

Hail the King 581

Chapter 581: Do You Know Now?

Soon, the dust and the magic energy flames settled, and people finally saw what happened .

“Hahahah! Great! A little Chambord has such hidden military base and such terrifying magic weapons that no one knows about! Haha, great! Crown Prince His Highness is right! King Alexander, you sure want to commit treason!”

Even though this mid-aged man was covered in blood, he laughed without fear .

The magic arrays that trapped this man were all destroyed by the magic arrows, and this mid-aged man was now stuck into the hard ground from the waist down .

His right shoulder was penetrated through by a huge arrow that was as thick as a wine bottle, and his entire right arm almost fell off . Also, his abdomen area was penetrated through by another arrow, a few of his ribs broke, and a portion of his intestines was exposed . He was in a terrible condition, but he was a Moon-Class Elite and was able to withstand it . An ordinary person would have died with this level of injuries, but this man was fierce and completely ignored the wounds on his body as if someone else was injured .

As he shouted, his brows were raised like knives .

Even though he was in a devastating situation, he ignored the saint seiyas and bylaw enforcement officers who were approaching him . He took out a black token from his inner pocket using his intact left hand and threw it to Fei .

A mocking smile appeared on this mid-aged man's face as he sneered, “Look at this token! I'm a guardian of the Senate to the royal family of Zenit, and I'm here to investigate Chambord under the order from Arshavin His Highness and see if you are really trying to commit treason . My identity is prestige, and injuring me is a big crime of its own . Do you really to commit treason? Quickly get rid of these soldiers and get me a healer!”

The people around him were all stunned .

They didn't expect that this intruder would be one of the envoys from St . Petersburg . If this was the case and what he said was true, then Chambord couldn't do anything to him even though it was already a level 1 affiliated kingdom . After all, no affiliated kingdom was given the power to judge and punish a guardian of the Senate .

“It is really him! I remember now; when that Barkov came to visit me, this man was behind him . He is the deputy envoy of the envoy group from St . Petersburg . I didn't know that he has this identity as well..... Damn it!” Brook's face changed color as he walked up and whispered into Fei's ear .

For a moment, everyone was looking at Fei .

In this situation, only the king could decide on what to do .

“Humph! King of Chambord, what are you waiting for? Call over a mage to heal me! I heard that you defeated four Executive Knights on the No . 1 Sword-Testing Stage and participated in the operation of hunting down assassins who killed Martial Saint Krasic . You have a bright future, and my advice to you is not to mistake your potential as real strength . The real reason that you were able to dominate in the Capital was that we, the seniors, didn't want to lower ourselves to teach you a lesson . Humph! Don't think that no one in the empire could deal with you!” this mid-aged man said with chilliness in his eyes . He wasn't respectful at all .

“How dare you!”

“Reckless!”

“How dare you to be so rude in front of a level 2 noble of the empire?”

After hearing the mockery, the saint seiyas and bylaw enforcement officers all shouted . To these warriors, the Crown Prince and the Senate meant nothing . If their king gave the order, they would rush over and kill this man without hesitation .

As soon as this mid-aged man finished speaking, Fei suddenly smiled and broke his silence .

“The Crown Prince's intelligence network sure is slow; or, he didn't want to tell you the truth?”

“What?” the mid-aged man was confused .

Fei looked at the saint seiyas and bylaw enforcement officers and said in a moderate speed, “This person is a member of Spartax, and he stole the identity of a guardian of the Senate and is trying to defame the Crown Prince . He is a real criminal! I will go to Emperor Yassin and get the person, who captures this criminal, the reward he deserves!”

Fei looked at the saint seiyas and bylaw enforcement officers and said in a moderate speed, “This person is a member of Spartax, and he stole the identity of a guardian of the Senate and is trying to defame the Crown Prince . He is a real criminal! I will go to Emperor Yassin and get the person, who captures this criminal, the reward he deserves!”

“What? You..... How dare you!!!!?” the mid-aged man was so angry that his face paled . He said as his lips twitched, “King of Chambord, you are really committing treason! I already showed my badge, and you are still.....”

Before he could finish, the soldiers of Chambord already charged at him .

This man was getting his butt handed to him . He was a New Moon Elite who could destroy the saint seiyas and bylaw enforcement officers here, but the magic defense system at the [City of Heroes] was too strong, and the crossbows were too powerful . He was a little careless and instantly got severely injured . At the moment, his legs were stuck in the ground, and he had less than 20% of his strength left . Although he wasn’t in immediate danger, he couldn’t get away easily .

Boom! Boom! Boom!

It felt like a bunch of tigers were trying to eat a dragon when the soldiers of Chambord rushed toward this man fiercely .

For a moment, various colored warrior energy flames appeared, and the battle was crazy . As loud booming noises sounded, Chambord soldiers were knocked away . However, more and more soldiers charged at this man, not giving him a chance to breathe .

Fei just stood on the side and watched with a smile on his face .

However, he was secretly knocking his fingers to send hidden energies into the battle .

These hidden energies blocked the most lethal strikes coming from this intruder just in time, and the soldiers of Chambord who got knocked away didn't get any life-threatening injuries . After shaking their heads to get rid of the dizziness, they got up and jumped in the battle again .

The king was using this poor man as a stepping stone to train the saint seiyas and bylaw enforcement officers so that they could get more battle experience .

The king was using this poor man as a stepping stone to train the saint seiyas and bylaw enforcement officers so that they could get more battle experience .

“Ahahahah! King of Chambord! I'm going to kill you!!” this intruder who was a little fatigued now finally felt like something strange was going on, and dashes of energy flames appeared, knocking away all the soldiers of Chambord .

With a vicious expression on his face, he took out a sealed scroll from his inner pocket and shook it .

“Let me kill you first, and these idiots will know to back off!!!”

Whoosh!!!

A dash of golden sword energy shot through the air, leaving black cracks in the space as it was faster than lightning .

Bam! Bam! Bam!

This sword energy was sharp, and it instantly destroyed more than a dozen magic arrays that the soldiers of Chambord secretly placed around Fei which were able to block the full-on strikes of Moon-Class Elites .

“Save His Majesty!”

“Quick! Save His Majesty!”

The soldiers panicked when they saw that the sword energy was going for Fei's forehead . The soldiers who were close to Fei tried to jump over and block it for the king instinctively before their brains could process what was going on .

Even though this sword energy could penetrate through multiple magic shields and was capable of killing them instantly, none of them hesitated .

The soldier who jumped over first was that Two-Star Warrior who had ice-elemental warrior energy . With his eyes wide open, he burned his warrior energy and tried to slow down this golden sword energy with his life .

Even though this sword energy could penetrate through multiple magic shields and was capable of killing them instantly, none of them hesitated .

The soldier who jumped over first was that Two-Star Warrior who had ice-elemental warrior energy . With his eyes wide open, he burned his warrior energy and tried to slow down this golden sword energy with his life .

This golden sword energy seemed to have already touched his forehead, and skin on his forehead was cut . As the blood drops were about to slide down his face, the vicious Grim Reaper already raised his sickle .

This saint seiya was staring at this golden sword energy angrily, and he was about to witness how it was going to pierce through his head and destroy his body .

Suddenly, the situation changed . That piercing pain disappeared, and the golden sword energy was gone from his vision . Instead, he saw the broad and strong back of a person .

“It is His Majesty!” this saint seiya instantly recognized who this person was .

His eyes opened wider as he thought, “So..... so fast!!! His Majesty..... When..... How could he be faster than that sword energy? Sh*t! That sword energy.....”

He was terrified when he realized that the king was right in front of that golden sword energy .

On the other hand, that mid-aged man was stunned as well; what he saw made him lose hope, and his heart was sinking to the bottom of an abyss .

“Do you know now?” Fei asked this intruder calmly .

In front of the king, there were layers of transparent ripples, creating crystal lotuses one after another . That golden sword energy was forced back by a meter, and it was imprisoned by those transparent ripples . Like a snail that was stuck in a swamp, it couldn't move around . The golden light on it shone brighter and brighter, but it couldn't do anything .

“Know..... know what?” the mid-aged man asked dispiritedly .

Fei sighed and looked at this man as if the latter was the most stupid person in the world . As a confident smile appeared on his face, Fei unleashed his power, looked down on this intruder, and stated, “You should know that except for Emperor Yassin, no one else in the empire could fight against me! Even if there are numerous hidden masters, none of them could rival with me! Even if that person behind you has hundreds of thousands of soldiers, got a ton of influence, and won the throne, he couldn't do anything to me! If I want to, I can kill him easily!”

Chapter 581: Do You Know Now?.

Soon, the dust and the magic energy flames settled, and people finally saw what happened

“Hahahah! Great! A little Chambord has such hidden military base and such terrifying magic weapons that no one knows about! Haha, great! Crown Prince His Highness is right! King Alexander, you sure want to commit treason!”.

Even though this mid-aged man was covered in blood, he laughed without fear

The magic arrays that trapped this man were all destroyed by the magic arrows, and this mid-aged man was now stuck into the hard ground from the waist down

His right shoulder was penetrated through by a huge arrow that was as thick as a wine bottle, and his entire right arm almost fell off . Also, his abdomen area was penetrated through by another arrow, a few of his ribs broke, and a portion of his intestines was exposed . He was in a terrible condition, but he was a Moon-Class Elite and was able to withstand it . An ordinary person would have died with this level of injuries, but this man was fierce and completely ignored the wounds on his body as if someone else was injured

As he shouted, his brows were raised like knives

Even though he was in a devastating situation, he ignored the saint seiya and bylaw enforcement officers who were approaching him . He took out a black token from his inner pocket using his intact left hand and threw it to Fei

A mocking smile appeared on this mid-aged man's face as he sneered, "Look at this token! I'm a guardian of the Senate to the royal family of Zenit, and I'm here to investigate Chambord under the order from Arshavin His Highness and see if you are really trying to commit treason . My identity is prestige, and injuring me is a big crime of its own . Do you really to commit treason? Quickly get rid of these soldiers and get me a healer!".

The people around him were all stunned

They didn't expect that this intruder would be one of the envoys from St . Petersburg . If this was the case and what he said was true, then Chambord couldn't do anything to him even though it was already a level 1 affiliated kingdom . After all, no affiliated kingdom was given the power to judge and punish a guardian of the Senate

"It is really him! I remember now; when that Barkov came to visit me, this man was behind him . He is the deputy envoy of the envoy group from St . Petersburg . I didn't know that he has this identity as well..... Damn it!" Brook's face changed color as he walked up and whispered into Fei's ear

For a moment, everyone was looking at Fei

In this situation, only the king could decide on what to do

"Humph! King of Chambord, what are you waiting for? Call over a mage to heal me! I heard that you defeated four Executive Knights on the No . 1 Sword-Testing Stage and participated in the operation of hunting down assassins who killed Martial Saint Krasic . You have a bright future, and my advice to you is not to mistake your potential as real strength . The real reason that you were able to dominate in the Capital was that we, the seniors, didn't want to lower ourselves to teach you a lesson . Humph! Don't think that no one in the empire could deal with you!" this mid-aged man said with chilliness in his eyes . He wasn't respectful at all

“How dare you!”.

