare you hit me!” Yume hissed through clenched teeth, with Kaze falling silent.

Her tone was icy.

“You bad it coming.”

Kaze replied nonchalantly, “You look alright, but you’re evil to pick on a child. Get off your high horse.” He heard the whole story from Winnie.

When Lyn proposed to slap Winnie, Yume simply asked her whether James was close to Darcy. Once Yume got her answer, she approved Lyn’s suggestion.

Kaze was sure that Yume was hostile toward Darcy.

For the sake of Brenda, Winnie, and Darcy, Kaze had to put Yume in her place. Everybody was shocked. They could not believe Kaze would criticize Yume.

Nevertheless, Kaze had already struck Yume, so the yelling should not come as a surprise. “I don’t care who you are. You’re finished!”

Lyn pointed at Kaze with clenched teeth. “Yume has countless admirers. You have no idea how powerful and well-connected they all are.

“Yume doesn’t have to do anything. Her suitors will sort you out.”

The other men and women in their group lashed out at Kaze.

They set foot on Lilyrose with an air of superiority.

It was a great opportunity to take Shangrila Group down a notch.

However, Kaze humiliated Yume instead. In other words, they were all insulted. "It's too late for you to beg Yume for mercy. You're dead meat."

They looked at Kaze like he was a dead man.

"Threats don't scare me,

Kaze grinned. "Since you're her lapdogs, please pass the message to her suitors to look for me in Lilyrose.

"I'll humiliate their sweetheart in front of them."

Kaze raised his hand once more and motioned toward Yume. Yume and the others fell back.

They soon realized Kaze was only scaring them.

The group went ballistic.

The bastard was an asshole.

The onlookers were lost for words.

Yume was the princess of the Vinlands and the most gorgeous!

Her suitors were countless. Besides, all of them were powerful figures.

Yet, Kaze declared he would ins Yume in their

The idiot was cocky beyond redemption.

Chapter 707 Did | Say You Could Leave?

“Call the security officers. I want him to regret this day for the rest of his life!” Yume hissed through clenched teeth. Her voice was chilling.

She was on the edge of losing it.

As the princess of her family, she was loved and favored.

Even the older members of the family would not raise their voices at her, much less hit her. Yet today, Kaze slapped her in public.

She had never been so humiliated.

Many turned pale, startled by her remark.

They could read the resentment in Yume’s tone of voice.

The threat was directed at Kaze.

Instead of shivering in fear, Kaze approached Yume with a smile.

“Before that happens, should I hit you a few more times?”

Everybody gasped sharply.

The idiot knew no boundaries.

“Go to hell!”

Yume gnashed her teeth and slinked back.

“We should just go, Yume. I heard that the man is crazy, so we can’t charge him for assault. We’ll sort him out later. There’s no need for us to get into it with him now. Let’s not give anybody something to laugh about.”

“Yeah, you’re the princess of the Vinlands while he’s nothing. He isn’t worth our time. Let someone else take care of him.” “That’s right. Don’t get our hands dirty. We’ll get someone to put him in his place.”

Yume’s entourage persuaded her.

Feeling the hot burn on her cheek, Yume grimaced.

She pulled herself together and found that word would get out if she were to face off against a dimwit. It would damage her reputation.

“Fine. I need a change of clothes anyway.”

The group was ready to leave, not even bothering to attend the party.

“Hang on. Did I say you could leave?”

Just then, Kaze spoke.

“Who do you think you are? We don’t need your permission to leave.”

“Who are you to keep us from leaving?”

Yume and her group looked back furiously.

They had never been so disrespected.

The onlookers were speechless.

Yume planned to walk away from it.

However, Kaze would not let it go.

The nerve of him.

“Just forget it, Kaze.”

Even Winnie tried to talk some sense into Kaze. She did not want Kaze to make an enemy out of the Vinlands. “I can’t just forget it.”

Kaze pointed at Juno. “Apologize to my goddaughter and buy her a tub of ice cream.”

“You!”

Livid at first, Juno then sneered.

He pulled a hundred-dollar bill from his wallet and threw it near Kaze’s feet. “You won’t quit it. Here you go. A hundred dollars should be enough. If it isn’t, I’ll purchase carts of ice cream. The brat can have more ice cream than she can take.”

“Have some respect, Mr. Lewis. You knocked Brenda over, to begin with.” Winnie was enraged by Juno’s snide remark. Who cares?”

Juno smirked.

“Cover Brenda’s eyes, Winnie.”

Suddenly, Kaze said without looking back.

“Why do you want my eyes covered, Godfather?”

Kaze’s presence drove all of Brenda’s fear away. Brenda asked puzzledly with sparkling eyes. Still, she put her hands over her eyes.

Kaze then made his move.

Smack!

Juno was knocked over.

