Chapter 831 Greedy

“Chief Commander Hiden... No!”

Thedeus felt the icy cold gun stuck to his forehead and he cried.

His cries did not change Albert’s mind about pulling the trigger.

After a while, Thedeus and his men from Dallas Moneylender were all killed.

The scene shocked Hudson and the others. Their faces turned pale.

No amount of men would be enough against the soldiers with guns.

The little excitement Hudson and the others had earlier disappeared instantly.

They thought Albert was here to save them but when they learned of his relationship with Miru, they realized they were wrong. Albert came not for Thedeus and Dallas Moneylender. He came for Hudson and the others! Hudson and the others escaped the tiger’s mouth but jumped right into the wolf’s den. Thump!

Hudson got down on his knees and cried, “Chief Commander Hiden, | am terribly sorry! | shouldn’t have sent the Twin Ghosts after your cousin! If | knew she was your cousin, | would never have done it! Please don’t kill me!”

He was truly afraid.

If it was any other circumstances, he would never get down on his knees before Albert since his family background gave him the confidence to stand against the military.

However, he ordered the assassination of Miru. He was truly afraid that Albert would put a -bullet in his head for revenge. Albert could simply charge him of being an accomplice to Dallas Moneylender and he would die in vain.

“The instructor said killing you guys would be a waste. He’d like to give you people a chance to turn over a new leaf,” Albert said with a smile.

Hudson and the others breathed a sigh of relief.

They had no idea who Albert's instructor was but they were grateful.

They were grateful for the instructor’s mercy despite never seeing him in person before. Albert then said, “How much do you think the instructor's words are worth?”

Hudson’s excitement disappeared again.

The instructor was not a merciful angel but a greedy wolf! They had to pay up to walk away alive.

Since they were on the passive side, they could not argue with Albert.

To stay alive, they were forced to agree.

Hudson took a deep breath and carefully said, “A hundred million?”

“Hahaha! | didn’t know the famous Master Hudson of the Vinlands valued his life at only a hundred million. How cheap.”

Albert laughed and continued to ridicule. “Even | have a hundred million. Why don’t | give your family a hundred million and | put a bullet in your head right now?”

Hudson's expression turned bitter. He was aggrieved but he dared not argue with Albert. He clenched his teeth and said, "One billion?" "Great. One billion it is."

Albert nodded and then continued, "Oh right, one billion is the value of your men. Each of them, one billion. As for you, Master Hudson, with your identity and background, I suppose you should be valued twice as much, am I right?"

Hudson was furious. He thought he could buy his just any billions but pay him.

He had four men behind him, which would cost him four billion.

In addition to his own life at two billion, he would have

"What's wrong? Master Hudson, you don't think you are worth two billion?"

Albert moved his hand to his holster.

"No! Yes! I mean, yes! I am worth that much!"

Hudson cried bitterly and said, "But Chief Commander Hiden, we don't have that much money now."

"It's okay. We are not in a hurry. When you have enough money, we'll release you. If you really can't get enough! We can use your investment companies to make up for it," Albert said casually. The content is on NovelDrama.Org! Read the latest chapter there!

He then waved his hand.

His men came in to clean the scene and brought Hudson and his company back to Lilyrose.

Chapter 832 Lilyrose's Depth

Hudson was devastated seeing the stern look on Albert's face.

If he refused to pay, he would be detained for life.

With permission, he called back to his family.

The moment the call got through, Hudson cried, "Mother..."

In the end, the Vinlands paid 1.5 billion and Hudson Investment Firm brought Hudson back.

As for Dexter, Jake, and the others, the Vinlands did not have the capacity to take care of them. They were forced to sell off their companies and get loans to buy their own lives.

The Vinlands declared their entry to Lilyrose's market but in just three short days, they were forced to leave.

Aside from not receiving any benefits, the famous Hudson Vinland spent two billion to buy his own life to escape the city alive. When the news got out, the entire Lilyrose and even the South River State, were shaken.

