Chapter 1551

Chapter 1551

No wonder the foreign woman liked to sit by the window. The sight was fascinating, and it felt like you could never get enough of it.

Just then, Zander suddenly said, "Commander, do you think Commander Lupin's troops will accept us?" Sean's expression changed slightly at Zander's words.

Sean had already enlisted Hanson's help and gotten his written letter. After the trip to the city-state union, Sean and Zander would arrive at the city-state union's Dorodo as quickly as possible.

Dorodo was one of the only three cities in the city-state union under Dragon Kingdom's control.

Dorodo had 3,000 city defense soldiers. The regiment belonged to Hanson and was now under Sean's command.

However, things were not that simple.

Despite receiving Hanson's letter and reporting to Dorodo would make Sean Dorodo's military representative and commander in chief of the regiment of 3,000 men, would they listen to him?

After all, he appeared out of the blue, and the people below him probably felt displeased.

Zander asked suddenly because he was worried about such a thing happening.

"I'll fix it. Believe me."

Sean said with a smile, exuding an air of confidence.

Zander was slightly dazed. Then Sean convinced him. He nodded heavily and solemnly replied in acknowledgment!

Six hours had unknowingly passed after the plane took off.

They were only an hour away from Crosac Airport, and they would be in the city-state union.

However, Sean vaguely had a bad feeling.

“What’s the matter? Commander?”

Zander asked, noticing that Sean’s expression was a little ghastly.

“I’m a little uneasy.”

Sean replied calmly.

Zander’s expression instantly turned ghastly.

It was because he trusted Sean’s instincts.

There had been many times when he was leading the army in battle when Sean had relied on his instincts to avoid a surprise attack and avoid casualties in his unit.

It was fair to say that Sean’s instincts had always been accurate.

Sean suddenly felt uneasy. Then something was likely to happen, and it was going to be horrible and terrifying!

No sooner had this thought occurred to Zander than he heard an anxious voice in the cabin.

“Attention, all passengers. There may be turbulence due to the cold current ahead. Please fasten your seat belts...”

Chapter 1551

As soon as they finished, the plane shook violently!

All h*ll broke loose in the cabin. There was a lot of screaming. Women and children were even crying.

Sean frowned. He could already see a thick layer of frost on the window glass next to him.

Besides that, it could be described as frost at first. Later, there was ice on the window. It was a few centimeters thick!

The rest of the aircraft was probably the same as the window glass.

The ice that was a few centimeters thick would put so much weight on the plane that it would not be able to maintain its current altitude. It would either have to make an emergency landing or throw away contents of the cabin to reduce its weight.

Sure enough, a new broadcast soon came.

“The flight is in critical condition due to the cold current. The flight attendants will throw away part of the luggage. Please cooperate! Please cooperate!”

It was getting chaotic in the cabin.

There were cries and screams everywhere. Even the men were frantic.

Sean and Zander did not have any luggage. They were used to traveling light, so they did not bring anything.

Chapter 1552

Chapter 1552

Besides, in this day and age, you could repurchase anything at your destination as long as you have money in your phone and bank account.

Other passengers could only hand over their less expensive luggage to the flight attendants to throw them out of the plane.

Even so, things were getting worse.

Soon, a third announcement came

“This plane is unable to break out of the cold current at the moment. The plane can’t maintain the altitude. Please prepare to parachute...”

The passengers turned pale at the word “parachute”!

Watching people parachuting on TV seemed exciting and interesting.

However, it was less fun for the one parachuting.

It was because it meant the threat of death!

You had less than a 10% chance of surviving a parachute jump in the middle of a cold current like this as you fall thousands of meters in the air.

Besides, a number of the passengers were helpless women and children. The men might be able to muster up the courage to parachute and give it a shot at survival, but what about the women and children?

However, they had made the order, and the parachute packs had fallen from above each passenger’s head.

They could only accept their fate.

