

Guardian gods 132

Chapter 132:

Back in Ikenga realm, he watched as a being his size walked out from the cocoon. His expression changed seeing the being that walked out from the cocoon's.

"When did I have a twin" Ikem thought to himself as he looked at the look alike of himself that walked out from the cocoon, Ikem soon noticed a difference which was that his fur was all dark and his eyes were pure black and he had a dark smirk on his face.

The same thing was happening in other gods' realm as in front of Mahu was a dark replica of her only with a sadistic smile. Crepuscular had the same replica but this one was burning with dark flames instead.

Jaws also had the same replicas but unlike his calm before storm vibe this one replica of his had a constant raging storm feeling around him. Kelts also had the same but unlike the other's her replica looks a lot smaller.

Ikenga watched as the cocoon dispersed and the look of him floated in the air just like him with arms spread apart.

"Who are you?" Ikenga asked with confusion all over his face.

His question turned the look alike attention back to him, with quick speed the being appeared in front of Ikenga, his pure dark eyes staring into Ikenga's brown eyes.

Ikenga showed no outward expression causing the being to smile as he floated back before speaking in the gods language but this time it sounded more dark and twisted "You can already guess what I am but yes I am you, just much more darker representation of you"

After saying that both Ikenga and the look alike looked up to the sky of the realm but the sky wasn't what they were looking at but instead they were looking at the dark crack opening up in the outside world.

The look alike looked at Ikenga and said "It seems we can't talk for much longer, my ride home is here"

Hearing that, Ikenga opened his mouth to say something when the being suddenly disappeared, Ikenga traced the energy left behind as he also disappeared from his realm.

Next time he appeared Ikenga noticed he was in the Outside world standing in front of the dark thin veil, he noticed his other siblings also appearing in the sky from different positions as they all looked up at the crack.

Looking at Crepuscular the Oldest, Ikenga asked "Do you have any idea on what is going on"

Crepuscular frowned as he looked at the crack, shaking his head he responded "I have no idea what this is, never see anything like this"

Kelsey spoke up hearing that "Any news yet from mother?"

"No, except for the thin shield she put around the world nothing had come from her except for the new rule" Mahu said with a frown on her face.

The gods watched as the crack got bigger. Soon they were able to see inside of the crack and saw what was beyond it.

The gods' expression changed as they were able to see beyond the crack.

"What the" Jaws said with shock on his voice.

Ikenga eyes widened, what they saw beyond the crack was their world only that it had no color in it, everything just seemed bleak and lifeless but nonetheless it was their world.

As soon the crack opened enough their look alike began moving towards the crack.

"Get them" Ikenga spoke out before he could think as he moved, he didn't know what was going on but he was not about to sit by and watch.

Right as Ikenga moved, their mother's voice which hadn't been heard since this began spoke in on their mind "Don't stop them, you will know when to act"

Hearing that, Ikenga froze mid air as he looked with clenched fist as their five look alike went into the crack.

Soon as they got into the crack, almost like the other world had been waiting for them as soon as they got in, hollow screeching like a sound car from the crack spreading throughout the whole world of Nana.

The sound was only heard by those able to see what was happening after Nana put up the veil.

The look alike looked at the gods before a dark smile blossomed on their face, all of a sudden their forms changed as they began changing soon to their primal form of the gods but with obvious differences such as the primal form of Ikem had maggots, flies all over it, dead branches and leaves that is never ending keeps falling off from the titanic form.

Crepuscular form still had the dark flames but the phoenix had no feathers instead it looked skinned as its face to the expression of pain. A sun appeared up in the sky of the other world but unlike the golden orange flames from the sun this one was completely dark.

Mahu primal wolf-like form had a huge bulging stomach like it was pregnant and its appearance caused a red moon to appear in the other world.

Jaws' megalodon primal form looked almost the same except for the huge multiple tentacles with eyes all over it growing right out from its neck. Its opened mouth showed the lightning brewing inside of it.

Keles' primal form, still a Vulture but had multiple parts of its body eaten, still covered in darkness and had countless howling souls floating and circling around her huge figure.

As soon as they took on their primal form, it was like the other world got a boost as the crack expanded greatly covering the sky of the whole planet. A much clearer view of the other side can now be seen.

A huge hoard of dark corporal like beings can be seen moving in from the distance as they move towards the looks alike.

Meanwhile Ikenga and the other gods' ears twitched as they heard people on their side screaming and howling like they were in pain.

They knew this was their time to act as they also quickly took on the primal form, and with that they were able to see what was happening a dark invisible wave was emitting from their look alike form and spreading out into their world and now they have transformed the wave is being pushed back.

As for the powerhouses down on the ground screaming, it all started with them still thinking on why there are multiple look alike of the gods they worship up in the sky. Few can see clearly what was happening in the sky, the others can only make out the shadow of what they see.

As soon as the look alike took on their primal form, those that could see far enough began screaming as they felt like their body wanted to turn inside out; some were able to take quick action and look away immediately.

Those that started for a long time kept screaming while a mark similar to those gods imprinted into their body before they all passed out.

As for those that were not able to see that way, the wave emitted reached them as they began hallucinating, they couldn't describe what they were seeing but it was scary to them.

Some couldn't handle it and killed themselves, some were foaming from their mouth while some ran out from their home as they began screaming like something was chasing them. The same scene was happening throughout Nana, it didn't matter if you were human or an offspring of the gods, most who saw the visage and wasn't able to look away fast enough was being affected negatively.

Meanwhile up in the sky, Once the look alike saw that the gods had taken in their primal form, they all showed a look of disappointment before smiling as they turned back and began moving away.

A voice came from the crack regarding the gods "I hope our next meeting won't be so short" The look alike of Ikenga said before the crack closed in quickly as the sky turned back to normal.

The gods in the huge form floated up in the sky as they looked at where the crack closed in, they truly had no idea what just happened and it was eating at them that they just let everything play out while they watched.

The powerhouses noticed that the dark presence hanging over their world was now gone so they looked up to the sky once again but this time they were met with the pure visage of their gods.

Unlike the effects they had when they saw it, the visage of the gods felt more like they were looking directly at the sun as their eyes began burning, depending on the gods you laid an eye on, traits of that god began appearing on them.

Like growing out feathers and some becoming more hairy, Nana took notice of that so with a quick swipe of her hand, the gods appeared in her realm but now in their humanoid form.