Chapter 651

Chapter 651

“Willow, here you are.”

Although Old Madam Quinn did not stand up, she still greeted Willow.

Willow paused, looked at the Quinn family, who were with different expressions, and exhaled softly.

When she was a child, she regarded these people as her closest relatives.

However, now these relatives joined forces to push her down the path she did not want to take.

Moreover, Willow knew that what these people said to her was actually not really for her good, but was for their own benefit.

At this time, the eyes of these so-called relatives were gleaming with anticipation as they regarded her as a bargaining chip that could be exchanged for huge benefits.

This made Willow feel even more disappointed.

“Whew!”

Willow exhaled softly and removed the messy thoughts in her mind.

After all, her surname was Quinn.

As a member of the Quinn family, she had the obligation and responsibility to make the Quinn family better and better.

Compared with the future of the Quinn family, her happiness was nothing and no one would care.

“Willow, take a seat!”

Old Madam Quinn patted the chair beside her as she spoke to Willow.

This seat was reserved for special and important people.

Today, however, no one protested.

Kent Quinn showed a dirty look but he still sat aside with Willow.

“Willow, how are things going?”

Old Madam Quinn asked knowingly as soon as Willow sat down.

The rest of the Quinn family looked at Willow with an expectant look.

"Grandma, it has not been settled yet.

"But I think if there is more time, there may be turnaround."

Willow was silent for a few seconds, then raised her head and replied.

What she said was not to fight for herself, but the result she came to after thinking about it carefully last night.

Yesterday, although Willow was turned down when she went to Reach For Will Group to meet Harry Clarke, Harry did not have a tough attitude towards her.

This made Willow feel that there was still some room for maneuvering.

However, the Quinn family shook their heads and sneered as soon as she finished saying these words.

"Willow, can you stop being so naive all the time?"

Faye Quinn took a step forward, pointed at Willow, and spoke.

"Yeah! No matter how naive a person is, there must be a limit.

"Regarding the matter of Reach For Will Group, let alone two days, you won't be able to accomplish it even if you're given two years."

Everyone snorted coldly because they knew that there was absolutely no possibility of this thing being accomplished at all and it was also not a matter of time.

"Willow, do you think Reach For Will Group will give us time?

"The Quinn family can't hold on any longer now."

Old Madam Quinn shook her head slightly, her tone was also a little displeased.

"Grandma, I met Mr. Clarke yesterday and he did not seem so antagonistic, so I think there is still a chance."

Willow thought about it for a while and still raised her head and said with gritted teeth.

"Hahaha! You're killing me! It's not like we haven't seen Mr. Clarke's attitude.

"Mr. Clarke has a good attitude towards you? Why don't you say that Mr. Clarke promised you that he would not harm the Quinn family anymore?"

Faye sneered again. No matter what Willow said, she could refute it.

"Grandma, I still want to try!"

Willow glanced at Faye and said very seriously.

"Willow, do you know that it's not that I don't want to give you more time.

"It's because the Quinn family can't hold on any longer!"

Old Madam Quinn let out a long sigh. If she had a way to solve it, she would definitely not come this far.

"Old Madam Quinn, otherwise, why not we try to seek help from Old Master Quinn's former friends."

Kent was silent for a long time and then brought up this matter.

“B*stard!”

However, Old Madam Quinn cursed when she heard those words.

"When Old Master Quinn was still alive, he had already made a will.

“As long as it's about the Quinn family's private affairs, we must not trouble his former friends.

“Every place has its own rules and we must not rely on relationships to break those rules.”

When Old Madam Quinn said this, everyone was a little silent.

Levi Quinn was a man of the highest integrity.

He

never took advantage of his position to seek benefits for himself.

His honest and stubborn character sometimes frustrated people, but no one dared to disobey his orders.

What was more, this was his will!

Moreover, Old Madam Quinn also agreed with the sayings - friendship faded when people were far apart. .

Now that Levi Quinn had passed away, how could the Quinn family be qualified to ask others to help?

“Kent! You’re too naive.

“Do you really think that Reach For Will Group can develop so rapidly without the support of some big shot?

“Even if we go to Old Master Quinn’s former friends, maybe they will help with some trivial matters, but it’s absolutely impossible for them to solve the problem with Reach For Will Group for us.”

Samuel Quinn snorted coldly and spoke with his mouth in a sneer.

“You’re right...”

Old Madam Quinn nodded lightly.

“Old Master Quinn had made his stance known on this position.

“Has he ever thought about whether the Quinn family would suffer without him being in charge of the Quinn family?”

Simon Quinn’s father frowned and said.

Hearing this word, Old Madam Quinn moved her palm slightly and spoke softly after hesitating for long time.

“I once asked him that too.

“But he said that the marriage he arranged for Willow must be taken seriously by the Quinn family.

“As long as this marriage is achieved, the Quinn family will be prosperous for a hundred years, and no one will dare look down on us.”

It was the first time that Old Madam Quinn said these words to the crowd.

The Quinn family was stunned when they heard the words.

This marriage, naturally, was referring to Sean. However, how could that cripple Sean have such great ability?

The Guardian's Sword

Chapter 652

Chapter 652

“Oh, grandma, I understand what grandpa meant.

“Perhaps Sean did have a high status in the army before.

“But grandpa must have never thought that Sean would become a loser cripple now, right?

“So, let's not count*on this marriage.”

Faye folded her arms in front of her chest and said disdainfully.

“Yes! That’s right...”

The rest of the Quinn family nodded.

“Okay, let's not talk about him.

“Willow, since you didn't accomplish this.

“Then you and Young Master Zimmer...”

Old Madam Quinn waved her hand and looked at Willow.

Willow looked at Old Madam Quinn for a few seconds and then a self-deprecating expression appeared on the corner of Willow's mouth.

She took a deep breath and was about to nod in agreement.

Buzz buzz!

Just when Willow wanted to speak, Samuel's mobile phone suddenly rang.

Samuel did not want to answer at first but after looking at the caller ID, he still answered.

"Hello...

“What?”

Once the phone was connected, Samuel sat up straight from his chair in a hurry.

The Quinn family immediately frowned. Did something happen to the Quinn family company again?

In the past two days, they had received a lot of bad news.

“The customer who canceled the partnership with us yesterday came to sign a new partnership agreement with us again?”

“And they’re willing to pay half the payment in advance?”

Samuel’s head buzzed and asked with eyes widened. Swoosh!

Hearing this, the Quinn family suddenly turned to look at Samuel.

Good news?

Surprisingly, he received some good news?

“And it’s more than one company?”

Samuel widened his eyes again and exclaimed.

“Okay, okay, I got it.”

Samuel nodded again and again, then hung up the phone in shock.

“Samuel, what is it? What do you mean?”

Old Madam Quinn took a deep breath and asked.

Samuel was stunned for nearly ten seconds before turning to look at Old Madam Quinn to speak.

“Mom, yesterday our customers used various reasons to terminate the partnership with us.

“But just now, they went to our head office together and asked to re-sign the partnership.”

“This...”

The Quinn family immediately fell silent.

It turned out that things had finally reached a turning point?

Could it be that Reach For Will Group really decided to stop harming them?

Old Madam Quinn slowly turned her head to look at Willow.

However, Willow was also surprised at this time. She had not thought that such a thing would happen.

“Grandma, why are you looking at her? It's just a coincidence.”

Faye showed an impatient look and snorted immediately.

As soon as she finished speaking, another person in charge of the Quinn Corporation's branch office picked up the phone.

“Hello, I'm...

“What? Okay! Sure, no problem!”

The next second, the middle-aged man nodded again and again with an extremely excited expression.

“Old Madam Quinn, the products that were taken away for random inspection by the supervision department have been sent back, and they said there is no problem with it.

"The two physical stores that were temporarily sealed have also had their seals removed."

This middle-aged man reported with great excitement.

Swoosh!

The Guardian's Sword

Chapter 653

Chapter 653

Old Madam Quinn took a deep breath.

The matter of their products being inspected could be trivial or vital.

If they wanted to ruin the Quinn family, they could have easily suspended the physical store of the Quinn

Corporation's business for ten days or even half a month for any reason!

If the previous matter was a coincidence, what about this matter?

