

Hail the King 681

Chapter 681: Assassination (Part One)

Fei liked to show off in front of his enemies.

Since the power of the demon beast legion was so strong, and their appearances were so shocking, how could the king not be smug?

Therefore, he didn't hesitate to mock Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand mercilessly.

"This is unexpected..... No one would have expected this. The little Chambord Kingdom pressed me to this degree! Your strength is enough for Chambord to be a dominant force in the region, and you should be proud."

At this moment, Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand had to admit that even though he overestimated the Chambord Kingdom by multiple folds, it was still not enough. His plan was destroyed, and he was losing in this situation.

The strength Chambord showcased was enough to make them into a level 5 or a level 6 empire; they couldn't be called an affiliated kingdom anymore.

Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand couldn't believe what he was seeing, and he was stunned to the max.

Right now, no words could describe what was going on in Senxi's mind.

He looked down on the ground and saw the masters on the side of Chambord coordinating with supreme king-level demon beasts. Chambord was in a great advantage, and they were crushing the masters of the [Dragon Hunt Alliance]. In just a few minutes, the masters of the [Dragon Hunt Alliance] were severely injured or killed; they couldn't put up a defense.

What surprised him even more was that the many citizens of Chambord who were standing outside the square somehow disappeared when Chambord was flipping the situation around. In the big Chambord City, except for the people on the square, not a single person could be seen.

“Where did all of those ordinary people go?” he thought, “This is clearly a set-up! The Chambordians planned this in advance!”

Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand suddenly turned ugly as soon as he thought about that; his face even paled.

He suddenly realized that the plan that he came up with carefully had been see through by this young king already. Even though he thought that there were many hidden trump cards, and they were in stealth, it seemed like this young king already predicted them...

No! The better way to put it was that the King of Chambord already knew what was going to happen before the [Dragon Hunt Operation] took place!

This thought flashed in Senxi’s mind, and it made his heart race as his body shivered.

The reason that he was liked and valued by Bishop Platini of the Northern Regional Church was that he was great at strategic planning on top of having immense strength. He was really considerate, and he always kept the entire picture in mind, making him an excellent advisor and strategist.

However, he failed this time! Not only in strength, but he also got crushed in terms of his plans and strategies.

“How did the King of Chambord know all of this? Could it be that there are traitors on the inside of the [Dragon Hunt Alliance]?” he thought.

Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand was dumbfounded, and he quickly thought through the people who were in the alliance, wanting to identify the person or group who betrayed him.

At this moment, he looked down at the square unintentionally, and his pupils instantly contracted when he saw the battles that were going on.

He wasn’t sure when, but the No.2 Mercenary Group in the region, [Fire Blood Mercenary Group], disappeared.

The mercenary group that was only below the [Wind Horse Mercenary Group] in the region was hired by him from the Leon Empire, and the masters of that mercenary group were saying that they were going to kill all the Chambordians before the wedding.

However, the members and the group leader who had a gold mask were nowhere to be seen; they didn't put up a fight and somehow escaped.

Chapter 681: Assassination (Part Two)

This discovery made Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand realize something, but it was already too late.

The momentum of tonight's event already left him.

As death wails sounded on the square, Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand suddenly raised his head and stared at Fei. He said viciously, "I haven't lost yet! Anyone who isn't on the realm of Sun-Class is an ant! The battles on the ground are battles between ants. As long as I defeat you, and the two elders defeat their opponents, this situation would still be back at my control!"

"This is also what I want to tell you." Fei squinted his eyes; this signal that he was about to attack.

"Hahaha! You are just an arrogant kid! When did you advance into Sun-Class? How many days have you been a Sun-Class Lord? There are differences between Sun-Class Lords as well! The dignity of experienced Sun-Class Lords can't be challenged by a kid like you!"

After completely ignoring what was happening on the ground, Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand instantly unleashed his power.

The short, burned-like stick suddenly shone in his right hand, and it emitted a terrifying sensation. It felt like a god woke up from his sleep, and this weapon targeted Fei and locked onto him.

"Huh? It is a semi-god-tier combat weapon?" Fei was a bit surprised. As his pupil contracted a little, he instantly created some distance between himself and Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand.

The king sensed a chilling and dangerous sensation from this short stick that was black and looked ordinary a moment ago.

“That is right! This is the most sacred treasure of the Red-Sand Shrine, the [Black Reef Staff], a semi-god-tier combat weapon. I thought that I wouldn’t need it for tonight, but.....” As he said that, Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand suddenly raised the [Black Reef Staff], and a wave of burning silver holy power instantly poured out of it. It lit up the sky, and it looked like there was a sun in the middle of the night.

Whoosh! Whoosh! Whoosh! Whoosh! Whoosh!!!!

Arrows of light shot toward Fei like raindrops in a storm.

Fei concentrated his energy and didn’t dare to underestimate his enemy.

“Crystal wall!” he shouted and pushed his right hand forward. A golden crystal wall instantly appeared in front of him and blocked all the silver arrows. Then, the arrows were bounced back at an even faster speed.

However, by now, Senxi already disappeared from where he was.

A gush of sharp energy struck toward Fei from his right. Not sure when, but Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand already appeared to the right of Fei, and [Black Reef Staff] torn through space and easily penetrated Fei’s body through his back.

One lucky strike?

However, Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand didn’t look happy. It was because Fei’s body that got penetrated suddenly turned into nothing.

What Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand hit was only an afterimage that Fei left since he moved so fast.

Using the same method, Fei already appeared behind Senxi and punched out.

Boom! Boom! Boom! Boom!

A series of energy storms appeared in the sky and expanded outward.

The two Sun-Class Lords dashed around and appeared at different locations at every split second as if they were phantoms. They were attacking each other as tests and tried to see what each other was capable of. In just the blink of an eye, they had already struck each other more than 100 times, and they were evenly matched; neither of them got the upper hand.

After they struck each other one more time, the violent explosive energy created a tear in the space, showing several black cracks that revealed the void.

Both Fei and Senxi shivered, and they backed off each other.

Fei felt like both of his arms were numb. After all, Senxi was a powerful Sun-Class Lord, and he wasn't easy to deal with.

As he unleashed his power one more time and tried to use a different technique, he suddenly detected a sense of danger that he never felt before. All the pores on his body opened, and all his hair stood up.

He was only able to back off for a bit at that split second, and a terrifying dash of cold light flashed by.

A deep wound appeared on his shoulder, and blood instantly gushed out.

At the moment, even his shoulder bones could be seen.

Chapter 682: Sun Anomaly – [Gods' Forbidden Land] (Part One)

An assassin!

There was a powerful assassin hiding in the area!

“Hahaha! King of Chambord, even though you are calculative and cunning, you still fell into the trap! I have been preparing for this for a long time! Hahaha! The assassins of the [Dark Shadow Shrine] sure are powerful and can hide anywhere. Their ultimate assassination technique even severely injured you!” Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand suddenly laughed out loud, and he sounded proud.

This sudden assassination was one of the trump cards that he planned.

The momentary upfront battle was meant to distract Fei and make him focus onto Senxi, providing that assassin who was hiding in the dark with an excellent opportunity to strike Fei and kill him.

Unfortunately, this assassin was at peak Moon-Class and still a step away from the powerful Sun-Class. Even though his stealth technique and assassination skills were impressive, they weren’t enough to kill the King of Chambord. Fei was able to sense the danger ahead of time and dodged a little, making the dagger miss his vital point.

“Damn it! You are shameless! You are a bishop of the Holy Church and a Sun-Class Lord! You don’t dare to fight with me directly?” Fei was enraged, and he punched out without hesitation.

The golden fist mark dashed forward and shattered the space around it, making it seem like it was the end of the world.

Then, a figure appeared from the collapsing space. His body was short like a midget, and he puked up a lot of blood. He was the assassin who injured Fei.

Even though Fei was able to severely injure this assassin in turn, he wasn’t able to kill this midget-sized assassin.

Suddenly, that figure flashed, and the assassin who was puking up blood shivered and dashed into space, disappearing again as if he was a smooth earthworm.

Just when Fei was about to chase after him, something mystic happened.

Suddenly, silver energy flames appeared, and a vast and undefendable amount of energy pulled on him.

Soon, the world in front of Fei changed, and the dark sky, bright stars, bloody battles, loud shouts, demon beasts’ roars, and Chambord City all disappeared at this moment.

