Chapter 1621

Chapter 1621

Lorenzo immediately shut up and lowered his head.

Waves were stirring up in Lorenzo's heart!

'So Sean is the commander-in-chief of Dorodo's city defense army!

'No wonder Dwayne was so cowardly after seeing him. He even slapped me several times!'

Lorenzo regretted it now.

Had he known that Sean was the commander-in-chief of Dorodo's city defense army, he would never have dared to make a scene at the fondue restaurant or even go after Sean. Besides that, he even called Chief Sheriff Dwayne of the sheriffs department to intimidate others.

"Hello again, Young Master Wagner."

Sean also saw Lorenzo and said with a smile.

Ronald and Alfie looked over at Lorenzo after hearing Sean's words.

Ronald instantly felt a thump in his heart. 'Did Sean know Lorenzo? Why else would he greet him at a time like this?'

Alfie turned to look at his son and asked, "What's going on? Do you know Commander Lennon?"

"No, we don't know each other."

Lorenzo shook his head.

Lorenzo's reaction made Ronald even more confused. He was increasingly puzzled by what was going on.

Sean got up from his chair and walked over to Alfie and Ronald. He looked at them with a faint smile.

"You're the top two Dorodo's weapons dealers. You two own 90% of Dorodo's weapons market. I'm honored that you came to meet me together."

Ronald immediately forced a smile at Sean's words.

However, Alfie said sheepishly before Ronald could say anything, "What are you saying, Commander Lennon? We're honored that you're willing to meet us!"

"Really?"

Sean laughed.

Then Alfie said, "Commander Lennon, to tell you the truth, I've come here today to talk to you about some business. Raphael City has a massive weapon-the stronghold giant crossbow. I wonder if you're interested in it? The stronghold giant crossbow has tremendous power and can fire continuously with an effective range of 500 meters! It's a great weapon to defend the city!"

"Oh?"

Sean had already heard it from Ronald and had seen photos of the stronghold giant crossbow.

However, he acted like it was his first time hearing about the stronghold giant crossbow.

Alfie was smug to see that Sean seemed to have developed a strong interest in the stronghold giant crossbow.

He had long wanted to get involved in Dorodo's city defense army's weapons supply, but the previous Dorodo's city defense army's commanders-in-chief had been so insistent on working with Ronald that he could not interfere at all.

This time, Dorodo's city defense army had a new commander-in-chief, so he took the opportunity to break down the barriers to establish a partnership with Dorodo's city defense army.

It seemed that he was right!

He owned nearly 60% of Dorodo's weapons market. Ronald would have been no match for himself had it not been for his cooperation with Dorodo's army.

Now that he had the deal with Dorodo's city defense army, Ronald would be no match for him!

Alfie's heart was full of joy at the thought.

"Commander Lennon, this stronghold giant crossbow..."

"Not at all."

Ronald chimed in, but Alfie cut him off before he could finish speaking.

Chapter 1622

"Yeah," Sean nodded, took Caitlyn's hand, and followed Rosie into Myron Hotel.

The party had already begun at this time.

The banquet hall was decorated magnificently. The luminous marble floors and huge crystal chandeliers hanging from the ceiling gave the banquet hall sophistication and grandeur. Moreover, the guests in the banquet hall were socializing with each other-graceful and poised as if they were on a different planet from the outside world.

Sean's brow could not help furrowing as he watched the extravagant spectacle. No matter how many times he saw it, he could not like it!

Rosie led Sean and Caitlyn to a slightly secluded corner and said, "Here's the thing. My father is talking to some friends, and he'll be with you in a few minutes. Why don't you wait here for a while?"

Sean was upset, but he did not show it much.

He did have a bad relationship with Victor of the Joules Town government. Besides that, Victor despised him, but that was between them. It was between Sean and the Joules Town government. It had nothing to do with Victor's daughter, Rosie. Sean would not take it out on a woman, no matter how upset he was.

"Yeah, get back to whatever you were doing, Ms. Barlowe," Sean said indifferently.

However, Rosie did not stay.