If Reach For Will Group did not relent, then what was the other explanation?

This time, Faye frowned slightly and she did know what to say.

Old Madam Quinn suddenly turned her head and looked at Willow with eyes widened.

“Willow, have you really met Mr. Clarke?

“Did you really settle this matter with Mr. Clarke?

Willow was slightly stunned at this moment. She could not understand what was going on at all!

Uj »

Immediately afterward, the heads of the Quinn Corporation received phone calls one after another.

Including Willow, who also received a call from her assistant.

The good news rushed into the Quinn family one after another as if providence smiled upon them.

Lifted!

The crisis of the Quinn family had truly been lifted! At this moment, Old Madam Quinn looked up at the sky, exhaled a long breath, and felt relieved.

The Quinn family was not destroyed under her watch after all!

In this way, she would have the face to face her husband, Levi Quinn, in the afterlife.

"Old Madam Quinn, these are all thanks to Willow!

"She didn't get any help from anyone else."

Kent immediately stood up and reminded Old Madam Quinn loudly.

"Yes! That's right!"

Old Madam Quinn was so excited at this time. She did not say anything more and just nodded immediately.

According to the previous agreement, not only would she not force Willow to marry Quill Zimmer anymore, but she would also hand over the entire Quinn family to Willow.

She would make Willow the head of the Quinn family!

Smack!

Old Madam Quinn immediately slapped the table, stood up, and looked at everyone with incomparable joy.

"What I've said is just like the water poured out that cannot be taken back.

"Today, Willow made a great contribution, so starting from today, the position of the head of the Quinn family will..."

Just as Old Madam Quinn said this, she was interrupted by Samuel Quinn.

Faye took a step forward and stopped in front of Old , Madam Quinn.

If Willow really became the head of the Quinn family, would they still have so many good days in their future to enjoy?

Just based on the things they did to Willow before, perhaps Willow would take revenge on them.

"Grandma, if the crisis of the Quinn family was really solved by Willow, then we'll be genuinely convinced.

"But who knows if this is just a coincidence?

"Willow said it before that she didn't solve it.

"So, this credit is not hers.

"What if it was the Zimmer family who helped to settle this matter?"

Faye spoke very quickly. She said it as she looked at Old Madam Quinn.

"This..."

Old Madam Quinn was slightly stunned and immediately hesitated.

"Willow, I ask you, did you do this thing?

"Do you have the guts to say this thing is really done by you?

Faye turned her head again, stared at Willow, and asked.

"Interesting.

"If this wasn't done by Ms. Quinn, could it be you who did it?"

At this moment, a mocking voice suddenly came from outside the door.

Swoosh!

After the door was pushed open, two strong men in suits and black sunglasses stepped in.

Immediately afterward, Qamar Zachery, the vice president of Reach For Will Group, stood by the door.

Qamar came uninvited.

When the Quinn family recognized Qamar, they all stood up one after another with a look of astonishment on their faces.

The Guardian's Sword

Chapter 654

Chapter 654

”Isn’t this...

“Isn't this Mr. Zachery, the vice president of Reach For Will Group...”

Samuel’s eyes widened as he muttered to himself.

Old Madam Quinn and other key members of the Quinn family were also no strangers to Qamar.

That day, when Quill Zimmer brought the Quinn family to Reach For Will Group to sign a partnership agreement, it was Qamar who received them!

Fion and the others did not know Qamar at first and they were all stunned when they heard Samuel say this.

The vice president of Reach For Will Group was definitely a big shot with an extremely high status!

He came to the Quinn family's residence in person?

What was going on?

At this time, Qamar only brought two bodyguards along.

However, even if Qamar came alone, the Quinn family would also never dare to cross him!

His identity as the vice president of Reach For Will Group alone was enough to intimidate the Quinn family.

Qamar walked slowly toward them.

The Quinn family was completely stunned and they did not respond for a while.

“Looks like you don't know me.

“Then shall I introduce myself first?”

Qamar took a few steps forward, then stopped slowly and looked at the crowd with a smile on his face.

“Oh, Mr. Zachery, we know you, we know!

Samuel was finally the first to react. He hurriedly stepped forward to greet Qamar with a smile.

“Welcome, Mr. Zachery! We didn't know that you would be coming. Please forgive us for not coming out to welcome you! “

Old Madam Quinn also greeted Qamar as she clasped her hands with a serious face.

“No problem.”

Qamar waved his hand slightly and glanced at the Old Madam Quinn casually.

Immediately afterward, his eyes glanced around slowly, catching the expressions on the Quinn family's faces.

Harry Clarke told Qamar that even if they relented with the Quinn family, the Quinn family might not acknowledge Willow's efforts.

Hence, Harry sent him to meet the Quinn family in person.

As expected, Harry guessed it right.

However, Qamar felt that Sean had a hand in all of these arrangements.

After all, Sean knew more about the character of the Quinn family than Harry.

" I heard you mentioned Reach For Will Group just now.

" Is there anything you want to say to Reach For Will Group?"

Seeing that everyone was silent, Qamar took the initiative to ask.

The Quinn family was slightly stunned when they heard this. In fact, they all wanted to ask Qamar if Reach For Will Group stopped harming the Quinn family because of Willow.

Alas, how could such a thing be asked?

"Mr. Zachery, it's like this...

"My granddaughter foolishly forced her way into your company yesterday.

"We're discussing having Willow apologize to your company."

Old Madam Quinn thought for a moment and then said tentatively with a smile.

"Apologize?

Mr. Clarke admired Ms. Quinn's courage very much.

"That's why he had a friendly chat with Ms. Quinn yesterday. Why does she need to apologize?"

After Qamar finished speaking, the Quinn family was stunned for a moment.

Including Willow, her eyes widened slightly and her brain froze.

Harry admired her courage and had a friendly chat with her?

“This...”

Willow was stunned.

She did not know if Harry was really impressed by her yesterday.

However, what she knew was that yesterday Harry seriously rejected her request, so how could he be friendly to her?

After all, Willow was not a fool, she would definitely not talk nonsense at this time.

It was obvious that Qamar was here to help her, so how would she screw things up herself?

“What?”

Hearing Qamar’s words, Faye was stunned and Simon was dumbfounded on the spot.

Old Madam Quinn and the Quinn family looked at each other in dismay and they were very confused.

Willow actually met up with Harry.

Moreover, she had a good chat with Harry?

Was the Quinn family's crisis really resolved by Willow?

"So what Mr. Zachery means is..."

Old Madam Quinn swallowed her saliva and asked another question quickly.

"Mr. Clarke said that from now on, Reach For Will Group will no longer do any harm to the Quinn family.

"What happened before is over.

"But in the future, if the Quinn family affects the interests of Reach For Will Group, we will no longer have any mercy."

Qamar spoke in a forceful tone.

The meaning was expressed straightforwardly.

It felt like a warning to the Quinn family not to get involved or compete with the interests of Reach For Will Group.

Otherwise, they would face death.

This was a really straightforward threat.

However, for the Quinn family, how would they dare to protest that in the slightest?

It was a great victory for the Quinn family if Reach For Will Group could let them off the hook!

"Mr. Zachery, sure, no problem, we understand!"

As if her death sentence was canceled, Old Madam Quinn took a deep breath and spoke words of gratitude rapidly.

Although they still failed to establish a good relationship with Reach For Will Group, being able to solve the immediate crisis of the Quinn family was already a fortune among misfortunes.

As long as Reach For Will Group did not take any action against them, this was already pretty good for the Quinn family.

“Since the message has been conveyed, I’ll leave now.”

Qamar waved his hands slightly, then was about to turn and leave.

“Mr. Zachery, I’ll send you off!”

Samuel immediately stepped forward and followed with a sycophantic face.

At this moment, however, Qamar stopped and turned around again.

Afterward, Qamar’s gaze eyes stayed on Samuel’s face for a couple of seconds, then turned to look at the others.

“One, two, three...”

Qamar looked at Kent, Simon, and the rest of the Quinn family.

The Guardian's Sword

Chapter 655

Every time Qamar saw a man, he would count them.

“Mr. Qamar, what’s wrong?”

Samuel asked with a confused look on his face.

