Harvey York tapped his head. He had already forgotten about the entire thing.

As soon as the garden was done, Ostrane Bay's title of having the best villas in Golden Sands would be immediately replaced after the land's specialty was revealed.

"Oh! I almost forgot why I called!

Saul Robbins showed a faint smile.

"Sir York! I called you today because a friend of mine's in a great deal of trouble!

"His mother had a case of food poisoning !

She's in a bad state right now!

"All of the well-known doctors in the city tried to help, but to no avail!

"I'd like you to try since you managed to save Chana Jackson in the first place..."

Harvey suddenly froze.

"Grandma Bolton?"

"Impressive, Harvey!" Saul exclaimed.

"That's right! Azrael Bolton's asking for a doctor all around the city! He's also using his connections to seek out Senior Armstrong!

"But since he's in Wolsing, it'll be hard for Azrael to find the man!

"That's why I'd like you to help.

Harvey was a little surprised. He did not expect Saul to be this keen on helping the Bolton family.

But it was normal after all.

The six Hermit Families had always banded as one. They must have been really close to each other.

“Are you coming?”

Harvey chuckled.

“Of course! This is exactly what I needed!”

After hanging up the phone, Harvey called another cab before coming to a private hospital through an address Saul had given earlier.

Countless luxury cars were parked around the place, with several ambulances.

“You’re here, Harvey!

Saul quickly walked over after waiting at the entrance.

“Thank you so much for coming!

“I know you’re not a doctor, but we’re getting desperate now! Since you have so much knowledge, it’d be good to let you try your hand here anyway!

“I had no other choice! I wouldn’t have looked for you if I did!”

Harvey nodded.

“You’re right, but many things are involved with martial arts too. I’ll see what I can do.

“If that still doesn’t work, then I’ll get Senior Armstrong here.

“Which Senior Armstrong are we talking about?”

Saul needed clarification.

“Oskar Armstrong,” said Harvey without further explanation.

Saul froze. He naturally did not expect that Harvey would know Oskar.

Judging from his tone, it felt like Oskar would rush here to assist him.

“Right. What’s going on with Grandma Bolton?”

Harvey quickly changed the topic.

Saul showed a horrible expression.

“It’s terrible! We got every single professional we could get our hands on!

“But Grandma Bolton’s only half-conscious!

“Mr. Bolton’s infuriated right now! He wants the culprit dead so badly!

“Right! We got the Needle King, Lochlan Anderson, to help as well....

“But we don’t know if he actually made any difference yet!”

Clearly, Saul did not know that all this happened because of Lilian Yates.

Harvey was confused. Fast update on [daotranslate.com]

“You’re talking about the man who can revive any person with just a single needle?”

Harvey heard of the Lochlan from Oskar. It was said that his acupuncture skills were awe -inspiring. Many lives were saved from the brink of death because of him.

Saul nodded.

“You’ve heard of him before?

“That said, we don’t know if he’ll be of any help...”

Harvey York frowned.

“It’s that bad?”

Grandma Bolton only got food poisoning, so Harvey did not think it would be this hard to handle.

Saul Robbins frowned.

“It does seem that way at first glance, but it’s not the same.

“Many experts did their best to look into her condition but found nothing.

“Right. The police and the Food and Drug Administration had already interrogated the suspect, but she said that she got her goods from a distributor for cheap. The actual owner still hasn’t been found yet.

“When the reports come out, Grandma Bolton will probably die already!”

Harvey slightly changed his expression after hearing those words. He could not imagine how Lilian suffered during the interrogation.

He never liked Lilian but did not want anything to happen to her for Mandy Zimmer’s sake.

“Tell Soren Braff to treat the suspect better.

“Don’t let her suffer too much.

“I’ll do my best to help Grandma Bolton too.”

Saul froze.

“Is the suspect related to you?”

“She’s my ex-mother-in-law.”

Saul showed a weird expression before dialing a number on the phone.

Soon after, Harvey followed Saul to a private sick room.

The outside of the room was filled with birds and beautiful flowers, as if it was paradise.

That said, there were a lot of people gathered there with horrible looks.

They were all people who could shake up the entire city with ease.

It was quite a shaking sight.

Darius Jackson, Lola Hoffman, and the others were there. They immediately came to Harvey with smiles after seeing him arrive.

“You’re here, Sir York...”

Harvey lightly nodded. Without wasting any time, he walked toward the crowd and listened with a frown on his face.