“Who would have thought this would happen to us on one of the few flights we take?”

Sean smiled bitterly.

Zander did not take it seriously and said, “Commander, we’ve parachuted out of the sky countless times before. Parachuting is a piece of cake to us!”

“Indeed. But the passengers...”

Sean looked at the passengers panicking.

However, he did not say much.

After all, there was no way he could protect the passengers. He was a man, not a god. There was no way he could save so many people.

“Let nature take its course.”

Zander’s tone was also helpless.

Just then, a woman suddenly screamed, “There’s something wrong with my parachute pack! My parachute pack’s damaged...”

There was something familiar about the voice.

Sean and Zander looked up and immediately saw that the foreign woman who had insisted on changing seats with Sean and had turned vicious when she was rejected, was clutching a parachute pack in a panic

She seemed to have lost her mind, and the expression on her face was frightening!

A female flight attendant hurried past, and the foreign woman immediately grabbed her hand and showed her her parachute pack.

“My parachute pack is damaged. It’s damaged... How did you make preparations? Why was this problem not detected in time?”

The foreign woman shouted.

She replied with a tearful look, “The parachute packs on the plane haven’t been used in years. It was never needed... Who knows we’ll suddenly run into extreme weather? Miss, why don’t you swap with someone next to you?”

Hearing this, everyone around felt an impulse to curse.

‘Swap parachute packs?’

‘Who would swap the parachute pack with me?’

‘It’s their life on the line!’

“Don’t you have a spare...”

The foreign woman begged, and the female flight attendant shook her head helplessly. “There are no extras. We crew members need to ensure our safety too. Miss, you can ask other passengers to see if anyone is willing to help you.”

With that said, the female flight attendant shook off her hand and walked away quickly.

After all, the TV scenes seemed beautiful. When life was at stake, everyone thought of their own safety first.

Chapter 1553

Chapter 1553

Looking at the female flight attendant's back, the foreign woman was immediately distraught, and big tears spilled out of her eyes.

She was doomed.

The rest of the passengers had parachute packs and could bail out if the plane was unable to continue flying.

Although there was a high chance of death in this extreme environment, there was at least a chance of survival and a hope of success.

The foreign woman without a parachute pack did not even have that hope.

However, she did not give up and immediately asked those around her.

She thought someone would be willing to help her.

After all, so many people had stood up for her when she asked to swap seats with the young man.

Now that she was in trouble, they should be helping her.

"My parachute pack's damaged. Which one of you can swap with me?"

The foreign woman looked expectantly at the person beside her.

However, no one was willing to help her. Most did not even look at her.

"I've got a problem with my parachute pack. Would anyone like to trade with me... I'll thank you by paying you a good price. You can have any amount you want..."

The foreign woman took out her wallet and several bank cards.

“There are tens of millions of dollars in these cards. If any of you will switch parachute packs with me, the money’s all yours!”

The foreign woman’s voice trembled.

However, no one came forward after waiting for a long time.

The plane shook more violently. The ice on the windows grew thicker, and there was even a piercing roar coming from the aircraft as if it was going to fall apart at any moment.

The foreign woman was terrified.

Suddenly spotting the man with glasses who had kindly switched seats with her, she ran over to him, grabbed his wrist, and asked, “Can you swap parachute packs with me? You’re a gentleman! You’ll help me! Don’t worry. I won’t let you help me for free. I’ll give you...”

Before the foreign woman could finish speaking, the man with glasses kicked her onto the floor.

“F*ck off! Are you stupid or crazy? Changing seats with you is the least I can do. Helping you is nothing, of course! I’d die if I swapped parachute packs with you. How could I risk my life to help you? Get someone else to help you!”

The man with glasses roared as he spat.

The foreign woman sat on the floor and whimpered.

It was not as if she did not understand this; she was only deceiving herself and escaping reality.

Chapter 1553

The man with glasses had brought her back from her imagination to reality. She was left in despair and even lost the courage to ask anyone for help.