“Oh, Mr. Clarke asked if the Quinn family has no more men, so the Quinn family left a woman holding the bag.

“So, I’m now counting how many men there are in the Quinn family.”

Qamar smiled meaningfully, then turned and left without stopping.

The faces of Samuel and the rest of the men of the Quinn family all turned red as if they had eaten flies.

However, they did not dare to get angry with Qamar at all, they could only endure it with gritted teeth.

No matter how embarrassed they were, they could only endure it.

Qamar closed the courtyard door as he left.

The Quinn family turned red and did not speak as if they had been stricken dumb.

“Uhm...”

Old Madam Quinn sat down slowly and opened her mouth but she did not know where to start.

Some of the members of the Quinn family also had not recovered from the shock.

Qamar’s visit here had completely confirmed that Willow did indeed meet Harry Clarke, the general manager of Reach For Will Group, yesterday.

In addition, she also had a friendly chat with Harry, which was confirmed by Qamar.

Then, the crisis of the Quinn family was averted.

In short, it was thanks to Willow that the Quinn family's crisis was averted.

Now, the facts were in front of them and they had to admit it even if they wished to deny it.

Just as everyone was stunned, Samuel received a few more calls again.

It was all the good news about the Quinn Corporation.

The Quinn Corporation's business was like a sinking ship before and it was about to drown in a sea of debts and sink completely.

Now, all the leaks on the ship had been plugged.

The crisis of the Quinn Corporation had been completely averted!

The gazes of the Quinn family slowly shifted and all were focused on Willow.

"Willow, you really solved it! Good! Very good!"

Old Madam Quinn said as she looked at Willow. Her voice was full of admiration.

This time the crisis of the Quinn family was lifted and Old Madam Quinn was definitely the most excited and the happiest person of all.

It was because Simon and the others all had their own selfishness.

Only Old Madam Quinn was absolutely dedicated to the Quinn Corporation.

Now that the problems of the Quinn Corporation had been resolved, she was really excited from the bottom of her heart!

"Grandma, I just did what anyone would have done."

Willow was also extremely confused. This happiness came too suddenly.

The matter of the Quinn Corporation had troubled her for a long time, especially in the past two days, she had been sleepless all those nights.

All of a sudden, all the problems were solved now. The burden that had been suppressing her was suddenly lifted at once. She felt so relaxed and comfortable instantly.

“Old Madam Quinn, since Willow has accomplished this, then she doesn’t have to marry Quill Zimmer anymore, right?”

Kent said as he slowly stood up and looked at Old Madam Quinn.

Willow also looked at the Old Madam Quinn with great anticipation.

“This...”

Old Madam Quinn hesitated slightly and thought about things in her mind.

As a wealthy upstart in River City, the Zimmer family definitely had potential although they could not be said to hold the strongest power and authority yet.

At least, the current Zimmer family was more powerful than the Quinn family.

Countless women from wealthy families wished to marry into the Zimmer family.

Even the Quinn family would get huge benefits if they united with the Zimmer family through marriage.

Therefore, Old Madam Quinn really hoped that Willow could marry Quill Zimmer.

Moreover, Sean had already been kicked out of the Quinn family at this time and no one would stop this matter.

“Mom, you said it yourself, what you’ve said is just like the water poured out that cannot be taken back.!”

When Kent saw Old Madam Quinn was hesitating, he hurriedly shouted.

Old Madam Quinn remained silent and finally nodded slightly after a while.

She definitely could not deny this matter.

“Okay! From today onwards, I’ll no longer force you to be with Quill Zimmer.”

Old Madam Quinn turned to look at Willow and said in a serious tone.

“Thankyou, grandma.”

At this moment, Willow felt more and more relaxed.

All the efforts she made were for this.

It was just to stop the Quinn family from interfering in her relationship so that she could choose love by herself.

“That, mom, you said before... Ahem...”

Fion reminded Old Madam Quinn in a soft voice.

The Quinn family immediately understood that Fion was reminding Old Madam Quinn about the position of the head of the Quinn family!

After all, Old Madam Quinn herself said that if anyone could solve the crisis of the Quinn family, then the entire

Quinn family would be handed over to them.

Now, Willow had accomplished this.

Hence, Willow should take over as the head of the Quinn family!

Willow did not care about this but Fion did, so she could not help but mention it at this time.

"Fion, what are you thinking about?"

"I tell you, your family shouldn't get too far."

Samuel's wife, who was Willow's aunt, immediately stood up and shouted.

"Isn't it? Don't be greedy and dissatisfied.

head of the Quinn family on the spot, then this matter could still be discussed.

They would still have time to change Old Madam Quinn's mind.

Although Fion was unwilling, she had to accept it.

Everyone chatted for a while and then left the Quinn family's ancestral residence with their own thoughts.

Willow was naturally extremely happy, but Simon and the others were all very unhappy. They had even made several preparations. Even if the Quinn family was really destroyed, they could still ensure that their living conditions would not worsen. Alas, Willow had solved the crisis of the Quinn family now.

This thing gave them a severe warning.

“Dad, I'm so glad! So glad!”

Willow showed a sincere smile inside the car.

It was the first time in two years she had shown such joy.

The Guardian's Sword

Chapter 657

Chapter 657

Willow's joy was infectious and Kent and his wife smiled as well.

"Willow, actually, I think Young Master Zimmer is really good, you might as well..."

Fion hesitated for a couple of seconds and wanted to talk about this matter, but just as she began to speak, Kent suddenly slammed on the brakes, causing her body to tremble and swallowed the following words.

"What are you trying to say?"

"Can you just stop talking about this?"

Kent stared at Fion with a very impatient tone.

"I just want my daughter to live well, okay?"

Fion frowned and said somewhat unconvinced.

"What does it mean to live well? Do you think that money and sitting pretty for the rest of your life means that?"

"If our daughter is unhappy in her marriage and is lifeless like a doll until she dies, is that what you think is living a good life?"

Kent was usually taciturn, but what he said at this moment cut right down to the heart of the matter and this left

Fion instantly speechless.

“You should change your mindset.”

After Kent said this, he started the car again and drove home.

Willow, who was sitting at the back, did not have time to care about what the two of them said.

She was really happy now and even wanted to share this happiness with Sean.

She wanted to tell Sean that she would be free from today onwards!

She no longer had to put Quill off with fair words.

Meanwhile.

Golden Villa Garden.

1 Sean and Zander were sitting opposite each other on the rooftop of the villa.

There was a chessboard in front of them. The chess pieces on both sides have reached the heat of the battle.

Sean let Zander capture his three pieces, which were his rook, knight, and cannon, but he still failed to defeat Sean instantly. •

Ding!

A message was sent to Zander's mobile phone.
"Brother Sean, the Quinn family's affairs are all settled.

Zander put down his mobile phone and took advantage of the situation to capture a piece from Sean.

Sean nodded lightly but did not speak and then suddenly went on the offensive.

He made good use of both the cannon and rook by placing a rook in front of a cannon and checked Zander.

Check!"

Sean said in a deep voice.

Zander was stunned for a moment. He finally realized that the piece he captured just now was given to him deliberately by Sean.

In a panic, he moved his bishop forward, forming a bishop pair to block Sean's attack.

"Fork!"

Sean moved his rook and checked Zander again with his cannon.

"Hsss!"

Zander became more and more flustered. He moved his bishop to block Sean's attack.

Thump!

Sean moved his rook to capture Zander's bishop and checked him again.

Zander was not totally unprepared, he immediately moved his rook back, placing it next to his king.

"Another check!"

Without any hesitation, Sean moved his rook forward and captured Zander's rook.

"Capture!"

Zander chuckled and immediately moved his king, intending to capture Sean's rook.

"Checkmate! You lose."

Sean slowly retracted his hands, got up, walked to the railing, and looked into the distance.

"I..."

It was only then that Zander discovered that Sean's knight had moved at some point.

As long as he captured Sean's rook, his king would naturally be captured in one move by Sean.

"I'm convinced!"

«T>

Zander was utterly convinced.

"The Quinn family's affairs have been settled.

"Next, it's the Zimmer family's turn."

Sean with his hands on his back and eyes filled with coldness.

The Guardian's Sword

Chapter 658

Hearing Sean's words, Zander was shocked immediately.