“We already cleaned the lady’s stomach. We injected antivenom in her. We had a piece of her stomach tissue taken for biopsy as well...”

“But we couldn’t find anything yet.”

A tired doctor showed a stern expression while speaking up to a man in a tunic suit.

“The lady’s situation is getting worse by the second. She’s in a deep coma at this very moment.

“I suspect that she ingested something highly toxic, but we can’t just use any medicine on her without further reports.

“That said, I’ll do my best to find that out as soon as possible.

“Don’t you worry!” Fast update on [daotranslate.com]

The doctor must have had immense status, with many medical staff following him.

But in front of the man in a tunic suit, the doctor seemed extremely cautious.

It was clear that the man was none other than Azrael Bolton himself.

He was only five foot six but had an unspeakable aura just by standing there, making the people around them unconsciously bow.

After all, out of the six Hermit Families, the Bolton family had control over half of the city's influence.

Azrael was also an expert martial artist.

He was a righteous man. Safe to say that other than Quill Gibson, nobody could compare against him.

Quill was powerful because of Heaven's Gate.

Azrael relied on himself. It was clear how powerful he actually was.

That said, even the strongest man in the entirety of Golden Sands also seemed gloomy. He looked as if he was on the verge of losing control at this moment.

"Filth!

"Every single one of you!

Azrael Bolton screamed at the doctor while pointing at him.

"All she did was consume a counterfeit product! You told me that washing her stomach would help!

"And then you tell me that she needed the antivenom!

"And now you tell me that there's something highly toxic in the product?!

"You even sampled some of her stomach tissue and still can't find anything!

"My mother's condition's getting worse! When are you planning to tell me she's in a dire situation?!

“Talk!

“Is there something wrong with your medical skills, or are you people useless filth in the first place?!”

“You act all high and mighty, as if there’s nobody in the world you can’t save!

“Every single one of you is worse than the last at such a crucial moment!

“I’m giving you one hour!

“I want to see results and a treatment plan!

“If anything happens to my mother, I swear I’ll bury every single one of you in the ground!”

Azrael did not scream, nor did he raise his voice...

But the echoes of his voice were enough to terrify the medical staff.

They usually put up a front in front of the patient’s families, but they were no different than ants on a hot pan.

Harvey heaved a sigh. He knew Azrael was a kind man to his mother.

If not, a prominent figure like him would never say things like that.

The medical staff were all trembling in fear when they constantly nodded.

“Of course! Of course!”

They were all filled with fear. They knew that Azrael was a man of his word.

If they did not have a way to save Grandma Bolton, their lives would be gone in an instant!

“The Needle King’s here!”

A group of people showed up at the entrance.

A man in a robe was standing in front of the crowd. He seemed extremely young despite his age, with a sage-like demeanor.

The medical staff rushed forward as if they saw their savior.

Even Azrael's eyes twitched before he held himself back.

"You're finally here, Needle King! I'm sorry you have to come all the way here!"

Azrael let out a sigh.

Harvey curiously looked at the Needle King.

He already heard about the man from Oskar Armstrong.

According to what Oskar said, Lochlan Anderson was proficient in Eastern medicine. He had already perfected the ways of saving lives with just a single needle.

It was said that he could save anyone as long as they were still alive.

Other than that, he was also an expert martial artist. He could save a life with a needle and vice versa.

Saul Robbins stood beside Harvey with a slightly relaxed look.

"Since you've heard of him, you should also know about his methods.

"In Golden Sands' medical world, he's definitely one of the most prominent figures.

"He'd declare any person he could save... Fast update on [daotranslate.com]

“That said...”

Before Saul Robbins could even say more, Harvey York had already waved his hand.

“I know.

“We’ll sit back for now.”

“Now’s not the time for idle talk, everyone,” said Lochlan Anderson.

“First, let me take a look at Grandma Bolton.”

Azrael Bolton quickly nodded.

“Right! Right this way!”

Lochlan wasted no time bringing a group of assistants into the sick room.

Every single corridor was filled with people.

Harvey and Saul exerted a lot of effort just to reach the front.

Lochlan had already checked for Grandma Bolton’s pulse.

He thought he still had a chance to save her, but he was showing a horrible look with a frown.

“I’ll be frank with you. I can try saving her...

“But there’s less than twenty percent chance of her surviving.”

‘Not even twenty percent?’

The entire sick room was dead silent.

