Swoosh!

Ten minutes later, the evil energy that had come out of Leona's body dissipated immediately.

Harvey snapped his fingers, and walked away before blowing out the fog in his mouth at a safe distance.

When everything disappeared in thin air, he smiled.

"It's all done. Just rest for a few minutes and Ms.

Foley's sight and energy will be recovered."

Bam!

Harley quickly pushed Harvey away and rushed toward Leona, planning to wipe the cinnabar off her face.

"No! You can't!"

Slap!

Kairi had long been prepared; she instantly swung the back of her palm across Harley's face, stopping the latter.

Harley screamed in pain, and fell to the ground.

She stood up again quickly, covering her face.

"This is bad! This is really bad!"

"You need to wipe off the cinnabar mark!"daotranslate.com

Slap!

This time, Reece stepped forward and slapped Harley in the face.

Harley instantly fell to the ground once more.

“Why did you hit me, Uncle?!”

Harley was filled with resentment.

“I’m doing this for my cousin!”

“We can’t let him treat her! She’ll get hurt!”

She knew that her opportunity was long gone at this point, but she couldn’t bear that all!

The house was worth fifteen million dollars, after all.

How amazing would it be if she could get her hands on it?

Although she was the lady of Deepsky Corporation, she didn’t have that much money.

To her, daotranslate.com fifteen million dollars was an astronomical amount.

Before, the house would fall in her hands if she left Leona to die, or get someone to save her...

Yet, Harvey showed up right at the nick of time!

Because of that, her plans were completely ruined.

She had no chance if Harvey actually saved Leona.

She couldn’t accept her efforts going to waste in the blink of an eye.

“Do you think I’m an idiot?!” daotranslate.com

Reece chuckled coldly.

“Leona and I already knew what you were up to.”

“As long as you treat us well enough, we wouldn’t have cared if you didn’t cross the line.”

“We’re relatives, after all.”

“And yet, you’re completely shameless!”

“I didn’t want to expose you since all you wanted was the house, but...”

“I didn’t think you’d actually let your cousin die for that!”

Reece was now completely against Harley.

“It’s already bad enough that you’re so greedy, but don’t blame me for being relentless if you’re going to be this heinous!”

Harley’s expression darkened instantly.

She didn’t think that Reece managed to figure out her plans.

After hearing that, Castiel quickly fanned the flames.

“She’s the one who told me to treat Leona, Grandfather!”

“She said that if I could save Leona, she’d stay with me for an entire year after she got the house.”

“If not, she’d be able to give Master Foley a good impression!”

“She’d stay with me for a month after that!”

“You can’t blame me for this, Grandfather. This was all her fault!”

At that, Rodney boiled with anger.

He slapped Castiel in the face, gritting his teeth in anger and disbelief.

“You useless brat!”

“You’d take advantage of your teachings for a heinous woman like her?!”

“Leave!”

“Leave right now!”

“I never want to see you again!”

Furious, Rodney kicked Castiel aside.

Reece glared coldly at Harley, whose face had lost all color completely.

“Let me tell you one more thing...”

“Don’t even think of getting the house at this point!”

“I’m giving it to Sir York instead.”

“No! You can’t...!”

Harley couldn’t accept such a loss.

“How could you do this?!”

“I’m your relative!”

“Harvey’s just an outsider! Why would you give it to someone like him?”

“This isn’t right!”

“That’s what you think!”

Reece scoffed coldly.

“I’ll give it to whoever I damn well please!”

“You can’t! Harvey doesn’t even know anything about geomancy!” Harley screamed her lungs out.

“He can’t save Leona! He just can’t...”

Before she could finish her words, her eyes widened with utter shock and disbelief.

Leona was standing up slowly, daotranslate.com her blank eyes finally moving.

“I can see...!”

“I can really see!”

Leona cried in happiness, her voice trembling.

She thought she would have to spend the rest of her life in darkness...

However, Harvey came to give her another chance at life.

“Don’t use your eyes for now.”

Harvey smiled at her.

“Just rest in your chair for the next few days.”

“Tell your grandfather to bring you some eye drops.

Remember to eat healthy as well.”

“You’ll be back to normal in three days.”

“As for your geomancy arts, you’ll still be able to use them as long as they’re not too complicated.”

“The more advanced ones can wait once you’ve fully recovered.”

Leona listened to Harvey’s words with a blank expression.

She never imagined that Harvey would be able to bring her eyesight back.