Immediately afterward, Zander could not help but turn his head to look at the chessboard.

Just now, Sean secretly built a formation without Zander noticing.

Sean used a few valuable pieces to directly besiege Zander's king.

By the time Zander reacted, it was already too late. He was defeated by Sean with one move and lost the whole game.

Before that, Zander had not noticed any of Sean's motives.

When he saw that Sean making several wrong moves, he still wondered if Sean's skill in playing chess had regressed.

It was not until Sean checkmated Zander in three consecutive steps that Zander finally realized it.

"Brother Sean, I got it now."

Zander nodded heavily. He finally understood Sean's thoughts.

Since he was worthy of being by Sean's side, naturally he had his uniqueness.

Even if he could not figure out Sean's entire thoughts, he could still make educated guesses.

Sean had just used a game of chess to teach Zander how to eradicate the Zimmer family.

Zander slowly raised his head and followed Sean's gaze to look into the distance.

That place was exactly where the Zimmer Corporation building was located.

Zander took a deep look and then slowly retracted his gaze.

There was no way to stop what was destined to happen. What would be would be.

The Zimmer family was about to be destroyed and this matter could not be stopped.

After the rest of the Quinn family left Old Madam Quinn's residence, they gathered with each other to discuss things.

Although they were the members of the Quinn family, they were all married and had their own careers so they would definitely have their own thoughts.

They also had people who were relatively close to them.

The crisis of the Quinn family was resolved but they would not give up.

The threat from the outside had been removed, so they would definitely find a way to eliminate the threat within the Quinn family to themselves.

Only in this way could their position be more stable.

"Uncle, what do you think of this?"

Simon, Faye, Samuel, and the others sat together. Usually, they shared an aggressive common hatred toward Willow and her family and at this time, they were even more united on the same front.

"What do you mean?"

"The crisis of the Quinn family has been lifted, which is a good thing and of course I'm happy."

Samuel frowned and glanced at Simon, and said with a wave of his hand.

Brother, since it's just a few of us sitting here together, then stop saying those semi-sincere courtesy words.

“I just want to ask you, when Old Madam Quinn says she'll let Willow be the head of the Quinn family, are you worried or not?”

Simon's father took over the conversation and replied with a pouted mouth.

He knew that his eldest brother had a near-obsessive obsession with power.

As for Samuel, money was not the most important thing because what he cared about the most was power!

Hearing this, Samuel fell silent immediately.

As the saying goes, the eldest brother was like a father. After the death of Levi Quinn, the Quinn family should be led by Samuel Quinn, the eldest son.

Moreover, he considered himself to be more intelligent and capable than the other brothers. Therefore, he thought that the position of the head of the Quinn family was definitely his.

Although Old Madam Quinn did not personally refer to him as the head of the Quinn family, many members of the

Quinn family had acknowledged him

"But, Old Madam Quinn said this herself at that time that whoever can solve the crisis of the Quinn family and save the Quinn family from ruin, she will make them the head of the Quinn family.

"At that time, we all tacitly agreed to this matter, how can we openly deny it now?

"If that's the case, aren't we becoming someone who kicks people down the ladder?"

Simon's father squinted slightly and there was a hint of menace in his eyes.

A few of them also echoed the sentiment.

They really did not want Willow to be the head of the Quinn family. As for Samuel, he must be the last person who wanted Willow to be the head of the Quinn family.

It was because Simon and the others were originally not in this position, so they were not greatly affected.

However, Samuel was different. He always regarded himself as the current head of the Quinn family.

If Willow took over this position, what status did he have in the Quinn family then?

“Then what should we do now?”

Samuel was silent for a while, but still raised his head and asked the crowd.

The Guardian's Sword

Chapter 659

“As long as Willow stays with the Quinn family, the promise made by Old Madam Quinn will always be valid.

"Aunt Fion is not easy to deal with. She will bring this matter up at any possible opportunity.”

Faye said coldly as she folded her arms in front of her chest.

“Faye is right.”

Simon's father immediately glanced at Faye, impressed.

"Meaning that we should drive Willow out of the Quinn family as well?"

"But Old Madam Quinn..."

Samuel frowned again.

Of course, he would have no objection to driving away Willow.

However, Willow had just saved the Quinn family.

Willow.

Right now, Old Madam Quinn was heavily favoring

Therefore, Old Madam Quinn would definitely put a stop to all attempts to drive Willow away.

"Brother, we're just helping you analyze it. As for what you want to do, it's up to you."

Simon's father gave Samuel a meaningful look.

"Besides, you're the chairman of the company, so it's not difficult for you to take action, right?"

"It's also not so difficult to not let Old Madam Quinn know, right?"

Simon's father reminded him again.

Samuel squinted slightly. Hearing this, he already had some plans.

"Hmph! Enough."

"You are all people I trust, so I'll just say it straight."

“The position of the head of the Quinn family can only be taken by me. Willow can't and you'd better not have your eyes on this position.

“Otherwise, don't blame me for no longer treating you as family.”

Samuel's remarks carried a deep threat.

He had to make these crude remarks clear to Simon and the others in advance.

Otherwise, once he went all out against Willow's family, if Simon and the rest took the opportunity to do something behind his back, this would get him into trouble.

“Uncle, don't worry.

“We all offended Willow, so of course, we'll always stand by your side.”

Simon and Faye immediately stood up and expressed their loyalty.

Hearing this, Samuel only nodded slightly and started to think about the plan in his heart.

“Uncle, I'll talk to you later, I need to go out and make a phone call.”

Simon did not forget Quill Zimmer at this time. He immediately picked up his mobile phone and went out to call Quill.

He thought that the matter here must be reported to Quill.

Zimmer Corporation. In the chairman's office.

While sitting on the sofa, Quill flirted with Jon Zimmer's secretary.

The secretary was wearing a professional uniform with two buttons left unbuttoned on the neckline as if her breasts were almost exposed at the scooped neck of her uniform.

Furthermore, with the black sheer stockings with patterns on her long legs, her legs looked extraordinarily slender.

While looking at this secretary, Quill was thinking about what reason to take the secretary out for a stroll.

At this time, Jon was looking at the grandfather clock in front of him with his hands behind his back.

This glossy black grandfather clock gave people a depressing feeling.

Coupled with the harsh sound of the clock ticking, it was even more creepy.

This clock was the one that Sean sent him as a gift.

It had been placed in Jon's office for a few days.

Jon also wanted to find someone to help him smash the clock and throw it into the junkyard.

However, for some reason, he actually held back after thinking about Sean's expression and tone at that time.

"Dad, stop looking at it.

"Just do as I say, smash it and throw it in the garbage bin.

“Could it be that you were really frightened by that loser Sean?”

Quill pouted and said as he glanced at Jon. “Hmph! You know nothing!

“Since he said he’ll give us a week, then I’ll see what he’s going to do.

“I’ll let him take back the things he sent over in person.”

Jon snorted coldly with a gloomy expression.

Sean actually sent him a glossy black grandfather clock as a gift?

He absolutely would like Sean to take it back in person.

“Dad, don’t waste your time on this loser.

“The Quinn family will finish their meeting soon and then they will come to us to talk about marriage.”

When Quill thought of this, he immediately showed a smile.

“She played hard to get when I tried so hard to chase her back then.

“I want to see what kind of attitude she will show when she comes to me this time.”

The more Quill thought about it, the happier he felt.

“It won't go wrong this time, will it?

“Last time, you screwed up.”

Jon thought for a while, then frowned at Quill and spoke.

“Dad, that time was Wade Yancey's fault!

“I just scolded him a little and he dared to fool me!

“If he is smart, he'd better not come back to Dragon Kingdom for the rest of his life, or I'll definitely kill him!”

Whenever this matter was mentioned, Quill would get angry.

Jon did not want to talk about Wade Yancey, he just frowned and asked,

“Will things be okay without Wade Yancey this time? “Dad, of course! Are you still thinking about this?”

“I don't know why the Lunatic Reach For Will Group is holding on to the Zimmer family and the Quinn family.

“Don't talk about Willow's ability, even if Old Master Quinn climbed out of his grave, I'm afraid he won't be able to solve this matter as well.”