Harvey frowned before he looked inside the sick room.

A woman in her nineties was lying on the bed.

She wore ordinary clothes then. She was occasionally showing a grimace, as if she was in pain.

“That’s...

Harvey squinted before his eyes started twitching.

“Soul Drift?”

Harvey could clearly discern that a lot of red could be seen on Grandma Bolton’s forehead.

But the light seemed to be gone in other parts of her head.

Ordinary people would not be able to tell, but geomancy experts could.

Even if Lochlan were the Needle King, he would not be able to find out what was wrong with her.

Harvey could only tell only because he had experienced death.

Soul Drift, in a traditional sense, represented the arrival of Death itself.

At this point, it would be a good time to plan for Grandma Bolton’s funeral.

She would temporarily come back before her soul was gone entirely.

Harvey frowned.

This was not a case that ordinary medical skills could solve.

Geomancy arts were needed to save Grandma Bolton, but even Harvey was not confident in his skills to do this.

After all, he was proficient in the art of killing. Ordinary geomancy arts were only a derivative of that.

He was not entirely sure he could actually save Grandma Bolton at this moment.

“If this really is Soul Drift, then it must be time for the lady to go.

“Lilian’s in deep trouble.”

Harvey knew that Lilian Yates would at least suffer if Grandma Bolton were actually going to die.

If he suppressed everyone using pure authority instead, he would have a never-ending grudge against the Bolton family from then onward.

"No. Her soul's still intact right now. We still have a chance.

"If we drag her soul back with the Book of Changes' knowledge, she'll probably be saved."

Harvey started gathering his knowledge regarding geomancy arts.

'What are the chances of me saving Grandma Bolton if I take action...?' Fast update on [daotranslate.com]

Right when Harvey was in deep thought, everyone's gazes were focused on Lochlan.

Azrael's body was trembling.

"Even the chances of her surviving are slim with your help?!"

"That's right. Grandma Bolton's situation is out of the ordinary," said Lochlan Anderson sternly.

"I don't have time to identify the poison. I have no choice but to pull it all out forcefully.

"Her chances of surviving are slim if I do that.

"But if I don't, she'll only last for the next three hours!

"We won't be able to find anything out with that short time."

Azrael Bolton froze after hearing Lochlan's words.

“Impossible!” he exclaimed while shaking his head with a trembling body.

“My mother only has three hours left?!”

The air immediately tensed. The medical experts were trembling in their boots, with cold sweat dripping down their foreheads.

After all, it was their savior who said those words.

They also wanted to ask for Oskar Armstrong’s help...

But he would take three hours to travel all the way from Wolsing.

It would be too late by then.

Even if Oskar were on the line, there would still be no hope for Grandma Bolton.

At this moment, the medical experts were trembling stronger than before.

After all, Lochlan would probably be fine if Grandma Bolton died...

But in Azrael’s eyes, the others would probably have to be buried with his mother.

That said, Lochlan was not as afraid as the others despite Azrael being on the brink of losing control.

“I promise you in my name!

“Everything I say is nothing but the truth!

“The patient needs to be treated right now! There’s no other way!

“Her organs are failing right now! If we keep stalling, my chances of success will drop!

“I know you love your mother and want me to take action to ensure your mother’s safety!

“But I’m a doctor, Mr. Bolton! Not a God!

“My powers are limited!

“There’s no other way than to gamble!”

Lochlan’s tone felt utterly indifferent.

But every single word was said with a dignified aura, instinctively making others believe him.

“If we force the poison out of her, there’ll only be a small chance that she’ll survive...”

Azrael instinctively held his fist.

He gritted his teeth while glaring at the medical staff instinctively looking away.

“There’s so many of you b*stards here, and yet you can’t even save an old woman?!”

“Why are you people even here?!”

“You say you graduated from The Empire or America’s university...”

“But you’re still just filth! Useless filth!”

The medical staff trembled in fear. They were as fearful as they were pretentious.

“I know that you’re angry, Mr. Bolton. I also know that you can’t accept my professional opinion.

Lochlan showed a calm expression.

“But there’s no point in scolding them!”

“What’s the point even if you do kill them?!”

“You need to be decisive! Fast update on [daotranslate.com]

“I hope you’ve already decided for me to take action or not.