More importantly, she could still practice geomancy after everything...

Skills like this were simply ungodly, daotranslate.com to say the least!

Leona narrowed her eyes as she continued looking at Harvey; she started becoming little interested in Harvey.

Kairi, sensing this, instinctively wrapped her hands around Harvey’s arm with a cautious expression.

She didn’t want to have another rival, after all.

Seeing that Leona had returned to normal, Harley gritted her teeth. She tried to sneak out of the place as quietly as possible.

She knew there was no point in staying at this point.

However, when she was some distances away, Harvey calmly spoke up.

“Send word to your ignorant brother for me.”

“If he keeps harassing my sister-in-law...”

“I’ll crush him!”

“Stop showing off, Harvey!” Harley screamed.

“Deepsky Corporation will never let you go!”

She stormed out of the place in anger.

Harvey showed no emotion; if the Miller siblings kept harboring anything untoward regarding Xynthia, he would crush them without any hesitation.

As for Deepsky Corporation, he never cared for the company in the first place.

Reece came to his senses soon after.

“Sir York! I’ll never forget this!” he exclaimed, rushing in front of Harvey.

“A house alone will never be able to repay our gratitude!”

“I’ve decided!”

“You’ll be my teacher from now on!”

“I’ll do anything you ask of me!”

Reece then slammed his knees to the ground, kneeling.

He came here to buy a shop...

Not to get more students.

Safe to say, the old man was pretty sly!

...

After that, Harvey was quite busy.

Reece transferred the house to Harvey's name and refused to take his money.

He kept calling Harvey his teacher, all the while declining the payment.

Harvey was completely helpless. He sighed before finally accepting Reece as his student and teaching him everything he knew about the Book of Changes.

Reece felt as if he struck gold. He decided not to treat any more people until he mastered Harvey's teachings.

Rodney took the opportunity to stay in the Fortune Hall as well.daotranslate.com After getting more pointers from Harvey, he happily shut himself away from the world again.

Just like that, the two geomancy masters were gone in a single night.daotranslate.com Many customers in Golden Sands couldn't find a single person to help them with their situations.

Some time later, Leona fully recovered. Her skills and talent regarding geomancy arts were quite commendable.

Harvey held nothing back, and taught her everything he knew as well.

More importantly, he taught her all about geomancy regarding residents.

Harvey planned to turn her into a master at that before giving her a position in the Golden Estate.

That way, she'd still have the experience even if the company was no longer up.

Safe to say, Harvey planned that far ahead for Leona's sake.

A lot of people visited the Fortune Hall during the process.

Other than a few special cases, a lot more people had come to seek out their auspicious days and improve their housing, along with other small problems.

Since Harvey started to get busier, he told Rodney to get Castiel to help.

On one hand, Harvey wanted Castiel to pay for his mistakes. On the other hand, this was also a test for him.

After handling everything at hand,daotranslate.com Harvey told Cliff to send a few teams to renovate Fortune Hall.

Evergreen Capital Group wasn't well-versed in this, but they had a lot of talents since they were involved in all sorts of businesses.

As soon as Cliff got the phone call, he quickly brought a few designers to take a look at the place. They insisted on renovating the place with the original design in mind, in order to make the entire place more luxurious.

Soon, many workers came and worked up a storm.

Cliff came in every single day in a white safety helmet to supervise the operation so he could be in Harvey's good graces.

Vroom!

While Harvey and Cliff were looking into ways to fix the marble floors...

A white Buick van drove over at this very moment.

Eight people got out of the van, looking proud and righteous.

A beautiful woman was leading them. She scoffed coldly before kicking on the counter with her high heels.

“Who’s in charge here? Get out of here right now!”

Her companions laughed coldly and started kicking the building materials down.

Cliff glared coldly at them. When he was about to get help, Harvey waved his hand, telling him to calm down before approaching the woman.

“I’m in charge here. What’s the problem?”

The woman sized up Harvey before scoffing.

“My name’s Mari Holt. I’m the director of Millers Robbins Supplies. Did you get my approval before starting your operation here?”

“How dare you?!” Mari screeched.

“Don’t you know the rules here?”

“Every single renovation and transportation business here belongs to Robbins Supplies!”

“Everyone has to report to us before anything!”

“We’ll punish anyone who buys their own materials and renovates on their own!”

“Do you understand me?!”

Mari slammed the table with a righteous look.

“Of course I don’t. What does my renovation have to do with you?” Harvey replied.