Everyone was shocked.

"What a joke. Hudson Vinland prepared for so long to enter Lilyrose's market but he became the one who lost his investment firm."

“Lilyrose is a city with deep waters. Even the Vinlands failed to enter the market. | think it’s better to stay off the city. Hudson became the joke of not just the city but the entire state.

Lilyrose had deep waters and it became a common agreement of many.

As for how deep, the Vinlands did not reveal a single detail, so no one knew.

All people knew was that someone powerful in Lilyrose got rid of the Twin Ghosts and forced the Vinlands to pay up. This particular someone was currently standing before Kaze formally.

“Instructor, the money that we got from Hudson Vinland and the others are all in Hudson Investment Firm’s account. Should | transfer the ownership of the investment firm to your wife?”

Albert went to Kaze with the update.novelbin

Kaze declined. “Nope. Darcy is busy enough handling two companies.”

Darcy was a career woman and if she got the investment firm, it would only increase her burden. On second thought, Kaze said with a mischievous grin, “Why don’t you give it to Miru?”

Lefteria Group lost manpower and money in this incident and you, as Miru’s cousin, did a lot as well.

Albert was speechless.

Kaze made it sound decent but it was payment for Miru to continue working for him.

Soon, Albert contacted Miru and told her to take over the investment firm.

“Albert, so it was you who defeated the Twin Ghosts?!”

Miru finally learned the truth.

She was wondering who had the power to defeat the Twin Ghosts and demanded the Vinlands pay up to get Hudson back. She was surprised that it was Albert.

When she arrived at Albert’s place, she saw Kaze.

Then she realized that Kaze had not gone to the Wuthering Pavilion alone but with Albert. Albert said, “You are now in charge of Hudson Investment Firm. There are around nine billion funds in the account. I originally wanted to give it to Darcy but Kaze spoke on your behalf.”

Six billion was from Hudson, Dexter, Jake, and the others; three billion was the fund from Dallas Moneylender, retrieved from Dane Rich.

Kaze had no idea what to do with them, so he put them into the investment firm.

“Who needed him to speak on behalf of me?!”

Agitated, Miru glared at Kaze.

Even though Darcy was her best friend, she refused FA more talented at doing business than her.

Albert made it sound like Miru was picking up

“You better watch your tone in front of Kaze,” Albert said sternly.

He knew Miru never liked Kaze, so he tried to talk some sense into her. To his surprise, it agitated her even more.

Miru grunted and walked away.

She took over Hudson Investment Firm and merged it with Lefteria Group.

Her assistant, Wendy, asked, “Madame, are you aging CEO of ‘investment Firm?”

“No. I’ll make Kaze do it!”

Chapter 833 CEO

“Kaze spoke to my cousin on behalf of me? Then I’ll return the favor and make him the CEO,” Miru said with a mischievous grin. Kaze always spoke to her like her boss, so she wanted to turn the tables and make him work for her.

She wanted to make him understand who was the real boss!

“The CEO of Hudson Investment Firm is a much better title than Shangrila Group’s driver. At novel bin

BEF least it won’t embarrass my Pranking Kaze was not her main priority. She was trying to make him less embarrassing when he was with Darcy so that others would not laugh at him.

Darcy and her family did not need to endure the harassment as well.

“What? Miru wanted me to become the CEO of Hudson Investment Firm?”

Kaze’s expression turned strange when he heard the news from Darcy. “Is she out of her mind? She wanted me to work for her?” He did not want to burden Darcy or hold any responsibility, so he decided to give the investment firm to Miru, to make her work. Yet Miru turned the tables around and made him CEO.

Kaze laughed. He wanted to call Miru and reveal his identity so that she could arrange for someone else to take the position. "Kaze, come on. Miru is just trying to help."

Darcy looked at him. She was happy that Miru was willing to make Kaze the CEO. She was giving him a chance to learn despite his lack of experience in the business world.