“Reckless!”.

“How dare you to be so rude in front of a level 2 noble of the empire?”.

After hearing the mockery, the saint seiyas and bylaw enforcement officers all shouted . To these warriors, the Crown Prince and the Senate meant nothing . If their king gave the order, they would rush over and kill this man without hesitation

As soon as this mid-aged man finished speaking, Fei suddenly smiled and broke his silence

“The Crown Prince’s intelligence network sure is slow; or, he didn’t want to tell you the truth?”.

“What?” the mid-aged man was confused

Fei looked at the saint seiyas and bylaw enforcement officers and said in a moderate speed, “This person is a member of Spartax, and he stole the identity of a guardian of the Senate and is trying to defame the Crown Prince . He is a real criminal! I will go to Emperor Yassin and get the person, who captures this criminal, the reward he deserves!” .

“What? You..... How dare you!!!!?” the mid-aged man was so angry that his face paled . He said as his lips twitched, “King of Chambord, you are really committing treason! I already showed my badge, and you are still.....”.

Before he could finish, the soldiers of Chambord already charged at him

This man was getting his butt handed to him . He was a New Moon Elite who could destroy the saint seiyas and bylaw enforcement officers here, but the magic defense system at the [City of Heroes] was too strong, and the crossbows were too powerful . He was a little careless and instantly got severely injured . At the moment, his legs were stuck in the ground, and he had less than 20% of his strength left . Although he wasn’t in immediate danger, he couldn’t get away easily

Boom! Boom! Boom!.

It felt like a bunch of tigers were trying to eat a dragon when the soldiers of Chambord rushed toward this man fiercely

For a moment, various colored warrior energy flames appeared, and the battle was crazy . As loud booming noises sounded, Chambord soldiers were knocked away . However, more and more soldiers charged at this man, not giving him a chance to breathe

Fei just stood on the side and watched with a smile on his face

However, he was secretly knocking his fingers to send hidden energies into the battle

These hidden energies blocked the most lethal strikes coming from this intruder just in time, and the soldiers of Chambord who got knocked away didn't get any life-threatening injuries . After shaking their heads to get rid of the dizziness, they got up and jumped in the battle again

The king was using this poor man as a stepping stone to train the saint seiya and bylaw enforcement officers so that they could get more battle experience

“Ahahahah! King of Chambord! I'm going to kill you!!” this intruder who was a little fatigued now finally felt like something strange was going on, and dashes of energy flames appeared, knocking away all the soldiers of Chambord

With a vicious expression on his face, he took out a sealed scroll from his inner pocket and shook it

“Let me kill you first, and these idiots will know to back off!!!”.

Whoosh!!!.

A dash of golden sword energy shot through the air, leaving black cracks in the space as it was faster than lightning

Bam! Bam! Bam!.

This sword energy was sharp, and it instantly destroyed more than a dozen magic arrays that the soldiers of Chambord secretly placed around Fei which were able to block the full-on strikes of Moon-Class Elites

“Save His Majesty!”.

“Quick! Save His Majesty!”.

The soldiers panicked when they saw that the sword energy was going for Fei’s forehead . The soldiers who were close to Fei tried to jump over and block it for the king instinctively before their brains could process what was going on

Even though this sword energy could penetrate through multiple magic shields and was capable of killing them instantly, none of them hesitated

The soldier who jumped over first was that Two-Star Warrior who had ice-elemental warrior energy . With his eyes wide open, he burned his warrior energy and tried to slow down this golden sword energy with his life

This golden sword energy seemed to have already touched his forehead, and skin on his forehead was cut . As the blood drops were about to slide down his face, the vicious Grim Reaper already raised his sickle

This saint seiya was staring at this golden sword energy angrily, and he was about to witness how it was going to pierce through his head and destroy his body

Suddenly, the situation changed . That piercing pain disappeared, and the golden sword energy was gone from his vision . Instead, he saw the broad and strong back of a person

“It is His Majesty!” this saint seiya instantly recognized who this person was

His eyes opened wider as he thought, “So..... so fast!!! His Majesty..... When..... How could he be faster than that sword energy? Sh*t! That sword energy.....”.

He was terrified when he realized that the king was right in front of that golden sword energy

On the other hand, that mid-aged man was stunned as well; what he saw made him lose hope, and his heart was sinking to the bottom of an abyss

“Do you know now?” Fei asked this intruder calmly

In front of the king, there were layers of transparent ripples, creating crystal lotuses one after another . That golden sword energy was forced back by a meter, and it was imprisoned by those transparent ripples . Like a snail that was stuck in a swamp, it couldn’t move around . The golden light on it shone brighter and brighter, but it couldn’t do anything

“Know..... know what?” the mid-aged man asked dispiritedly

Fei sighed and looked at this man as if the latter was the most stupid person in the world . As a confident smile appeared on his face, Fei unleashed his power, looked down on this intruder, and stated, “You should know that except for Emperor Yassin, no one else in the empire could fight against me! Even if there are numerous hidden masters, none of them could rival with me! Even if that person behind you has hundreds of thousands of soldiers, got a ton of influence, and won the throne, he couldn’t do anything to me! If I want to, I can kill him easily!”.

Chapter 582: The Son of An Acquaintance

Even a saint would get mad if someone provoked him or her enough, let alone Fei .

After being pressured and provoked by Arshavin and his henchmen multiple times, Fei got mad this time when they tried to accuse him of committing treason . When he spat those words, he didn’t hide his murderous spirit . Although he didn’t name drop Arshavin, his threatening tone was unhidden .

After hearing what Fei said, this mid-aged man lost all hope and froze .

When Fei was speaking, he lightly breathed out and blew onto that golden sword energy . What shocked this intruder was that the golden sword energy that was invincible before got shattered into dust before dispersing into the air . After a few seconds, it felt like it never existed .

At this moment, this mid-aged man realized what the King of Chambord meant with those words, and he understood how powerful this king was .

He knew whom this golden sword energy was from and how powerful it was .

This ultimate trump card was given to him so that he could assassinate the King of Chambord if the timing was right, but now it seemed like their plans and schemes were ridiculous . He felt like they were a few dogs that were trying to kill a holy dragon .

The king's power was beyond the stretch of their imaginations .

When the king got serious, even the vague aura he showed made this mid-aged man, who was a Moon-Class Elite, feel like a huge mountain was about to crush down on his back .

Indefensible power!

This mid-aged man redefined King Alexander in his mind, and he suddenly felt a little sorry for Crown Prince Arshavin .

“If Zenit's God of War who is proud right now knows what happened to the King of Chambord's strength in half a year, he would change his stance without hesitation . From the look of it, this battle he is fighting is meaningless, and he has no chance of winning . If nothing drastic occurs, the outcome of this battle between the prince, who is the most talented commander at Zenit, and the young nobleman, who is rising in the empire the quickest, is already determined . ”

This mid-aged man who thought everything through surrendered; he knew the law of the jungle and the fact that absolute power could destroy anything .

When a saint seiya walked over to put the magic handcuffs on him, he didn't even try to resist . With the king who was a powerful master here, there was no way that he could get out; putting up more resistance was like asking for more humiliation .

“Hand him over to the Justice Department . ” Fei waved his hand .

Although he didn't say anything, he knew that Oleg knew what he wanted . Since this person sneaked into the tightly guarded and protected [City of Heroes], it meant that something went wrong . The loophole needed to be exposed and fixed .

The person behind all this was clear, so no work needed to be done there .

“King of Chambord.....”

“King of Chambord.....”

Before he was dragged away, this mid-aged man looked at Fei and wanted to say something when he passed the king . However, he only sighed in the end .

Before, he thought that this king was an arrogant young man who didn't know his boundaries . Even though Crown Prince Arshavin told him specifically to be aware and be careful at Chambord, this overly-proud guardian of the Senate disregarded it . In his eyes, even if a king of an affiliated kingdom was talented, he couldn't do anything without enough resources and guidance .

“A sparrow is going to be a sparrow . How could it jump on a tree and become a phoenix?” he once thought .

Well..... the sparrow did jump on a tree, and it didn't just become a phoenix; it turned into a terrifying holy dragon!

“Can anyone in the Zenit Empire deal with this powerful young king?” this mid-aged man thought as he was dragged to the prison in the basement of the underground cave .

At the moment, he was really weak . Due to the loss of blood and severe injuries, his face was pale, and his lips turned black . However, the information he just got shocked him more than the bodily injuries he was suffering from .

After thinking through the hidden masters of the empire, he made a shocking discovery . Even if all the masters who belonged to Zenit came out, none of them could overpower this king .

“What this king said is true . If Emperor Yassin doesn't come out, no one could deal with him . What is also terrifying is that the soldiers of Chambord are looking at this king as if he is a god; even the most devoted believers couldn't be compared to them . The way they look at him is even scarier than how the soldiers at the [Iron Blood Legion] look at Arshavin . ” When he thought back to how the soldiers of Chambord looked at their king, this mid-aged man got fearful . It was easy to imagine that if the king raised his arms and wanted to break away from Zenit, these soldiers would listen to him wholeheartedly . In their minds, the Zenit Empire wasn't anything .

“What this king said is true . If Emperor Yassin doesn't come out, no one could deal with him . What is also terrifying is that the soldiers of Chambord are looking at this king as if he is a god; even the most devoted believers couldn't be compared to them . The way they look at him is even scarier than how the soldiers at the [Iron Blood Legion] look at Arshavin . ” When he thought back to how the soldiers of Chambord looked at their king, this mid-aged man got fearful . It was easy to imagine that if the king raised his arms and wanted to break away from Zenit, these soldiers would listen to him wholeheartedly . In their minds, the Zenit Empire wasn't anything .

Soldiers and people in the military knew how terrifying that was, and even regular people could see the issue for Zenit .

“Is it fortunate or unfortunate that the King of Chambord was born in Zenit?” he thought .

.....

This small incident was quickly over, and Fei demonstrated to his people how powerful he was . As a result, the saint seiya and bylaw enforcement officers worshipped him even more .

Now, they were no longer farmers who could only swing their farm equipment at the invaders on the defense wall . As official soldiers who either obtained warrior energy or on the verge of getting it, they could tell that their king's strength was broad like the ocean .

As they chanted ‘hail the king’, Fei took out a bottle of [Full Rejuvenation Potion] and healed the injured soldiers himself .

This simple action touched these soldiers even more, and some of them even teared up .