Read Harvey York's Rise to Power Chapter 4485 - the best manga of 2020

Of the A Potato-Loving Wolf stories I have ever read, perhaps the most impressive thing is Harvey York's Rise to Power. The story is too good, leaving me with many doubts. Currently the manga has been translated to Chapter 4485. Let's read now the author's Harvey York's Rise to Power A Potato-Loving Wolf story right here

Lochlan's words were cruel; nobody would be able to accept such harsh facts.

Despite that, nobody dared to question him.

After all, Grandma Bolton's life was at stake.

Who would dare refute him?

"No!"

"There has to be some way!"

"There has to be!"

Azrael gritted his teeth, his eyes bloodshot.

"That suspect must've been bribed! She poisoned my mother!"

"She knows how to save her!"

"Bring her here right now!"

"I'll question her myself!"

"If she doesn't give the antidote, I'll kill her!"

"I'll kill her entire family, too!"

"I'll dig up her ancestors' corpses and burn them to a crisp!"

If ordinary people said this, people would see it as showing off and nothing more.

Even if princes and young masters said such a thing, no one would believe it.

But when Azrael said it, it didn't seem like an empty promise.

Many of the prominent figures there were dead silent. They all trembled in their boots, as if they actually saw Azrael's threats coming true.

"You're an adult, Mr. Bolton! You should know that there's no time!"

"It doesn't matter how you'll deal with the suspect later."

"We have limited time!"

"If we keep stalling, your mother's condition will worsen!"

"Make your decision!"

Lochlan took out his medicine box and started disinfecting his needles, all the while looking calmly at Azrael.

The well-known medical experts locked eyes, and nodded at each other.

"You should trust the Needle King, Mr. Bolton. He represents the top of all medical skill in Golden Sands."

"Nobody can doubt his deduction! It'll be no different if Senior Armstrong's here."

The medical staff all nodded.

"That's right, Mr. Bolton. Trust the Needle King!"

"He'll do his best! We're sure of it!"

"There's nobody better than him here right now!"

Many of the prominent figures spoke up; they could tell that Azrael was feeling awful.

That said, Lochlan's chances of saving Grandma Bolton would only worsen if they kept stalling.

Azrael's expressions kept changing, and he gritted his teeth.

Right as he was ready to make a decision, someone suddenly spoke up.

“Mr. Bontol. Judging from what I can see, we don’t have to force the poison out of Grandma Bolton just yet.”

“If you let me help you, she’ll live for at least another twelve years.”

Everyone was dead silent.

They all looked around, and saw a young man standing right in front of Grandma Bolton. He was looking at her face with narrowed eyes, his expression deep.

“Who are you, kid?” Fast update on [daotranslate.com]

“Where did you come from?” the hospital’s director shouted, his face dark.

‘How dare he cause trouble right now? Does he want Azrael to kill me?!’

‘Did I disrespect his ancestors for him to do this to me?’

Another seemingly reputable doctor looked at Harvey coldly.

“Who let him in here? Get him out!”

“Security! Where’s security?”

Naturally, he thought that Harvey was a patient from the psychiatry department.

He was certain Harvey was out of his mind.

Azrael came to his senses, and glared coldly at Harvey.

‘How dare someone cause trouble right now?’

‘Does he want to die?’

Saul quickly stepped forward to explain the situation.

“Mr. Bolton, I brought him here. His name is Harvey York.”

“My wife, Cliff, Director Braff, Mr. Pagan, and Ms. Jackson were all saved by him.”

After hearing his words, the crowd felt slightly relieved.

Azrael froze. A hopeful look bloomed on his face.

“Are you a doctor? Can you save my mother?”

Harvey showed a faint smile after making sure of the situation.

“I’m not a doctor.”

Azrael’s face darkened instantly when he heard that.

Before he could retort, Harvey continued.

“But I can save your mother.”

Azrael’s eyes twitched. He didn’t know what Harvey meant, but he still swallowed his anger.

“What are the chances of you saving her, then?” he demanded.

“A hundred percent,” Harvey replied.

‘A hundred percent?!’

The crowd looked at each other in disbelief.

“Bullshit!”

“How dare you say that?”

“Even the professionals here don’t have a thirty percent chance!”

“How dare you be so confident?”

“I know you want to succeed in this world, kid!”

“But at least, look around you!”

“Do you think you can simply cause trouble?”

Lochlan looked at Azrael with narrowed eyes.

“Are you willing to trust someone like that than me, Mr. Bolton?”

“If you really do, then I’ll respect your decision.”

“But I must remind you.”

“For your mother, time is of the essence!”