Kaze refused to believe it was an act of goodwill. "Help? | think she's just trying to make fun of me. She wanted me to become a puppet that she can control."

His instinct was sharp but he was only half right.

Miru did not plan on giving Kaze real power to run the investment firm, only the title. The operation of the investment firm would still be under the Coos since Kaze had no experience at all.

Darcy nodded in agreement but she continued to persuade him, saying. "Take it slow. You don't have any experience now and investing is a specialized field. Miru is just worried that you might lose a lot of money. You can start slow and learn along the way."

"I'm not interested." Kaze pursed his lips. He disliked the tricks and scams in the business world. It was exhausting. Agnes came in suddenly and overheard the conversation. Her expression turned bitter.

She pointed at Kaze's face and scolded him. "Why are you so stupid? You don't want to be the CEO and want to settle as the driver? Your wife is the CEO of two companies and you are just a driver? What are people going to say if they see you?"

"Are you going to be like this forever? Darcy is always busy and people are always eyeing her companies. She almost jumped off a building for god's sake! Why? It's all because of making more money!"

"You, on the other hand, settled as a driver but you never brought back any money from your job..." Darcy quickly intervened before Agnes could make things worse.

"Stop protecting him. If he's that useless, he might as well get out of the house!"

Agnes glared at Darcy. Kaze sighed. "Darcy, you want me to be the CEO as well?" "Well, don't force yourself."

Darcy's tone made it clear that she looked forward to him taking these. She wanted him to be successful and ambitious and this would be a great chance.

Kaze saw through her thoughts and smiled. "If you want to be CEO, the CEO."

Agnes then spared him from her wrath. Darcy happily said, "You just have to wait for Miru's call." Kaze nodded.

He then received a call from Snow. "Mr. Chairman, the CEO located call. They wanted the local PD to release Cosmo."

Chapter 834 Make Him Pay

Cosmo was George's youngest son. He was arrested when he tried to bribe Loid, the governor.

To repay the favor, Loid helped Kaze punish the Lees, but he did not plan to offend them completely. Therefore, Cosmo was not put in prison, only detained.

However, George could not bear watching his favorite son detained for a day, let alone a while. He contacted Johnson and demanded he release Cosmo, in a condescending manner.

Johnson knew of the conflicts between Kaze and the Lees, so he contacted Snow and inquired about Kaze's opinion.

Kaze scoffed. "The Vinlands failed to enter Lilyrose and the Lees still haven't learned a lesson from it? He really thinks the Lees are that powerful?"

The Lees were involved in the Vinlands' attempt to annex the five companies related to Kaze. Kaze wanted to hold Gregory responsible but since the old geezer went back to Sunrise City, he did not give chase.

He wanted to take revenge for what Blake did to him and Johnson under Hudson's and Gregory's orders.

An eye for an eye!

Johnson was pressured by the Lees.

The Lees used every connection they had and invited some influential figures of Sunrise City to talk to Johnson. One of them was the ex—mayor of Lilyrose, Mike Oxmaul. z

Even though Mike had exited politics, he was in office for more than a decade and had gained quite a reputation for himself. Even after he retired, he remained a reputable figure in Lilyrose.

When Johnson and Blake fought for the mayor's position, Mike played a vital role in leading to Johnson's victory. With that, Johnson respected the man even more and even had to call him sir in public.

If even the ex—mayor gave forth, it showed how well-connected the Lees were.

While Johnson found himself at a crossroads, he received Kaze's reply.

With Kaze's answer, it boosted his confidence.

He called Don and said, "Don, Mr. Lee had given the order. Teach Cosmo Lee a lesson. You know what to do."

Don smiled. "Great. Cosmo Lee thought he was so well-protected by his family and he even started a little gang in the detention center. Someone already got hurt and he's not being cooperative. I am trying to find a way to punish him."

Johnson then hung up the phone. He knew Don well enough to know that the man would carry out his orders to perfection and hold back whenever needed.