‘It seems I’m going to die in this plane crash.’

The foreign woman thought to herself, wiping her eyes with the back of her hand.

However, a hand was suddenly on her shoulder.

Confused, the foreign woman opened her tearful eyes and looked up at the man standing before her

The man was young. He seemed to be the same Dragon Kingdom man who had refused to swap seats with her.

What was he doing in front of her now?

“Is your parachute pack damaged?”

Sean asked.

“Yeah... My parachute pack's damaged, and no one will swap with me...”

The foreign woman said aggrievedly, her tone disappointed.

“It's alright. I'll swap with you.”

Chapter 1554

Chapter 1554

Sean said and handed his parachute pack to the foreign woman. He did not take her damaged parachute pack.

Sean got up to leave but had to stop.

It was because the foreign woman had grabbed his calf.

“What are you doing? I already gave you the parachute pack. What else do you want?”

Sean looked back and asked a little impatiently.

He did not want to help the foreign woman at first.

However, he saw the foreign woman run around the cabin like a headless chicken and ask for help, but nobody would help her. Then she sat on the floor crying. It was annoying.

Sean thought the woman would calm down after he helped her. However, she was greedy and wanted to go after him!

“Why did you... Why did you help me? You gave me your parachute pack, you’ll die, won’t you?”

The foreign woman asked in shock, wiping her tears.

“Who knows? Maybe?”

Sean said nonchalantly.

“Thank you... I won’t forget your kindness. My name is Lisha. What’s your name?”

The foreign woman asked, sobbing.

“Sean Lennon.”

Sean replied with a shrug.

“I’ll keep your name in mind. Do you have any unfinished business? You can tell me, and I’ll do it for you.

The foreign woman named Lisha asked, grabbing Sean’s calf.

You could tell she was grateful to Sean.

However, she also thought Sean was going to die.

After getting Sean’s parachute pack, she thought she would survive, and Sean would die with the plane because he did not have one. She asked Sean if he had any unfinished business so she could do it for Sean to repay him and fulfill his last wishes.

Sean broke into laughter and said indignantly, “I’ll do whatever I want to do myself. Don’t worry about it! Besides, who are you to help me?”

With that said, Sean pulled away from the foreign woman and sat back in his seat.

Lisha looked blankly at Sean as he left and was distracted for a long time.

“Sean Lennon...”

She muttered, repeating the words as if wanting to engrave the name in her heart for the rest of her life!

Zander looked in the distance at Lisha, who was still sitting on the ground in a daze. Then he looked back at Sean and asked, "Commander, you gave her your parachute pack. What about you?"

Chapter 1554

"We'll just share one."

Sean said indifferently.

Zander was not surprised. They had done similar training while in the army.

Since anything could happen during a parachute landing, they were trained to share a parachute pack in case there were not enough parachute packs.

Two people sharing a parachute pack was dangerous, but Sean and Zander had been trained to pull off the seemingly impossible.

Besides, the plane was now flying across the South Sea, an ocean.

The risk of failure for two people sharing a parachute pack was also reduced to a minimum, with little risk of life as long as the parachute pack was handled properly.

Therefore, Zander said nothing more but nodded.

"Alright, but I will take the main control later. Commander, you only need to cooperate with me."

Zander's words made Sean give him another glance.

Chapter 1555

Chapter 1555

In the case of two people sharing a parachute pack, the person in the main control was the one to choose whether to sustain the jump or disengage.

Zander seemed to have prepared for the worst if he said so.

If something bad did happen, Zander would disengage and leave Sean alone with the parachute pack.

That way, he could protect Sean by sacrificing himself.

That was what Zander had in mind. Though he did not say it explicitly, it was what he had decided!

“No, let me take control.”

Sean said without hesitation.

He decided to give the parachute pack to the foreign woman called Lisha. The two were left with only one parachute pack, so he should assume the risk instead of his subordinate.