Quill's face was full of disdain. He was extremely sure that Willow would fail. Moreover, he thought that after the meeting of the Quinn family today, Old Madam Quinn would definitely take the initiative to find the Zimmer family to discuss the marriage between Willow and him.

"Mind your words.

"Old Master Quinn is a loyal soul no matter what.

"You can't joke about him."

Jon frowned slightly and scolded.

Quill chuckled. His eyes were full of disdain.

The Zimmer family was going to swallow up the family business of Old Master Quinn, so what was wrong about joking about him?

“In that case, the Quinn family will come to us soon to talk about the marriage, right?”

Jon also showed a sneer and he felt extremely pleased.

He did not expect the original plan to swallow up the Quinn family to be delayed because of some other things.

However, the way Reach For Will Group dealt with them had pushed the Quinn family toward the Zimmer family.

This made Jon feel that Reach For Will Group was a little too arrogant.

me

“That's for sure. I guess that loser Simon will give a call soon.”

Quill smiled as he gently took out his mobile phone and put it on the table.

The Quinn family is being destroyed by Reach For Will Group this time. If the matter cannot be resolved, the Quinn family will completely ruined.

“So, we're their only savior.

“When they come to us to talk about marriage, don't rush to agree.

“Keep them in suspense first, let the Quinn family beg us.”

Jon touched his chin. His tone became more and more sinister.

“Haha, dad, you can rest assured.

“I want to see if Willow dares to be arrogant in front of me this time.”

Quill snorted coldly. Then, he thought for a moment and raised his head to look at Jon.

“Dad, but if we really united with the Quinn family through marriage, it means that we’re totally turning against Reach For Will Gro

“Is this okay for us to do that?”

Although Quill was ignorant and incompetent, he knew that Reach For Will Group was truly strong and powerful.

Hence, some worries were inevitable at this point.

“Don’t worry about it.

“Anyway, Reach For Will Group has been enemies with the Zimmer family from the start.

“However, I don’t need to be afraid of them, as long as we hold all the resources of the Quinn family in our hands.

“With the union of two big families, coupled with the background and connections the Zimmer family has built over the years, a the help from Mr. Yeast, no matter how strong Reach For Will Group is, they can't do anything to us.”

Jon’s tone held very strong confidence.

“Hahaha! Good! Good!”

Hearing this, Quill was extremely happy and could not help laughing.

Now, they were waiting for the Quinn family to beg them to unite through marriage, and then the Zimmer family could instantly become the top family in River City.

Buzz buzz buzz!

At this moment, Quill’s mobile phone on the table made a buzzing sound.

“Dad, look, Simon has already called.”

When Quill took a look at his mobile phone, his smile became even more intense.

“Hello, I’m Quill Zimmer.”

Quill picked up the phone and said with a proud face.

“Young Master Zimmer, Willow has settled the matter.”

Simon paused for a second, then said cautiously.

“What do you mean settled the matter? Which matter?”

Quill was stunned when he heard the words and did not react for a while.

“The matter between the Quinn family and Reach For Will Group was settled by Willow.

“Reach For Will Group will no longer harm the Quinn family, and my grandma also said that she will no longer force Willow to be with you...”

Simon lowered his voice and reported the situation to Quill truthfully.

“What?”

Quill finally understood what Simon meant.

Quill suddenly widened his eyes and the depths of his eyes were full of shock.

His complexion changed suddenly and he was stunned on the spot.

“What happened?”

Seeing Quill’s expression, Jon frowned slightly and a bad premonition came to his heart.

However, Quill did not have time to pay attention to him at this time. He suddenly stood up and shouted at the phone, “How dare you lie to me?!”

Young Master Zimmer, I dare not deceive you!

It's true. Mr. Zachery from Reach For Will Group

came to see us.

He said Mr. Clarke appreciates Willow's courage, so

he spared the Quinn family."

Simon shook his head helplessly and explained again.

Quill slumped into the chair, all his fantasies shattered.

Smack!

The next thing Quill knew, he grabbed the phone and slammed it to the ground.

That b*tch Willow. She must have slept with Mr.

Clarke. F*ck!"

Trembling with anger, Quill swore.

He could not think of any way Willow could convince

Reach For Will Group to spare the Quinn family.

The only recourse was her body.

After all, Willow had the looks and body that any normal man would find irresistible.

Loser!"

Seeing the state Quill was in, Jon already figured out the outcome without asking.

All their plans went up in smoke instantly.

Watching Quill yelling, Jon became even more upset.

Shut up!

"What's the use of all this yelling?

"Find out what this is all about!"

Jon banged on the table and yelled at Quill.

Yes!

Quill replied through clenched teeth and turned to leave.

When Quill and the secretary left the office, they heard Jon's yelling, which was even louder than Quill.

There was also the sound of a vase smashing on the floor.

As anyone could imagine, Jon's anger was no less intense than Quill's.

On the other side.

Willow slowly walked out of the Reach For Will Group building with a female assistant.

Anyway, Harry sparing the Quinn family had changed the Quinn family and Willow's fate.

Therefore, she was grateful to Harry.

She immediately had someone order some expensive liquor to give Harry in person as an expression of her gratitude.

Willow, let me take care of these. You don't have to come here yourself."

However, Harry was not around, so Willow could only leave for the time being.

The female assistant behind her whispered as she opened the car door for Willow.

No, I must thank him in person.

Willow shook her head slightly. She was sincerely grateful to the man who had changed her life.

"Alright.

The female assistant nodded and started the car to leave.

Willow rolled down the car window to let in some fresh air.

Buzz buzz!

Just then, an all-black Wrangler whizzed past their car and screeched to a stop in the parking space closest to the Reach For Will Group building entrance.

Willow knew that the row of parking spaces was reserved for Reach For Will Group's upper management.

Wait, is Mr. Clarke back?"

Willow immediately stopped the assistant and looked up.

The black Wrangler opened, and a casually dressed young man stepped out of the car.

Then he walked into the Reach For Will Group building without stopping.

Several security guards at the entrance immediately greeted the young man respectfully.

Willow could not hear what the security guard was saying from afar, but she could see the respect on their faces.

The young man was Sean.

Swoosh!

Willow's eyes widened instantly.

II

"Sean? Is that Sean? He... he..."

Willow stammered as she looked straight at Sean's legs.

She could see that Sean's legs were strong, and his footsteps were steady.

He did not walk with the same swagger as the other big shots.

He looked casual, but the casualness had a pressure that kept strangers away.

That pressure could only be described as intense.

However, Willow did not focus on Sean's pressure.

What she thought was that the sure-footed Sean in the distance did not look like the person in the wheelchair.

The female assistant looked that way and started to drive away when she saw that it was not Harry.

II

If

Wait!

Willow did not want her to drive away, so she yelled. The female assistant stopped the car and looked at Willow in confusion.

She only saw Willow's eyes widen, and she gazed that way.

The female assistant might not know Sean well, but Willow had taken care of him for two years. How could she not recognize him?

"It's Sean! It's Sean!"

Willow mumbled, and the buzz in her head grew louder.

At that moment, a million thoughts went through Willow's mind.

'Has Sean recovered?

'And what is he doing at Reach For Will Group?'

"Sean?"

"Willow, isn't your fiance Sean cri... disabled?"

The female assistant froze and glanced that way.

Sean's figure had already entered Reach For Will Group and disappeared from their sight.

No! I wouldn't not recognize him.

"He... he looks like Sean!"

Willow even tried to open the door and get out.

However, he slowly withdrew her hands after hesitating for two seconds.

Regardless of whether that person was Sean, Willow could not barge in Reach For Will Group again and again even if he was.

Speaking of which, what right did Willow have to go after Sean even if it was him?

She kicked Sean out of the Quinn family.

Sean must hate her.

Besides, she ran into Rachel when she dropped off the things at Sean's place last night.

Sean and Rachel must be pretty close right now.

Therefore, she could not disturb them, and she had no right to do so.

Willow shook her head slightly and said, "Maybe my eyes deceived me. Let's go."

The female assistant nodded and started the car to leave.

ft

Willow, you probably miss Sean.

"Sean's disabled. Besides, he doesn't have the right to enter and leave Reach For Will Group at will even if it's him, does he?"