“The more we stall, the worse it’ll be for her!”

“As the Needle King, my moral integrity is already known by the world. I would never lie to you like this.”

Lochlan’s face was grim.

The medical staff nodded as well.

Naturally, Lochlan’s reputation and character were acknowledged by the public.

Azrael knew that, hence his hesitation when he looked at Harvey.

He wanted to trust Harvey, but he wasn’t confident enough for that.

Lochlan glared disdainfully at Harvey.

“It’s not that I don’t trust you, kid.”

“As long as you tell me where you came from, I’ll be able to judge your skills.”

“I told you, I’m no doctor,” Harvey replied.

Lochlan scoffed.

“You’re no doctor?” Fast update on [daotranslate.com]

“Fine! Tell me how you’re going to save Grandma Bolton, then!”

“Don’t tell me you’re going to start praying until she wakes up!”

“Do you think superstition can actually save anyone?”

“Are you treating us like we’re from ancient times?”

“Of course not. It wouldn’t do anything good,” Harvey replied..

“I’ll drag Grandma Bolton’s soul back using geomancy.”

“That way, I’ll force her back to life.”

“Huh?”

“Geomancy?”

“Are you serious?”

Lochlan looked at him, bewildered.

“Are you insane?”

“How dare you say something like that here!

Do you think Mr. Bolton is crazy enough to let you do anything here?”

“I can assure you that he’s just a conman, Mr. Bolton!”

“Get him out of here!”

“Stop disturbing me from saving the patient!”

Azrael's face darkened; he didn't think a conman would show up here, of all places.

Then he remembered that Saul was the one who brought Harvey here, and he hesitated.

Judging from the relationship between the Hermit Families, Saul definitely wouldn't bring Harvey here if Harvey wasn't actually capable.

Harvey ignored Lochlan's outburst and looked at Grandma Bolton, his face grim.

"If I'm guessing correctly, Mr. Anderson."

"You're planning to stick three needles in Grandma Bolton's body."

"The needles will be stuck in her armpit, back, and hip."

"You'll force Grandma Bolton back with the Trembling Needle Technique."

"How did you know?!"

Lochlan froze, his eyes filled with utter shock.

That was the only way he thought would actually work.

He had no idea how Harvey knew everything in the first place!

Harvey smiled.

"You're thinking of sticking a needle into her chest as well, but you don't know if it'll actually have an effect on her."

"So, you gave up on that."

Lochlan was in disbelief. "How did you know that?"

"You should actually do that," Harvey said. "It'll remove a lot of the evil energy in her body."

"That way, you'll have at least a forty percent chance of succeeding."

“Since you’re scared she wouldn’t be able to handle the needle because of her age, you decided to give up, right?”

Lochlan was speechless.

He came up with the plan after a long time thinking about it. He planned on doing what Harvey said before, too.

Despite that, Harvey had already revealed everything before Lochlan could say anything about it!

‘He’s unbelievable!’

‘He’s either a medical expert, or he’s an expert martial artist!’

‘If that wasn’t the case, he wouldn’t be able to tell all that!’

Lochlan didn’t expect Harvey to actually be so experienced at such a young age.

He said, “Since you know all this, then you should know that there’s one final needle required to boost Grandma Bolton’s chances.”

“But I can’t tell if...”

“Simple,” Harvey said. “Stick a needle on the right side of her forehead. She’ll wake up after that.”

“She’ll have a better chance at surviving once she’s awake.”

“Even so, there’s only a sixty percent chance...” Fast update on [daotranslate.com]

Lochlan couldn’t believe what he had just heard; he was shocked, but a second later, he looked enlightened.

He was the Needle King, yet he improved so much just by hearing Harvey’s words.

“Harvey...”

“No, no! Master York!”

“You really are impressive! As expected from the man Mr. Robbins brought!”

“I was ignorant just now. I apologize!”

Lochlan quickly bowed.

“Judging from what you’ve said, there should be a sixty percent chance of bringing Grandma Bolton back.”

“Why would you still use geomancy despite that?”

“I’m not doubting you. I just don’t understand...”

Harvey smiled.

“Since you’re an Eastern medical expert, you should know that martial arts are usually involved.”

“Martial arts are deeply connected to geomancy arts.”

“The traditions of Country H are never solitary.”

“The chances of your needle techniques being related to geomancy are highly likely.”

“In my eyes, you’re trying to do the same thing as me.”