Mari chuckled coldly.

“Do you really not understand? Or are you just pretending?”

“I’m being as clear as I can!”

“If you’re renovating on our turf…”

“Either you buy our building materials and earn our approval before you start working…”

“I won’t pay for your fine, either.”

“Leave. We don’t welcome you here.”

“Oh? I didn’t think that I’d bump into someone this ignorant today!”

Harvey smiled.

“What? Are you using force since the talking doesn’t work?”

Mari smiled back.

“Enough talk! Either you sign the contract and take our materials...”

“Or you pay the damn fine.”

“If you’re choosing either, then we’ll smash up the entire place right now!”

“Trust me, nothing will happen to me if I do!”

Mari gestured for a subordinate to throw a stack of documents in front of Harvey for him to sign.

Krrr!

Harvey picked up the documents and tore them into pieces without even reading them.

“Leave while I’m still in a good mood,”

Harvey warned.

Mari’s smile froze.

“You’re going to die for that!”

He dialed a number soon after.

“I need your help smashing up a place!

There’s a fool here who doesn’t know what’s better for him!”

Mari’s smile turned a lot colder upon hearing the subordinate’s words.

She crossed her arms and glared at Harvey.

“You can still deal with the problem if you bring the money right now. If not, you’ll be in deep trouble!”

“It really is just a misunderstanding ! We’re not here for something like that...”

“We’re here to move building supplies for you. We heard you were renovating here, so...”

“W-We’re only here to help...” the man replied with a forced smile.

“Is that so?”

Harvey walked up and took the man’s sunglasses off. He was indeed one of Kellan’s lackeys.

“Not bad. I didn’t think you’d know,” Harvey said, tapping the man’s face.

“We need renovations for the restroom.”

“I’d like you people to clean that up.”

“I’ll give you food and a place to stay, so remember to do a good job. You get to leave when the restroom is done getting renovated.”

“I’ll explain the situation to Kellan.”

“Do you understand me?”

Harvey smiled while pointing at a public restroom not far away.

“Don’t you worry, Sir York!” he exclaimed before patting his chest.

“We won’t let the Newgate Chamber of Commerce down!”

“Let’s go, brothers! Time to clean up the damn place!”

Harvey chuckled.

“Anyone else you want to call over?”

“We’re leaving!”

The others turned around, preparing to step out.

“What’s this?”

“What do you think this place is?”

“You come here to threaten me and delay my work, then you leave just like that?”

“Do you think you can just do whatever you want here?”

Harvey smiled calmly.

“What is it that you want?”

Mari clenched her teeth.

“Go over there and dig out all the poop for three whole days, and I’ll let you off the hook.”

Harvey grinned, then dialed a number.

“Luca! Come move some building supplies for me.”

Mari and the others scoffed. They thought Harvey was just pretending.

‘How dare he get someone like Young Master Robbins to move supplies for him?’

‘What a joke!’

‘Who does he think he is?’

In under ten minutes, a G-Wagon appeared and parked in front of the entrance.

As soon as the car door opened, Luca quickly stumbled toward Harvey.

“Do you need me, Sir York? I’ll clean up the restroom if that’s what you want!”

Mari and the others froze. They couldn’t utter a single word.

Harvey was a lot freer after letting Castiel handle the front desk. As such, he started planning on how to lure in Evermore.

While he was taking a few sips of his tea, Thomas approached him with two other people in tow.

At a closer look, the two were actually Saul and Lola- the two people who should've been trying for a baby at home.

Harvey invited the three to sit in Leona's favorite gazebo.

After pouring them each a cup of tea, he smiled at them.

"Why the long faces? Did something happen?"

Saul quickly slammed his knees to the ground, kneeling.

"I'm sorry, Sir York," he began in a trembling voice.

Harvey quickly lifted him up, frowning.

"What's going on? Why are all three of you here?"

Harvey felt it strange to see such an odd group together.

"This isn't about Thomas. I got the wrong person on my side..."

The usually graceful Lola let out a bitter chuckle.

“After Golden Estate fired Thomas’ ex-girlfriend, Fast update on daotranslate.com that woman sold every single detail about the company to our competitors, completely disregarding all professional conduct.”

“Some of the competitors quickly changed their prices and targeted a few of our core properties, forcing us to lower our prices as well.”

“Of course, this isn’t the main problem.”

“Sydney seduced the top geomancy expert we hired, and got every single design drawing of the commodity houses.”