After Fei healed the Three-Star Warrior who silently laid down the magic traps and successfully dragged down that intruder who was a Moon-Class Elite, he asked, “Warrior, tell me your name . ”

This young man displayed courage as well as intelligence, leaving a mark on Fei's mind . Just the impression he gave Fei in those few seconds made the king feel like this young man could be built into something greater, and the king couldn't stop his love for talent .

"Your Majesty, my name is Ed Hazard, the son of Terry Hazard," the young man answered excitedly . He didn't waver when facing the Moon-Class Elite, but his voice shivered when answering the king's question . It just went to show how much the king weighed in their minds .

This young man displayed courage as well as intelligence, leaving a mark on Fei's mind . Just the impression he gave Fei in those few seconds made the king feel like this young man could be built into something greater, and the king couldn't stop his love for talent .

"Your Majesty, my name is Ed Hazard, the son of Terry Hazard," the young man answered excitedly . He didn't waver when facing the Moon-Class Elite, but his voice shivered when answering the king's question . It just went to show how much the king weighed in their minds .

"Huh? You are the son of the blacksmith, Old Hazard?" Fei knew this young man's father .

"Ah?..... Your Majesty..... You..... You know my father?" this young man was surprised, and he felt very honored . He didn't expect the great king who was very busy to know a poor blacksmith .

"Hahaha! Why wouldn't I? When we fought the black-armored enemies last autumn, I battled the enemies alongside your father . Your father used a forge hammer and killed six enemies . He lost one of his legs in the battle, and he is a real fighter . Young man, you are even better than your father; you didn't lose face for him!" Fei said .

He had a great memory, and the battle was the first battle he got involved in after he came to this world so that he could recall it vividly . He still remembered a lot of faces and names of the people who helped with the city's defense .

Although Fei didn't realize what this meant to his people, the soldiers all reacted . Being remembered by the king was a great honor!

Not only Ed Hazard, but other saint seiyas and bylaw enforcement officers were motivated by how much the king cared for his people .

The charisma the king showed made the soldiers fall for him more compared to his great strength .

Chapter 582: The Son of An Acquaintance.

Even a saint would get mad if someone provoked him or her enough, let alone Fei

After being pressured and provoked by Arshavin and his henchmen multiple times, Fei got mad this time when they tried to accuse him of committing treason . When he spat those words, he didn't hide his murderous spirit . Although he didn't name drop Arshavin, his threatening tone was unhidden

After hearing what Fei said, this mid-aged man lost all hope and froze

When Fei was speaking, he lightly breathed out and blew onto that golden sword energy . What shocked this intruder was that the golden sword energy that was invincible before got shattered into dust before dispersing into the air . After a few seconds, it felt like it never existed

At this moment, this mid-aged man realized what the King of Chambord meant with those words, and he understood how powerful this king was

He knew whom this golden sword energy was from and how powerful it was

This ultimate trump card was given to him so that he could assassinate the King of Chambord if the timing was right, but now it seemed like their plans and schemes were ridiculous . He felt like they were a few dogs that were trying to kill a holy dragon

The king's power was beyond the stretch of their imaginations

When the king got serious, even the vague aura he showed made this mid-aged man, who was a Moon-Class Elite, feel like a huge mountain was about to crush down on his back

Indefensible power!.

This mid-aged man redefined King Alexander in his mind, and he suddenly felt a little sorry for Crown Prince Arshavin

“If Zenit’s God of War who is proud right now knows what happened to the King of Chambord’s strength in half a year, he would change his stance without hesitation . From the look of it, this battle he is fighting is meaningless, and he has no chance of winning . If nothing drastic occurs, the outcome of this battle between the prince, who is the most talented commander at Zenit, and the young nobleman, who is rising in the empire the quickest, is already determined . ”.

This mid-aged man who thought everything through surrendered; he knew the law of the jungle and the fact that absolute power could destroy anything

When a saint seiya walked over to put the magic handcuffs on him, he didn’t even try to resist . With the king who was a powerful master here, there was no way that he could get out; putting up more resistance was like asking for more humiliation

“Hand him over to the Justice Department . ” Fei waved his hand

Although he didn’t say anything, he knew that Oleg knew what he wanted . Since this person sneaked into the tightly guarded and protected [City of Heroes], it meant that something went wrong . The loophole needed to be exposed and fixed

The person behind all this was clear, so no work needed to be done there

“King of Chambord.....”.

Before he was dragged away, this mid-aged man looked at Fei and wanted to say something when he passed the king . However, he only sighed in the end

Before, he thought that this king was an arrogant young man who didn’t know his boundaries . Even though Crown Prince Arshavin told him specifically to be aware and be careful at Chambord, this overly-proud guardian of the Senate disregarded it . In his eyes, even if a king of an affiliated kingdom was talented, he couldn’t do anything without enough resources and guidance

“A sparrow is going to be a sparrow . How could it jump on a tree and become a phoenix?” he once thought

Well..... the sparrow did jump on a tree, and it didn't just become a phoenix; it turned into a terrifying holy dragon! .

“Can anyone in the Zenit Empire deal with this powerful young king?” this mid-aged man thought as he was dragged to the prison in the basement of the underground cave

At the moment, he was really weak . Due to the loss of blood and severe injuries, his face was pale, and his lips turned black . However, the information he just got shocked him more than the bodily injuries he was suffering from

After thinking through the hidden masters of the empire, he made a shocking discovery . Even if all the masters who belonged to Zenit came out, none of them could overpower this king

“What this king said is true . If Emperor Yassin doesn't come out, no one could deal with him . What is also terrifying is that the soldiers of Chambord are looking at this king as if he is a god; even the most devoted believers couldn't be compared to them . The way they look at him is even scarier than how the soldiers at the [Iron Blood Legion] look at Arshavin . ” When he thought back to how the soldiers of Chambord looked at their king, this mid-aged man got fearful . It was easy to imagine that if the king raised his arms and wanted to break away from Zenit, these soldiers would listen to him wholeheartedly . In their minds, the Zenit Empire wasn't anything

Soldiers and people in the military knew how terrifying that was, and even regular people could see the issue for Zenit

“Is it fortunate or unfortunate that the King of Chambord was born in Zenit?” he thought

.....

This small incident was quickly over, and Fei demonstrated to his people how powerful he was . As a result, the saint seiya and bylaw enforcement officers worshipped him even more

Now, they were no longer farmers who could only swing their farm equipment at the invaders on the defense wall . As official soldiers who either obtained warrior energy or on the verge of getting it, they could tell that their king's strength was broad like the ocean

As they chanted ‘hail the king’, Fei took out a bottle of [Full Rejuvenation Potion] and healed the injured soldiers himself

This simple action touched these soldiers even more, and some of them even teared up

After Fei healed the Three-Star Warrior who silently laid down the magic traps and successfully dragged down that intruder who was a Moon-Class Elite, he asked, “Warrior, tell me your name . ”.

This young man displayed courage as well as intelligence, leaving a mark on Fei’s mind . Just the impression he gave Fei in those few seconds made the king feel like this young man could be built into something greater, and the king couldn’t stop his love for talent

“Your Majesty, my name is Ed Hazard, the son of Terry Hazard,” the young man answered excitedly . He didn’t waver when facing the Moon-Class Elite, but his voice shivered when answering the king’s question . It just went to show how much the king weighed in their minds

“Huh? You are the son of the blacksmith, Old Hazard?” Fei knew this young man’s father

“Ah?..... Your Majesty..... You..... You know my father?” this young man was surprised, and he felt very honored . He didn’t expect the great king who was very busy to know a poor blacksmith

“Hahaha! Why wouldn’t I? When we fought the black-armored enemies last autumn, I battled the enemies alongside your father . Your father used a forge hammer and killed six enemies . He lost one of his legs in the battle, and he is a real fighter . Young man, you are even better than your father; you didn’t lose face for him!” Fei said

He had a great memory, and the battle was the first battle he got involved in after he came to this world so that he could recall it vividly . He still remembered a lot of faces and names of the people who helped with the city’s defense

Although Fei didn’t realize what this meant to his people, the soldiers all reacted . Being remembered by the king was a great honor!.

Not only Ed Hazard, but other saint seiyas and bylaw enforcement officers were motivated by how much the king cared for his people

The charisma the king showed made the soldiers fall for him more compared to his great strength

Chapter 583: Chambord's Education System (Part One)

Fei thought about it and took out a cultivation technique scroll from his storage s.p.a.ce, gifting it to Ed Hazard.

This was a unique technique that Fei created on the way back to Chambord. It was based on an interesting technique from [Demon King's Sword], and Fei named it [Diamond Dust Fist]. In terms of warrior energy property, it was perfect for Ed Hazard.

Subconsciously, Fei wanted to turn this young man into Bronze Saint of Cygnus since he looked similar to Hyōga, the original Bronze Saint of Cygnus in the anime.

As his peers looked at him with envy, Ed carefully took the scroll and treated it like a supreme treasure.

“One more thing; how did you find that invader?” Fei suddenly thought back to how this young man discovered that mid-aged man, and it was a little unimaginable. Without external help, Ed Hazard, who was only a Three-Star Warrior, shouldn't be able to discover that Moon-Cla.s.s Elite.

“Your Majesty, that is because we all have this magic item with us.....” Ed took a watch-like item off his wrist and handed it over to Fei carefully. He explained, “Anyone who is below the realm of Sun-Cla.s.s couldn't hide all their bodily heat. They couldn't do it even if they have great stealth techniques and stealth items. Professor Cain said that all the pores on a person's body are constantly emitting heat. This device, with the help from the special paint on the wall called [Demon Moon's Light], could sense all the minuscule changes in heat in an area five meters around it. Therefore.....”

“That old man really made it?” Fei was pleasantly surprised, and he also didn't know what to say.

It was him who told Cain about the heat being emitted by the pores, and Cain didn't believe it at first. Now, he was promoting the same theory as if he discovered it.

Soon, the loud warnings ended, and the red warning lights on the walls also stopped flas.h.i.+ng.

After the saint seiya and bylaw enforcement officers searched around the [City of Heroes] again and made sure that there were no more intruders, the [Dragon Slayers] were pulled back, and all the gates locking down the safety rooms slowly reopened. Then, the workers and students walked out of there and continued with their tasks calmly.

There were designated personnel who were in charge of cleaning up the mess created by the battle.

The saint seiya and bylaw enforcement officers all saluted at the king and left through the teleportation arrays one group after another.

This underground cave returned to its calm, peaceful, refreshing, and pleasant state, and it felt like nothing happened. The birds and cute animals that went to hide somewhere returned as well, squeaking and chirping as they looked at the people who were walking around curiously.

Fei nodded in satisfaction.

The [City of Heroes] indeed had a powerful magic defense system, and it was beyond his estimation. When he wandered around afterward, he spotted even more magic traps and killing mechanisms that weren't used in the battle. Therefore, even if he weren't here, that mid-aged man couldn't get away.