Otherwise, what was the difference between him and Blaze?

“Commander, leave it to me if you believe me.”

Zander said firmly.

“It’s not whether I believe you...”

Before Sean finished speaking, the plane suddenly shook violently. Then the ice on the window broke with a loud crack. It flew off the window in large pieces and fell to the ground.

A brilliant ray of sunlight shone through the window.

The shaking of the plane continued, but it was getting smaller.

Besides that, the ice on each window was melting or breaking away from the aircraft as fast as the eye could see!

“Please be advised that this flight has successfully left the cold current and is now in normal flight mode. We expect to arrive at our destination, Crosac airport, in about an hour. Please remain in your seats. Don’t walk around, don’t open your parachute packs.”

The cold current was over!

No need to jump for their lives!

There were shouts of joy from the passengers in the cabin.

Some women even held their children tightly and broke into tears.

The joy of escaping death was exciting.

“It seems we don’t need to argue anymore.”

Sean said, slightly awkward.

“It seems so.”

Zander gave a simple smile.

Shortly after they dropped the parachute pack, several female flight attendants walked over and returned the parachute pack in front of each passenger to its original position.

The cabin was still a little chaotic but was much better than earlier.

Just then, a woman walked up to Sean and Zander.

It was the same foreign woman-Lisha who asked to switch seats with Sean before falling into despair due to a damaged parachute pack.

Zander disliked the woman. As soon as she came over, he asked unhappily, “What do you want?”

“I... I want to apologize for being rude earlier.”

Lisha bent over slightly and said with great embarrassment.

Then she looked at Sean sitting by the window and said sincerely, “Mr. Lennon, you’re the most courageous person I’ve ever met. I was wrong when I said you weren’t a gentleman...”

“Here’s my business card with my contact information on it. Mr. Lennon, you didn’t end up using your parachute pack, but you helped me when everyone else abandoned me. So please feel free to contact me if you ever need anything. I’ll do whatever I can to help you.”

Lisha handed a business card to Sean.

Chapter 1556

Chapter 1556

You could tell at a glance that the business card was customized. There was a line of elegant letters printed on the gilded card, which was Lisha's name.

Sean nodded at Lisha after accepting the business card.

However, before he could say more, the foreign woman blushed, lowered her head, and trotted away as if she were running for her life.

"This woman is so strange."

Zander muttered.

"She's strange indeed. Perhaps it's because she's a foreigner. They have different habits from the women in Dragon Kingdom."

Sean said casually.

Glancing at the business card, Sean quietly read out the name. "Crosac, Lisha?"

"That's the only bad thing about foreigners. I can't get used to putting the surname first and the last name last."

Zander said.

"You'll get used to it."

Sean said indifferently and put the business card in his pocket.

An hour later, Sean and Zander arrived safely at Crosac Airport.

As they emerged from the airport, Sean and Zander saw people of all colors.

Crosac was one of the largest cities in the City-State Union, where the economy was also doing well. Therefore, many migrant populations in the City-State Union would gather in Crosac to seek opportunities to make a fortune.

The races here were naturally diverse.

You could see black people and white people here, and even many people with tanned skin.

Besides skin color, people here had a variety of occupations.

Shortly after Sean and Zander left the airport gate, they saw several weapon dealers selling weapons on the street.

It was a serious violation of the law in Dragon Kingdom!

However, it was normal in the City State Union!

Besides, weapons dealers were nothing. The mercenaries or even mercenary regiments promoting themselves on the streets were the tough guys.

The City-State Union had armed fights of all sizes on the streets every day. Hundreds of people died almost every day. Most of them were because of these mercenaries.

These ruthless mercenaries, who had no idea when their last meal was and last day on earth, were the source of conflict. They were also bloody and violent.

Only in the City-State Union could so many mercenaries appear openly on the streets or in the bars and clubs.