Sean looked at Rosie somewhat confused but found Rosie's face gradually reddening.

"Is there something you want?" Sean asked.

Rosie hesitated for a moment before finally saying, "Um... It's nothing actually. I only want to see what kind of person you are."

"What?" Sean was confused.

Caitlyn tugged at Sean's sleeve and whispered, "Brother Sean, does this woman like you?"

"Stop joking around. It's the first time I've met her," Sean said earnestly.

However, Caitlyn shook her head and went on to say, "Who says you can't fall in love on the first meeting? Where do you think the phrase 'love at first sight' comes from?"

Despite Caitlyn's claims, Sean did not think Victor's daughter, Rosie, would fall for him. Partly because they had met for the first time and partly because they were against each other.

Victor's attitude toward himself could be described with two words, indifference and contempt. Rosie was his daughter.

How could she be interested in him?

Sean was never an overthinker, much less believed pennies would fall from heaven. Therefore, he did not take Caitlyn's words seriously.

However, Rosie suddenly asked, "Mr. Lennon, you started Lennon Group to compete with Billion Trees Group and succeeded. Billion Trees Group lost now. The entire Joules Town knew this... How did you do it?"

Sean glanced at the woman and replied indifferently, "It's a trade secret."

"You're right. How could you randomly tell someone something so important?"

Rosie laughed self-depreciatingly before asking, "Well, let me ask you something less important... Mr. Lennon, why did you go to all this trouble to build an orphanage? You can't profit from this kind of charity, can you?"

Sean did not know how to answer her.

He spent a lot of money to build the orphanage to give May, Caitlyn, and the children of Queen Children's Orphanage a better home.

Chapter 1623

Forget about making money that way, they were even losing money!

Selling the stronghold giant crossbow at the manufacturer's price looked like they were breaking even, but you had to factor in labor and shipping costs.

These two added up to tens of thousands of Union dollars. Therefore, if one gave 20% off and sold the stronghold giant crossbow at the manufacturer's price, he would be losing money!

Ronald clenched his fist. He wanted to punch Alfie in the face.

The old man would lose money to compete with me and beat me. How despicable!

But I can't offer a lower price and lure Sean with a 20% discount. Because the Townsend family isn't as wealthy as the Wagner family.

If Ronald also offered 20% off, Alfie might go even lower.

That way, Ronald would always be one step behind Alfie. There was no way he could compete with him!

Alfie smiled and turned to look at Ronald, saying smugly, "Mr. Townsend, are you going to offer a 20% discount too? Maybe Commander Lennon will choose the Townsend family!"

The sarcasm made Ronald's expression change with anger. However, there was nothing he could say. He was no match for him. It was true that the Townsend family was not yet willing to lose money.

Lorenzo also looked smug.

The old man had refused his proposal so many times. He would not marry Lillian to him! He had now hit a brick wall!

If you had the sense to marry your daughter to me, would this have happened?

Lorenzo's face lit up with glee at the thought. He was even on the verge of laughing.

Just then, Sean suddenly said, "I don't want either of your stronghold giant crossbows."

As soon as he said this, the large office instantly turned silent.

The smile on Alfie's face, which had just been triumphant, froze. He became extremely embarrassed. The way he looked at Sean was full of disbelief.

Lorenzo was disgusted. It was as if he had swallowed a fly. Ronald was overjoyed and relieved.

"Why? Why? Commander Lennon, the stronghold giant crossbow resold by the Wagner family is so much cheaper than the stronghold giant crossbow resold by the Townsend family. We're even losing money. Why wouldn't you buy it?" Alfie could not help asking, his voice rising a few decibels.

"Watch your tone! You're talking to Commander Lennon!" Zander chided.

Alfie awkwardly took two steps back, but the look on his face was still as ghastly as ever.

Sean looked at Ronald before looking at Alfie and saying, "You gave me a discount, so I have to buy it? What's the difference between you forcing people to buy?"

"No, Commander Lennon, I didn't mean that. I just don't understand... This is a great deal for the city defense army. Why did you turn us down?" Alfie asked cautiously.