“Your way is just a little less effective.”

“After all, Grandma Bolton has the Soul Drift.”

“Food poisoning is just a front.”

‘Soul Drift?!’

Everyone froze after hearing those words.

Lochlan's expression turned awful.

In Eastern medicine, that name was associated with certain death.

"Grandma Bolton's time has come. Food poisoning was just a coincidence."

"That's why it looks like someone's actually trying to kill her."

"That simply isn't the case."

"Your needles will help, but they won't deal with the problem completely."

"After all, a bunch of needles wouldn't be able to keep her soul intact."

"Mr. Anderson, you should know that martial arts are deeply connected to one's medical skills. Geomancy is no different."

"I understand. I understand now!" Lochlan said excitedly.

He looked like he had realized something important.

"I've been blind the entire time."

"I shouldn't be biased toward one's methods."

"I've been looking down on folk remedies, but I finally understand now. I was just narrow-minded!"

Lochlan slammed his knees to the ground immediately.

"There will always be a person better than me."

"Please, be my teacher!"

The entire sick room turned dead silent.

Azrael and the others froze. They couldn't come to their senses for a long time.

'What's going on here?'

‘A moment ago, Lochlan was looking down on Harvey.’

‘Why did he kneel and start calling Harvey his teacher now?’

The beautiful nurses there instinctively slapped themselves, to make sure they weren’t dreaming.

Azrael rubbed his eyes, wondering if he had seen something wrong.

“Needle Ki...” Azrael began.

“Enough, Mr. Bolton! Let my teacher handle this,” Lochlan said quickly, cutting him short.

“With him here, I have no right to take action!”

Lochlan didn’t know how Harvey was going to save Grandma Bolton...

But he had complete trust in Harvey.

Even if Harvey said that he’d slap her awake, Lochlan would never doubt it.

“Right!”

Azrael spoke up, decisive. He could tell that Lochlan was fully convinced.

“I’ll leave it to you, Sir York.”

“As long as you can keep my mother alive...”

“I shall be in your debt!” Fast update on [daotranslate.com]

Harvey wasted no time taking out some paper and cinnabar to make a talisman.

After seeing his fluid movements, the crowd brushed off their initial shock.

They thought that he only got lucky to get Lochlan's confidence.

'Can he really save someone using geomancy?'

A lot of people couldn't believe it.

Some of the doctors had puzzled expressions.

'Soul Drift?!'

'He isn't just saving her at this point!'

'He's fighting against death itself!'

Harvey quickly drew five talismans, then looked at Grandma Bolton. He closed and reopened his eyes, and his aura changed completely.

Azrael and the others could feel his fierce aura, as if he could change reality as he pleased.

Tap, tap, tap!

Harvey quickly flung the talismans away.

They landed right on the spots he had named before.

He burned the cinnabar in his hand into flames, and flicked it toward the talismans, lighting them up instantly.

The crowd gasped as they watched.

Everything looked just like a movie!

They couldn't believe they were witnessing something they could only see on TV.

But now, they were seeing it happen in front of their eyes. Their eyes twitched, and they looked enlightened.

When Azrael saw Harvey's movements, he was relieved.

With such impressive methods, it was clear how talented Harvey was.

"Return!" Harvey said.

While the talismans were burning brightly, he poked his finger and flicked a drop of blood on Grandma Bolton's forehead.

The blood kept her alive and removed the evil energy inside her.

The talismans had sealed her soul in place, too.

Safe to say, Harvey had performed an ungodly operation.

The darkness on Grandma Bolton's face slowly dissipated, and she soon returned to normal.

A faint noise could be heard from her as soon as the talismans turned to ash. Her eyes slowly opened.

'She's awake?!'

Lochlan was shocked.

Azrael, too.

Everyone was no different.

Harvey grabbed a bowl and gathered the talisman ashes in it.

"From now on, wash Grandma Bolton's face with this," he said, passing the bowl to Azrael.

"She'll be back to normal after three days."

"She'll live for another twelve years."

Grandma Bolton was back to normal; the equipment around her was functioning properly as well.

At Harvey's words, even a prominent hero like Azrael couldn't help but shiver in excitement.

He approached Harvey somberly, and sank into a deep bow.

“From today onward, your problems are the family’s as well,” he declared.

“Whoever crosses you will have to go through me!”

“Whoever doubts you, will be doubting my reputation!”

“In any case...” Fast update on [daotranslate.com]