Before the renovation project began, Cain and Akara were very confident in their modification of the design of the [City of Heroes]; they said that the powerful magic traps and killing mechanisms were enough to handle Moon-Class Elites. Even if Sun-Class Lords entered this place, they would get a headache. From the look it, those two mad scientists weren't bluffing.

Fei reviewed the design put forth by them before, and he knew that less than one-tenth of the plan was implemented. It was enough to capture a New Moon Elite now; once completed, it would be enough to tie down Sun-Class Lords.

By using the magic elevator, Fei went to every floor and checked out the implemented designs one by one with Brook and Torres.

The first floor to the fifth floor was open to anyone, and there were resting rooms, dining halls, workout rooms, etc. The sixth floor to the 15th floor was the campus of the Civil and Military University. The rooms on the ten floors were divided into places such as classrooms, experimental rooms, practice rooms, common weaponry rooms, and libraries. This university was based on the universities in Fei's previous life, and all the facilities were there. There were more than 1,000 kids between the age of ten and 18 studying here, and they were the key to Chambord's future rise.

All the kids who were younger than ten years old were getting pre-schooled in the Chambord City, and only the more talented and extraordinary kids were taken into the Civil and Military University as exceptions.

Chapter 583: Chambord's Education System (Part Two)

To some degree, since Fei knew that investing in education was very important, the Chambord Kingdom was the kingdom that spent the most money in this field in the region with a diameter of one million kilometers. The education these kids were receiving was comprehensive and scientific, completely breaking the unwritten rule where only the kids of affluent families could study and changing many kids' lives.

As the king of Chambord, Fei was also the princ.i.p.al of the school.

However, he wasn't a good princ.i.p.al since he hadn't shown his face in the school for more than half a year, and he never taught one cla.s.s nor had one speech.

"Schedule a cla.s.s three days later. Otherwise, I'm not filling my duty," Fei said to Brook.

They didn't disturb the kids who were having cla.s.ses; they only wandered outside the cla.s.srooms and checked the cla.s.ses out.

"That is great! The kids will be thrilled once they know that Your Majesty is going to teach one cla.s.s," Brook replied with a bright smile on his face.

When the king first promoted the free and universal education program, leaders in Chambord such as Brook and others didn't understand it. Now, as these talented kids grew quickly like gra.s.ses with enough suns.h.i.+ne, water, and nutrition, the talent count at Chambord increased drastically. These leaders finally understood why the king always said that talent was the most crucial resource in a chaotic era.

Actually, this wasn't a unique and new idea; anyone who was smart could figure it out after some thinking. However, in this world where bloodline and social status were extremely important, many wise kings and emperors couldn't break the hierarchy and strict social ladder.

The 16th floor to the 25th floor was an open area.

Different from the five floors at the bottom, there were many carefully designed practice battlefields, magic arrays that could train one's willpower, magic traps that could test one's agility and reaction speed, battle stages where people could duel, and training rooms where there were machines that could boost people's body functionality. Fei personally designed most of these.

Of course, there was more than a dozen b.l.o.o.d.y arenas.

There were several demons in them such as [Fallens] and [Fallen Shamans]; they were summoned here by Fei.

Since there were [Fallen Shamans] in each arena, it continued to revive the [Fallens] after they were killed.

This design provided the soldiers of Chambord unlimited practice partners.

Before Fei led the troop on the expedition, he spent some of his experience points and summoned more than a dozen [Fallen Shaman] from Diablo World. They were placed in deep pits before, and they allowed saint seiya and bylaw enforcement officers to get better with their skills. A qualified saint seiya should be able to kill a [Fallen] with their bare fists.

By fight with these demons, the soldiers' wills and courage increased as well. They acc.u.mulated battle experiences and developed their murderous spirits. When they had to fight against other people, they would be more confident in themselves and perform better.

Only the soldiers who saw the blood of their enemies and themselves were qualified to be called warriors.

Now, the arenas were opened to the university students.

Gradually, a unique tradition appeared. Only the soldiers and students who killed these demons could refer to themselves as 'king's warriors'.

The 26th floor to the 31st floor was a buffer area, and there were no facilities. They were filled with deadly magic traps and killing mechanisms.

Different from the traps and mechanisms that were used in the training area, these could easily destroy anyone who was under the level of Six-Star. They were here to stop people from entering the 32nd floor and up.

From the 32nd floor and up, it was the core restricted area of Chambord's military. Only the saint seiya and bylaw enforcement officers who passed strict tests and high-level officials of Chambord could go up there. Chambord's military headquarter, strategic weapon storage, war weapon manufacturing plants, and war weapon research and development lab were located here.

This was the core of Chambord and the most mysterious place in the kingdom.

As Fei walked passed all these unique facilities, the sense of achievement grew stronger and stronger.

In the end, he appeared before a unique teleportation array that was located in the central hall on the 66th floor.

This teleportation array could teleport people into the mysterious space behind the underground cave. There was earthly fire, ice abyss, a ton of [Demons' Remains], and crazy storms. That place was Fei's real destination of this trip.

There were too many mysteries that Fei had to solve.

Chapter 584: The Mysterious Altar and Teleportation Portal (Part One)

-Deep inside the tunnel behind the underground cave-

This was a space that was much larger than the [City of Heroes]. This place was surrounded by an icy, bottomless abyss, leaving the tunnel as the only way to come and go from here.

Cracks could be seen everywhere on the ground, making it look like a dry river bed. However, the heat that could be sensed through the cracks told everyone that this place was way scarier than a dry river bed.

In the middle of this s.p.a.ce, there was a pyramid-like mountain of white bones. It was about 700 meters tall, the diameter at the bottom of the mountain was more than 1,000 meters.

The bones were very reflective, and blue will-o'-the-wisps were burning from time to time, adding to the strange yet mystic beauty of this place.

More than a dozen simple tents were constructed beside this mountain of white bones, and crisp metal-colliding noises sounded from around the tents. From these sounds alone, one could tell that the blacksmith who was doing the forging must be a master. That person was able to turn the ear-piercing noise into rhythmic music, making people fell for it.

Suddenly, a blue magic energy flame flashed on a portable magic teleportation station that was located beside the tent.

Then, Fei, Brook, and Torres appeared on it.

“Almost nothing changed.....” Fei glanced around and noticed everything. Compared with the huge changes that took place in the [City of Heroes], this mysterious s.p.a.ce didn't get altered that much. The only thing different was that there were a few more tents.

Of course, Fei knew the reason.

Every 20 days or so, terrifying ice blocks would be jetted out of the dark abyss, and the cracks on the ground would also shoot out terrifying Flames of Earth Core. The drastic difference in temperature would create rainstorms and tornadoes, and the wind alone could blow Nine-Star Warriors away.

Since the environment in this place was so terrible, it was meaningless trying to construct permanent buildings here.

However, since the Flames of Earth Core was required to melt the [Demons' Remains] and [Black Stone Essences], most of the forging of weapons and armors were done here. During the days when there was no rainstorm and tornado, the busy blacksmith from the Diablo World, Charsi, would bring her disciples from Chambord here. They would live in these tents and forge items with iron hammers beside the magic furnaces that could suck the energy from the Flames of Earth Core underground.

“Huh? Alexander, you are here? Long time no see! Eh, you are a lot more handsome and cuter than before! I heard that you are going to marry our [Flower of Rogue] soon? You are very lucky! It is rare to see a powerful, cute, and gentle female rogue like Elena.....” As soon as she saw Fei, Charsi, who was swinging her hammer and forging a huge weapon, greeted Fei passionately as she swiped the sweat off her forehead.

Charsi was such a simple yet warm-hearted girl.

Out of all the NPCs from [Rogue Encampment], she was the only one who ignored Fei’s identity as the supreme leader of the camp as well as the King of Chambord; she treated Fei like a real friend. Ever since Fei got her that magical hammer, she had been very passionate toward him and called him handsome and cute.

“Eh, thanks for the hard work,” Fei walked up and greeted the members in Charsi’s team.

There was a ton of renovation happening every day. If it weren’t for Charsi and other blacksmiths such as Samuel who all worked day and nights, the progress wouldn’t be that quick. Cain, Akara, and Fei only came up with the ideas and the blueprints, and actually turning the blueprints into reality required a lot of skill and confidence. Everything in Chambord that had magic runes engraved on them was made by Charsi and her assistants.

It wasn’t an exaggeration to say that Charsi’s team of 50 to 60 people worked the hardest in Chambord, and they deserved a lot of credits.

“Hahaha, it is not hard at all! We are used to it. If I don’t swing the hammer and forge something, I would feel like I lost my loved one!” Charsi showed Fei her magical hammer as a bright smile appeared on her face and her red ponytail fluttered in the air.

Chapter 584: The Mysterious Altar and Teleportation Portal (Part Two)

This girl was a born-blacksmith; the most enjoyable thing in her life was forging.

In reality, every person in [Rogue Encampment] was obsessed with something. For example, Akara and Cain were in love with magic research, Charsi was obsessed with forging, Merchant Gheed was great at reading other people’s minds, and Military Leader Kashya was crazy about killing enemies..... It felt like all of them were living for their passions, and no ordinary people could understand them

To Fei, they were all top talents, and he was desperate for their help.

“Yeah, if I don’t listen to Master Charsi’s hammering noises for a day, I could feel like I haven’t eaten anything for the whole day……” this female blacksmith’s no.1 disciple, Samuel, smiled and said to the king as well.

This man was the former no.1 blacksmith at Chambord, and he didn’t want to admit defeat to Charsi. Now, his attitude completely changed, and he saw Charsi as his master. Out of all the blacksmiths here, he got the most progress in skills. He was able to forge a magic item on his own now, and he was a rare blacksmith that even thousands of gold coins couldn’t recruit.

The passionate NPCs from [Rogue Encampment] were helping Fei by teaching and raising groups of talents.

Fei went to watch these blacksmith work. He saw Ed Hazard’s father, Terry Hazard, working here as well.

This man lost his right leg in the battle against the black-armored enemies, and Fei designed a prosthesis for him. Now, this man was able to stand straight and continue his passion for forging.

The king got interested in forging as well after seeing everyone doing it, and he gave it a shot as well. However, he destroyed six pieces of work-in-process items that were close to becoming magic items in a row, so he gave up; it looked like he didn’t have talent in this aspect.

Soon, the blacksmith started to pack up. They took down the tents, put their tools away, and left this place using the portable teleportation station.

The event that would occur every month was about to arrive.

The chilly energy from the abyss was getting more and more intense, and ice blocks shot out from the abyss. Also, more and more heat energy was coming from the cracks on the ground.

Since the rainstorm was about to hit, the blacksmiths who were weak wouldn’t be able to stand up against this situation.

Under Fei's persuasion, Brook and Torres also left with the blacksmiths; Fei was the only one who was there.