He was disappointed and even angry, but he dared not lose his temper.

The man in front of him was the commander-in-chief of the city defense army. If he disrespected him, he and his son could forget about leaving here alive today!

Hearing Alfie's words, Sean smiled faintly and glanced at Lorenzo, who looked equally ghastly.

Then Sean said, "I'm not sure about the Wagner family's products because of the Wagner family's bad morals and bad manners..."

"What?"

Chapter 1624

Alfie looked shocked!

The Guardian's Sword

He never expected that Sean would say such a thing to his face. It was a bad look for any affluent family!

"I was dining with my subordinate at a restaurant downtown the other day when I ran into your son, Lorenzo..." Sean said slowly.

Hearing Sean's words, Alfie immediately turned to Lorenzo and gave him a furious look.

"Your son was arrogant and imposing. He tried to force Ronald's daughter Lillian to marry him in front of everyone in the restaurant. After Lillian rejected him, he took it out on me and even attacked me..."

"Haha, Alfie, your son has a lot of guts. I haven't seen anyone do something that's basically forcing themselves on another person in today's society for a long time."

Alfie was already filled with anger when Sean finished speaking.

So that was it!

No wonder Sean had such a negative impression of the Wagner family. That was the problem!

"You good-for-nothing! B*stard!"

Without thinking, Alfie raised his hand and slapped Lorenzo hard!

Lorenzo fell to the ground with his nose bleeding from Alfie's slap.

"Dad, it's not my fault. I didn't know Commander... Commander Lennon is the commander-in-chief of the city defense army. I had no idea!"

Alfie gave his precious son another kick before turning around and bowing humbly.

"Commander Lennon, I apologize for my son! But I would also like to say that my son isn't conceited. He must have treated you that way because he didn't know your..."

Sean interrupted him before he could finish speaking.

"So what if he didn't know my identity? Can he lay a hand on me because he didn't know who I am? Wouldn't your son have bullied others and done whatever he wanted often? What if your son was facing someone ordinary? Surely he would have become even more violent and reckless?"

Alfie was instantly speechless and could not retort as soon as Sean said this.

"Alright, take your son and go. The city defense army won't do business with the Wagner family," Sean said flatly.

Alfie tried to plead, but Zander had come forward.

"Please leave..." Zander said coldly, his hand resting on the hilt of the saber hanging at his waist.

After glancing at Zander, Alfie tried to swallow his helplessness and resentment.

He walked out of the commander-in-chief's office with his son and headed downstairs in disappointment.

After glancing at Zander, Alfie tried to swallow his helplessness and resentment. He walked out of the commander-in-chief's office with his son and headed downstairs in disappointment.

Sean, Zander, and Ronald could still hear Alfie chiding and swearing at his son in the hallway while Lorenzo explained aggrievedly and complained tearfully.

Sean and Zander's expressions were unfazed, but Ronald could not help laughing out loud.

"Commander Lennon, I didn't know such a thing happened. Thank you for helping out my daughter!" Ronald excitedly went up to Sean to thank him.

"I just happened to run into them and helped. It's nothing," Sean said flatly.

Although Sean downplayed it, Ronald thanked him repeatedly. After all, Sean had helped him vent his fury!

The Wagner family had been humiliated today!

Chapter 1625

"Thank you all the same, Commander Lennon. Without you, the Wagner family would have given me so many issues," Ronald said with great sincerity.

Sean waved his hand and said, "Don't thank me. You're Dorodo city defense army's weapons business partner after all. I'm helping the city defense army by helping you."

Sean's words melted Ronald's heart.

The former commanders-in-chief of Dorodo city defense army also met Ronald frequently, which was inevitable because of their business dealings. However, the former commanders-in-chief of the city defense army had always acted like they were above him.

Sean was different.

He was also a commander-in-chief. Besides that, Sean was Dragon Kingdom's youngest nine-star commander and the Guardian God of war. With his stature and glamor, Sean had never put on airs with Ronald.

Ronald could not help but feel flattered and grateful!