“Bastard! How dare you hit Juno!”

Yume’s entourage blew up.

Their hair stood when they saw the gruesome sight of

The idiot went hard on Juno.

Juno, towering at six feet, often m worked out and.

Nevertheless, he could not get up from the blow.

“What did you have, Brenda?” without looking at the grown, Kaze asked

Chapter 708 Buy Ice Cream and Apologize

“I had the rainbow snow cone, Godfather. It was delicious. Do you want one too?” Brenda asked innocently. Her hands were still over her eyes.

“Hear that? My goddaughter wants a rainbow snow cone.

Kaze stepped on the hundred-dollar bill and pushed it toward Juno. “Buy one. You can leave after you get the ice cream.” Juno’s head was still spinning from the slap.

The crowd thought Juno would make Kaze pay.

To their surprise, Juno grabbed the hundred—dollar bill and staggered to his feet.

The onlookers gave way to him.

They believed Kaze knew how to hit where it hurt the most.

Kaze made Juno buy ice cream for the child.

The young man must feel too proud to carry out Kaze’s request.

It was true that Juno found it beneath him to do so.

He intended to walk out and never come back.

“If you slip away, I'll give each of your friends a slap, and that includes Yume,” reading his thoughts, Kaze said indifferently. Yume and the others gritted their teeth and glared at Kaze.

However, they could not file charges against the psycho.

Juno hobbled back in rage.

Yume and the rest would hate him for escaping.

“Well played.”

He shot Kaze a dirty look.

Juno went to the confectionery shop next to the hotel and bought a rainbow snow cone.

“Rainbow snow cones are the best.”

Brenda tore open the wrapper and started licking.

It did not take much to make a child happy.

Juno scoffed and turned around to leave.

“Shouldn't you apologize before you go?” Kaze asked.

Juno grimaced menacingly. However, he held back the urge to kill and said sorry to Brenda.

“I'm sorry for bumping into you by accident, Brenda.”

“It's okay, mister. It was an accident,” Brenda said sweetly.

Juno glanced at Kaze.

“Go on then. You can learn a thing or two from—Brenda. Even a preschooler has more manners than you.” Kaze waved his arm.

Juno stormed out angrily.

Yume and her entourage took off too.

They gave Kaze the evil eye on their way out.

Today, they had been utterly humiliated.

The matter was not over.

They left Dynasty Hotel, not even attending the party anymore.

“Maybe we should just skip the event, Kaze. Now that this happened...” Winnie said.

“We have nothing to fear. If the Vinlands won't drop the matter, I'll make sure the party can't go on.”
Kaze led Brenda into the hotel.

Left with no choice, Winnie followed them.

“What's that supposed to mean? He joins the party after teapking the | Vi lands\jarinddss é idiot really doesn't take the Vinlands seriously.”

“Isn't he scared of the Vinlands' revenge? Yume's dad won't lebit go. Don't far etjthathevForeta is es, to change their last name.”

“Ignorance is bliss, | guess. The dummy assaulted all the big names in the city on the day of his wedding.”

“Just drop it. We can't do anything if he goes psycho and attacks everybody at the party.”

The onlookers were speechless.

Even Yume and her entourage could not escape the hands of Darcy's husband.

It was an eye-opener today.

Guests gathered at the venue hall.

Remarkably, Hudson Vinland, the host of the event, did not show up.

Instead, the Quints, who had changed their last names, were welcoming the guests.

Darcy's family had arrived at the party, but Samus and the others surrounded them.

“Darcy, Grandpa told you to file a

Chapter 709 Making Darcy's Family Drop Last Name

Samus spoke aloud.

His voice drew the attention of the guests in the venue hall.

The guests made strange faces.

The f

Quints' collective pleas to change their last name had made them the biggest joke in Lilyrose.

Speaking of which, some criticized the former Quints forgetting their roots while others sneered at them in disdain.. The former Quints were losing their backbone.

They represented the Vinlands in attending to the guests.

As a show of respect, the attendees did not say a word about the last name change.

However, Samus grilled Darcy's family in public for not changing their last name.

"How could you turn your back on your family lineage, Vinland? How could you be proud of that?"

"You should thank Darcy. At least, she will carry on the bloodline."

Amid the crowd, an individual taunted the former Quints to stand up for Darcy's family.

The individual used Samus' new last name to tick him off.

"Hahaha!"

The air broke out in laughter.

Samus and the others pulled long faces.

“Shut up!”

Livid, Samus lashed out, “What do you know? Now that we changed our last name, we are now part of the Vinland family. “For you to mock us, are you dismissing the Vinland family?”

The laughter halted.

The attendees were reputable figures in the community, so Samus’ flak did not sit well with them. They were upset.

However, it was neither the time nor place to return fire.

The former Quints’ behavior was revolting.