Soon, as clapping noises sounded, huge drops of water fell. The rain got more aggressive, and it felt like someone was pouring water out of a gigantic bucket.

Bam Bam! Bam!

Huge pieces of ice blocks were tossed up from the bottomless abyss, and the Flames of Earth Core started to appear. All the moisture in the air around Fei was evaporated and turned into liquid before falling onto the ground.

As the cold and hot air mixed, the terrifying tornadoes appeared.

When Fei first encountered this a year ago, he almost lost his life. It was fortunate that he tied himself to a stone pillar made from [Black Stone Essence]; that move saved his life, and it also allowed him to see the mysterious altar at the bottom of the mountain of white bones.

Compared with a year ago, Fei's strength had improved drastically.

Faced with the heavy rainstorm and tornadoes, Fei created an invisible energy sphere and blocked off everything two meters away. Without being affected, Fei calmly walked forward.

Bam! Bam! Bam!

The crazy wind blew all the pieces of [Demons' Remains] into the air.

Soon, the entire mountain made of white bones flew into the air, and it looked like a cloud of bones in the sky. The bones spun and circled in the air as if they were alive, and the ear-piercing bone-grinding noises made when the bones hit each other resonated in the area. The entire scene was terrifying.

As the white bones flew into the air, it revealed the mysterious no-name altar which was at the bottom of the mountain of white bones.

Fei walked toward this mysterious altar and stared at the blue portal on it; he wasn't sure if he should enter or not. After all, he didn't know where it led to.

As the king thought about this question, he looked away from the portal and focused onto the scriptures that were lightly engraved on this mysterious altar.

He made some discoveries.

Chapter 585: Last Ancestral Place (Part One)

This mysterious altar was about six meters tall, it was in the shape of an octagon, and there was a total of eight levels. It was made from a type of unknown black stone, and it felt heavy just by looking at it. The blue portal at the top level of the altar lit up the entire structure, making it look like a lighthouse of h.e.l.l.

On the surface of the bottom seven levels, there were thick, finger-wide magic engravings. They looked ancient yet fundamental, and the smooth lines formed many magic pathings that were filled with an ancient magic energy sensation. However, Fei, who wasn't a magic connoisseur, didn't understand the magic arrays.

Nevertheless, he knew that the style of magic was from the Mythical Era, which was quite different from the current day magic.

On the side of the eighth level, Fei discovered a line of writing.

“In the name of the great Dwarf G.o.d, Fiat, open the gate to the last ancestral place.....”

These were written in the ancient language used in the Mythical Era, and the modern language used on the Azeroth Continent was based on it. What was surprising was that the language in Diablo World was strikingly similar to this ancient language. Fei studied this language from Cain and Akara a little, so he was able to make out the meaning of this sentence after a while.

“Dwarf G.o.d Fiat?” Fei heard stories about the legendary heroes and G.o.ds in the Mythical Era from traveling poets, and Dwarf G.o.d Fiat was one of the protagonists in those stories.

It was heard that this dwarf G.o.d was one of the terrifying heroes on the side of the demons, and he was the primordial G.o.d to all the branches and clans of dwarfs. He controlled one of the ten major G.o.d-tier combat weapons, [Ax of Earth], and he killed many powerful masters on the side of the G.o.ds. He was well-known and invincible.

However, for some reason, this powerful G.o.d still fell.

Now, a lot of people believed that the dwarfs disappeared from the continent because their G.o.d suddenly died. The dwarfs were half as tall as a human, lived in underground caves, had long hair and beard, and were all great blacksmiths. Without the protection of their G.o.d, they lost their honors and went extinct.

Even though they disappeared, they once formed gigantic empires and had great civilizations. Until now, the marks they left on this continent were still affecting how people lived. For example, they were the ones who created combat weapons.

A famous traveling poet had once said that all the famous G.o.d-tier items, G.o.d-tier combat weapons, and semi-G.o.d-tier combat weapons were all created by the dwarfs from the Mythical Era, and all the skills the blacksmiths on the continent nowadays used were all the inheritance from the dwarfs.

This just went to show how powerful the dwarfs were back in the days.

Fei didn't expect that this altar below the mountain of white bones was the creation of the dwarfs.

From the look of it, it seemed like this altar was crucial to the dwarfs, and it led to the so-called last ancestral place.

Fei looked back at the blue portal on the top of the altar.

After thinking for a bit, he summoned [The Throne of Chaos], sat on it, and entered the portal with a determined expression on his face.

[The Throne of Chaos] could break all the restrictions, and it could protect Fei so that he wouldn't get lost in the spatial and temporal portal. Even if there were dangers, Fei could escape.

With several other trump cards on him, Fei decided to explore this mysterious place.

After all, this was under the back mountain of Chambord. Fei had to make sure that this portal wasn't connected to a dangerous and deadly place. Otherwise, Chambord would be sitting on a volcano that could erupt at any moment, and Fei would have to move the city away.

After a series of buzzing noises and blurry visions, Fei appeared in another place.

The wind was lightly blowing, and the bright sun could be seen in the sky; he was no longer in an underground cave.

The danger he was anticipating didn't appear. There were no warrior energy or magic energy surges around him, and there was no cranking metal gear that activated traps.

It just looked like an ordinary deserted and isolated place.

However, when Fei looked up, his expression got interesting.

Chapter 585: Last Ancestral Place (Part Two)

White bones! Seas of white bones!

All that Fei could see were white bones!

Fei was standing on an octangular altar that was identical to the one under the back mountain of Chambord, and behind him was the blue portal.

Fei had no idea how long these white bones had been here. The soil already buried a lot of them, and new grasses grew on top of them.

"This..... Is this the last ancestral place of the dwarfs? It just looks like a ton of corpses were thrown here." Fei was confused.

“Could it be that the dwarfs have fallen, and their last ancestral place turned from a fancy palace to this as time pa.s.sed? But where did these skeletons and bones come from? Could it be that all the dwarfs on the continent came here and died off?”

Fei spread out his spirit energy and didn't sense any danger, so he slowly walked off the altar.

He started his detailed investigate.

Soon, he made discoveries.

This should be a valley that was entirely in isolation. To be exact, all four sides of this place were huge mountains, blocking people out. The mountains were also all tilting inward drastically, and it looked like they were about to collapse at any time. They blocked most of the sunlight that would otherwise enter this isolated valley that covered an area of a dozen square kilometers. The opening on the top was a circle that had a diameter of about 600 meters.

As Fei walked around, all he could see were white bones.

Upon closer inspection, he realized that most of the bones were thick. The joints were the same size as humans', but most of the bones were half the length. It was clear that these were the bones and skeletons of the dwarfs.

However, there were the bones and skeletons of other unknown creatures.

Some of the bones were so thin that it was shocking, and some were so big that it was unbelievable. There were also the skeletons of creatures that had wings and giants that were more than ten meters tall.....

Fei felt like the dwarfs and these creatures were enemies.

As Fei wandered around, he saw too many skeletons that were mingled together since they were battling when they were alive. Most of them had armors on, and their weapons punctured their enemies' bodies while their enemies' weapons pierced through theirs. Also, some skeletons had more than a dozen spears stuck to them, displaying how terrifying the battle was.

Although it looked like this battle happened a long time ago, Fei could still sense the bloodiness and the cruelty of it.

Most of the skeletons were broken into pieces while a small number of them were complete.

The complete ones had the whitest bones, and there were still faint warrior energy and magic energy surges on them. These skeletons were all insanely powerful when they were alive, so bits of their auras were still around years later.

Fei randomly picked up a lightly-rusty blade, and he knocked it with his knuckle.

Tink!

As the crisp sound resonated in the area, the rust fell off, and the body of the blade turned shiny and bright.

“This..... the weapon of the dwarves..... It is a combat weapon?!” Fei was shocked. He didn’t expect that a random weapon he picked up was a combat weapon. After the rust fell off quickly, it felt like this blade was newly forged; time didn’t leave a mark on it.

Fei lightly slashed his finger, and blood dripped down.

Fei’s barbarian character had an insane body! Even Sun-Clas Lords’ bodies couldn’t be compared to his. Ordinary weapons couldn’t even leave a white mark on his skin, but this blade created a wound on his finger easily!

“Such a sharp weapon! This must be a level 5 combat weapon at least! It is a treasure in the outside world! It must be a masterpiece of the dwarves! It could increase the combat ability of an ordinary warrior by five times!”

Fei instantly realized the value of this weapon. Then, as if he was shocked by lightning, he screamed out in excitement.

Chapter 586: The Dwarf King (Part One)

“Hahahaha! There are tens of thousands of weapons in this isolated valley! Almost every skeleton has a weapon in its hand..... If they are all sharp like this blade and are combat weapons, then this place is literally a great weapon storage for Chambord! Hahaha, these weapons are much better than the weapons made from [Demons’ Remains] and [Black Stone Essences]. Even Charsi couldn’t forge out weapons on this level yet!”

Fei looked around at the skeletons in the area as well as the weapons that were stuck in their bones, and he got a little excited.

After placing this combat weapon into his storage s.p.a.ce, Fei’s eyes landed on a sword that was two meters away from him.

He waved his hand, and an energy rushed out his body and pulled that sword into his hand.

Just like how the blade Fei first picked up, there were rusts and soil with mosses on the body of the sword. After experiencing the pa.s.sage of time, it gave a feel of vicissitude. Fei shook his wrist, and the rusts and soil fell off the sword, revealing the black body.

There was a long blood groove that was as thick as a thumb on the body of this sword, and many thin patterns were connected to it.

A fire-elemental energy surge soon appearing on it.

In addition, the tip of the sword looked like the split tongue of a snake. The tip separated into two, and it felt like the strange dark light s.h.i.+ning on the sword could devour all bright lights, making the sword look like a wicked beauty.

Fei lightly swung the sword, and a burning sword energy dashed out.

This was a fire-elemental level 5 combat weapon, not inferior to the wind-elemental level 5 combat weapon that he just got!

“Hahahahahaha! I’m too d.a.m.n lucky! There is such a valuable place connected to the underground cave of Chambord City!

“Could it be that I’m a real demi-G.o.d who was left on the continent by a powerful deity?” Fei thought after getting such a large amount of treasures.

After placing this sword into his storage s.p.a.ce, Fei waved his hand and pulled over a spear that was more than three meters long. He shook it with his hands and was about to laugh, but he suddenly felt like his hands were too light. Then, the smile froze on his face, and it was a little funny.

It turned out that this spear cracked and broke into pieces after Fei shook it. Right now, there was only a short stick that was less than 50 centimeters long in his hands.

“This.....” Fei didn’t know what was going on, so he paid close attention to this weapon.

Although this spear was a combat weapon, it was at a lower level compared with the blade and the sword. After many years, its uniqueness as a combat weapon went away, and it was now even worse than an ordinary weapon. How could it withstand Fei’s great strength?”