"Commander Lennon, this is a token of my appreciation. Please accept it..." Ronald took a thick envelope out of his arms and handed it to Sean with both hands once he finished speaking.

Sean took the envelope, opened it, and saw it was full of money.

The average person would have been dazzled and even dizzy from seeing the red Dragon Dollar cash notes, but Sean's expression remained unchanged.

"This is 100,000 Dragon dollars. Although it's not much, it's a token of appreciation from me..."

Sean shoved the thick envelope back into Ronald's hand before Ronald could finish speaking.

"That's inappropriate, Mr. Townsend. What kind of person would I be if I took your money? Don't ever send me anything like that again. If you really want to thank me, do more for Dorodo's city defense army. Try your best to improve the weapons."

Hearing Sean say this, Ronald blushed and took the money back.

"Dragon Kingdom is lucky to have a high-ranking military officer like you!" Ronald said in awe.

He was not only saying it. He did feel that way.

When he used to work with Dorodo's city defense army, he used to send money to the then- commanders in chief. Not only did he give them money but also all kinds of expensive items.

The city defense army's commanders-in-chief accepted all these gifts and even repeatedly hinted that Ronald had given too little. Ronald offered to give Sean gifts, but Sean refused.

It showed the difference between Sean and the former commanders-in-chief of the city defense army!

After some hesitation, Ronald continued saying, "In that case, please come to my house for a meal tomorrow evening, Commander Lennon. Please don't refuse, or I'll be in an uncomfortable position!"

Since Ronald had already said so, Sean did not reject him and said yes.

"Well, I do have time tomorrow night, so I'll bother you then," Sean said with a smile.

They finished chatting, and the two men soon got down to business.

"I'm adamant about not wanting to deal with you two. Not only will I not buy Alfie's stronghold giant crossbows, but I also won't buy your stronghold giant crossbows," Sean said to Ronald with a straight face.

Private matters were private, and business was business.

The stronghold giant crossbow was a weapon involving Dorodo's defense. It was not just business. It was also a big deal, so Sean's face turned serious.

Chapter 1626

Ronald looked confused as he asked, "Is there a reason for that?"

"Yes, there is..." Sean nodded before continuing, "I contacted the Dragon Kingdom army when I returned to the city defense army's main camp after you introduced the stronghold giant crossbow on your doorstep that day..."

"The Dragon Kingdom army says it will soon send a batch of heavy-duty city defense weapons to Dorodo to strengthen its defense. With support from the Dragon Kingdom army, I don't have to go through weapons dealers to buy giant crossbows."

Ronald instantly understood after Sean said that.

Dorodo city's defense army's weapons mainly came from the Dragon Kingdom army's support. Ronald also provided weapons, equipment, and supplies to Dorodo's city defense army, but he was in the minority.

Ronald's support was only icing on the cake compared to the Dragon Kingdom army's support. Therefore, now that the Dragon Kingdom army was supporting Dorodo's city defense army with the same type of weapons, the city defense army did not need to buy from weapons dealers.

"Thankfully, I haven't received the stronghold giant crossbow yet and only paid a deposit... Thank you, Commander Lennon. If you hadn't told me this, I would have lost a lot of money." Ronald thanked him sincerely.

"It doesn't matter. It's nothing. We should help each other," Sean said with a smile.

It was already getting dark by the time Ronald left.

The weapons delivery from the Dragon Kingdom army arrived by nightfall, and all ten ballistae were mounted on Dorodo's city walls in less than two hours.

With these ten heavy-duty ballistae, Dorodo's defenses increased significantly.

In this way, even an army of more than ten thousand men could forget about taking over the city!

The ballistae's arrival also made everyone in the city defense army excited. They were more motivated and fuller of spirit.

During training, the soldiers worked as hard as they could!

The chiliarches, Gregory and Anthony, were happy to see the striking scene before them. Even Zander was bursting with pride!

Time flew.

As it got dark, Sean got out of the car and entered the Townsend family house with Zander.