In their place was a vast and limitless red space.

Fei felt like he was in a huge desert, and all the sand grains were tiny bloody-red crystals. The sand was red, the sky was red, the light in the space was red, and even the air was red... Everything here was as red as blood, and there weren't any other colors.

Fei frowned and raised his hand.

Bam! He punched out, and a thick, golden energy beam dashed into the sky.

However, after it traveled upward for a long time, it still didn't hit any barriers, and it gradually disappeared from Fei's vision.

"King of Chambord, you are a guilty soul who stained the honor of the gods! You are inside the [God's Forbidden Land]! How dare you still act so arrogantly? Quickly kneel before the gods, surrender your soul, and beg for forgiveness!" Suddenly, a majestic and god-like voice echoed in the sky, and it was so loud that it sounded like a rumble of thunder and was deafening.

Fei looked up and suddenly found that a god was standing in the sky. He wasn't sure when this deity appeared, but this god was more than 1,000 meters tall, and he was enveloped by silver holy power. He had an indescribable aura that could only belong to gods or demons, and he looked down at Fei with might. Two beams of terrifying lights shot out of his eyes, and it felt like these two light beams could cleanse all guilt and burn all evil!

Chapter 682: Sun Anomaly – [Gods' Forbidden Land] (Part Two)

It was a living deity!

Could it be that Fei was really at a place where gods lived?

"Why are you hesitating? Alexander, do you dare to question the gods?" The giant deity in the sky suddenly opened his mouth, and his loud, thunder-like voice was enough to shock someone's soul.

“Question the gods?” A mocking smile appeared on Fei’s face. “Bishop Senxi, do you think that these kinds of ridiculous tricks will work on me? You are just clowning yourself! It is useless!”

“You damn mortal! Since you are facing a god, how dare you act so recklessly?”

The god was enraged. As he shouted, thick and dark clouds appeared in the sky, and thunders cracked as lightning bolts flashed. Then, crazy winds appeared, and a massive storm followed. The anger of a god was enough to change nature and affect the environment.

“Alright, Bishop Senxi, stop playing. Do you think that I don’t know anything? This is your Sun Anomaly, and this illusion is useless against me!”

Fei suddenly shot into the air, and his golden energy flames shone brightly. He turned into a dash of light and instantly penetrated the body of that deity who was more than 1,000 meters tall.

In the next moment, this giant god who was acting all smug and arrogant started to dim down, and he slowly disappeared as if he were made from a bubble.

“Hahaha! King of Chambord, you sure surprised me. However, even if you saw through the illusion, what can you do about it? This is my world, and it is up to me to determine your fate!” Senxi’s voice sounded again from behind Fei.

Right now, Fei wasn’t in a good situation.

When he was outside, he got struck by that midget and was severely wounded. His right shoulder was cut deep, and his shoulder bone was even visible. His blood had stained half of his blue robe, and it slid down his arm and dripped from his finger.

Right now, his wound looked black; it was clear that a terrifying poison was in his body. Even though he drank a bottle of [Full Rejuvenation Potion], that mystic poison couldn’t be cleaned at all; it continued to spread into his body from that wound.

In the end, Fei had to use some of his energy to stop this poison from spreading inside his body temporarily.

If it were any other time, Fei wouldn’t be affected by this injury and poison that much.

However, when facing a powerful enemy like Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand who was as mighty as him, any small injuries that affected his combat ability would change the outcome of the battle drastically.

Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand already realized this a long time ago.

Whoosh!

He pointed at the sky, and a huge beam of white light dashed down from the sky without any warning, and it struck toward the injury on Fei's right shoulder.

The terrifying light beam looked like a judgment sword of the gods, and it dashed down with an indefensible aura.

This infinite space with a red desert in it was Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand's Sun Anomaly, [Gods' Forbidden Place]. It was another space constructed on top of the real world, and it was made from Senxi's power and understanding of the laws of nature.

In this space, he was the god! He could do anything, and his power would be limitless. He could unleash attacks that were tens of times more powerful than when they were used in the real world, and he would be invincible!

With a cold smile on his face, Fei didn't try to dodge! He clenched his right fist and punched out.

Boom! Boom! Boom!

The golden and silver energies collided.

At the place where the two dashes of energies met, a series of light rings appeared and expanded outward as if a nuclear bomb exploded. Then, the red sand grains in the desert were blown into the air, forming many tornadoes. It looked like many red pillars were formed and connected with the sky.

However, the pulse contained a powerful repulsive force, shaking Fei's body. As a result, blood gushed out of the wound on his right shoulder even more.

Chapter 683: Assassin! Assassin! (Part One)

“Hahahaha! Surrender! Since you got pulled inside my Sun Anomaly, your fate is set! You are like a piece of meat on the cutting board, and I'm the chef with the knife! All your struggles will be useless and meaningless!” Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand shouted.

As he waved his arms, dashes of thick beams of lights shot down from the sky and struck at Fei, enveloping him in this madness. It looked like the king was being pierced by many giant judgment swords.

The battles between Sun-Class Lords were very dangerous and breathtaking. Each of them had the power to destroy the land, and a casual attack from them could change the outcome of a war between ordinary soldiers.

Besides, their unique powers, which were the Sun Anomalies, represented their status and contained incredible abilities.

However, it required perfect timing and position for them to be used.

For example, when two Sun-Class Lords were close in power levels, it was tough for one person to drag the other person into his or her Sun Anomaly especially when the latter was prepared.

One could only pull someone into his or her Sun Anomaly when the latter was much weaker or severely injured. For example, Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand only pulled Fei into his Sun Anomaly after that midget severely injured the king, and he couldn't do it before.

However, once someone was sucked into a Sun Anomaly, it would be very dangerous. He or she wouldn't be able to use their own Sun Anomalies unless they defeated their opponents or shattered the Sun Anomalies that they were in.

That was because each Sun Anomaly was a world of its own, and the owner of that world could do anything in it. The battleground would heavily favor the owner since all the laws of nature were overwritten to benefit him or her, and all the laws of nature that the opponents comprehended would be rendered useless temporarily.

What was truly terrifying was that even though the person who got pulled into the Sun Anomaly would be in a disadvantage, every single bit of energy he or her used wouldn't be replenished by the elements in nature. On the other hand, the owner of the Sun Anomaly could have an unlimited supply of energy.

The reason why Fei got pulled into Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand's Sun Anomaly so easily was that he got severely injured by that midget!

After Fei was injured, he got furious and lost concentration for a split second. Even though he showed his weakness for a short time, Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand was able to utilize that mistake!

In a sense, Fei being pulled into the [Gods' Forbidden Land] was a part of Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand's careful planning!

This was the first battle that Fei fought where his opponent was also a Sun-Class Lord, and he was taught a huge lesson!

As thick silver light beams shot down from the sky, Fei had to change his positions continuously to dodge and tried to plan a counterstrike. Even though he wasn't being injured further, his situation was getting worse and worse.

In the end, he wasn't able to dodge in time, and he had to take a few of the thick silver light beams head-on. Blood gushed out of the deep wound on his right shoulder non-stop. Right now, his blue robe was almost completely soaked in blood!

As time passed, Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand who was in the sky became more and more stunned.

The power of the King of Chambord far exceeded his expectations. The king was able to last so long even though powerful light beams were shooting at him, and he didn't even look tired. A lot of his energy was probably already used, but the king wasn't getting slower or weaker.

Like a savage, the king looked brave and heroic as he continued to last in Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand's Sun Anomaly.

Such terrifying endurance!

...

Chapter 683: Assassin! Assassin! (Part Two)

-Chambord City, on the square-

Everyone just saw a flash of red flames, and a bloody-red crack appeared in the space. Then, Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand and the King of Chambord who were battling in the sky suddenly disappeared into the crack and were nowhere to be seen.

“That is..... Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand’s Sun Anomaly?” someone gasped.

The current situation heavily favored one side, and that side was Chambord.

Under the assistance of the supreme king-level demon beasts in the sky, the masters on the side of Chambord almost killed all the masters of the [Dragon Hunt Alliance]. This night was meant to be a night where blood was spilled, and many traveling poets told this story to other people who weren’t here later on.