“The biggest feature of Golden Estate is that our houses are practical, have good orientation, and minimum pooling. More importantly, according to the geomancy expert, every single piece of land we chose and will choose is a good place.”

“That said, our competitors have been scalping the prices of the lands we’re about to buy after Sydney sold our information.”

“We’re now stuck between two decisions.”

“The costs will be very high if we decide to buy the lands we chose before. Judging from the current prices, we might not be able to pay them off with our own lives.”

“It’ll be risky for us to choose other lands. Fast update on daotranslate.com. After all, they were all chosen by the geomancy expert we hired. It’d be hard to find places like those.”

“Simply put, we’re completely stuck.”

“We might suffer if we proceed...”

“But if we don’t do anything, our competitors might just crush us instead.”

Lola’s face darkened.

Golden Estate was essentially one of her gambles, but But she put a lot of sweat and tears into the company as well.

The company was met with such a huge problem right after she gave it to Harvey; so she felt extremely awkward about it.

“Our current biggest competitor is Blazer Estate,”

Saul said, frowning.

“The person in charge is Ronnie Lee. I heard he has a background that probably spans throughout the city!”

“He kept trying to steal our projects, but Lola’s been stopping him for the longest time.”

“He tried using underhanded tactics against us as well, but he stopped after I exposed him.”

“I didn’t think that he’d get Golden Estate’s confidential information through Sydney like this.

This means that every single one of our future plans is now in his hands.”

Harvey frowned and reorganized all the information he just got.

“To put it simply, the geomancy expert picked out the lands for us to buy, and that information is strictly confidential.”

“And after Sydney leaked all that, competitors like Blazer Estate are trying to raise the prices of those lands and make things harder for us.”

“Under these circumstances, the expansion of our company will be at a full stop. Is that what you’re saying?”

“Yes!”

Saul nodded, his eyes cold.

“I sorted out the whole process before getting here.”

“Ronnie and us had exchanged blows quite a lot of times before, but this is just completely shameless.”

“He’ll skin us alive if we make a wrong move.”

Harvey nodded.

“Ronnie Lee...”

Lola looked at Harvey with an apologetic look.

“I heard rumors that Golden Estate’s competitors are banding together under Ronnie’s lead.”

“They’re trying to scalp the lands we’re buying while also forcing us to sell our lands for half the price.”

“If they actually do all this, we might not be able to sell our houses in the future.”

“We can rely on Golden Sands Bank for our operations for the time being. We can go to court too, but once those commodity houses are sold, Fast update on daotranslate.com. we won’t have anything else to sell if we can’t get any other good piece of land.”

“In under three years, Golden Estate will collapse completely.”

Saul felt apologetic.

“Lola couldn’t sleep for the past few days from sheer anger.”

“She said she let you down.”

“Not only did her giving you the company fail to repay our favor, you’re dragged in all of this mess because of it.”

Saul and Lola didn’t care if Golden Estate went bankrupt, Fast update on daotranslate.com. since they weren’t that serious about it. They didn’t need the money in the first place...

That said, pride was extremely important to people like them.

If they willingly let Ronnie and the others attack Golden Estate, Saul and Lola would turn into the laughingstock of the town for the foreseeable future.

Harvey wrote out Sydney's name on the table with his tea.

Everything happened because of that woman And he got her fired after exposing her.

Judging from her attitude, she'd sell out the company sooner or later, even without Harvey getting involved.

Undoubtedly, his appearance sped up the entire process.

"Looks like I'm getting a little soft after all."

Harvey narrowed his eyes before letting out a sigh.

"Let me handle this, Sir York. I'll find Sydney and make her pay!" Thomas exclaimed while gritting his teeth.

"We'll have proof in court as long as we have her! We won't lose!"

"People like her probably would've run right after taking the money."

"Even if we did find her, we wouldn't be able to fix the issue."

"Everything's out of the bag at this point. Since Ronnie raised the price of the lands we were supposed to buy, the government wouldn't just lower it back for no reason."

Harvey poured himself a cup of tea and took a sip.

“I need to know one thing: how do we solve the entire situation with Ronnie and the others at a complete loss?”

Golden Sands was given to Harvey, but this was still his first business in the city.

He decided to put in a little more effort. It'd be bad if people talked about his first business here being a flop.

“First, we need Ronnie and the others to give up on attacking Golden Estate. When the government turns a blind eye to the increasing prices, everything will be back to square one.”

Lola gripped her cup, but she couldn't take a sip of her tea at all.