The female assistant said casually while driving.

"Well...

ll

Willow thought about it. The female assistant's speech made sense.

After all, Reach For Will Group was not accessible to just anyone.

Even the Zimmer family of River City was rejected right away. How could Sean have that kind of power?

The Guardian's Sword

Chapter 663

Chapter 663

The most important thing was that Willow saw how respectful and polite the two security guards at Reach For Will Group's entrance were to Sean.

As the president of Quinn Corporation's branch, Willow was no stranger to the two security guards' attitude.

It was the kind of respect that subordinates showed to their superiors.

Could Sean be their superior?

No way.

Willow bit her red lip, suddenly remembering that Sean had been in Harry's office when she came to talk to Harry.

At that moment, a bold guess flashed through Willow's mind.

"Could Sean and Mr. Clarke be good friends?

"And could he have secretly helped me today?"

Willow looked at the female assistant, desperate for an answer.

However, the female assistant could not help laughing when Willow said that.

"Willow, actually...

"In today's society, who has the power to keep secrets?

II

Besides, I've heard from time to time that Sean is in an awkward position in your family. Many people in our company... despise him for not being good enough for you.

"Do you think he would keep it a secret from everyone if he had such power?"

Willow frowned slightly as she spoke.

It seemed to make sense.

"Anyway, I don't believe that there are people in the world who are so low-key that they'll keep quiet even if they are laughed at and despised by others."

The assistant turned the steering wheel to make a turn and said with a slight curl of her lip.

She despised Willow's fiance.

Willow had stunning looks. Many girls envied her looks and figure.

Sean was not only a loser with no background, but also a disabled person. Anyone would think Sean was not good enough for Willow.

ft

II

Or he's just above proving himself to others?

Willow pressed her lips together. She knew Sean's character.

Sean's character was the opposite of Quill.

Quill was flamboyant and wanted the world to know everything he did.

Sean never talked nonsense and just got things done.

It was like the confession at Riverleaf Lakeside Hotel.

"Oh!"

The female assistant shook her head slightly.

"Willow, let's think about where the company is heading.

"The employees are in a panic these days because of what happened with Reach For Will Group, and many of them have even written their resignation applications.

"Now that the matter is settled, you must calm them down and run the company, striking while the iron is hot."

The female assistant was indeed looking out for Willow as he immediately offered some helpful advice.

"Okay!"

Willow nodded, put away those messy ideas, and started thinking about what was next for the company.

The Quinn family's crisis was considered solved.

In River City, many people with keen sense, including some of the news media, had been prepared since last night.

They were preparing to witness the moment when the Quinn family held a press conference to declare bankruptcy.

Chapter 664

It was clear to everyone that any company that Reach For Will Group wanted to destroy would be destroyed.

Even though they knew Reach For Will Group was a bully, Reach For Will Group had the power to do so. You could feel reluctant, but you still had to accept the results.

After all, swords were no match for guns.

However, there was still no news from the Quinn family after a long wait.

Countless people were confused. Facing the pressure from Reach For Will Group, the Quinn family would only hold out until today at most.

Why had nothing happened yet?

Did the Quinn family find some support?

They all used their connections to ask around.

After asking around, countless people were dumbfounded.

The Quinn family's crisis was over.

Reach For Will Group stopped going after Quinn Corporation.

After the news came out, many people in River City's business circle were confused.

Some were disappointed that they did not see Quinn Corporation get destroyed.

Some people let out a long breath, feeling greatly relieved.

It was because they had no idea why Reach For Will Group was going after the Quinn family.

Were they trying to intimidate others through Quinn Corporation or move on to other companies after ruining Quinn Corporation?

In the meantime, many people shared the worry.

Now that the Quinn family's crisis was over, they breathed a sigh of relief.

A black cloud seemed to be hanging over River City these two days.

Finally, the clouds cleared, and the sun began to shine again.

However, some people like Homer and other business bigwigs thought things were not that simple.

There was no hatred without cause, nor love without cause.

There must be a reason for Reach For Will Group to go after the Quinn family, and there must be a reason for them to make peace with the Quinn family.

How could such an unusual thing end so easily?

Therefore, some people thought the current calmness was only temporary.

It was likely that River City's business circle would have a bigger shock and a more terrible storm.

Until then, the only thing they could do was sit on the sidelines and keep a low profile.

Therefore, many businesses in River City's business circle chose to go on with their businesses.

Only the Zimmer family was still running around as if they were not affected.

...

Reach For Will Group.

Sean heard the receptionist saying Willow's coming over earlier, so he stood there and inquired further.

The receptionist was respectful to Sean.

They had no idea who Sean was.

However, they knew that Mr. Lennon was the kind of man even Harry would treat politely.

How could employees like them disrespect someone like Sean?

"I got it."

Sean nodded and walked down the hall toward the elevator.

Looking at the exclusive elevator on the top floor, he made a detour to the employee elevator.

A crowd of people was already standing next to the elevator.

There were men and women-about seven or eight of them.

Everyone was dressed formally and holding a resume.

The seven or eight men and women glanced back at Sean and smiled playfully when they saw him coming. Dressed casually,

Sean seemed like an outlier in front of the crowd who seemed like elites of the workplace.

Sean looked at the elevator floor number and shook his head slightly before heading back to the exclusive elevator.

"Hey, isn't this... isn't this cripple Lennon from... from the Quinn family?"

Just then, a cry of surprise came from among the seven or eight men and women.

"Hmm?"

Sean turned around slightly and looked in the direction of the voice.

A young man in a formal suit was looking at Sean in surprise.

Sean frowned slightly and tried to recall the man in front of him.

If his memory served him right, he was called Felix Xavian.

Sean had been catatonic for two years, but that did not mean his mental faculties were not processing the outside world.

He could remember many people and things that had happened in the last two years.

Remembering the young man's name, Sean immediately gave up the idea of taking the exclusive elevator and looked at Felix meaningfully.

Felix used to follow Quill around and was quite the loyal lackey.

He made Quill get his eyes on Willow and proposed many nasty ideas.

He also frequently visited the Quinn family house with Quill and helped him pursue Willow.

Sean was still in a wheelchair back then. They pursued Willow in front of Sean and occasionally bullied Sean when Willow was away.

Later, Felix presumably left River City for a job out of the city.

Sean did not expect to run into him again here.

"Cripple Lennon, do you remember me?

"I'm Felix Xavian! I even bought you a lollipop before. Hahaha!"

Felix was afraid Sean would not remember him, so he reminded him instantly.

The others turned their heads to look this way.

Waiting for the elevator was boring. They did not expect a show.

"I almost forgot if you didn't mention it." Sean loosened his collar, a sneer flickering in his eyes. Felix once put a candy on the ground and stepped on it before making the delirious Sean eat it.

If Willow had not come back in time, Sean would have eaten it.

"Haha! Do you remember me? What's the matter? Are you not crippled anymore?

"You're not here for Reach For Will Group's interview, are you?

"Hahaha! What can you apply for? Teaching people how to drool and act like fools?"

The more Felix spoke, the more he wanted to laugh. He pointed at Sean and told the men and women around him embarrassing stories about Sean.

Several men and women covered their mouths and smiled. A girl with long hair and some light makeup could not help frowning.

"Kid, how could you make fun of other people's shortcomings?"

"Besides, he's normal now."

The girl with long hair said to Felix with a slight frown.

"F*ck! Kid? Have fresh graduates dared to come to Reach For Will Group for interviews now? How ridiculous."

Felix ignored the long-haired girl and continued to tell people about Sean, treating him like a joke.

The men and women had no feelings for Sean at first, but they also looked at Sean with disdain after hearing these things.

How dare a cripple and a vegetable went after someone way out of his league? How could he not take a look at himself by being with a beautiful woman like Willow?

"Are you here for an interview?"

Sean remained unfazed. He had been a vegetable for two years, and he had gotten used to the strange glances.

"Of course, I've received an interview offer from Reach For Will Group to apply for the position of foreign trade manager here.

"But I saw that your hands are empty. You don't even have a resume. You're probably here to apply for a job as a toilet cleaner, right?"

Everyone except the long-haired girl laughed at Felix as soon as he spoke.