Unless people saw this scene with their own eyes, they had a hard time believing that powerful and arrogant Moon-Class Elites were mowed down like crops under the sickle of a farmer, and their blood stained the ground and dyed the sky into the color red.

In her unique and elegant armor, Valkyrie Elena didn’t participate in the battle.

She was staring at where Fei disappeared from with her beautiful, star-like eyes, and she was a little worried. Although she had never seen so-called Sun Anomalies before, she had heard about their powers.

“Alexander, you have to come out of there alive!”

Elena prayed in her mind, but she didn’t look distracted.

Even though that midget who tried to assassinate Fei was severely injured, he wasn't killed. He was probably still hiding somewhere around the square, waiting for the next perfect opportunity.

Elena knew how powerful an assassin who was close to the realm of Sun-Class was. If that assassin wanted to, he could kill all the masters on the square one by one easily!

The Valkyrie knew that her responsibility was to make sure that the masters on the side of Chambord weren't killed or severely injured by that midget. If she could, she should find a way to kill that terrifying assassin who was hiding in the area before Fei returned.

Fortunately, that assassin was severely injured by Fei after the king was enraged.

Elena was glancing around, carefully sensing the energy fluctuations in the area. She didn't find anything strange, and she was a little reassured.

Just when she was about to relax for a bit, she suddenly detected something. Her face changed color, and she turned into a dash of light as she flew into the sky.

In the sky, Angela was still sitting on [The Throne of Chaos] which was located on Blacky's back, and she was commanding the demon beast legion to kill enemies.

She didn't sense the arrival of danger at all.

People were dying left and right on the ground, and the gushing blood formed many chilling yet beautiful death flowers.

Angela didn't feel good about this; this bloody scene made this pure girl feel sad, and this sorrow somehow intensified the pure and holy sensation coming from her.

As the nightly wind fluttered her long black hair, making it look like a black waterfall, she lightly stood up from the throne, and her gorgeous figure with the bright moon in the background created an insane image that looked like it was frozen in time.

"Angela, be careful....." The Valkyrie's angry and shocked warning came from below.

“Huh? What.....” Angela didn’t know what was happening.

At this moment, Blacky seemed to have noticed something. It roared and fluttered its huge black wings. Like a flash of lightning, it suddenly flew higher into the sky, and a cloud of terrifying orange fire shot out of its mouth and tried to fly away.

However, it seemed too late.

A midget-like figure struck the fire, flew through it quickly, and stepped onto Blacky’s gigantic back confidently.

It was the assassin who sneak-attacked Fei.

With blood dripping from his lips, his evil and vicious stare landed on Angela, and his ugly face looked twisted.

Cold lights flashed in his hands that were way too large for his body size, and his hands struck at the soft and swan-like neck of Angela.

Chapter 684: Drastic Change (Part One)

This midget suddenly appeared by Angela’s side, and the queen didn’t know any combat techniques or martial arts. In fact, the expression on her face didn’t even change in time.....

“Damn it! Stop! AHHHHH!!” Elena who was flying toward Blacky was terrified, and she had never been so anxious before. It felt like there wasn’t enough time for her to do anything to stop this.

She quickly pulled out her [M’avina’s Caster – Grand Matron Bow], and the bowstring vibrated rapidly to a degree where it was hard for human eyes to see, and many arrows flew out continuously as if they were chained to each other.

The arrows pierced through the air and left a trail of afterimages, and the energy contained in them was terrifying.....

However, the speed of the arrows was a bit slower than needed.

The dagger in that midget's hand was already too close to Angela, and the chilling light that reflected off the blade already brightened up Angela's neck...

...

-Sun Anomaly, [Gods' Forbidden Place]-

In this space where everything was red, many red lightning bolts struck down as if the gods were angry.

There was a man who was changing his position on the ground continuously, and his figure was a little blurry due to the high speed. Even though he was also fighting back, the situation wasn't in his favor.

"Hahahaha! King of Chambord, give up! As soon as you entered my Sun Anomaly, your defeat became inevitable! Even if you try to fight back, it would be a waste of your energy! Why waste both of our time?" Bishop Senxi stood in mid-air and said with a proud expression.

He was high up in the sky, and he felt like a god who was in control of everything. As he looked down at the person who was running around like a beast in a huge cage, he felt like he was watching a circus show.

Silence!

Even though that figure was dodging lightning bolts at every second, he didn't respond. In fact, he didn't even look at Senxi.

"Hahahaha! Ok! I will wait and see how long you can last without the ability to replenish your energy! Hahaha! Sun-Class Heavenly Lightning! Red-Flash Lightning Bolts!!!!"

As Bishop Senxi of Red Sand roared in the sky, he waved the [Black Reef Staff].

Instantly, the lightning bolts that were striking down from the sky increased in number and intensity.

As these lightning bolts got thicker and more powerful, even the ground got numerous cracks struck into them. The red sand grains melted and became thick red liquid under such high temperature, and the red desert was turning into a red sea!

Boom!

Finally, a bloody lightning bolt that was more than one-meter-thick struck Fei right on his head.

As if the lightning power numbed his muscles, Fei's speed reduced drastically, losing his excellent tempo and control.

Then, he was instantly struck by a few more lightning bolts and got enveloped in a sea of red lightning power.

“Hahaha! You are dead!”

This scene made Bishop Senxi of Red Sand who was in the sky relax and calm down, and his heart that was in his throat finally dropped back into his chest.

He had been scared by the trump cards that the King of Chambord revealed one after another. Therefore, even though he already pulled Fei into his Sun Anomaly, he was still not feeling confident about it; he was afraid that Fei might do something else beyond his comprehension and turn the situation around again.

When seeing this scene, he finally relaxed since he knew how terrifying these red lightning bolts were. After all, they were cast by him using the semi-god-tier combat weapon, [Black Reef Staff]; it was enough to numb an inexperienced Sun-Class Lord for more than ten seconds.

Chapter 684: Drastic Change (Part Two)

However, even though it seemed like the King of Chambord was defeated, Bishop Senxi of Red Sand didn't dare to underestimate his opponent.

Using the [Black Reef Staff], he continued to command the elements in his Sun Anomaly and struck Fei with more lightning bolts.

The lightning bolts crashed at Fei's body continuously as if the gods were punishing him, and a cloud of redness soon enveloped his body. It was hard to tell his blood and the red lightning energy apart.

Soon, a huge pit appeared, and Fei's body was deep in the bottom, nowhere to be seen.

The red lightning bolts continued to strike down.

Bishop Senxi of Red Sand only stopped his attacks after about more than ten minutes. By now, the pit in the ground already had a diameter of more than 100 meters, and it was so deep that its bottom couldn't be seen.

As streaks of black smoke rose above the pit, nothing could be sensed within the pit. There was no sound nor lights.

"Huh? No sensation at all? Could it be that the lightning bolts killed the King of Chambord?" Bishop Senxi of Red Sand thought as he landed by the pit and slowly walked over with the [Black Reef Staff] in front of him, ensuring his safety.

Then, he bent his back carefully and looked down at the bottom of the pit with his guard up.

At this moment, a golden light dot suddenly shined at the dark, abyss-like bottom of the pit, and it looked beautiful as if it was a grain of gold in a black riverbed.

However, Senxi was shocked, and he tried to back off immediately.

Unfortunately, it was too late.

A golden light beam suddenly shot out of the bottom of the pit with insane power, and it hit Senxi right in the chest.

Lucky for Senxi, he didn't lower his guard, and he had the [Black Reed Staff] in front of his chest. This semi-god-tier combat weapon had its own spirit, and it emitted a thick layer of silver holy power automatically when it detected danger, blocking this strike before Senxi had the time to react.

Even though this was the case, Senxi still got shot into the air by the force, looking like a broken punching bag.

"You... You are still not dead! How is this possible?" With blood sliding down his lips, Senxi gasped with his eyes wide open, "How? After you stayed in the [Gods' Forbidden Place] for so long, your power and energy didn't weaken at all?"

Senxi was shocked to find this as he finally landed on the ground powerlessly after flying back more than several hundred meters.

He didn't think that the King of Chambord still had this much power to fight back after getting struck by lightning bolts for so long.

As soon as he landed, Bishop Senxi of Red Sand suddenly realized that something was wrong.