Mila and Ronald's first wife, Charlotte Chastain, systematically serve the cooked meals in the hall on the first floor of the Townsend family home. Ronald's children set the plates and wine glasses at the table.

When Sean and Zander arrived, they were warmly welcomed by the Townsend family immediately. Ronald's wives came to the door with their children to greet them.

The happiest of them all was Ronald's eldest daughter, Lillian, of course. However, neither Sean nor Zander saw Ronald.

"Welcome to our humble abode, Mr. Lennon and Mr. Young. Please come in."

Charlotte said with a smile as she led Sean and Zander inside. After they were seated at the dining table's main seats, Charlotte took a wine bottle and poured Sean a full glass of wine.

"Mr. Lennon, here. Let me toast you," Charlotte said with a smile as she raised her glass.

Chapter 1627

Charlotte was Ronald's first wife and the mistress of the Townsend family. Therefore, he had to give her face.

Sean raised his glass and said with a smile, "Mrs. Townsend, my thanks to your husband and the Townsend family's support for Dorodo's city defense army over the years.

"You're too kind," Charlotte said excitedly, raising her glass to her mouth and finishing it in one gulp.

"I'm not being kind. I'm telling you the truth. Dorodo city defense soldiers are several notches better off because of your husband's support. The quilts, clothes, and other living supplies are a great help to the city defense army." Charlotte smiled ear to ear, and she looked at Sean with intense satisfaction.

Ronald had invited the commanders-in-chief of the city defense army to their home for dinner before, but the previous commanders-in-chief had always looked like they were above them and spoke arrogantly.

Compared with the previous commanders-in-chief, Sean was undoubtedly friendlier and less unsympathetic.

"By the way, why didn't I see Ronald? Where did he go?" Sean asked.

Charlotte's expression instantly stiffened at Sean's words.

Mila quickly explained, "Well, Mr. Lennon... A representative from Raphael City has just arrived to talk business with my husband. They're on the second floor right now."

"Oh, I see..." Sean nodded.

Zander standing nearby reminded promptly, "The strong hold giant crossbow that Mr. Townsend said is developed and produced by Raphael City."

Sean's eyes narrowed slightly at Zander's reminder.

Ronald had paid a deposit to Raphael City to buy stronghold giant crossbows and sell them to Dorodo's city defense army. However, due to Sean's refusal, there was no way Ronald would be buying those stronghold giant crossbows, and he wanted the deposit returned.

Someone from Raphael City had come to Dorodo and Ronald's house. Then the thing they were going to talk about was most likely the stronghold giant crossbow.

Just then, there was suddenly a piercing sound of something breaking on the second floor.

Charlotte and Mila's expressions changed, and the others were not looking so good either.

Sean stood up and said, "Stay right here. I'll go upstairs and check."

"But..."

Charlotte seemed to have something to say, but Sean cut her off before she could finish.

"Don't worry. I'm helping your husband."

With that said, Sean and Zander both went upstairs.

The second floor.

Ronald stood in front of the sofa in the luxurious drawing room with an awkward expression.

In front of him were two middle-aged men in military uniforms.

One could tell at a glance that they were not from Dragon Kingdom. With purple eyes and round noses, people could tell they were foreigners from every angle.

These two were visibly threatening Ronald.

"We had a deal, and now you want to back out? Do you have any idea how much trouble that gives us?"

"Mr. Townsend, how disrespectful of you! Are all Dragon Kingdom people so unreliable?"

Ronald defiantly explained, "It's not that I'm unreliable. We didn't sign a contract for the stronghold giant crossbows in the first place. We haven't even closed the deal yet. Changing my mind now isn't considered a breach of contract."

Chapter 1628

"Isn't considered a breach of contract? Haha, you're kidding! I'm warning you. You have to buy our stronghold giant crossbows whether you like it or not!"

"To tell you the truth, don't buy any more weapons developed and manufactured by Raphael City if you breach the contract! Raphael City will never have anything to do with you again!"

"Not only we're severing ties with you, Mr. Townsend, but you and your family will also be given a hard time if you appear in Raphael City!"

