

Hammer God 587

Chapter 587 Visage

As soon as the ten seconds were up, the Yin-Fire in front of them exploded with power.

Swamp Dragon's body froze in an instant.

The team reacted immediately.

Warp Space moved back as she expanded the space to make the Yin-Fire less dense.

Meanwhile, Kyle charged forward, into the flames.

He grabbed Swamp Dragon and bit his shoulder as he moved back.

The Yin-Fire Ether inside of Swamp Dragon's body was pulled to his shoulder, where Kyle had bitten him.

CRACK!

Kyle bit down, breaking some frozen flesh and bone off Swamp Dragon's shoulder.

Swamp Dragon regained consciousness as Kyle spat the meat popsicle to the side.

BANG!

Kyle kicked Swamp Dragon to the side as another explosion of Yin-Fire occurred.

While Swamp Dragon was regaining his bearings, he was caught by Warp Space, who fortified their surroundings.

Meanwhile, intense Yin-Fire washed over Kyle, freezing some parts of his body.

At that moment, someone in extremely heavy armor appeared above Swamp Dragon and Warp Space.

They carried a two-handed sword, and their sword had an intense aura of cold surrounding it.

Additionally, their armor also had an aura of intense heat surrounding it.

Kyle noticed this in an instant, and his battle experience immediately told him what was going on.

BANG!

Kyle exploded forward and entered the intense pillar of Yin-Fire.

Meanwhile, Warp Space expanded her surroundings to her right, after which she shrank them again while expanding the surroundings to her left.

The sword struck down, but the strike missed as Warp Space had been moved to a different part of space.

The enemy noticed what had happened and charged towards the two of them again.

Swamp Dragon finally regained his bearings and shot several arrows from his bow.

The enemy didn't even try to evade, and the arrows hit them.

The arrows exploded into a corrosive substance, but the enemy just continued.

Swamp Dragon knew that this wouldn't be easy.

While his Complex Law could also corrode metal, he specialized in Yin-Biology.

He was like an organic chemist who had to work in inorganic chemistry.

It was not his specialty.

It was more than clear that their opponent had comprehended the Law of Metal, the Law of Fire, and the Law of Yin-Fire.

Most likely, they had fused the Law of Fire and Law of Yin-Fire and then used the Complex Law's Essence to infuse their Law of Metal. The corrosive substance Swamp Dragon had used was turning into ash and dirt as it broke off the armor.

Sure, the substance had managed to take a bit of the armor with it, but that barely counted for anything.

At that moment, the surrounding temperature shifted, and the enemy suddenly shot forward with even more speed.

The shifting temperature had created a tremendous draft, which could be harnessed by their enemy.

The enemy reached them again and lifted their sword.

Warp Space lifted her staff, and the sword slowed down significantly.

Meanwhile, Swamp Dragon launched a humongous arrow from point-blank range.

BANG!

The arrow's head turned into gunk, which stuck to the armor, but the remainder of the arrow stayed in one piece.

The enemy's armor burned the gunk again, but as it flowed down, the arrow's body shrank.

This was Swamp Dragon's best attack against people with Metal Affinities.

The arrow would add more and more gunk to the spot until there was finally a hole.

Afterwards, corrosive poison gathered on Swamp Dragon's bow as he slapped the slow sword to the side.

As soon as he hit the sword, he felt the immense power behind it.

Their enemy had comprehended a couple of Fragments of the Body.

Luckily, it had been enough to push the sword to the side.

Yet, their enemy didn't seem perturbed, and they immediately attacked again.

Warp Space had to defend Swamp Dragon again.

Every single one of these defenses cost her a ton of Energy, and their opponent knew that.

This opponent perfectly countered them.

They were close to them, had metallic armor, and mainly attacked with their body, making their Energy usage very efficient.

They needed Meteor Hammer!

If this continued, they would die!

Meanwhile...

BOOOOOM!

A beautiful blue-headed woman created a cloud that had the power to freeze and burn at the same time.

She gritted her teeth as she looked forward.

Beside her was another beautiful woman with red hair.

Right now, she was also launching a cloud forward, but her cloud was corrosive and fiery.

Both of them had a Fire Affinity, but their other Affinity was different.

The blue-haired one had a Water Affinity as well, and she had created a Complex Law out of Yin-Fire and Yin-Water.

The red-haired one had an Earth Affinity, and she had made a Complex Law out of Yin-Fire and Yin-Earth.

One of them used heat and cold to damage her surroundings with steam, while the other one created a cloud of Skysand with cold and corrosive powers.

The two of them looked forward with intensity as an ungodly visage charged through their combined attacks.

The visage had the form of a human, but it was clothed in molten, burned, corroded, and black bits of former armor.

Injuries covered the visage's entire body.

The injuries were so severe and deep that it looked like a corroded and burned corpse.

There were not even eyes inside the visage's skull anymore.

It looked like some kind of demon out of a fairy tale.

The corroded corpse shot through the attacks, receiving even more injuries.

It was almost dead!

Just a bit more!

The two of them readied-

At that moment, the surroundings turned dark and lifeless as an overbearing aura of finality bore down on the world.

Their arms shook, and their minds stopped for just a moment.

Kyle had activated his Momentum.

BOOOM!

He used all his physical power to increase his speed beyond the level he had used up to now.

He had moved deliberately slower this entire time just for this single moment.

In an instant, he reached the blue-haired girl.

BANG!

His hammer struck, and the beautiful woman was turned into chunks of gore, which froze in the Yin-Fire.

The other woman managed to launch her attack.

Kyle's body turned forward, performing a dropkick through the attack.

His legs turned into corroded and burned dust, but before the cloud could reach his body, he had passed through the other end.

He had used his legs to neutralize the cloud.

Kyle's body spun forward, and his hammer vanished as he reached his opponent.

The red-haired girl's eyes widened in horror as an open hand covered her vision.

CRK!

Her head was crushed in Kyle's grip.

Then, he grabbed her crushed head and body and threw them into his maw.

He needed Energy, and this was the best way to get it!

Then, he turned around as his eyes recovered.

BANG!

And shot towards his teammates.