After a quick pause, he looked around slowly with his stiff body as if he were the one who got struck by lightning. Then, as if he discovered the most terrifying and unbelievable thing yet, he lost his composure and screamed like a pig that was being slaughtered.

It turned out that the environment around him changed!

Bishop Senxi of Red Sand suddenly realized that he was at somewhere different! At the moment he got struck, he was no longer inside his [Gods' Forbidden Place]. Instead, he was now inside a dark and gloomy cave, and there was a ton of chilling and evil energy.

"What is going on?" Senxi was at a loss for words and didn't know what happened.

It was tough for Senxi to lose his composure since he was the bishop of a shrine in the Holy Church, and he had been through a lot of situations and knew a lot of ancient secrets.

However, this happened inside his own Sun Anomaly, and it was unheard of!

Chapter 685: Strange Cave (Part One)

It was a well-known fact that the owner of a Sun Anomaly was like a god in his or her own dimension. They could easily control everything in their Sun Anomalies, and opponents who were several times more powerful than them would be played with and defeated by them.

Unless their opponents were strong enough to shatter space and break the Sun Anomaly, the situation wouldn't be able to be turned around. In other words, Sun-Class Lords weren't able to open their Sun Anomalies in someone else's Sun Anomaly.

This was an iron law on Azeroth Continent.

However, what was happening in front of Senxi told him that something was wrong. He was inside a dark cave, and he could hear the roars of demons and monsters. In addition, the chilling air, the evil energy, and the gloomy sensation make it clear: Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand was not in the real world and not in the [Gods' Forbidden Land]. Theoretically, it seemed like he was inside someone else's Sun Anomaly. In fact, he should be inside the King of Chambord's Sun Anomaly.

Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand got stunned by this discovery; it was more shocking to him compared with if someone told him that Pope Blatter was actually an undead mage.

"The King of Chambord broke the iron law on Azeroth Continent. He used his Sun Anomaly in my Sun Anomaly..... How?" Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand thought to himself; he couldn't calm himself down at all! He was terrified!

After a moment, he forced himself to relax, and the semi-god-tier combat weapon, [Black Reef Staff], shined brightly after he injected his energy into it. The dark cave was lit up, and Senxi was finally able to see his surroundings. There were a ton of black rocks around him, and they were freezing. A rotten and bloody smell permeated the air, and Senxi didn't see where the King of Chambord was.

Suddenly, a series of slow yet clear footsteps sounded from the inner of the cave through the corridors.

Senxi was a bit nervous, and he unleashed all his holy power, trying to concentrate and be prepared for what was about to come.

Suddenly, a figure appeared in the corridor, and it seemed like this figure was having a hard time walking since he staggered and strolled. There was no sense of life on him, but there was a thick layer of evil energy surging on him. Both of his arms were raised parallel to the ground, and it looked bizarre.....

“A..... A zombie that is close to the realm of Sun-Class?”

After that figure got closer, Senxi finally saw what it was.

This figure was actually a zombie! It was almost entirely naked, and its skin was in a greenish black color. The rotten flesh stuck to its body, and its eyeballs were almost going to drop out of its eye frames.

To his surprise, this figure wasn't the King of Chambord at all.

“Such an evil existence! The gods won't allow the existence of such beings! Melt under the light of the holy power!”

The holy power of the Holy Church was a great counter to undead creatures, and Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand was a master at it. As soon as he waved his hand, a dash of white flame shot out and enveloped this zombie. Then, a gush of stinky odor permeated the air. Without having the ability to defend itself, this zombie got turned into a pool of thick yellow liquid that smelled bad.

“What is going on? Is this not the King of Chambord's Sun Anomaly?” Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand was a little confused.

After destroying this zombie, he was more confused than ever. According to his understanding of the King of Chambord's power, this young king just advanced into the Sun-Class Realm.

In fact, he believed that the King of Chambord was a bit weaker than him, probably at level 4 or level 5 low-tier Morning Sun Realm.

According to the power of Sun-Class Lords in this realm, even if they were able to construct their Sun Anomalies, they couldn't create a space that was this real-life-like! After all, there was even a zombie that was almost on the level of Sun-Class in this cave, and it could be counted as a form of life.

In theory, only Sun-Class Lords in the realm of Burning Sun could create living beings in their Sun Anomalies!

What took place confused and puzzled Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand.

Chapter 685: Strange Cave (Part Two)

After observing his surrounding a little, he figured out that there was no way back. To figure out what was going on, Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand forced himself to calm down. Then, he pulled up his courage and continued forward into the cave.

The deeper he got, the chillier it was, and more evil energies were around him.

Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand was shocked, and he couldn't think of a place on Azeroth Continent that had this much evil sensation. He had read many documents in the Holy Church, and he was familiar with a lot of secret locations and mysterious events.

After more careful observations, he suddenly felt like the evil sensation around him was similar to the hell energy which could even terrify the gods in legends!

"Damn those gods!"

A series of muffled and unclear roars sounded from the darkness in front of him.

Suddenly, several red monsters that looked like they were skinned charged out of the darkness viciously. They were holding orange torches in one hand and knives in the other, and they were all close to the realm of Sun-Class.

"What are these?" Senxi was stunned, and he quickly waved his [Black Reef Staff] and unleashed his holy power, emitting dashes of silver holy energy blades.

The corridor was instantly lit up, and the light sword destroyed these monsters. Out of the six monsters, four were killed, and their blood stained the ground. As the stinky smell of their blood dispersed into the air, the other two monsters turned around and escaped while screaming.

“Close to the power of Sun-Class Lords, but very timid. They are red, holding torches and knives.....”

Senxi suddenly thought back to a document he read at the library of the Holy Church, and he instantly remembered the description of a legendary monster. He thought to himself in fear, “Could it be that I’m really at the terrifying Hell? Why are there so many monsters around here?”

Now, he didn’t believe that this was the King of Chambord’s Sun Anomaly.

With the King of Chambord’s strength, it was impossible for him to build such a real world! In addition, there were many monsters in this world, and they were all close to the realm of Sun-Class. Even peak Burning Sun Lords couldn’t do it! It was on the level of gods!

“Someone who just advanced into Sun-Class can’t do this!” Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand thought to himself.

Just as Senxi was about to get close to the corpses of these monsters to observe them, clouds of orange flames suddenly appeared on them!

Buzz!

Suddenly, these dead monsters got revived, and they didn’t look any weaker! Still with the strength close to Sun-Class, they jumped up and looked like they didn’t die a moment ago.

Now, Senxi was terrified!

He waved the [Black Reef Staff] like a madman, and he backed off continuously. The silver holy power lighted the entire corridor, and these monsters whined and got burned into liquid, soon dying again.

However, after less than a minute, orange flames appeared again, and the red monsters got revived again even though their corpses got destroyed!

Senxi had to use his ultimate strikes to kill them again.

After several repeats, Senxi exhaled deeply and finally figured out what was going on.

Far away in the darkness, there was a monster that looked like an evil mage. It was wearing a cloak made of straws and a white bone crown and holding a white bone wand. It was the one that was using spells to revive these little red monsters.

This evil mage's power was actually around level 1 low-tier Morning Sun!

Fortunately, Senxi was a lot stronger than this evil mage, and he had a semi-god-tier combat weapon. He quickly killed this evil mage.

Just as he expected, after he killed that evil mage, the little red monsters couldn't revive anymore.

Right now, Senxi was already scared after thinking back to the recordings in that document. However, there was no other way except going forward.

After a moment of hesitation, he gritted his teeth and continued forward.

He encountered several herds of monsters on the way, but he quickly killed them and was safe.

However, Senxi had an ominous feeling about all this. He felt like a pair of eyes were hiding in the dark and observing him as he fought the evil monsters. It felt like he was a mouse, and a cat was teasing him.

Chapter 686: The King of Chambord's Sun Anomaly (Part One)

After Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand walked through several maze-like corridors and killed more than 20 monsters, he arrived at a more spacious hall.

There were five to six zombies here, slowly wandering around.

Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand stared at the zombie that had a unique green skin, and his pupil contracted.

This green zombie was much stronger than its peers, and it was around the realm of level 7 or 8 low-tier Morning Sun. Senxi sensed danger from it.

If Senxi didn't have [Black Reef Staff] which was a semi-god-tier weapon, even though he could defeat it, it would take him a lot of time and energy.