Sean and Zander kept a low profile. After leaving the airport, Sean and Zander immediately went to Crosac's logistics company and picked up their package.

The packages contained weapons.

Sean's weapon was the Guardian Sword, which had been with him for a long time, sipping on the blood of countless enemies.

Holding the Guardian Sword again, Sean immediately felt his whole body swell with power. He had endless strength!

Zander's weapon was a saber.

The blade was long and narrow, only two fingers wide at its widest point.

Its slight curve made the blade perfect for slicing.

Zander followed Sean to battles with the saber, slicing his enemies in half like a melon!

Besides the two weapons, there was two thin metal armor, which weighed 2.5 kilograms.

These armors were prepared by Sean and shipped to Crosac by a logistics company in advance because they could not be carried on the plane.

Chapter 1557

Chapter 1557

The City-State Union was chaotic, and Sean made these preparations to keep himself and Zander safe.

After putting on the armor, they went to the streets, looking for a ride to Dorodo.

The two were currently in Crosac because only Crosac had an airport. It was why the plane landed there. From the airport, they had to take a bus to Dorodo, one of the three cities in Dragon Kingdom.

However, he could not find a taxi after waiting more than half an hour.

Zander said, looking at the crowd on the street but lacking transportation facilities.

Many people were on the street, but not many cars were coming and going. The bus was only available every hour, and the taxi was even fewer.

They had been standing for about half an hour, and only a few blue and white taxis had passed

Besides that, these taxis were all carrying passengers. They did not stop at all.

Compared with Dragon Kingdom, the City-State Union's transportation facilities were poorly run.

Just then, a pale green taxi drove over.

You could tell at a glance that the taxi was old. The car was old, not to mention dented. The car was at least ten years old.

If they were in Dragon Kingdom, the taxi would be long past its retirement date!

However, Sean and Zander could not be choosy. It was good enough that they had a car.

"Where you go?"

The taxi driver appeared to be Mexican.

He asked in broken English, seeing that Sean and Zander were from Dragon Kingdom.

"Can you take us to Dorodo?"

Zander asked immediately.

The driver instantly frowned at the word "Dorodo".

After some hesitation, he said, "It's at least six hour's drive from here to Dorodo... I won't go unless you give me 2,000 dollars!"

2,000 dollars!

Prices in the City-State Union were similar to that of the central part of Dragon Kingdom. 2,000 dollars was enough to feed and clothe a family of three for a month!

The driver was greedy. He asked for 2,000 dollars. How conscienceless.

However, Sean only agreed and said, "Okay, 2,000 dollars! Get in!"

With that said, Sean pulled open the door and got into the taxi with Zander.

The driver seemed to want to say something. However, seeing the Guardian Sword around Sean's waist and Zander's saber. He winced and shut up, not daring to speak randomly anymore.

Just then, an overweight man with a big belly came up to the car.

The fat man banged on the front window and opened the door.

"You already have a passenger! Look elsewhere!"

The driver said to the overweight man.

Sweating, the overweight man looked at Sean and Zander and said impatiently, "I'll pay you more if you kick those guys out!"

Sean's expression remained indifferent, but Zander's face showed a hint of anger.

The overweight man was rude.

Chapter 1558

Chapter 1558

What kind of person let the driver kick out the previous customer?

"Do you think I'm lying to you? I got money. I'll pay you 5,000 dollars!"

With that said, the overweight man took out his wallet and showed a thick pile of red cash notes.

The driver was instantly interested at the sight of so much money.

However, he turned around to look at the Guardian Sword at Sean's waist and Zander's knife, not daring to persuade them to get out of the car.

It was not a joke. Sean and Zander were both carrying weapons. He dared not kick them out of the car. The City-State Union was a lawless place. It was not easy to make a living here. Hardly a day went by without someone dying in the streets because of a quarrel.

If Sean and Zander blew up and hurt someone, he would probably be doomed!

Of course, it was only his speculation and opinion.