They did not even think Sean worked here.

Other employees were formally dressed, always paying attention to Reach For Will Group's image.

Sean was dressed in casual clothes, looking just as casual at home. What was he doing here?

Ding!

Just then, the elevator reached the first floor, and everyone got into the elevator.

Sean hesitated slightly before walking in.

However, the overweight alarm went off in the elevator just as Sean walked in.

Everyone froze.

"How stupid. He still squeezed in when it was already full. He's really a brain-dead vegetable.

"What are you looking at? Why won't you get out yet? Will you take responsibility for delaying our interview?"

Felix glanced at Sean and spoke in an unfriendly tone.

"Yeah! Yeah! You can apply to be a cleaner at any time."

"Get out. The interview is about to start."

"Will you please go out?"

The men and women next to Felix also started being rude to Sean.

They did not have a good impression of Sean after hearing about his "glorious" past.

"You've gone too far."

"Is the elevator yours? Who are you to drive people away?"

The girl with long hair was so angry that she yelled again. Then she said to Sean, "Hey, kid. You stay. I'll take the next one."

With that said, the girl made to walk out of the elevator.

"Tsk! What's with the fake kindness?"

Felix and the rest curled their lips.

However, it would take a lot of time for the elevator to get back and forth.

She would be late for the next ride, and they would have one less competitor.

"Don't you want your interview?"

Sean softly asked the girl with long hair.

"I'm fine.

"Aren't you... disabled? Even if you've recovered, you'd better not stand for too long.

"So why don't you go upstairs first?"

Sean felt the girl with long hair's thoughtfulness as soon as she said that.

Sean glanced at the girl with long hair before walking straight out of the elevator and heading outside.

"Tsk! How ungrateful.

"Hurry in. Don't waste our time."

Felix and the others curled their lips, and the elevator quickly closed and moved.

Sean slowly turned around and watched the elevator show the floor number ascending slowly with an intriguing smile on his face.

"Help me get an outfit.

"I'll do the interview today.'

"I

Sean said, and the receptionist arranged it immediately.

The top floor.

The company interview area.

Felix and the others took their seats and waited.

Receiving offers from Reach For Will Group confirmed their ability.

Felix glanced at the people around him and was filled with confidence.

With his track record as a senior executive in other big companies, he should have no problem passing the interview.

The seven or eight people posed no threat to Felix. Especially the girl with long hair who just graduated. She did not have any work experience, so she posed no threat.

Therefore, Felix felt he had the job in the bag.

"I wonder if the interviewer today is easygoing."

While waiting, someone asked nervously.

Once someone started the conversation, the crowd began to talk.

Felix retold Sean's embarrassing story for laughs.

"He might look decent now.

"He used to be a vegetable and drooled often.

"A loser like that could never achieve anything great. He's only looking for trouble by coming to Reach For Will Group."

Felix's face was proud and disdainful.

The crowd laughed again. Professional elites would never have anything to do with someone like Sean.

Therefore, they treated Sean's past as a joke.

"Quiet, please.

"The interview will begin soon."

Just then, a voice came from behind.

Everyone immediately turned around. The next second, they shuddered before widening their eyes.

They only saw a line of people in formal suits coming this way.

A female assistant led the way, followed by five or six men in suits.

The most eye-catching person was the young man in a white suit.

Everyone else was dressed in a black suit, while he wore a gorgeous white suit, making him eyecatching.

People could tell at a glance that he was the most important of them all.

However, it did not matter. What mattered was that face.

Who else would it be if not Sean?

Felix's smile froze, as did the others.

There was a buzz in his head.

The Guardian's Sword

Chapter 667

All eyes were on Sean.

They recognized him at a glance.

The man with the sleek white suit looked strong.

It was Sean, the guy they had just met in the elevator!

Sean looked the same.

However, he looked dashing in his formal suit, making people think he was successful and prestigious.

"Isn't... isn't he Sean... Sean?"

A girl, who came to the interview stared blankly with a hint of admiration.

It was true that clothes make the man.

Sean looked like Prince Charming to the girls.

He was the man of their dreams!

"It seems to be him..."

"How did he... What happened to him?"

"Does he work here? And he seems important."

They all whispered with their heads down. The more they thought, the more shocked they were.

Felix was even more shocked. He had been racking his brains, trying to figure out what had happened.

He was only a crippled loser to him. Even though he was no longer a cripple, he was still a loser.

How did he turn into such a big shot?

Facing the crowd's surprised gaze, Sean walked right past them without looking at them.

It was as if they were nothing.

They did not recompose themselves until Sean was out of sight.

"Candidates, get ready.

"The interview will begin soon. I hope you can find a suitable position in Reach For Will Group."

The female assistant smiled and said to the crowd.

"Well. Excuse me, sweetie. Who is the man in a white suit that passed by just now?"

Felix immediately asked, unable to resist his curiosity.

"Do you mean Mr. Lennon? He's our VIP guest."

The female assistant explained casually before turning around and walking toward the interview room.

"Hsss! Reach For Will Group's VIP guest?"

The men and women behind Felix were dumbfounded.

Did that mean their behavior earlier had offended the VIP guest?

Many people had a bad feeling.

Only Felix frowned for a moment before sneering suddenly.

"I thought he's some big shot, but now I get it!"

Felix seemed to see through it all and could not help sneering.

"What do you mean, Bro?"

A young man looked at Felix suspiciously.

"Didn't I just tell you? This loser has no other ability but lives off women.

"The Quinn family is famous in our city. He stayed with the Quinn family and wouldn't leave. There's nothing anyone can do about him.

"I guess it's because the Quinn family has a partnership with Reach For Will Group, and Reach For Will Group treated him like a guest because of the Quinn family."

Felix explained with a sneer of disdain.

"That makes sense."

The others nodded before breathing a sigh of relief.

"Hey, why are you nervous?"

"He's only Reach For Will Group's partner. So what if he is an employee here?

"He's not the interviewer. It's not up to him."

The last of their fears were instantly dispelled when Felix said that.

"That makes sense. That makes sense."

"Even if a loser wore a suit, he was still a loser."

"Hahaha! Didn't he enter the Reach For Will Group because of the Quinn family?"

"Ignore him. He has no business interfering with Reach For Will Group's HR department."

When the crowd's anxiety subsided, they immediately curled their lips and discussed.

Only the girl with long hair could not help but sigh as she looked at the crowd.

She had heard from her friends that the workplace was quite toxic, and it was perfectly normal to be twofaced.

There were more schemes in the workplace than a harem in ancient times.

She saw how quickly these people changed their attitudes when they experienced a toxic workplace.

"Once I become the senior executive here, I will order that this loser isn't allowed to enter the Reach For Will Group building."

Felix snorted coldly, his face confident.

Several other men and women, who went for the interview, were somewhat dissatisfied.

They were all there to apply for the job. Who was he to start thinking he was hired already?

"Just accept it. My uncle is a senior director here, haha.

"I don't even have to interview if I want. I can just get the job right away."

Felix glanced at the crowd and told the truth at once. The crowd froze when they heard that. Then they looked down gloomily.

They did not expect Felix to have such a background.

No wonder he was so arrogant.

"Well, bro. Why don't you get me a job after you become a manager?"

These people changed their attitude faster than they could flip a page. They immediately sucked up to him when they heard Felix had a connection in Reach For Will Group.

Everyone except the long-haired girl instantly surrounded Felix like a myriad of stars surrounding the moon.

Felix seemed to have become a big shot, and he was smug. "Applicant No. 7, Felix Xavian, it's your turn for the interview."

Just then, the female assistant said to the crowd as she walked slowly into the interview hall.

"That's me".

Felix smiled proudly and stepped forward.

Seeing this, the men and women behind Felix believed what he said.
He was able to cut in line to attend the interview.
could be the first to attend the interview!
Felix walked straight into the interview room amid envious eyes.

"Hey, hey, kid. What are you still doing here? Go away!"

"Yeah, she still wanted to pretend to be kind, but she offended Felix."

"Haha, this is killing me. Why are you still here? Do you think you can get the job?"

"What a joke!"

The men and women curled their lips and smiled at the girl with long hair.