"Scared? Hahaha, Mr. Townsend? I advise you to think it through!"

The two bombarded Ronald, leaving a layer of cold sweat forming on Ronald's forehead.

Ronald's weapons came from a wide range of sources, not just Raphael City but also many other cities. Therefore, it would not be a big deal even if he cut ties with Raphael City. He could only focus on other cities. However, he could not help but take Raphael City's threats and intimidation seriously.

While a weapons dealer sounded amazing and even mind-blowing, it was nothing compared to a whole city.

If Raphael City had made up its mind to go after him, he would be no match for it!

However, after hesitating for a while, Ronald insisted by saying, "Sorry, I'm not changing my decision. I'm not buying your stronghold giant crossbows."

Hearing this, the taller foreign soldier instantly lost his temper. He grabbed the vase on the coffee table and slammed it to the floor

Clang!

A beautiful vase worth tens of thousands of dollars broke into pieces just like that!

"See that? Mr. Townsend, this is what happens if you insist on going against Raphael City!" The foreign military officer threatened rudely.

The other person also added, "Mr. Townsend, I'm going to give you one last chance. If you still won't cooperate, Raphael City will treat you and your family.."

Before the man had finished speaking, a firm voice came from the door.

"Don't you know you can't go after one's family no matter how much of a crime they have committed?"

Ronald looked over his shoulder and instantly saw Sean and Zander standing outside the door!

Ronald's face lit up with surprise and excitement when he saw them.

"Mr. Lennon, Mr. Young, you finally came! Great!" Ronald quickly ran toward Sean and Zander, but the tall foreign soldier grabbed him and yanked him back after he had only taken two steps.

"Who are they? Mr. Townsend, you hired someone to ambush us?"

The foreign soldier yelled and even put one hand around Ronald's neck.

Another foreign soldier pulled a crossbow out from his waist!

Ronald was terrified when the steel crossbow's bright silver gleam glowed cold and bright in the light of the room. However, Sean and Zander, who were targeted by the crossbow, were unfazed.

"Not only did you barge into Dragon Kingdom's residents' house and threaten them, you even took them hostage. Is Raphael City army this unreasonable?" Sean asked coldly.

"Haha, so what? Raphael City has always been like that!" The foreigner with the crossbow said with a laugh.

Sean planned to reason with these two people, but it seemed these f*cking foreigners were not going to listen!

"In that case, don't blame me for being ruthless..."

Chapter 1629

Zander looked at Sean and glared at the two foreign soldiers.

"This is your last chance to release Mr. Townsend and get out of here, or..."

Zander said this because he did not want it to get to the point of bloodshed happening. After all, Ronald invited Sean and himself to his house for dinner today. If there were bloodshed, it would not be a big deal, but it was still inappropriate.

However, before he had finished speaking, the two foreign soldiers began to laugh arrogantly.

"Hahaha, give us one last chance? Who do you think you are?"

"Even if Dorodo's commander-in-chief came today, he can forget about giving us orders!"

Zander was furious. He had no idea that the two foreign soldiers were so arrogant.

"Then don't blame me for being ruthless!" Zander said, his hand resting on the hilt of the saber around his waist.

"Hahaha! What can you do to us? You're only a weakling from Dragon Kingdom. How dare you behave so arrogantly?" One of the foreign soldiers said nonchalantly.

A weakling from Dragon Kingdom?

How dare these two foreign soldiers call them weaklings from Dragon Kingdom?

They're looking for trouble!

"Say no more. Attack!" Sean ordered.

After getting Sean's orders, Zander no longer hesitated!

That was when the foreign soldier with the crossbow suddenly pulled the trigger.

There was a whoosh, and a bright silver bolt shot at Zander.

Ordinary people would not even have time to react if they faced this lightning-fast projectile, let alone fight back or dodge it!

Not only was the bolt going fast, but it was shot at close range. They were not even ten meters apart!

However, it was no big deal to Zander.

Seeing the bolt drawing close to him, Zander shouted, and the saber around his waist was withdrawn with a cold glimmer!