Sean and Zander were armed but only for protection. They would never attack an ordinary person for no reason.

The overweight man seemed to notice that Sean and Zander were armed, but he snorted coldly and said, Is bringing a sword and saber all that? Who do you think you are? Haha. I'm a weapons dealer from Dorodo, and I do business with Dorodo's city defense army. Dorodo's city defense army will hunt you down to the ends of the earth if you offend me!"

'Dorodo's city defense army?

'The overweight man is Dorodo's weapons dealer and is also doing business with Dorodo's city defense army?

'In that case, the overweight man is one of us?'

Sean instantly found it absurd. 11

Zander looked at Sean. After getting confirmation from his gaze, he turned to the overweight man and said, "You're going to Dorodo, right? We're going to Dorodo too. In that case, why don't we ride together?"

Hearing this, the overweight man hesitated momentarily before snorting coldly and saying, "You know what's good for you after all!"

With that said, the overweight man squeezed through the front door and sat in the front passenger seat. As the overweight man got in, the taxi sank instantly. The car even squeaked as if it would fall apart at any time.

The driver said no more but started the car and headed for Crosac.

More than ten minutes later, the taxi pulled out of Crosac and was driving on a deserted field.

The overweight man chattered on and on in the car.

"My name is Ronald Townsend, but I'm not from Dragon Kingdom. My parents are from Dragon Kingdom.

I was born in Dorodo... I'm currently Dorodo's biggest weapons dealer, supplying the city defense army with weapons. If you don't believe me, you can find out if my story is true or false by asking around in Dorodo..."

The overweight guy named Ronald was arrogant as he kept talking about himself.

Zander was irritated with him.

Sean was amused.

Although Ronald was quite arrogant before him, Sean was not offended; he was amused.

"So you have a good relationship with the city defense army? Tell me what's going on with Dorodo's city defense army."

Sean asked.

Ronald snorted coldly and said, "Dorodo's city defense army has 3,000 men under Dragon Kingdom's control. It's one of the largest legions in the City-State Union. But Crosac and several other city-states have employed a lot of mercenaries. They're not as capable of fighting as Dorodo's city defense army... "Dorodo's city defense army belongs to Dragon Kingdom's southern seventh corps, right?"

Sean interrupted Ronald.

Chapter 1559

Chapter 1559

"You know that! It seems you're no ordinary man! Are you a spy from another city, trying to infiltrate Dorodo to get information on the city defense army?"

Ronald's face was solemn as he yelled at Sean.

He even reached under his clothes as if he were about to pull out a weapon.

However, Zander only glanced coldly at him, and Ronald's expression froze. He dared not take out his hand, which was under his clothes.

"Don't get me wrong. I only asked because I'm curious."

Sean said with a smile as he waved his hand.

The depressing atmosphere in the car eased slightly.

The driver was sweating as his heart pounded. He regretted taking the deal.

Although this ride was enough to earn a month's income, he would suffer if these people fought in the car!

Fortunately, it was not as bad as the driver thought.

Neither Sean nor Zander laid a hand on the weapons dealer named Ronald.

The weapons dealer, Ronald, did not do anything reckless.

He might look chubby, but he was smart.

The taxi was too small, and he was overweight. It was not easy for him to move around. Even with weapons, he could not win when it was two against one.

Therefore, he could only endure it.

In this way, maybe he could find out these two people's identities and backgrounds. Perhaps he could earn himself a lot of credit!

With that in mind, Ronald took out his hand and said with a chuckle, "I'm sorry. I was too impulsive... Haha, bros, I wonder why you're going to Dorodo?"

"We're thinking of joining the city defense army."

Sean said immediately.

"Join the city defense army?"

Ronald looked shocked.

"That's right. We've been determined to defend our country since we were young. But Dragon Kingdom is currently peaceful with only occasional wars erupting in Southern Clan, so we came to Dorodo to join the city defense army to protect the country!"