Concerned, he used [Black Reef Staff] to full force and killed this green monster after 20 minutes of hard battle.

As soon as the green zombie died, dashes of light shined down from the ceiling of the cave, getting rid of the darkness. At the same time, the evil energies that were in here were also shattered and destroyed.

"This....." Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand relaxed a little.

"Since lights appeared, it seems like things are moving in the right direction. Maybe an exit out of this evil cave will appear soon," he thought as he exhaled.

As he was looking around, he suddenly saw something and froze.

He wasn't sure when, but there was someone in front of him dressed in a set of mystical and majestic armor.

This figure was tall, and his long black hair fluttered like the waterfall. While he was standing straight, his back was facing Senxi.

To Senxi, this figure looked familiar. The black armor looked ancient yet barbaric. While it had a violent and murderous presence, a mysterious and supreme king-like aura enveloped it.

...

-In the sky-

“Hahahaha! King of Chambord! You dared to injure me severely, so I will f*cking kill your woman! This is payback!” That midget-sized assassin sneered as murderous spirits shot out of his eyes.

Even though he knew that this woman named Angela was an important chess piece that the Holy Church wanted, and she was desired by both the Shiye Shrine and Bishop Platini of the Northern Regional Church, he was injured by the King of Chambord and in a state of frenzy. He ignored all the consequences and wanted to take revenge to vent his anger.

The dagger in his hand shone brightly, and the blade was already very close to the smooth neck of the woman in front of him.

This midget-sized assassin felt like he already smelled blood!

Killing! Especially the killing of a beautiful woman such as the one in front of him would bring him extreme pleasure.

Whoosh! Whoosh! Whoosh! Whoosh!

Sharp air-piercing noises suddenly sounded behind him.

This midget-sized assassin's expression changed, but he wasn't too worried. He adjusted his positions slightly, and some parts of his body bulged and concaved strangely. In the end, he easily dodged all of Elena's arrows by paying the price of getting his clothes torn.

Even though this happened, his strangely huge hand didn't move away from its track. The cold dagger was still slashing at Angela's neck.

At this moment, warriors on the side of Chambord felt like time froze. The hearts of people like Elena and Lampard who were either on the ground or in mid-air stopped pumping for a second, and Blacky couldn't get away from this enemy even though it roared and fluttered its wings quickly since this midget-sized assassin already got onto its back. Other demon beasts such as the dragons wanted to help as well, but it was too late.

Chapter 686: The King of Chambord's Sun Anomaly (Part Two)

“NO!!!!!!” All the people on the side of Chambord screamed and roared.

“Hahaha!” The midget-sized assassin laughed viciously.

All of this happened in a split second.

Just as people started to get desperate, something mystical happened.

A dash of bright silver energy wave suddenly appeared in the sky, and it expanded outward with a power that was indefensible; it felt like the gods were angry. As it expanded, the entire Chambord City was lit up as if it were daytime.

That midget-sized assassin screamed as if he saw the most terrifying thing in the world, and the great power struck his body. As a series of crackling noises sounded, blood gushed out of his body, and he was injured even more. He lost the ability of staying in mid-air, and he fell from the sky powerlessly.

“Great opportunity! Kill him!”

Valkyrie Elena shouted as her long red hair fluttered in the wind like a cloud of dancing flame, and the bowstring of the [Grand Matron Bow] vibrated quickly, shooting out arrows rapidly and instantly turning the defenseless midget-sized assassin into a huge hedgehog.

“AHHHHHH... No!” The vitality of this midget-sized assassin was insane! Even in this situation, he was still alive, and he tried and struggled to get into the air and achieve stealth.

“Roar!!!!!!” The angry cries of the demon beasts suddenly sounded around him.

With his last bit of consciousness, this midget-sized assassin saw huge shadows flying toward him.

The sharp teeth and claws pierced into his body, and a smelly blood rain instantly fell from the sky. His body was split apart by the angry demon beasts, and they devoured his flesh!

His existence was completely wiped out!

Until his death, he still didn't know what happened!

"When my dagger was about to touch that woman's neck and cut through her throat, the silver throne that she is sitting on suddenly emitted a powerful and unbelievable energy as if it had a life of its own and got angry! It blocked all my attacks, and it released a powerful energy that destroyed my body and my life energy....." This was the last thing on this midget-sized assassin's mind.

"Angela, are you ok?" Elena finally flew to Blacky, and she got onto its back and asked Angela anxiously, afraid to see Angela bleeding or injured.

...

"King of Chambord, it is... actually you?"

It wasn't hard for Senxi to identify this figure in front of him since Fei's image was too vivid in his mind.

"Hahaha! Of course, it is me!" Fei laughed as he turned around.

Even though the [Immortal King] item set wasn't complete yet, the items he had were already showing the aura of the Immortal King, Bul-Kathos. That demonic and barbaric aura corresponded and merged with the barbarian bloodline in Fei's body, making the king look like the reincarnation of Bul-Kathos. It felt like he could ignore all masters in the world since he was so powerful.

"Humph! Your show is useless! Do you think you can defeat me using those weak and powerless monsters? Childish! Tell me, where is this place?!" Senxi asked as he unleashed his holy power and activated [Black Reef Staff]. He was getting more confident since he saw Fei and had the semi-god-tier weapon in his hand. He wasn't afraid of direct confrontation.

"Hahaha! You have been here for a while; do you still not understand? This is my Sun Anomaly!" Fei looked at Senxi with a playful smile on his face. "Check to see how much of your energy is still left."

Chapter 687: Power of the Stone Crusher (Part One)

As soon as Fei finished speaking, Bishop Senxi of Red Sand's expression changed.

He tried to sense the amount of holy power in his body subconsciously, and he was instantly shocked as his face turned pale.

After fighting with those monsters using his semi-god-tier combat weapon, [Black Reef Staff], he had less than two-thirds of his holy power left in his body.

What was even worse was that he couldn't even replenish his holy power! When he tried to absorb the holy elements in the air, those elements didn't respond at all!

This phenomenon could only be explained by the fact that he was inside someone else's Sun Anomaly!

"This is indeed the King of Chambord's Sun Anomaly," Bishop Senxi of Red Sand finally realized this.

However, the power and strangeness of this Sun Anomaly were beyond his most pessimistic estimation. In his world, only the legendary peak Burning Sun Lords could comprehend all the laws of nature and create such real Sun Anomalies with living beings in them...

With strength like this, the powerful masters were able to stay above the laws of nature and act like gods!

"Could it be that the King of Chambord had been hiding strength all this time?" Bishop Senxi of Red Sand was shocked even though he tried to act calm. As he unleashed his holy power and grasped onto the [Black Reef Staff], he raised his guard and started to think about how he could get away.

Since he knew he couldn't defeat the King of Chambord, he no longer wanted to fight, and all that he could think of was to get away.

"What is this Sun Anomaly? Since it is so evil, you must have become an undead mage! I advise you to let me go! If you do that, I will ignore what happened, and I won't tell others about it. In terms of Queen Angela, the Holy Church will also stop intervening," Senxi said powerlessly with his lips twitching.

Admitting defeat toward Fei was a massive shame for him.

However, the current situation wasn't in his favor, and he was in real danger. Therefore, he had to drop the dignity as the bishop of a shrine and beg for peace.

After a short pause, he added, "I'm the bishop of one of the five shrines in the Northern Regional Church, and I'm of prestige status. If you kill me, the Holy Church will get mad for sure. King of Chambord, even though you are powerful, you couldn't bear the consequences. By then, wars will be waged against Chambord, and blood will create lakes. I'm sure that is not your end goal, right, Your Majesty?"

Fei started laughing.

He was sharp; how could he not tell that Senxi was in no mood to battle?

"Since you started all this, how do you feel asking for forgiveness? I won't let you go. However, since you are admitting defeat, I will give you one opportunity. Since battles are still going on in the outside world, let's determine this battle with one strike! If you are still alive after we each use a strike, then I will let you leave my Sun Anomaly, the [Den of Evil]. Otherwise, it would be the decision of the gods to let you die here!"

As soon as Fei said that, he waved his hand, and a huge war hammer that looked like the weapon of a giant appeared in his hand. The hammer had a terrifying aura around it as if it was an ancient beast, and its body was in a dark-red color; no one knew how much blood it had drunk from powerful masters.