“Eh..... It looks like not all weapons are well-kept. After a long time pa.s.sed by, the low-level combat weapons are turned into regular weapons, and the two combat weapons I just collected were probably high-level combat weapons before falling into level 5.....”

Fei instantly thought through a lot of things, and it greatly disappointed the king who was just getting excited over the prospect of this place.

As he walked around and investigated a bit more, his hypothesis was proven.

There were about 4,000 weapons in this valley, but most of them were destroyed. Only less than 1,000 of them were not damaged, but most of them had either fallen into the level of ordinary weapons or completely rusted out.

Even the materials required for the lowest-leveled combat weapon were rare magic ores, and they had their spirits. They were hard to melt and forge, and the weapons made from them were overpowering. However, these weapons were still too weak against the pa.s.sage of time. Now, most of the weapons in this valley were useless.

As Fei walked around, he tried to pick out the complete combat weapons from the bones on the battleground.

After an hour, Fei finally got more than 20 combat weapons that still had their spirits. Most of them were below level 5, but there was a huge black sword that was a level 8 combat weapon, enough to increase the power of a warrior by eight times. If it were a level higher, it would be comparable to the [Sand of Earthly Anger] of Jax and the [Black Crystal Wand] of St. Germain, which were semi-G.o.d-tier combat weapons, A.K.A level 9 combat weapons.

Chapter 586: The Dwarf King (Part Two)

Fei pondered around quite slow; he was paying a lot more attention to the stuff around him.

After about 20 minutes of walking, there were more and more skeletons, and the ground was uplifted.

The deeper he got into the valley, the more bones, more soil, and more weeds there were.

It was clear that these skeletons were all powerful masters in the past. Even though their flesh rotted away as time pa.s.sed by, their bones were still as firm as iron, emitting sharp energy surges. Also, the bones couldn't be stained by dirt, corroded by the rain, and blown away by the wind. Even though weeds were growing in the area, these white skeletons looked bright and smooth as if they were brand-new, and they were much stronger than the [Demons' Remains]

Fei summoned [The Throne of Chaos], and he stood on it in mid-air; he didn't step on the skeletons of these masters.

He looked up and saw a silver stone monument that was about 20 meters tall and several hundred meters away. As many skeletons surrounded it, its look was as eye-catching as a huge reef on the surface of a sea.

Fei instantly moved to the stone monument, and he discovered that there were no bones ten meters around it.

There were 40 dwarfs tightly guarding this stone monument. It was clear that they were dwarf masters when they were alive.

With magic armors on, they circled this stone monument, and they guarded it like a defense wall. Even though their bodies were pierced through by many weapons, they didn't back off for a single step.

The magic armors on them were precious; they were still shining and bright with faint magic energy surges on them.

These 40 dwarf masters were probably all Sun-Class Elites when they were alive since Fei made a terrifying discovery. Even though a long time had passed, the flesh on these 40 dwarfs' bodies didn't rot away. Through the armors, their facial features were still sharp, and their skin that was harder than Godly iron sheets only contracted, sticking to the bones. They looked like desiccated corpses, and Fei wasn't sure if their internal organs dried up as well.

At the moment, the intense murderous spirits on them were sharp, making them feel like live beings.

Six-Star Warriors wouldn't be able to get within ten meters of them; these warriors would be turned into clouds of blood mist by the murderous spirits if they were too close.

Terrifying!

At this moment, Fei felt a great admiration toward these dwarfs. As he looked at these 40 powerful masters, he felt like the blood in his body got ignited. "Such a heroic presence! Even though they are dead, their corpses could still stand and block the terrifying enemies outside of the circle!" he thought.

"Such heroes! But what are they protecting?"

Fei looked behind these dwarf masters and saw an area that was bright red; it looked like this area was soaked by the blood of a God. The thick murderous spirit was intense here, killing all the grasses in the area.

Fei, who was equivalent to a top-tier Half Moon Elite and wearing a pair of level 6 battle boots from Diablo World, felt like iron needles were poking the bottom of his feet when he got off the throne and walked on this ground. He felt like the murderous spirit was destroying his feet.

Soon, Fei's attention was drawn by a figure who was beside the monument.

It was a dwarf who was half sitting and half lying on the stairs that led to the stone monument.

He was dead, but his body didn't change at all. His facial features were life-like, and it felt like he died only moments ago.

His figure was bigger than ordinary dwarfs, and he wasn't wearing a set of armor. Instead, he was wearing a rare blue robe, a silver silk belt, and a golden crown that had G.o.dly gems inlaid in it. There was a one-meter-tall golden double ax beside him, and he was holding onto a black book that was about 40 centimeters thick with one hand and pointing at the sky with the other. His expression looked angry as his eyes were wide open, looking as if he was condemning or questioning something.

Chapter 587: b.l.o.o.d.y Book, Doomsday (Part One)

This man was the emperor of the dwarfs; the crown on his head explained it.

Fei discovered that this emperor died in the most painful way possible; there was a big hole in his chest, and his heart was ripped away from his body. What was surprising was that blood was still dripping from this big wound.

Different from the 40 dwarf masters around the monument, this emperor's corpse didn't dry up at all. His blood was still bright red, and he looked like he was at his prime.

His eyes were wide open, and there was an angry and unwilling expression on his face. He was looking up at the sky as if there was a terrifying enemy there.

This scene was strange and terrifying.

Fei felt like someone was blowing cold air onto his neck, and all the hair on his body stood up.

Many years had pa.s.sed since this dwarf emperor died, but his blood was still bright and contained energy; it felt like he was going to resurrect at any moment. It was clear that his strength was higher than the 40 dwarf masters who were protecting this monument; Sun-Cla.s.s Lords were probably ants in his eyes when he was still alive. However, he was still killed by an unknown enemy and got his heart taken away; it was truly shocking.

From the look of it, it seemed like he was sneak-attacked, and he didn't have time to react. This just went to show how powerful this enemy was.

“How powerful is that level? G.o.ds?”

Fei felt like he understood the Azeroth Continent too little. He never thought about levels above Sun-Cla.s.s Realm; he believed that the level of Sun-Cla.s.s was the summit of cultivation.

From how things looked, it seemed like he couldn't be more wrong. At least this dead dwarf emperor in front of Fei right now was beyond the Sun-Cla.s.s Realm, and the enemy who killed him was even more powerful.

“Are there G.o.ds in this world?”

In myths and legends, a drop of blood from a G.o.d could instantly kill a Sun-Cla.s.s Lord. What level was that? Could these G.o.ds really live for eternity?

Fei reached out his hand and lightly touched the blood on this dwarf emperor's wound.

As soon as he touched it, he felt like his entire finger was getting burned by the h.e.l.lfire; it was excruciating, and he thought he placed his finger in a pot of lava.

Even though his body was tough, a layer of skin on his finger was instantly burned off. That tiny bit of blood was comparable to the Flames of Earthly Core, and it was insane.

The result of this experiment was similar to the legend where a drop of blood from a G.o.d could kill a master.

Fei was clear that the energy contained in this bit of blood was long lost due to the pa.s.sage of time, and it was no longer that powerful. Otherwise, he wouldn't be able to get within ten meters of this emperor.

Too powerful!

This dwarf emperor who died many years ago was still this powerful!

Even Emperor Ya.s.sin who said that he was inferior to no one probably couldn't be compared to this emperor!

Fei lowered his head, and he suddenly froze.

On the stone stairs in front of this dwarf emperor, there was a pair of light footprints..... Wait, they were actually a pair of hoof prints; they weren't left by a human. These hoof prints were about two centimeters deep into the stairs, and each of them was about 50 centimeters wide.

These two hoof prints were abrupt, and they were emitting murderous spirits, giving Fei the chills.

Fei felt like the creature that left this pair of hoof prints was the murderer of this dwarf emperor.

It looked like the enemies of the dwarfs who killed all these dwarfs at their last ancestral place were not humans but rather unknown and unidentified creatures.

Of course, all of this was still Fei's hypothesis.

Fei finally landed his eyes on the thick book in this dwarf emperor's hand. After some hesitation, he walked up and carefully took this book out.

He lightly blew the dust off the cover page before carefully opening the book. It looked like a diary, and it was written in the text used in the Mythical Era.

The first few hundred pages were stained by blood and couldn't be read, and only the last 20 pages or so were readable.

Chapter 587: b.l.o.o.d.y Book, Doomsday (Part Two)

“The war broke out! It finally broke out!!”

“..... The land of G.o.ds and the land of demons are both invaded by those terrifying devils. Those d.a.m.n pseudo G.o.ds from another s.p.a.ce! How dare they invade the land of G.o.ds? I curse them! These lunatics couldn't escape the punishment from the G.o.ds! They will be wiped out for sure.....”

“d.a.m.n it! How is this possible? Those dame pseudo G.o.ds have the advantage?”

“The situation is not bright. Both the G.o.ds and the demons fell into a terrible situation.....”

“Ten days after the war broke out, all the affiliated races and species of the G.o.ds and demons sensed the gloomy outlook. Catastrophes continue to appear, and chaos are everywhere! I heard that the elf empire got attacked by the pseudo G.o.ds, and they suffered great casualties.....”

“How is this possible? The G.o.d of Fire and the G.o.d of Magic died? Wind Demon and Strength Demon got decapitated as well? d.a.m.n! Even these deities are falling? G.o.d..... I hope the great Primordial G.o.d Fiat is still ok. He has a major G.o.d-tier combat weapon, the [Ax of Earth], with him. He is invincible, and he could defeat those pseudo G.o.ds for sure!”

“Sixteen days have pa.s.sed since the beginning of the war. Today is a dark day. Unbelievable bad news came from the land of G.o.ds. The great Primordial G.o.d Fiat died in battle. G.o.d! Is the doomsday of the dwarfs coming?”

“I don't know how to calm the empire down for the last few days. Only the Imperial Priest and I know about the news of Primordial G.o.d Fiat's death. This news couldn't be let out! Otherwise, the dwarf empire will collapse..... Ancestors of our Gerard Empire..... Please tell me where the destiny of our dwarfs is at!”

“Twenty-two days have pa.s.sed since the war started. The Sid Empire of the elves lasted less than a day..... Did the pseudo G.o.ds get grand victories in the land of G.o.ds and the land of demons? The G.o.ds and demons disappeared, and these devils started attacking the species on the continent. They are like hungry locusts! They leave nothing behind! The Elf Queen and her priests all died in battle, and the holy city of the elves got conquered. I heard that only a few members of the royal family of the elves escaped and went to the Giant Tribe for protection.

“Today is the 30th day. After three days of battle, the Big Empire of the giants got conquered.....”

“Today is the 33rd day. The empire of the ugly goblins also got conquered in three days. The magic missile launchers and the G.o.d-killing mechanisms couldn't even stop the pseudo G.o.ds.....”