Sean's words put Ronald at ease.

"If you join the city defense army, we'll be family."

Ronald said with a chuckle.

Just then, the taxi screeched to a stop.

Ronald's chubby body almost smashed against the front windshield while Zander and Sean sat firmly without swaying. 1/2

"What the h*ll? Why did you step on the brake suddenly? Do you want to murder us?"

Ronald snapped.

The driver raised his hand shakily, pointed ahead, and said in horror, "Mercenaries! So many mercenaries!"

Ronald looked over and immediately saw more than 20 mercenaries on the road ahead and thus blocking their way.

Ronald was stunned by the presence of so many mercenaries, each armed with a weapon, some even armed with a crossbow.

His face was pale. His chubby cheeks trembled slightly while his hands shook.

"Get down from the car!"

A blonder mercenary leader with a saber stepped forward casually and banged on the taxi.

Boom!

Both the driver and Ronald trembled violently. They were shocked.

The driver got out of the car in a panic. Then he crouched on the ground with his hands on his head in fear.

Chapter 1560

Chapter 1560

Ronald got out of the car, forced a smile, and asked, “Guys, what do you want? I’m just an ordinary person. If you’re stopping us to rob us, take the money and let me go. What do you think?”

As soon as Ronald finished speaking, the mercenaries burst into laughter.

“Are you Ronald Townsend?”

The mercenary leader asked.

Ronald’s expression instantly changed when he heard the mercenary leader mention his name.

It seemed that the group of mercenaries blocking their way was not to rob him but to wait for him! Oh, no!

“I... I’m not. My name isn’t Ronald Townsend. My name’s Hector Lindsay.”

Ronald said as he forced a stiff smile.

However, the mercenary leader immediately walked over and pulled out a photo to compare with Ronald. “You look exactly like the picture. How dare you say you’re not Ronald?”

The mercenary leader sneered before raising the saber in his hand. The other mercenaries had cruel and horrifying expressions on their faces.

“Ronald, you’re Dorodo’s weapons dealer, specializing in supplying Dorodo’s city defense army with weapons and other equipment, aren’t you? Haha. I was offered 20 million dollars to kill you. Don’t hate me. I’m paid to help people eliminate their troubles.”

With that said, the mercenary swung his saber and slashed it at Ronald’s neck!

Ronald felt dizzy as the sharp saber cast a white light in mid-air.

‘Oh, no!

‘I’m going to die this time!’

However, there was suddenly a clang.

The mercenary could not keep hold of his saber, and the sharp saber flew out of his hand.

Then the saber fell to the ground with a clang, along with a pebble.

“Who is it?”

The mercenary leader took a step back and growled with a grave expression.

Then the back door of the taxi opened. Two men got out of the car. It was Sean and Zander!

When the car was stopped earlier, Sean and Zander ducked down and hid in the back of the taxi.

They were not afraid of the mercenaries. They were not in a hurry to show themselves only to find out the truth of the matter.

Knowing that Ronald was the real target of these mercenaries, they finally took action.

Although Ronald was rude and arrogant, he was a member of Dorodo’s city defense army. He was responsible for supplying Dorodo’s city defense army with weapons.

Therefore, Ronald needed to be safe, or Dorodo’s city defense army would be in a difficult situation.

It was why Sean swooped in and knocked the mercenary leader’s saber off with a pebble, saving Ronald’s life.

“How... How dare you?”

The mercenary leader was shocked before flying into a rage.

The taxi driver and Ronald backed away in fear.

“Get them, boys! Kill them, and we’ll split the 20 million dollars!”

The mercenary leader shouted, and the mercenaries rushed toward Sean, Zander, Ronald, and the driver.

Ronald and the driver hid under the taxi, not daring to show themselves.

Sean and Zander showed the same cruel smile.

“I can finally fight without fear.”

With that said, Sean slowly pulled out his weapon—the Guardian Sword!