Meanwhile, at the Lee family's estate, the brothers, Gregory and George, were waiting for a reply from Lilyrose. "George, you don't have to worry about Cosmo. Hudson and I changed the mayor within a day, and even taught him a lesson.

"He got lucky in the end and got reinstated by the governor, but he knows he's no match for us. He'll send Cosmo back."

He got Cosmo arrested, which made his brother angry at him.

Therefore, he put a lot of effort into trying to save Patines every Sprpeetens Kad O pressure Johnson.

"Master!" Then, a butler came in with a panicked look.

In the house, only George could be called master as of the family.

The butler was sweating profusely as he said, "Our informant just got Master was beaten up by the gangsters in the detention center

"But people are saying the governor favored Johnson a lot and even wanted to send him to some training for his career advancement.

"Since he's under the spotlight now, and if we are to go after him, we will be indirectly disrespecting the governor and it will only put us in a tight situation in the future," George said.

The Lee family was on the passive side because they almost got Johnson killed. It was completely understandable that Johnson wanted to get revenge. Moreover, Cosmo was caught red-handed trying to bribe the governor.

“George, why don’t we make Kaze bring Cosmo back? Johnson pushed the responsibility to him, so we’ll make him bring Cosmo. out of the detention center. There’s no reason for Johnson to keep Cosmo detained then,” Gregory voiced his suggestion.

“Yeah, you are right. We might not be able to go after Johnson but we can still go after Kaze.”

George grinned and said to the butler, “Tell Samson Hobbs to deliver the message to Kaze. He has three days to retrieve Cosmo from the detention center and send him back, or else he will suffer the consequences.”

Samson Hobbs was the executive director of Lee Solutions and had worked for the Lee family for many years. He was a famous investor in the business world and the entire South River State.

The Lee Solutions was initially run by Narian and Cosmo but they were just there to sign papers.

Samson was the heart and soul of the company.

“Don’t just make Kaze send Cosmo back, we also want him to apologize because he misled. Cosmo into bribing the governor!” Gregory added.

He quickly shifted the blame to Kaze. George’s gaze turned frosty. “That’s right. He will pay for this with his wife’s companies!”

The Vinlands lost terribly for going after Darcy's companies, yet the Lee family did not learn anything from their failure and decided to continue what they started.

They simply thought Kaze was lucky because someone powerful took out the Twin Ghosts, which allowed him to escape his dire fate.

Back in Lilyrose, Samson received the order from George and delivered it to his men.

“Kaze Lee has three days to bring Cosmo out of the detention center and send him back to the Lee family. He must also kneel before Master George and apologize, or he will suffer the consequences!”

Samson was the face of the Lee family in Lilyrose and also one of the famous people in the business world. Every move he made was under the market's microscopic eyes. His words spread across the business world and it caused a commotion.

A lot of people in Lilyrose knew that Kaze used to be with the Lee family but was excommunicated.

He then married into the Quint family and became the joke of the city.

The tragic history was lamentable. He was treated unfairly in Ireland now the him to bring Cosmo out and apologize.

They trampled his remaining pride into bits.

Many people believed the Lee family had overdone it but dared to offend the Lee family for real.

“When the Lee and Vinland families tried to annex the five could stand against them. They were safe because the governor intervened.”

“Now that the Lee family is after Kaze specifically, who could help him?” Not many were optimistic about Kaze's fate.

For a family as powerful as the Lees, crushing Kaze would be a piece of cake.

Chapter 837 Can't Be A Slave Forever

In the executive director's office of Lee Solutions, Samson sat on his leather couch in his handsome suit, smoking a cigar casually.

Suddenly, the door opened.

His twenty-year-old son, Taz, strutted in with an arrogant look on his face. "Dad, Kaze Lee is just trash, why did you give him three days?"

Taz sat opposite his father and took out a freshly cut cigar from the box. Samson's secretary went over to Taz and lit the cigar.

