

Hammer God 602

Chapter 602 Toxin

Warp Space noticed what had happened and was put in front of a choice.

The spider would reach them, and while it didn't specialize in close-quarter combat, its body was still several times stronger than their bodies.

If it reached them, its quick legs would cut them into pieces.

However, Kyle also wasn't fast enough to avoid the wall of toxic silk.

Warp Space gritted her teeth as her body moved on its own.

The gravity below the wall of silk intensified while the space in front of it expanded.

Kyle rapidly moved to the side.

The spider continued flying towards Warp Space and Swamp Dragon.

At that moment, a thick wall of toxic swamp appeared between them and the spider as Swamp Dragon became active.

The spider didn't change its direction and directly charged into the swamp.

Parts of its body broke off to create a shield.

As it passed through the other side of the swamp, its entire exoskeleton had vanished, but all of it recovered as it used a huge chunk of its Biological Energy.

The spider was so close.

There was no way out.

The minds of Swamp Dragon and Warp Space went wild.

Swamp Dragon grabbed Warp Space's body.

He had to move!

BOOOOOM!

During this dangerous moment, Swamp Dragon managed to comprehend the Level Two Law of Body, and he pulled Warp Space with him towards the ground by kicking off the air.

Yet, even with his additional speed, the spider was still faster.

At the same time, the gravity below them multiplied severalfold as Warp Space comprehended a powerful Fragment related to gravity.

The spider and the two humans had the same speed.

The spider created more threads of silk in the air and used them to shoot after them, towards the ground.

It was gaining ground.

As long as this continued, they might be able to get away.

But then, the spider's legs moved rapidly, spinning more silk.

A wall appeared between the spider and the humans as all of them continued falling.

Yet, the spider didn't stop.

The wall became bigger and bigger.

Within moments, it had reached a considerable size.

Warp Space and Swamp Dragon realized that the wall was too big.

No manner of space, gravity, or time manipulation would increase their speed enough to avoid it.

Even more, the wall was attached to the spider's legs, which meant it couldn't be compressed with gravity to make holes.

As soon as they stopped falling, the wall would hit them.

There was no way out.

Then, the air around them cooled as Kyle passed them.

Yet, instead of going down, he was going up.

Kyle's eyes narrowed in conviction as he approached the toxic wall of silk.

Swamp Dragon gritted his teeth as he enchanted Kyle's hammer with his toxic Energy.

Warp Space used all her remaining Energy to reduce the gravity on one spot of the wall of silk.

The wall of silk was distorting, and some of the threads were showing gaps.

However, the gaps were only the size of centimeters.

Kyle pushed his hammer forward.

His hammer pushed on the threads of silk.

But then, the threads of silk cut through Kyle's hammer like butter, and his eyes widened in horror.

He couldn't stop anymore.

The silk reached him.

All of Kyle's body sizzled as the silk cut through his shoulders, parts of his torso, and his arms.

Kyle gritted his teeth and shoved all of his Biological Energy into recovery.

His body recovered in an instant, but toxic mist and pus came out of his body.

He was infected.

His entire body was infected.

The spider was now right in front of him.

He had passed through its legs, and only its head was in front of him.

It opened its mouth.

BANG!

A beam of toxicity shot out of its fangs, creating two huge holes in Kyle's torso.

Kyle ignored the holes and grabbed the broken pieces of his hammer.

Then, he threw the pieces into the spider's maw with all of his power.

All the pieces of his hammer entered the spider's maw and broke into their components.

His hammer had been enchanted by Swamp Dragon, and Swamp Dragon's poison was quickly spreading through the spider's entire body.

The spider jumped off the wall of silk, putting Kyle back within the reach of its legs.

Then, its legs moved.

But at that moment, the space around Kyle expanded, and someone grabbed him.

Swamp Dragon pulled Kyle back down as the legs barely missed them.

The two toxic beams had created holes in the wall, which Swamp Dragon and Warp Space had used to pass through.

The spider quickly pointed its legs at them and launched more threads of silk.

Yet, its threads of silk were distorted, uneven, and broken.

Swamp Dragon's toxin was disrupting its Energy usage.

On his way down, Swamp Dragon grabbed Warp Space as well and charged to the side.

The spider tried to shoot more threads of silk, but they were so distorted that Swamp Dragon could avoid them easily.

The spider kept chasing, but its speed was dropping more and more.

Eventually, it stopped.

Its entire body was bubbling, and the aura of Swamp Dragon's Energy was coming out from all over the spider's body.

Swamp Dragon stopped running away.

The spider was at death's door.

It could no longer attack, and it would soon meet its fate.

Warp Space jumped away from Swamp Dragon's body, and Swamp Dragon quickly put Kyle on the ground.

While the spider was close to stepping through death's door...

Kyle was just behind it.

Kyle's entire body was bubbling.

The spider's toxin had also spread through his whole body.

His head, his chest, his arms, his legs...

It was everywhere.

Kyle was dying.

The toxin was using Kyle's Energy as a source to kill him, and as long as he had Energy, it would continue.

There was no way out.

While the toxin was killing Kyle, his mind had already turned delirious.