“Today is the 34th day. I, Gerard Bill, the 134th emperor of the Gerard Empire of the dwarfs, gave out the war mobilization order! The unyielding dwarf warriors! The war is inevitable, and we need to fight to continue our race!”

“Today is the 36th day. The emperor of the orcs died, and the Saint Mountain Haigal of the orcs has fallen! The orcs got wiped out!”

“The flames of war finally arrived in our Gerard Empire!”

“Bad news! We did go to the underground city under the Ferren Mountain, but more than three million dwarf warriors died for their homeland!”

“Today is the 40th day. The st.u.r.dy dwarf warriors pushed back the invading forces of those devils for the first time, but we lost more than half of the soldiers and warriors.....”

“We only have one last underground city left. Darkness has arrived..... I can sense the intense death sensation.....”

“The Imperial Priest died.....”

“Battle..... Battle..... Battle.....”

“We have less than 10,000 soldiers left.....”

“There are too many enemies; we couldn’t kill them all. They are rus.h.i.+ng toward us like waves! We could only open the path that leads to the last ancestral place. I hope that G.o.dly runes engraved on the walls of the ancestral place could stop their attacks.....”

“We got a moment to breathe, but there are only less than 3,000 of us left. Ten days ago, we were a huge empire that had tens of millions of members and millions of warriors..... This is an indescribable disaster! Civilizations are destroyed, and the continent is about to be shattered.....”

“They discovered the location of the last ancestral place.....”

“A powerful ent.i.ty is attacking the ancestral place, and even the G.o.dly runes couldn’t defend against it.....”

“That ent.i.ty is approaching.....”

“We are in a corner.....”

“If anyone from later eras could see my writing, please believe that the dwarfs battled to save the continent. We may lose in the end, but the proud dwarf warriors would never admit defeat.....”

“The last moment is arriving. The Gerard Empire of the dwarfs that has a history of more than 6,000 years is about to end. The 40 G.o.dly Pillar Generals are guarding the monument of our Primordial G.o.d. I, Gerard Bill the emperor, is going to fight alongside our warriors in this final battle. I will bleed for the honor of the empire until I die.....”

“Huh? Finally, a pseudo G.o.d!! That creature is really coming.....”

Chapter 588: Mystery of History (Part One)

This was a diary that recorded the doomsday of the continent.

The record ended here, and the writing became unclear and messy; the last few words were barely recognizable.

From the look of things, this dwarf king experienced great shock and could no longer continue writing.

Fei exhaled deeply as he slowly closed this b.l.o.o.d.y book.

After seeing it, a series of clear yet tragic and destructive images appeared in his head. He could imagine how it felt when this dwarf king lived through that terrifying era.

The gigantic empires were crushed by the powerful enemies one after another, and they couldn’t do anything about it. Darkness enveloped the land, and numerous races went extinct. Numerous G.o.ds and demons died in battles, and every single creature on the continent felt desperate. No one could see a future, and almost all the creatures were wiped out in about a month and a half!

It was the doomsday!

Although the diary only recorded the significant events that took place with a few words, the desperation and hopelessness that the emperor of the dwarfs, Gerard Bill, felt was conveyed to Fei through the pages, and it was suffocating.

After reading this blood-stained diary, Fei felt like a massive piece of stone was weighing on his mind.

The diary ended abruptly as if something terrible happened, and Fei guessed that the terrifying enemies, who were 'pseudo G.o.ds from another s.p.a.ce', appeared and killed this emperor of the dwarfs instantly. When the heart of this emperor was taken away, those 40 G.o.dly Pillar Generals probably didn't even have time to react.

In the end, all the dwarf masters in the last ancestral place battled until death, and none of them escaped from the tragic ending.

Afterward, those terrifying enemies left this place. They ignored the corpses of the dwarfs and their own peers and didn't even take the combat weapons on the ground.

As he thought about what he read, Fei looked at the skeletons around him and tried to organize his thoughts.

He had a ton of questions on his mind. For example, who were those pseudo G.o.ds? How were they able to kill the G.o.ds and the demons who dominated the Azeroth Continent for ages? How could they wipe through the seven super empires created by the affiliated races of the two groups? How did they complete the b.l.o.o.d.y ma.s.sacres so quick? And where did the locust-like devils go after this? Why weren't they doc.u.mented in the history books? Why were the 'pseudo G.o.ds from another s.p.a.ce' not known to humans? Did they leave the Azeroth Continent after the killing and the conquer? Or, were they waiting for another opportunity while hiding on the continent?

Of course, although these questions were on Fei's mind, there was one particular question that was bothering Fei.

“Why aren’t humans mentioned in this diary?”

According to the writings of Gerard Bill, the enemies were known as pseudo G.o.ds from another s.p.a.ce, and there were numerous devils under their commands; they couldn’t be exterminated. They combed through the continent and made several races and species go extinct. These devils showed no mercy, but why weren’t humans mentioned?

From the look of things, only humans survived that ma.s.sacre and became the ruler of the land!

Could it be that the humans didn’t exist back then?

Impossible! According to books that Fei read, humans existed in the Mythical Era. In addition, humans were ranked as one of the top ten species alongside the elves and the dwarfs.

Therefore, Fei couldn’t understand why humans weren’t mentioned in the diary and why this catastrophe that occurred in the Mythical Era wasn’t recorded in the history books.

Chapter 588: Mystery of History (Part Two)

In the current history books, it was said that the G.o.ds and demons battled each other and ended up destroying everything, obliterating the Mythical Era; this was a fact that many historians reached consensus on. It was also said that the affiliated races and species of the G.o.ds and demons such as the elves, dwarfs, orcs, dragons, and sea tribes (similar to Slithereen in WoW) all partic.i.p.ated in the battles and ended up destroying themselves. Only humans were able to survive that by using their strong learning and adaptation abilities as well as powerful reproduction capabilities.

It was clear that the history as the people on the Azeroth Continent knew it conflicted with what Gerard Bill wrote.

“Who is lying?”

As he looked around at the numerous skeletons as well as the corpses of the 40 G.o.dly Pillar Generals and the emperor of the dwarfs, Fei leaned toward the records on the b.l.o.o.d.y book. No one would try to lie to the future generations when he didn’t even know if the continent was going to be around.

This diary that was stained by blood was more reliable than the vague and unproven legends.

Fei felt like he accidentally discovered a secret that was concealed for ages.

Who destroyed the Mythical Era? What roles did the humans play during that time?

Fei lightly exhaled and shook his head. He stopped thinking about those questions since it was not relevant to the current time. He placed the b.l.o.o.d.y book into his storage s.p.a.ce and continued to observe the surroundings.

As he glanced at the corpse of Gerard Bill once more, he discovered that there were fine engravings on the stone monument behind this emperor; it looked like it recorded the locations of the stars in the sky since small silver dots that were the size of a fingertip were all over this statue. Also, there were thin silver lines that connected all these dots, combining them into something unbreakable.

“What are these?” Fei thought as he lightly rubbed the dots.

This was the dwarfs’ last ancestral place, and the 40 G.o.dly Pillar Generals and the emperor of the dwarfs all died protecting it. If one told Fei that this stone monument was a simple statue, Fei wouldn’t believe it.

However, after a while of observations, Fei couldn’t detect any magic energy or warrior energy surges on it. It was very common and ordinary.

This irregular discovery made Fei even more curious.

“Looks like I need to give this to Cain and Akara to study!”

After Fei made up his mind, he didn’t spend more time on it. He made sure he didn’t overlook anything, and he walked forward to see if he could find anything else.

On the way, he picked up a few other combat weapons that weren’t corroded.

Unfortunately, they were of low levels; none of them was above level 5.

After two hours, Fei walked around this entire valley. Except for the interesting discoveries he made at the center of the valley, white skeletons and bones were everywhere else.

On the side of the walls, Fei saw some G.o.dly rune engravings that lost their energies.

Fei pictured the scene where the walls in this place were empowered by the G.o.dly runes. Even if regular walls were strengthened by G.o.dly runes, they would become indestructible! No Sun-Cla.s.s Lord could leave a mark on these walls.

Except for that portal on the altar, no one was able to get in here theoretically.

However, this place was still conquered and destroyed.

Fei looked up at the opening of this valley and wondered where this place was. As he was about to fly out of the rough-circular opening above him that had a diameter of 500 meters and check out this area, he suddenly noticed something that he overlooked before, and his expression froze on his face!

“How is this..... possible?”

P.S. Hey guys, we apologize for the downtime the website is experiencing in the days when we do ma.s.s releases. We have been making investments in our servers to accommodate higher traffic, but some of the script-stealing bots are slowing our website down. We have just invested in more CPU for the website, and we will be monitoring it in the next few days to see how well it handles the traffic.

Chapter 589: Huge Handprint (Part One)

Fei rubbed his eyes and thought that he saw an illusion, but.....

Whoos.h.!.+

He fluttered the silver sword energy wings on his back, and he dashed out of this valley like a shooting arrow. As an ear-piercing noise sounded, he instantly appeared above this opening and got out of the valley.

As he put away his silver wings and hovered in mid-air, he looked down and got shocked!

He finally discovered that the so-called opening of this valley was a clear handprint! The five fingers and the knuckles on them were clearly imprinted into the ground, and it felt like a giant pressed down his hand!

A gigantic handprint!

Fei felt like the shock he was experiencing was suffocating him.

At this moment, he realized that this valley wasn't a valley to begin with; it was initially an underground city just like the underground cave under the back mountain of Chambord. It was heard that the dwarfs like living underground, and they had incredible digging and forging abilities. Their last ancestral place shouldn't be a valley but an underground city as well.

That was more reasonable.

Unfortunately, the ceiling of this underground city was somehow destroyed by a powerful entity from the sky, turning it into a valley.

Fei already confirmed that Godly runes empowered the walls and the ceiling of the underground city, but this entity was able to easily destroy them all together and open the last ancestral place of the dwarfs.

Terrifying power!

As Fei thought back to the last few sentences recorded on the bloody diary, Fei could imagine what happened.

The emperor of the dwarfs, Gerard Bill, retreated to the last ancestral place with less than 3,000 dwarfs and wanted to use the Godly runes on the walls and ceiling of this underground city to block the terrifying enemies. Suddenly, a powerful entity struck down at the last ancestral place from the sky, and it destroyed their last safe haven. Then, numerous devils rushed into the underground city through the opening on the ceiling and exterminated the last bit of the dwarfs.

That scene was dark and depressing.

How cruel and devastating!

Through this giant handprint, Fei felt the power of the ones who destroyed the Mythical Era once for all.

It was fortunate that these powerful entities weren't around anymore. Otherwise, if they were on the Azeroth Continent now, even people like the Continental Martial Saint, Maradona, couldn't deal with them. They could be able to sweep through the continent once more easily.