"I think you don't even need to give him time. Let me bring a few men over to his house and if he refuses to cooperate, I'll tell the men to fuck his wife."

Samson's expression turned serious. "Don't you cause any trouble for me. "Did I say something wrong?"

Taz argued, "The Lee family gave him three days. Since we are working for the Lee family, it's better to complete the task as soon as possible."

For as long as he could remember, his father had been serving the Lee family. He himself was also Cosmo's follower. "You know nothing!"

Samson pointed his cigar at his son and said coldly, "The Lee family gave him three days, and I can use it to my benefit. If Cosmo is released now, we'll waste the opportunity."

He then thought of the exclusive news he just received a moment ago..

Kaze would soon become the CEO of Hudson Investment Firm.

The news was fresh out of the oven and Samson believed he could get the investment firm for himself.

“Dad, Cosmo is cleaning toilets in the detention center and you’re not saving him? What are you trying to do?” Taze widened his eyes in shock. “Don’t tell me you are trying to revolt against the Lee family!”

His eyes showed a hint of fear and excitement.

It was a bold but tempting thought.

“Shut your trap!”

Samson glared at his son and explained, “I should plan things for myself after working for the Lee family for so many years. I’m their slave since I’ve started working and I don’t want my son to follow in my footsteps either.”

Hudson Investment Firm had nearly ten billion worth of funds. He got the information from the spy he sent to the firm.

Besides the two billion from the Vinlands, the sources of the remaining funds were unknown, but they were there in the company’s account.

More importantly, the Lee family had no idea about it.

If Samson could just get the funds, coupled with the wealth he had accumulated over the years, the Hobbs family could rise as another wealthy family.

Samson suppressed his unusual excitement and said calmly, “Keep your mouth shut, and don’t tell anyone about this.” “I got it, Dad.”

Taz gulped nervously.

He had no idea what his father was planning but it must be something big.

If he could be the boss, he would not want to be Cosmo's follower either.

"What are you doing here in Lilyrose?" Samson asked.

Taz was still in college. He was a typical playboy who spent his time flirting with girls instead of studying.

"My friends and I are going camping at Mountain Dew. If there's nothing else, I'll be going." Taz got up and playfully smacked the secretary's butt on his way out.

The secretary cried in surprise.

"That little bastard," Samson scoffed.

Back at Horizon Mirror, Kaze got an update from Snow and learned what the Lee family wanted him to do.

"The dogs that bark don't really bite.

Let them continue to sleep

because the faridsGu break their legs," Kaze said,

He did not have to worry about the Lee family.

After Kaze b...

After Kaze hung up the phone, Agatha came over with a strict face.

“Kaze, Rose and her classmates are going camping at Mountain Dew. | don’t want her to go alone. | want you to drive her there.”

Chapter 838 Get Paid as a Driver?

“No!”

Kaze was not happy with Agatha’s tone, so he declined instantly.

Agatha was the one staying in his house but she acted like she was the owner. She always ordered him around as if he were a servant.

“What is with that attitude?”

Agatha widened her eyes and continued, “You are not even the CEO yet and you are talking to me like that? Look at you, what do you think you are capable of? Nothing! If not for Darcy’s BFF, making you a nominal CEO, you are still a driver at Shangrila Group.”

Kaze was speechless. He declined her request and she came up with a ton of reasons to make fun of him

He looked at Agatha and forced a smile on his face. “Aunt Agatha, | am paid to be a driver at Shangrila but | am driving for free now. So, | get to say no.

He did not reveal his identity as chairman. Even if he did, the truth would not be able to overcome the prejudice in Agatha’s heart. Agatha was fuming. She pointed at Kaze and said, “You want money for driving your own. family? You gold digger!”

“Gold digger? Your family is living under my roof. Aside from the rent, the utilities and gas, even the meals you eat—everything costs money,” Kaze said. He did not care what Agatha thought of him.