With a snap, the steel bolt was split straight down the middle by Zander's saber. He then jumped up and chopped the foreign soldier's wrist!

A severed hand flew through the air with a stream of bright red blood. It fell onto the floor with a plop after two seconds.

It was another two seconds before the foreign soldier, who had lost a hand, finally came to himself.

Looking at his bleeding wrist stump and his severed hand on the floor holding the crossbow, he widened his mouth and let out a terrified scream!

The other foreign soldier's expression changed dramatically.

He had not expected Zander to move so fast. He was so fast that his comrade could not even fire his second bolt!

"D*mn it!" The foreign soldier shouted before tossing Ronald aside and reaching for his crossbow around his waist.

"There's something more d*mning!" Zander sneered as the blade glimmered with the flick of his wrist.

As a swooshing sound rang, the foreign soldier's right hand was chopped off!

Then the foreign soldier screamed and fell to the floor, clutching his wrist.

The whole process seemed long, but it only took a few seconds. Even describing it as fast as lightning was insufficient.

Zander flicked the saber. The smooth and bright saber chopped off the two foreign soldiers' hands in a row, but the saber's blade did not have a single drop of blood on it.

Although the saber was not as good as Sean's Guardian Sword, Sean had hired a famous craftsman to make it for Zander.

Chapter 1630

A blade with no blood lingering on it was a powerful weapon!

"Get the f*ck out of here! Or I'll kill you!" Sean ordered coldly.

The two badly wounded foreign soldiers were in severe pain, but they dared not stay there. They quickly grabbed their severed hands, which had fallen onto the floor, and they staggered down the stairs.

They had been speaking haughtily earlier, calling Zander a Dragon Kingdom weakling, but they dared not even speak now. They were humiliated to the extreme!

It was not until the two men had left that Ronald finally came to his senses.

"Thank you for saving my life again, Mr. Lennon and Mr. Young..." Ronald said with a long exhale.

He was so frightened by what had just happened that he could not help thinking of the word "Thrilling", which he had not used in a long time.

Luckily, with Sean and Zander around, there was no need to worry about danger, whatever it may be.

"You're also a citizen from Dragon Kingdom. Dorodo's city defense army has the duty and responsibility to protect your safety, of course," Sean said with a smile.

Ronald repeatedly thanked him and came down the stairs with Sean and Zander.

In the hall on the first floor, Lillian, Lillian's biological mother, Charlotte, Mile, and the other children, looked terrified.

The two foreign soldiers with severed hands came running down the stairs, which gave them a great fright. However, they were not afraid but angry after Ronald explained.

"Those darn foreigners. You should have been tougher on them!"

"They only had a hand chopped off this time. The next time they try to give us trouble, they should lose more than that!"

"It's a good thing Mr. Lennon and Mr. Young are around. You two are a blessing to the Townsend family!"

"Come visit us more often, Mr. Lennon!"

Sean and Zander took their seats as the Townsend family welcomed them.

Ronald attentively helped Sean and Zander with their meals, while Charlotte, Mile, and the others poured wine and toasted Sean and Zander.

Half an hour passed quickly.

Ronald's chubby face was slightly red-probably from the alcohol.

He drunkenly said, "Mr. Lennon and Mr. Young, you've saved my life more than once. You're my saviors. If there's ever anything I can do to help, I won't say no! I, Ronald Townsend, promise you that today!"

Ronald burped after saying that.

"Sorry, my father can't hold his liquor very well..." Lillian said sheepishly as her face blushed.

Sean and Zander were the guests, and her father, Ronald, was the host. However, Ronald was drunk, which made her feel humiliated.

"It's fine. It's fine. We don't mind," Sean said with a smile as he waved his hands.

Lillian was instantly relieved after Sean said this. She knew that Sean felt this way. Although they had not known each other for long, she knew Sean quite well.

Sean was someone straightforward. He did not beat around the bush and said whatever was on his mind. Therefore, he really did not mind when he said so.

Just then, Sean saw something.

It was an antique-looking ornament on the living room cabinet, but it was incomplete.