Still, Samus had a point.

From this day forth, the mega-rich Vinlands would have an extension of their family in Lilyrose.

“Cat got your tongue? What’s wrong with changing my last name? It made me upper—class while you get nothing. “| think you are just jealous.”

The guests’ silence gave Samus ammo to take things up a notch.

He pointed at the guests and threw insults at them.

No one said a word.

Some were not in the mood to argue with Samus.

It was well known that the former Quints would turn arrogant when in power.

Others feared the Vinlands, keeping their head down to stay out of trouble.

The attendees kept their heads down as Samus ran his mouth.

Samus was smug.

It took him just several hours to get used to the new name and identity.

The situation was the same with his other family members.

As Samus' attention turned back to Darcy's family, he said arrogantly, "Hello? I'm asking you why didn't you change your last name?"

"Are you mad, Samus? I'm a Quint and forever will be." Darcy had taken a seat, and she had no intention of getting up. Samus just made himself the joke of the century.

She wanted to walk away right there and then.

Darcy did not want to attend the party. However, Hector pulled her back from leaving, saying that they should not disrespect the host, the Vinlands.

"You are free to change your last name, Samus. Why do you drag me along the same? Your family disowned my wife two days ago. She isn't related to you anymore.”

Kaze walked into the room, holding Brenda's hand.

Stifled laughter echoed across the room.

It was ironic.

Darcy's family was kicked out of the family and stripped of their last name. Yet, they were the last Quints standing.

“Shut up, Kaze. I’m part of the Vinlands now. It’s not your place to speak Ree Samus pointed at Kaze.

Every time Samus saw the idiot, he was tempted to tear him to pieces. “That’s why you’re dumb, Samus.”

Kaze added with a smile, “You're picking on my wife because you belong to her now. If Wife changes her last name, she'd be a Vinland and be your equal.

“Who are you to walk all over my wife then?”

Chapter 710 You Must Be Blind

“Hahaha!”

The guests laughed out loud. They had not realized before, but Darcy’s loser husband had quite the mouth on him. The attendees who had witnessed the earlier drama outside the hotel were not surprised, though.

“Shut up,

Kaze!”

“I'm going to kill you!”

Samus and his family went ballistic.

“Don't waste your breath on him.”

Asneer was heard.

Logan swaggered his way in and glared at Darcy's family. “You can get out since you won't change your last name. Don't bother attending the party.

“Call the security, Samus. Throw them out,” he said in a chilling voice.

“That's right. Kick them out! They are getting themselves humiliated in public.”

The rest of the former Quint family members resented Darcy, so they started clamoring.

Darcy's family turned pale with rage.

The former Quints had no compassion for them at all.

Although Kaze did not care about some party, he did not want to see his wife's family kicked out.

He said curtly, "The Vinlands formally invited the family here, Logan. Who are you to disinvite them?"
"I am the Vinlands!"

Logan narrowed his eyes at Kaze.

"Haha! | hope you don't actually believe the Vinlands think highly of your family."

"We sent you the invite. We wanted you here just to kick you out," the new members of the Vinland family shouted. 13

"Security, throw them out."

Samus got straight down to business.

The security guards were already in position. Taking the order from Samus, they approached Darcy's family. Many attendees shook their heads sympathetically.

Logan was callous toward his family.

He sent an invitation to his son and granddaughter's family just to throw them out.

It was a deliberate act of humiliation.

Darcy's family scowled.

They stood up to walk out of there.

However, the security officer received an order to show them the door.

“Miss, you and your family are to leave Dynasty Hotel now.”

The security guards said while getting handsy with Darcy’s family to throw them.

out.

One of the security guards ogled over Darcy’s beauty and wanted to grope her.

He reached out to grab Darcy's wrist.

Thud!

Kaze kicked him away, and the security guard crashed onto the ground with at scream.

“Don't hit anyone, Kaze,” Darcy exclaimed.

Gasps filled the room.

The psycho was at it again.

“Hurry up. The idiot just attacked. Beat him up and toss him out the door,” seizing the chance, Samus barked.

Seeing that their companion was hurt, the other security officers were enraged.

They pulled out their batons to strike Kaze. Thud!

Kaze sent another security guard flying with a kick tiered must be blind. Don't you recognize me?"

The security guard sat on the ground and shot an angry look at Kaze. "Who do you think you-Uh?"

He abruptly paused, staring straight at Kaze in disbelief.

The other security officers had the same reaction.

They looked like they had seen a ghost.

These security personnel recognized Kaze.

Their minds wandered back to several days ago w. eKage gained

Hotel's Emperor Hall.

He spent 100 million dollars to have a private meeting

They were envious of Kaze then.

It must be great to have money.

Kaze could meet a big star alone.

Surely, the meeting was not purely to make acquaintances.