Agatha was shaking already. She stomped her foot and shouted, “Agnes! Agnes! Your son-in-law is trying to take rent from me! Is he throwing me out?”

Agnes came over and pointed at Kaze.

“Kaze, how dare you! You are good for nothing and I still let you stay here. How dare you ask my sister for rent! Believe me if I say I will throw you out!”

Agatha crossed her arms in delight as her sister scolded Kaze.

“Kaze, try to ask me for rent again and you will be sleeping with the stray dogs! Now go Now go drive Rose to her campsite!”

Rose felt embarrassed that her mother was giving Kaze a hard time.

She came over and tugged Kaze’s arm, saying gently, “Kaze, I want you to accompany me there as well. Please drive me there. I heard the road there is dangerous, and I don’t care to drive alone. I’ll tell my friend to take over after we leave the city.”

“No! Tell Kaze to drive all the way! You and your friends are inexperienced, what if you get into a crash?”

Agatha glared at her daughter and then said to Kaze, “Besides, he’s a driver for Shangrila Group. What else can he do if not driving?”

“Kaze, don’t listen to my mother. I just want you to accompany me.” Rose widened her crystal clear eyes and begged Kaze. Agatha might be rude, but Rose had always respected him.

Kaze's heart softened and he nodded. "Fine. I'll go with you."

"Yay!"

Rose jumped happily.

Ever since Kaze showed her the true face of Taylor Swanysty geewfohd of him,

"Hmph!"

Agatha hummed and looked away.

Rose was simply trying to mitigate the conflict between them. Agatha did not believe Rose wanted Kaze to tag along either.

Agatha then helped her daughter pack and then say "One a you standiog die? 0 bring the car over!"

"I'm not the driver. I'm just accompanying Rose. There's someone behind this Wheels, en ekpétie éd driver with enough mileage to circle the world ten times," Kaze joked.

Chapter 839 Old Driver

"An experienced driver with that much mileage?"

Agatha was curious.

She tried looking around but no one in the family matched the criteria. Then it must be a driver Kaze got externally.

She got angry and said, "Kaze, you good—for—nothing trash! You can't even afford to eat the other day and now you are wasting money to hire a driver?"

She simply assumed Kaze was trying to save face by hiring a driver instead of driving Rose around. “| hired a driver? If you say so,” Kaze said with a smile.

Agatha then went to Agnes and said, “Look at your son-in-law! He’s useless and a big spender!” She was annoyed and insisted that he drove today.

“Kaze, don’t you

dare hire another person to drive!”

Agnes poked him in the arm.

Kaze smiled and said, “I didn’t spend any money. It’s free.

“Free? Who are you kidding?” Agatha said.

Then, she heard heavy breathing from the door and saw her husband running into the house. Surprised, she asked, “Nelson? What are you doing here? | thought you were at work? Don’t tell me you are punished again.” Nelson was gasping for air when he finally arrived.

“You are really a jinx. | got punished by the discipline department and they made me a driver for two days. They told me to come home and drive a senior officer to Mountain Dew.”

He then looked around. “Where’s the senior officer?”

“Senior officer? There’s no one from your workplace at our house,” Agatha said.

“That senior officer is me,” Kaze said.

He looked at his watch and said with a smile, “Not bad. Punctual. You are here before six.”

“You?!”

Everyone was shocked.

Agatha’s expression turned bitter. She shouted, “Kaze, stop fooling around! Why the hell are you Nelson's senior officer?” “Hush!”

Nelson stopped his wife immediately and looked at Kaze. He took a deep breath and said, “He is the senior officer. The instruction I received is to be here before six.”

He fl. flushed when he realized he was to serve Kaze as punishment.

The guards at the neighborhood entrance did not allow him to drive his car in, so in order to make it back home in time, he had to run and almost threw up from all the exercise.

Then, it turned out that the discipline department wanted him to serve as Kaze’s driver, which irritated him more. Kaze had reported him many times and got close with the people from the discipline department.