The patterns on it were complicated, and people would feel like this hammer could suck away and crush their souls.

This was [Immortal King's Stone Crusher].

Senxi's pupils instantly contracted. With his abilities, he could tell how unique and impressive this war hammer was.

With this hammer in hand, the young king's aura grew by several times, and the shocking pressure coming off him made Senxi a little breathless. Just the wind created by Fei's aura was suffocating him.

Chapter 687: Power of the Stone Crusher (Part Two)

Since Senxi knew that he couldn't get away from this battle, he unleashed the full power of the [Black Reef Staff] and roared, "Alright! I will take on your strike! I hope you would keep your words after that!"

With the semi-god-tier combat weapon in his hands, Senxi was confident that he could take this hammer strike from Fei.

"As a king, I never go back on my words! Stop the talking and take this!" Fei shouted back as he unleashed the full power of the Hell Mode Barbarian.

In a split second, he dashed in front of Senxi as if he teleported, and the hammer crashed down at Senxi with Fei's both hands on the handle.

Under a vast and indescribable power, Fei and the [Immortal King's Stone Crusher] became one.

As golden, holy energy flames enveloped them, the head of the hammer drew an arc in the air. Vaguely, a golden dragon was formed three meters around the hammer, and this dragon opened its mouth and roared, intensifying the pressure that was coming off Fei.

This strike was one of the most powerful skill of Barbarian, [Leap Attack]! After defeating Ancient Korlic in Nightmare Mode, he earned the inheritance of the skill, and his skill leveled up even more.

The power of the [Leap Attack] that was being cast using the [Immortal King's Stone Crusher] as well as the strength of a Hell Mode Barbarian was beyond imagining.

Senxi was shocked!

He clearly saw the space between the King of Chambord and him getting folded like a black piece of wrinkly paper under the power of this strike. Just like a wrinkly paper, space could be torn apart at any time!

When facing this strike, Senxi felt like doomsday was coming!

“The gods in heaven, please protect your most loyal servant..... King of Gods’ Shield! Holy Shield! Brilliance Shield! Cleanse Shield! Protection of the Gods!!!!”

As Senxi’s long white hair fluttered crazily in the air, and his white robe made a series of slapping noises, he put all of his holy power into the [Black Reef Staff] which looked like an ugly burned stick; he knew that this one strike was going to determine his fate!

Instantly, holy silver statues of gods appeared by his side one after another, and the [Black Reef Wand] flew out of his hand and shone brightly. Its ugly burned-like look was changing as if it was reborn, and the black outer shell fell off, revealing its final form.

It was a silver, crystalized staff that was about 1.5 meters long and had a thickness of an infant’s arm. All kinds of pictures of mythical legends of the Holy Church were engraved on it, and many silver runes flowed around the staff like small dragons. The top of the staff was the 20-centimeter-tall statue of an unknown god, and this god was wearing a godly robe, holding a staff of its own, and had its eyes wide open, looking inviolable.

Then, layers of silver energy spheres appeared in front of Bishop Senxi of Red Sand one after another as if they were huge holy shields.

They were the five most powerful defensive techniques of the Holy Church, King of Gods’ Shield, Holy Shield, Brilliant Shield, Cleansing Shield, and Protection of the Gods.

In the blink of an eye, the hammer smashed onto these shields forcefully.

Crack! Crack! Crack!!! A series of crackling noises sounded.

Under the attack of the huge hammer, those most powerful defensive techniques of the Holy Church cracked one after another as if they were made from glass.

King of Gods’ Shield, cracked open!

Holy Shield, cracked open!

Brilliant Shield, cracked open!

Cleansing Shield, cracked open!

Protection of the Gods, cracked open!

In just a few seconds, all five shields were shattered.

Senxi was terrified, and he could only raise the [Black Reef Staff], which was in its second form, to block that hammer strike! It felt like that hammer contained the power of the Grim Reaper!

Bam!!!!!!

An indefensible power was unleashed onto the [Black Reef Staff], and it was passed into Senxi's body next.

Puff! As Senxi spat out a mouthful of blood, the bones in his arms were all shattered into dust, and the [Black Reef Staff] flew out of his hand.

Then, his body flew back like a straw in crazy wind and smashed onto the wall of the cave.

Crack! Crack! Crack! More bone-crackling noises sounded.

Chapter 688: Endless Sun Anomalies (Part One)

Everything in the cave went back to normal and quieted down.

Blood was being spilled, and it dyed part of the wall. As it slid down the wall following the texture of the natural stones, both the wall and the ground were stained.

Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand slowly slid down the wall powerlessly, and his body left a horrifying blood trail on the wall.

That strike from Fei almost destroyed all the bones in his body, and cracks even formed on his skin. He wasn't in a good situation. Also, there was now a deep human-shape dent on the wall, and it was shocking.

However, the vitality of a Sun-Class Lord was impressive.

Even though he was this injured, Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand didn't die right away. He still had his consciousness, and he looked tired yet also relaxed. Since he didn't die after taking that strike from the King of Chambord, he was going to live on. Although the injury was severe, the holy power of the Holy Church was one of the energies that were best at healing. As long as he didn't die, he would survive.

"Puff..... Eh! King of Chambord... this war hammer... your power... Damn, you win!"

Even though Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand looked unwilling, he gritted his teeth and officially admitted defeat.

The bones in his body were all broken, and his holy power was depleted. Right now, he was lying on the ground like a dying animal. As he tried his best to glance around the cave one more time, he asked weakly, "Losing to a talented genius like you isn't shameful, but I have a question that I hope Your Majesty could answer."

Fei put away the [Immortal King's Stone Crusher] and looked at Senxi.

"Go on," he said and nodded.

"What is... your Sun Anomaly? How is there living beings in here? And how are they almost as powerful as us? In addition, you even used your Sun Anomaly within my [Gods' Forbidden Land] ... How did you do all this?" Perhaps it was because he wanted to know the answers badly, Senxi somehow managed to sit up, and his pale face turned a little red.

Fei sneered and said slowly, "My Sun Anomaly is called the [Den of Evil], and I don't know why there are creatures in here. After I advanced into Sun-Class, this is the first time that I used it. That is that. I thought everyone's Sun Anomaly is like this. In terms of your last question. Hahaha! Do you think I will tell you that? These kinds of secret techniques are concealed everywhere!"

Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand was a little stunned. Even though he looked embarrassed and angry, he couldn't do anything.

In fact, he was quite confused and not sure what to do.

“The King of Chambord broke several iron laws of cultivation on Azeroth Continent repeatedly. Could it be that he is really a genius among geniuses? Or is he the reincarnation of a god? Both Bishop Platini and I have underestimated him. With such a talented bishop, Black-Cloth Shrine has high hope of restoring its former glory!” he thought to himself.

However, there was no way that he knew Fei's power came from Diablo World, and he also didn't realize that Fei didn't tell the truth.

Fei's Sun Anomaly was the [Den of Evil], one of the locations on the [Blood Moor] at the first map in Diablo World, [The Rogue Encampment].

After Fei received the first quest in Hell Mode and killed all the monsters in the [Den of Evil], that cold and mysterious voice, which hadn't appeared in a long time, sounded by Fei's ears and rewarded this cave to Fei as a virtue space.

In a sense, Fei could summon the [Den of Evil] when he was in a battle in the real world, and it will be his battlefield. It was very similar to the Sun Anomalies of other Sun-Class Lords, and Fei could control everything in here.

In the [Den of Evil], Fei could replenish all his power at will, and his opponents' depleted energy wouldn't be able to recover at this place. In fact, Fei could even use a [Town Portal Scroll] to go back to [The Rogue Encampment] and stock up on potions and change items.

What was more surprising was that his opponents were like bosses in Diablo World. If they were killed in here, the items they had on them could be dropped.

Chapter 688: Endless Sun Anomalies (Part Two)

Didn't matter who it was, unless they reached peak Burning Sun Realm, they would be locked in the [Den of Evil] forever. They could only battle with the monsters that would be reborn, and they couldn't leave here with portals if Fei didn't allow them.

The [Den of Evil] was similar to Sun Anomalies but more powerful.