“That's impossible. People like Ronnie won't give up so easily after finding such a good opportunity.”

“Second, we must quickly find better land and change our ways to market our products, giving us a better chance at taking control of the market.”

“That way, our competitors will miss their opportunity.”

“Unfortunately, most of the city's core lands have been taken.”

“The ones that aren't bought yet are basically piles of garbage.”

“It'd be hard to proceed down this path.”

Lola felt like her head was splitting apart.

“Of course, we can have different strategies as well.

For example, we can start building resorts and hotels.”

“The problem is that once we change our direction, we'd basically be handing all of our control of the commodity house market to our competitors.”

“I can't allow that to happen!”

Lola was a prideful person. She couldn't help but let out a sigh.

“Find new land and build more products...”

Harvey pondered the situation.

“Companies are always finding good pieces of land in terms of geomancy, right?”

“That’s right, but that standard’s just too high.”

“Not only does the land have to be clean, Fast update on daotranslate.com. the houses have to be surrounded by mountains and water to be considered a good buy.”

Lola sighed again.

“A shame there’s not a lot of land with those now.”

“Looking at unoccupied land is useless too.”

“If you were the one appraising the lands, you’d be able to make huge sales.”

“Not quite.”

Harvey narrowed his eyes.

“Do you have a map of Golden Sands? Circle out the lands that aren’t occupied for me.”

“Maybe I can find a suitable place that suits the company mindset...”

Saul and Lola froze before. Immediately after, they brought out a map and drew circles all over it.

Harvey glanced at the map for a moment, and spotted seeing a huge blank space in the center of the city.

“Why is this place empty?” he asked with a frown.

Lola thought about it for a moment.

“It’s a good place, but there’s just one problem. The government has been treating this place as a junkyard.”

“Because of that, nobody has an interest in expanding the place even when it’s a good spot.”

Harvey pondered for a moment before pointing at the junkyard.

“Here.”

“As long as we have that land, our real estate business will flourish, We’ll become tycoons of Golden Sands in an instant!”

Saul chuckled helplessly.

He knew that Harvey was well-versed in geomancy, but he didn’t think that Harvey was all that good at appraising land.

Many geomancy experts had already been to the land. Everything was completely ruined because of all the trash surrounding the place.

Harvey would turn into the joke of the city if he chose that place impulsively.

That said, Saul wouldn’t dare speak his mind since he owed Harvey a huge favor. It’d be too disrespectful if he said anything.

“What do you mean by that?” he asked after pondering for a moment.

“Simply put, after this, we’ll be the only ones who can sell houses,” Harvey replied.

‘What did he just say?’

Upon hearing those words, Saul chuckled inwardly, feeling bitter.

He quietly cursed Harvey for choosing a land like that so irresponsibly.

‘Why would he pick a junkyard to control Golden Sands’ real estate business?’

“Quite ambitious, Sir York...”

Lola froze, flashing Harvey a strained smile.

She had the same thought as her husband, thinking that Harvey was just putting up a front.

After all, even foreign products wouldn't be able to sweep Golden Sands' entire real estate business.

They thought that Harvey was just being naive.

Lola couldn't help but feel a little disappointed in Harvey.

She came all the way here to see if he could use the Patel family to solve the situation....

She didn't think he'd do something so reckless.

Of course, she wouldn't dare voice these thoughts either.

“Right. I'll get the higher-ups to look into this...” she said with a faint smile.

Harvey took a piece of paper and drew a few spots on it.

“Remember, only get the people you trust to look at the place.”

“I think there's something we want there.”

“Got it.”

Seeing the determined look on Harvey's face, Lola had no choice but to take the paper.

Saul and Lola didn't bother to stay for lunch; they immediately left after they were done talking..

At three o'clock in the afternoon, the higher- ups' meeting room in Golden Estate was thick with tension.

Many higher -ups were gathered together, wearing frozen expressions.

Their roadmap was completely exposed, and the lands they were supposed to buy were intentionally scalped. The company was on the verge of collapse at this very moment.

Even after a long talk, nobody managed to find a way to save the company.

Lola was in her business attire; she crossed her arms while glaring coldly at the higher-ups.

“What? You’ve all got a lot of opinions, right?”

“Why isn’t there a single way to deal with the problem now that the company’s on its last breath?”

“Whoever can form a plan to deal with the situation gets 1.5 million dollars!”

“If not, we’re all leaving the damn building!”