This must be a huge prank, but he dared not argue with Kaze in his face.

If Kaze reported him again, he would be punished by the discipline department again. He was afraid of that and even had nightmares about it.

He dragged his wife to the side and told her the truth.

“Kaze, you little...”

Agatha pointed at Kaze but did not scold him anymore.

She had to wait until Nelson completed his task first.

Rose was speechless as well but she took Kaze's side. "Mom, please don't give up on him. He's a nice person. If only you can be nicer, then he won't do this to Dad."

"You little... Go! Off you go!" Agatha was furious.

Nelson felt like crying as well. Not only did Rose help him but she never, not even once.

Kaze looked at Nelson and said, "Uncle Nelson, go bring the car around. You are an experienced driver. Please help me get the car around so we can go to Mountain Dew." Nelson clenched his teeth at Kaze's frivolous attitude.

Chapter 840 Ambassador

Nelson decided to put his grievance aside and bring the car around.

Then, Darcy came back from work and saw Kaze and Rose with luggage, seemingly going out for a trip. "Where are you guys going?"

"Rose had some friends organizing a camp or gathering at Mountain Dew."

por

Kaze did not find interest in accompanying some kids, so he invited his wife over. "Why don't you join us, Darcy? We can continue where we left off the other day at Mountain Dew Estate."

Darcy saw Kaze's wink and understood immediately. She instantly blushed.

The last time she was at Mountain Dew Estate, she was

She left in a hurry the next day due to work, so she did not get to enjoy the place with Kaze.

“I'm not going.”

Darcy looked at Kaze and said meaningfully, “I want to rest well at night. | have an important meeting tomorrow.”

Kaze rubbed his nose and smiled awkwardly.

The last time he was at Mountain Dew Estate, he made love to Darcy.

Since it had been a while since he had sex, he ravaged her the entire night, which caused her to be exhausted the next day.novelbin

Darcy did not want to go because of the embarrassing reason. She added, “The client | am meeting tomorrow is staying at Mountain Dew Estate tonight as well. Kaze, why don't you go say hi for me?”

“Sure. Who should | look for?” Kaze nodded. If he could have fun and help Darcy at the same time, he would be happy to do it.

Darcy explained, “They are the team behind Lil Deem the influencer with ten million followers. We are inviting them to be the ambassador of Mountain Dew Estate, so we have to let him experience the place first.”

Mountain Dew Estate was not properly managed in the top three families' hands, so all kinds of infrastructure and entertainment were severely outdated.

The place barely received any customers all year long.

Darcy and Ash, the manager that worked under Mathias, talked about it and decided to take advantage of Mountain Dew Estate's geographical advantage to attract more customers and promote it as an environmentally friendly tourism spot.

They even planned to build a recreation center there.

"I've told Nancy to prepare everything. I just need you to represent me," Darcy said.

Nancy was Darcy's old classmate and was promoted to the manager of Mountain Dew Estate by Kaze.
"Alright. We're leaving. Bye!"

"Bye, Darcy!"

Nelson drove the seven-seater over and Kaze and Rose got inside.

After the car left the neighborhood, they went to the train station.

Rose's friends came from Sunrise City.

A total four of them, two guys and two girls, who were all close with Rose.

"Rose, have you forgotten about us? Why are you SiMe instead of going back to Sunrise?"

The girls went up to her and curled her arms the moment they met. "Mr. Oceanid! Hi!"

The guys greeted Nelson, followed by the girls.

"Rose, who is this? He looks old but he's quite handsome."

Kaze was speechless. He was in his late twenties but the youngsters "" him old.

"My brother-in-law, Kaze Lee." Rose introduced Kaze to her friends. The girls were Bronya and Mei whereas the guys were Welt and

Their names somehow sounded like game characters, which fit the game's naming sense for some reason.

When they learned that Kaze was Rose's brother-in-law, they looked at him strangely.