Since Fei's power came from Diablo World, he was on a different path of cultivation compared with the masters in the real world. Although he couldn't use laws of nature to construct his own Sun Anomalies, he could summon the [Den of Evil] and break the iron laws. For example, he summoned the [Den of Evil] in Senxi's Sun Anomaly, [God's Forbidden Land], and turned the situation around quickly.

Anyone else who was on par with Senxi in terms of power would die for sure inside the [God's Forbidden Land].

There were reasons why Fei didn't use his trump cards right after he was sucked into the [Gods' Forbidden Land]. He only tried to dodge and even let the red lightning bolts that contained holy power hit him for a few times, and that was because he wanted to use Senxi's power to completely melt and dissolve the last bit of golden energy in his body that came from the Ancients in Nightmare Mode. In addition, the poison that midget-sized assassin left in his body was quite deadly, and Fei didn't have any of the [Antidote Potion] from Diablo World. Therefore, he also borrowed the power of the lightning to break down and dissolve the poison.

The battle was over.

However, Fei knew that he couldn't kill this man in front of him yet.

With Fei's current power and status, it was ok for him to kill a few Moon-Class Elites of the Holy Church. However, killing the bishop of one of the five prominent shrines in the Northern Regional Church was going to be a huge offense. Fei hadn't been canonized by Bishop Platini yet and wasn't the official bishop of the Black-Cloth Shrine. If he killed Senxi right now, Chambord would be in a lot of trouble.

Fei waved his hand and pulled that [Black Reef Staff], which was on the ground further away, into his hand.

Without the support of a vast amount of holy power, this semi-god-tier combat weapon returned to its original form. It was curly and full of bumps, looking like a rough wooden stick used to stir campfires.

When it landed in Fei's hand, this staff seemed to have its own mind and tried to struggle non-stop.

With a cold sneer, Fei rubbed it with his finger. A powerful force wiped by and took out that rebellious intelligence in the staff.

With a sad whine, the [Black Reef Staff] calmed down.

“This semi-god-tier combat weapon will be kept at the Black-Cloth Shrine for now. The Red-Sand Shrine no longer has the qualification to have such an item. When your Red-Sand Shrine gets a new brave and intelligent bishop, who abides by the [Code of God] and no longer behaves like the lapdog of the Shiye Shrine, he can come to Five Sword Sky Mountain to get back this semi-god-tier combat weapon!”

After saying that, Fei put the [Black Reef Staff] into his own storage space.

Bishop Senxi instantly opened his mouth and spat out another mouthful of blood as his expression changed. Fei damaged his spirit energy again by wiping out the portion of his spirit energy that was in the staff, but he didn't cuss or fight back. He knew that it was useless for now, and he could only try to come up with another plan after recovery.

“Can I get other locations in Diablo World as my Sun Anomalies? After all, the [Den of Evil] is a bit small. Places like the [Arcane Sanctuary], [River of Flames], [Arreat Summit], [Worldstone Keep], and [Throne of Destruction] are much grander and more mysterious. It would be great if I get those places in the future!” Fei drooled as he thought about that.

Then, he waved his hand and stopped the summoning, and the endless black cave around him quickly disappeared bit by bit as if it were an illusion.

As the nightly breeze blew by, Fei and Senxi re-appeared in the sky above Chambord City.

Severely injured, Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand couldn't stay in the air anymore. He fell from the sky and screamed.

If he landed on the ground in his current condition, he probably would be smashed into pieces.

Right now, the battles on the square already ended.

The winners were all looking up at the sky and waiting anxiously.

At this moment, a gust of wind appeared, and a figure dashed by and caught Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand.

Chapter 689: The Kingdom on The Rise (Part One)

This person was in a black cloak, and he was quite muscular.

Right now, blood was flowing down his lips, and there was a hole in his waist. This hole was about the circumference of an arm, and one could see through it; it was terrifying.

Ordinary people would have died from such a severe injury, but this man was still mobile and could stay in the sky.

He was Lemorz, one of the two elders of the Shiye Shrine who came here.

He dashed by and caught Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand who was falling, and he quickly backed off.

Then, another figure dashed over and stood with Lemorz.

This person was also in rough shape. His black cloak was nowhere to be seen, and he was wearing a robe that he found from somewhere. This new robe was too small for him, and a portion of his lower legs was exposed. As he stayed in the sky, blood flowed out of his mouth and nose, and he looked furious. He was the other elder of Shiye, Dior.

Fei was a little surprised to see them, but he calmed down after seeing how terrible of a condition that they were in.

From the looks of it, it seemed like they weren't victorious against Right Deacon of Black-Cloth, Batistuta, and the Undead Mage.

Fei glanced around and saw those two Sun-Class Lords standing on the ground with the crowd. Batistuta used up a lot of his holy power, but he didn't have many injuries on his body. On the other hand, Hazel Bank stood there as if nothing happened. From his aura and look, it seemed like he wasn't in a battle.

The two of them won.

The battles also indirectly compared the two Sun-Class Lords who were under the command of King Alexander. Dior and Lemorz were on the same level, but Hazel Bank didn't use all his power to win compared with Batistuta who used a lot of effort. It was clear who was more powerful.

...

...

The battles on Tiananmen Square ended about four minutes after that midget-sized assassin died to the demon beasts.

Seeing that Angela almost died under the assassination, Valkyrie Elena who was furious stood on Blacky and poured her anger onto the masters of the [Dragon Hunt Alliance].

Her bowstring vibrated quickly, and the arrows were shot down like raindrops. The arrows were lethal, and they tore through the darkness and hit all the Moon-Class Elites who were still trying to fight back. The arrows dashed down like meteors that dragged longtails, and they nailed the masters onto the ground, freezing their limbs with the ice magic energy. Even though these masters wanted to fight back, they were no match.

The anger of the Valkyrie was shocking. She was only one step away from Sun-Class, and her strength was completely revealed.

Seeing this, those envoys and guests from other kingdoms and empires were stunned, and they shivered subconsciously. Even though they weren't a part of the [Dragon Hunt Alliance], they were still a little fearful of such great power.

Looking up at the beautiful and invincible Valkyrie who was in a set of fancy armor and those vicious supreme king-level demon beasts that arranged themselves in a formation under the command of Angela who was in her long white dress, the outsiders were shocked to their cores.

The stunning visual images, as well as the powerful and wild auras, made them feel like they were dreaming.

“The two beautiful Queens of Chambord aren’t less powerful than the King of Chambord! From now on, who else could rival them within 500,000 kilometers of Chambord?” they thought, “From now on, those three can go anywhere on the continent!”

[Sky Covering Fist] King of Chambord! [Red and White Beauties] Queens of Chambord!

All the guests were thinking, “We have to take this opportunity to strengthen our friendship with Chambord! Their momentum is too strong! No one can press them down now!”

Chapter 689: The Kingdom on The Rise (Part Two)

At this moment, a series of roars sounded in the sky, as loud as thunder.

Two figures smashed down from the high sky like two meteors; they were the two elders of the Shiye Shrine. One of them was severely injured while the other almost got cut in half from the waist, and his black cloak was destroyed. They were being chased by two figures enveloped in white and black energy flames.

When the two figures in the white and black energy flames got closer, people on the square saw that they were the two Sun-Class Elites who were summoned by the King of Chambord.

The situation was clear; the two elders of Shiye lost.

Batistuta and Hazel Bank were notified by Fei ahead of time, so they didn’t kill their opponents. After coming down from the high sky, they hovered in mid-air and had their guards up, protecting the people on the ground. The two elders of Shiye couldn’t do anything but swallow their shame and try their best to heal up in the sky using holy power.

While they were doing that, they glanced at the ground and got furious and shocked when they saw that the rest of [Dragon Hunt Alliance] lost as well.

Now, everyone was waiting for the outcome of the battle between the King of Chambord and Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand.

People in the [Dragon Hunt Alliance] and the two elders of Shiye all placed their hopes on Senxi. After all, Bishop Senxi of Red-Sand was an experienced Sun-Class Lord, and he had the [Black Reef Staff], which was a semi-god-tier combat weapon. If he defeated the King of Chambord, the situation still could be turned around.

The result came in less than 10 minutes.

A series of crackling noises sounded, and blood started to drip down from space. Then, two figures appeared, and one of them screamed and fell from the sky. Dior got a clear look, and he saw that this man was Senxi. It was evident that the King of Chambord crushed him since he couldn't even stay in the air.