As a cold breeze blew by and gave Fei some chills, he finally slowly woke up from the huge shock that he was experiencing.

He slowly looked up from that huge handprint and observed the surroundings.

There were many mountains around him, and these mountains were connected and extended into the sky. On the hills, there were a ton of old trees that were more than 1,000 years old, and these trees created a huge forest. The spring was here, and all new buds and sprouts grew out of the branches, making the area bright green. The opening that led to the last ancestral place was in between five tall mountains, and there were a lot of tall trees and thick vines around it. Looking down from the sky, that place looked like a natural pit. If masters flew by on top of it, they wouldn't be able to spot it and discovered the hidden mystery.

No wonder this place wasn't discovered by anyone else even though it had been around for a long time.

"How far is this place to Chambord? From the look of it, this place looks similar to the mountains behind the back mountain of Chambord....." Fei thought as he looked around, confirmed the directions, and glanced behind him.

He was shocked once more.

Even though he was surprised many times today and got a little numb, he still couldn't help but freeze after seeing what he saw.

Chapter 589: Huge Handprint (Part Two)

About ten kilometers away, he saw a mysterious yet silver ancient city in the sunset. Its three sides were surrounded by mountains, and streaks of cooking smoke were coming out of chimneys. In front of its defense wall was a wide river, and a large plain was on the other side of the river.....

Chambord Castle!

Fei didn't expect to see Chambord so close! That mysterious portal on the ancient altar under the mountain of white bones didn't teleport him to a place ten of thousands of kilometers away. Instead, he was only moved about ten kilometers away. The last ancestral place of the dwarfs was really close to Chambord; they were like neighbors.

After the initial shock, Fei shook his head and tried to digest all of this.

There must be connections between all of these.

Ancient Chambord City, underground cave, endless underground corridor, mysterious s.p.a.ce, [Demons' Remains], [Black Stone Essences], mountain of white bones, mysterious altar, ancient portal, last ancestral place.....

All of these seemed coincidental together, but they were truly connected.

Fei remembered Brook telling him that the city of Chambord was much older than the history of the royal family of Chambord. Before the Zenit Empire rose up and the royal family of Chambord got canonized, this city was already here. No one knew who created this 'immortal' city, but people knew that Emperor Ya.s.sin grew into power and established the Zenit Empire, and the people who were living in this city decided to surrender to this great emperor and be controlled by the empire.

Fei was now pretty sure that this city and the underground cave were all a part of the heritage left by the dwarfs.

Even though the dwarfs were wiped out, the structures they built on the land lived through the passage of time. Many years later, they were discovered by some homeless people who wandered here, and these people cleaned them up and started living in them.

After many generations passed by, the people living in this city forgot about the origin of the city. Later on, the royal family of Chambord discovered the underground cave and used it as a prison. After that, Fei came to this world, renovated the underground cave, and discovered more of the ruins and heritages of the dwarfs.

This explanation was more logical and more natural to follow.

Fei hovered in mid-air as he thought everything through. Then, he looked at the mountains around him and the peaceful Chambord City not too far away. Suddenly, a lightbulb lit up in his head, and he suddenly got a great idea regarding Chambord's future development path.

After getting that idea, he went back into the valley.

After spending about five hours, he picked out all the combat weapons that were still functional, and there were about 60 of them. 90% of them were below level 5, but there was one level 8 combat weapon, two level 7 swords, one level 7 dagger, and one level 6 battle bow.

Even in the Zenit Empire's eyes, this much combat weapons were a huge amount of treasures.

Fei felt like the imperial weaponry storage in St. Petersburg didn't even have as much combat weapons as he had right now.

After Fei was done with everything, it was almost midnight. The moon was bright, and there weren't many shiny stars. The mountains in the area looked like huge demon beasts that were crouching, but Chambord City that was about ten kilometers away was lit up by all the lights.

Fei stood in mid-air after traveling through that opening in the ceiling, and his expression suddenly turned serious. As he concentrated his spirit energy slowly but steadily, he tried his best to communicate with the Sky Castle that he hid into the void.

Fei emitted tiny streaks of spirit energy, and they quickly merged into this space like waterdrops into the ocean.

Fei even sensed that the mysterious stone pillar in his body started to vibrate rapidly. It buzzed and expressed a joyous emotion as if it was a kid who got a lollipop.

This went on for about six minutes.

As Fei was getting dizzy and his spirit energy was about to be depleted, a mysterious change took place in the sky.

Chapter 590: Arrival! Sky Castle! (Part One)

A series of white ripples appeared in the night as if a drop of water fell into the ocean, and something huge was breaking through the s.p.a.ce and dropped down from the sky; it was an awesome sight.

Through the white ripples, a gigantic city slowly appeared in this world.

The Sky Castle!!!

Fei was summoning the legendary ancient city, Sky Castle, that he discovered in the small world in the Mythical Palace.

The magnificent castle, the reversed cone-shaped mountain at the bottom of the city, and the tall silver walls.....

This incredible floating city slowly appeared as if it gradually moved out of a waterfall, and the shock it brought to Fei was indescribable. It felt like a G.o.d was coming down from heaven.

Soon, the Sky Castle appeared in this world silently, and it blocked the bright moon. Its huge shadow enveloped a large land ma.s.s, giving people a suffocating sensation.

Even though Fei had seen the Sky Castle before, he was shocked when he saw it again.

Perhaps it was connected to the mysterious stone pillar in his body, or maybe it was because Fei's blood soaked the Mythical Altar as well the mysterious stone pillar, Fei felt like he and the Sky Castle were connected by blood. In a sense, Fei was able to control this legendary city.

However, the Sky Castle was giant, and a ton of spirit energy was required to move this city around.

With Fei's current spirit energy level, he was barely able to move it.

For the last while, he felt like the mysterious stone pillar in his body was expressing a simple yet mystic emotion, and he felt like this emotion was coming from the Sky Castle and got to him by traveling through the void. It was hinting at the king, telling him that he couldn't just keep the city in the void; it was consuming too much energy, and the Sky Castle was going to get lost in the void and couldn't be traced and located one day.

This mystic yet unexplainable emotion was bothering Fei for the last while, and he knew that he had to summon the Sky Castle back into the world soon.

Also, he was clear that if this legendary city appeared on this continent, a lot of people were going to be moved. By then, all kinds of powerful masters and mighty hermits would come and try to rob it from him. With his current strength, he wouldn't be able to protect it.

He had been hesitating for the last few days, and he had an idea after observing the tall mountains around the last ancestral place of the dwarfs.

Therefore, Fei carefully summoned the huge Sky Castle without getting anyone's attention, and he lightly dropped it down between the mountain; he was aiming the tip of the reversed cone-shaped mountain at the bottom of the city at the handprint opening on top of the last ancestral place of the dwarfs.

Boom!!

The mountains in the area shook, and the ground was cracked.

As the Sky Castle pressed down, the smaller mountains and hills in the area were crushed. The firmness of the silver reversed cone-shaped mountain at the bottom of the city was much stronger than regular rocks, and the Sky Castle slowly merged with the ground. Although the soil continued to sink around the Sky Castle and many trees were destroyed, the legendary city finally successfully landed.

The clouds of dust soon settled, and the situation was much better than Fei anticipated.

The Sky Castle perfectly sealed up the last ancestral place of the dwarfs. Although it crushed several mountains in the area, it allowed this legendary city to merge into the surroundings. It didn't look abrupt, and it felt like this castle had been here forever.

“Although a lot of masters know about the Sky Castle from legends, almost none of them had seen it before. There aren't many historical recordings on it, to begin with, and it has perfectly embedded itself into this terrain. Even if someone sees this castle, they wouldn't be able to recognize it. Eh, if I tell others that this is a place of the heritage of the dwarfs, they would believe it. This explanation could buy me some time. After a while, I will be able to complete the h.e.l.l Mode in Diablo World. Even if others end up recognizing it, I won't be afraid!”

Chapter 590: Arrival! Sky Castle! (Part Two)

The appearance of this giant city covered up the last ancestral place of the dwarfs. The secret about the dwarfs including their emperor, Gerard Bill, those 40 G.o.dly Pillar Generals, all those skeletons, and that shocking truth about the past would be hidden again, and they wouldn't be discovered in a long time.

This fitted Fei's plan.

For some reason, the king felt like it was better if he didn't make the information in Gerard Bill's b.l.o.o.d.y diary public.

After doing all that, Fei walked around the castle and tried his best to hide and destroy the evidence that could lead people to think that this city fell from the sky.

As he was about to leave, something unexpected happened again; that mysterious stone pillar in Fei's body lightly shook.

At the same time, as if it received a command, the Sky Castle that was now resting peacefully in the mountains suddenly released streaks of white lights. These lights weren't bright, and they quickly dispersed around the castle. In the end, they formed a giant transparent sphere, and it enveloped the Sky Castle as well as about 50 mountains in the area.

“This..... is the invisible energy sphere?”

Fei suddenly recalled how he got to the Sky Castle in the level 36 region in the Mythical Palace. At that time, he encountered something similar. He didn't see this castle, and he somehow wandered around and got past the invisible energy sphere before discovering the existence of the Sky Castle.

Whoosh! Fei dashed several kilometers into the sky.

When he looked down, as he expected, he could only see many mountains and trees in the forest; everything seemed primitive. The Sky Castle that had tall silver walls and buildings were nowhere to be seen.

That invisible energy sphere helped the Sky Castle to achieve 100% stealth!

Fei was genuinely surprised.

He was planning for the worst when he summoned this legendary city onto the Azeroth Continent, but now it seemed like he didn't need to worry about others getting suspicious over the sudden appearance of this giant city. This invisible energy sphere could block off all visuals, auras, and sensations. Even Sun-Clas.s Lords would have a hard time spotting this legendary city without going inside of the invisible energy sphere.

Now, Fei was sure that the mysterious stone pillar in his body was tightly connected to the Sky Castle; perhaps it was the core component of the city and functioned similarly to a remote control.

It was obvious that there were a lot more mystic and magical features in the Sky Castle that were waiting for him to discover.

In the legends, the invisible sky fortress had more power than flying in the sky and going stealth.

After Fei spent a bit more time and inspected the area around the Sky Castle, he calculated the time and was worried that the people at Chambord might be concerned since he 'disappeared' for a long time already. Therefore, he instantly dashed toward the Chambord City.

The wind fluttered the king's long black hair as he flew in the sky, and he was thinking about the plans that were going to be realized next.

When he looked down casually, he suddenly saw a row of mountains.

“Huh? These mountains.....” Fei suddenly noticed that there was a row of mountains between the Sky Castle and the Chambord Castle. They were much taller than the mountains in the area, and it felt like they were swords that were piercing into the sky.

Fei counted them and got the number 12. It was a perfect number for Fei’s upcoming plans.