"Reach For Will Group is a big company. They won't let anyone take the backdoor."

The girl with long hair sat in her seat and replied stubbornly while both hands clenched her resume.

"How naive! You don't know how cruel society is."

"Don't mind her. Let her sit where she likes. She's gonna get kicked out later anyway."

The crowd grinned, hoping to see if Felix would help them out after he got hired.

...

The interview room.

Felix walked in confidently with his resume in hand. Although Reach For Will Group was a big company, he had worked in other big companies.

If his uncle had not told him how great Reach For Will Group's benefits were, he would not have wanted to return.

The most important thing was that his uncle said the Reach For Will Group had a strong position, and many people were afraid to mess with it.

It would be great if Felix could climb to a high position in Reach For Will Group.

It was why Felix was here.

He was confident that he would have no problem getting a job with his resume.

With his uncle's help, the position was already his. The female assistant took Felix into the room and waited outside the door.

Felix took the opportunity to look around the room. He wanted to get a rough idea of the interviewer's preferences from the room's furnishing.

Then he could change his personality to fit the room and say what the interviewer wanted to hear, which was no problem.

"Hello, I'm applicant Felix Xavian."

Felix looked around and immediately knew what to do. He slowly walked toward the desk.

Behind the desk, a man sat in a swivel chair with his back to Felix.

He slouched against the back of the chair, facing the French window behind.

From this angle, Felix could only see half the top of the man's head.

Judging by the haircut, it was a man.

"Hello?"

Felix called again with a slight frown when the man did not speak.

The interviewer's attitude annoyed him.

"Hello."

Finally, the man spoke slowly and said hello.

Felix immediately froze at the sound, finding it a little familiar.

Meanwhile, the swivel chair slowly turned around.

Felix immediately straightened up with a confident smile on his lips.

He knew that the more nervous he was, the less likely he was to impress the interviewer.

However, the confident smile on Felix's face slowly faded when the man turned around completely.

His eyes widened, filled with shock.

The young man in a white suit with a teasing smile sitting on the swivel chair was none other than Sean. Felix was dumbstruck.

Sean was Reach For Will Group's job interviewer?

'How is that possible?

'Isn't he a cripple?

'Isn't he just a dumb veg?'

In Felix's mind, the best thing Sean had was being Willow's fiancé.

At least he was considered half a member of the Quinn family.

However, where Sean was sitting made Felix's head buzz.

"Do you not remember me?

"Why don't I help you remember?"

Sean asked as he leaned back in his chair lazily.

Only then did Felix come to his senses slowly.

"Hmph! I didn't expect you to do so well in less than a year.

"The Quinn family's pretty kind to you. They gave you such a job. They must have pulled a lot of strings?

11

Felix immediately sneered after coming to his senses.

As the interviewer, Sean decided whether Felix would be hired or not, but Felix's uncle also held a high position in Reach For Will Group, so Felix was not necessarily afraid of Sean.

"Do you know why I let you in?"

Sean slowly reached out and poured himself of a cup tea.

"Why?"

Felix asked with a frown.

"Tell Quill he has only three days left."

Sean picked up the cup, took a sip, and said meaningfully.

"Hmph! Find Young Master Zimmer yourself.

"Besides that, did you pull this stunt to tell me that you're the interviewer today, and you decide to make me your messenger?"

Felix snorted coldly and sat down on the couch nearby.

Sean said nothing and only looked at Felix calmly. He wanted to see why Felix was so confident. "And I'm not afraid to tell you that my uncle works here and is more important to the company than you are.

"You're only a mere interviewer. Even if you're the HR director, it's not up to you."

Felix sneered, his eyes disdainful.
As a River City resident, his uncle was quite familiar with everything here.
They had him running errands in River City because he was good at handling things outside.
Sean was just a sinecure in the office.
He was no match for Felix's uncle. Therefore, Felix was confident.
"No one can make me change my mind even if your father came, let alone your uncle."
Sean put down his cup and looked completely unperturbed.

"Haha! You have guts!

"Wait and see!"

Felix took out his phone and started making a call without saying a word.

Felix could not believe Sean could still run around in front of him.

Sean slowly withdrew his gaze, not caring who Felix was calling.

He could also find out who his uncle was, and they could be kicked out of Reach For Will Group together.

Sean looked up and called in his female assistant and gave her instructions.

The female assistant immediately nodded before turning around and walking out.

Interview hall.

The crowd was still waiting anxiously.

Felix had gone in for a long time. Why had they not received any news?

"Everyone, I'm sorry to inform you that the position we're hiring for today has already been filled.

"So please leave."

The female assistant walked out slowly, looking at the crowd with a smile.

The crowd was stunned before nodding as expected.

"I told you, Brother Felix isn't a nobody.

"They must have given him the position. He's the only one they've spoken to."

Everyone discussed how Felix jumped the queue and was the first to enter when so many people came to be interviewed.

Once he was inside, Reach For Will Group announced that they have filled the position already. Felix must have gotten the job!

The crowd shook their heads and sighed as they prepared to leave.

The girl with long hair bit her red lip slightly, revealing some grievance on her cute baby face.

She had no idea that a company as big as Reach For Will Group was also rife with backdoor deals.

revealing some grievance on her cute baby face. She had no idea that a company as big as Reach For Will Group was also rife with backdoor deals. They just canceled the interview without even giving them a chance.

The girl with long hair was silent for a few seconds before clutching her resume to her chest and standing up slowly with stubborn eyes.

"Excuse me. Which one of you is interviewee number

6, Chloe Lathan?"

Just then, the female assistant called out again.

"Hmm?"

The girl with long hair immediately stopped and looked at the female assistant with some confusion.

"Miss Lathan, congratulations, you've been hired by Reach For Will Group."

The female assistant clapped her hands together and congratulated Chloe.

"What?"

Chloe's head buzzed.

The other candidates turned around and looked at the female assistant in shock.

"I... I..."

Chloe raised her hand, index finger pointing at herself, with a look of disbelief on her face.

She hit the jackpot out of the blue.

Chloe was so excited that she stammered, not knowing what to say.

"Yes, you.

"I'll show you around later, and you can get ready to start work anytime."

The female assistant chuckled and repeated.

"Thank you. Thank you..."

"1

Hearing this, Chloe got even more excited and nodded to thank her.

The men and women frowned slightly at her workplace rookie behavior.

No matter which company they went to, workplace elites like them were always in high demand. They would not receive interview notices from Reach For Will Group if they were not competent. However, workplace elites like them had lost to a fresh graduate like Chloe?

They accepted losing to Felix, but losing to Chloe was hard to swallow.

"What is Reach For Will Group saying?"

"They would rather hire a workplace rookie than us."

"Although Reach For Will Group is big, aren't you going too far with this?"

"Let's ask for an explanation from the interviewer!"

Everyone immediately gathered around the female assistant.

She was not a manager nor the owner, only a mere employee, so they were not scared of pressing her for answers.

Since they had no hope of being hired, they wanted an explanation.

"Our interviewers said you can learn to be good if you have poor skills.

"But you can't learn a new character if you have a poor attitude."

The female assistant was not some pushover. She immediately replied calmly with a smile.

Everyone was stunned as soon as she said that.

'What character?

'How did the interviewer know they have bad characters without even meeting them in person?'

"Don't waste our time talking to her. Let's go to the interviewer for an explanation."

"Why did they hire a rookie like her when we didn't even go in for an interview? I won't accept it!" "Let's go! Let's get an explanation!"

The crowd headed straight to the interview room.

The female assistant did not panic at all. She slowly moved out of the way without any intention of stopping them.

Once they went over, she immediately took out a walkie-talkie at her waist and called the company's security.

You should do whatever your job required you to. There were people hired to handle this.

Bang! The interview room door was forcefully pushed open.

Several male and female applicants barged in.

"Slow down. That door costs thirty-eight thousand dollars.

"You'll have to work here for free if you ruined it."

The female assistant behind them warned them calmly.

The crowd was upset but still slowed down nonetheless.

A bad-tempered young man went straight to the front and shouted out immediately. "Interviewer, what do you... mean..."

Halfway through the sentence, the young man suddenly froze before stammering. When they saw Sean sitting behind the desk, everything fell into place.