After saving Senxi, the two elders of Shiye looked at each other in shock. They could tell that Senxi was even more severely injured than them, but the King of Chambord was unharmed.

Suddenly, the people on the side of Chambord such as the masters, students, and soldiers finally realized what happened, and they couldn't hold back their excitement and cheered loudly; it sounded like there was a tsunami, and the cheers overpowered all other noises in nature!

Looking at the invincible figure who was tall, handsome, and had long black hair, all the Chambordians felt like their blood was boiling and their souls were igniting.

If it weren't for King Alexander, the ending tonight would have been drastically different.

If this happened to some big empires, those emperors would have had to endure the shame and hand over their queens to the Holy Church, becoming the laughingstock of the continent and adding more perceived power to the Holy Church.

Except for Chambord, who else dared to resist the Holy Church?

Pride, excitement, elation... cheers, roars, howls...

All the sound waves added together were deafening.

At this moment, Tiananmen Square seemed like an erupting volcano, and Chambord was like a sleeping dragon that woke up and roared, shaking the entire continent.

“King of Chambord! You are so cruel! How dare you injure Bishop Senxi to this degree? Just wait! You will be punished!” Lemorz shouted in shame, “You will pay for this! The Shiye Shrine and Bishop Platini won’t forgive you!”

“Don’t think that you won just by getting a little advantage. I won’t let go of any Chambordians!” Dior also threatened viciously.

“Get the fck out of here!” Murderous spirit shot out of Fei’s eyes, and he sneered, “You are just two idiotic old dogs! You are probably out of your minds after staying in your palaces for so long. Not everyone is afraid of the Shiye Shrine, and don’t think that I won’t kill you! Fck off!”

As soon as Fei said that, loud noises struck the elders of Shiye, and Fei’s two golden fist marks that flew out also forced them back for hundreds of meters. A vague image of a barbarian king that was more than 100 meters tall appeared behind Fei, and the barbaric sensation and the murderous spirit terrified the two elders of Shiye. They finally realized that the person whom they were facing was extraordinary.

Then, the three masters of the Holy Church screamed and dashed away quickly and didn’t dare to turn back even though Fei’s laughter resonated in the sky.

Chapter 690: Dealing with Prisoners (Part One)

Seeing those three masters of the Holy Church running away in despair and fear, a ferocious expression flashed on Fei’s face. However, he smiled and didn’t chase.

“Much thanks to you two!” Fei slowly landed on the ground, and he instantly expressed his gratitude toward Batistuta and Hazel Bank.

If it weren’t for these two Sun-Class Lords who stopped the two elders of the Shiye Shrine, it would have been hard for Chambord to turn the situation around.

“It is my honor to serve you, Your Majesty!” Hazel Bank nodded. He didn’t appear much in Chambord City, and Fei didn’t officially introduce him to the officials and warriors of Chambord. Therefore, most people didn’t know him, and they observed him with curiosity.

The Undead Mage didn't say much more. He turned into a dash of black light and disappeared into the back mountains of Chambord.

Seeing how calm the Undead Mage was, Fei also relaxed further. From the look of things, even though his opponent was one of the powerful elders of the Shiye Shrine, Hazel Bank still defeated his opponent without revealing his identity as an undead mage.

Summoning Hazel Bank to battle was a risk that Fei had to take.

Even though the Black-Cloth Shrine still had some accumulations, and Left Deacon Lexberg was also a Sun-Class Lord in addition to Batistuta, he wasn't able to arrive at Chambord City in time. Therefore, Hazel Bank had to take his spot in battle.

"Hahaha! Tonight's battle was thrilling! Seeing those three lapdogs of Platini running away with tails between their legs, it sure vented the frustration that accumulated on my mind for these years! Hahaha!" Batistuta laughed. For all these years, the Black-Cloth Shrine had been pressured by other shrines all the time, and it had never fought back in this direct manner.

He added, "Your Majesty, since the situation here is done, I will go back to supervising the construction of the shrine!"

After he said that, he turned into a dash of white light and also disappeared into the direction of the Five Sword Sky Mountain.

After the two Sun-Class Lords left, the people on the square of Chambord finally felt like the mountains on their minds were lifted, and they could finally breathe normally again.

Even though Hazel Bank and Batistuta weren't trying to unleash their auras, their sensations that they had around them were too much for other people to take. After all, the power ladder on the Azeroth Continent was strict, and the weaker warriors couldn't do anything but feel pressured

"Alexander!" Seeing Fei's safe return, Angela and Elena ran over and stood by his sides anxiously yet joyously.

Right now, the two queens no longer looked threatening and powerful! They were gentle and gorgeous, making people in the area surprised over their change of appearance. All the guests were now almost drooling over Fei's luck and fortune.

Angela dismissed the Demon Beast Legion, and Blacky and the three dragons led the supreme king-level demon beasts back into the vast and limitless forests and mountains behind Chambord City.

Even though Tiananmen Square was in a mess, it didn't affect the Chambordians' joy and happiness.

"Greeting! Your Majesty and Your Highnesses!"

The masters of Chambord quickly kneeled and cheered.

Then, except for those members of the [Dragon Hunt Alliance] as well as the envoy group of Zenit that was led by Second Prince Dominguez, all other guests and envoys kneeled and cheered, "Hail the King!"

After witnessing this huge battle, almost all of them were terrified.

Chapter 690: Dealing with Prisoners (Part Two)

Although a lot of people were unwilling to admit, they knew that Chambord was on the rise, and no one could stop them.

Everyone already started the countdown! In their minds, Chambord was going to become an empire for sure! With such terrifying strength, a little Zenit Empire was no longer able to manage and command such an affiliated kingdom. Many people believed that if the King of Chambord wanted, he could overthrow the Zenit Empire and become the new emperor!

In the crowd, Second Prince Dominguez slightly squinted his eyes, and no one knew what he was thinking about.

Beside him, [Demonic Woman] Paris was a little emotional.

About a year ago, the King of Chambord was still a little king who was insignificant. In order to survive through the chaos, he had to pretend to be dead on the peak of the east mountain during his own canonization ceremony. It allowed him to fool both the Elder Princess and her, giving him a sad victory.

But now, the King of Chambord became a giant who overshadowed almost everyone at Zenit. His thoughts could drastically change the fate of many empires and masters.

[Red Beard] Granello tried his best not to look shocked, but he had already lost the ability to speak momentarily.

About half a year ago, the King of Chambord could only be considered as a talented king of the new generation. On the night that the Blood-Edge Mercenary Group got taken out, Granello represented Second Prince Dominguez and met with the people of Chambord. When he saw the King of Chambord that night, even though Fei was a bit overbearing, he couldn't rival with the princes and the empire. Now...

Granello started to think about one question. "If a conflict breaks out between the Chambord Kingdom and the Zenit Empire, who is more likely to win?"

The answer left him in a more profound shock.

...

The Chambordians sure were fast and efficient.

In less than half an hour, Tiananmen Square that was ruined by all the battles got quickly restored. All the deep pits and holes were filled and smoothed out by the Worker Legion, and the blood and flesh on the ground were quickly cleaned.

The magic lanterns were lit up again, shining light on the square that was under the night sky.

The envoys and guests from various forces sat back down on their seats, and the bylaw enforcement officers brought the captives to the northern side of the square. The captives were the Moon-Class Elites of the [Dragon Hunt Alliance] who survived through the big battle.

Cygnus Saint Ed Hazard single-kneeled and looked up at the king with crazy admiration in his eyes.

“My Lord, what should we do with these captives?” he asked for further instructions.

Fei glanced at these masters.

There were around 30 Moon-Class Elites on the side of [Dragon Hunt Alliance], but fewer than 15 of them were still alive. Their masks and cloaks were all taken off, revealing their faces. Fei didn't know most of them, but he was sure that they were masters from the various powerful empires in the region.

Among them, Disov and two other people who were in church-style robes were most eye-catching.

“Alexander, you should let us go! Humph! Bishop Platini wouldn't let this go easily!” Sensing Fei's stares, Disov didn't know his place and threatened.

“King of Chambord, Chambord can't bear the consequences of killing masters of the Holy Church!” Rakanic said with a cold grin on his face as well. Just like his two peers, he didn't think that the Chambordians dared to do anything to them. Therefore, they still weren't scared.