Chapter 121

Yasenia felt someone looking at her and turned. It was a blonde woman with an extremely beautiful face. She had grey eyes and had 175cm in height. Her body was slim, with not many curves. However, her aura was profound.

A single thought filled Yasenia's mind. 'Strong.'

Those were the feelings Yasenia got from that woman. 'Is she the other one, apart from Jaxon, that I can't win against... I think she is....'

That woman approached Yasenia and spoke with a melodious voice, "My name is Isla. Nice to meet you, Yasenia."

Yasenia raised her eyebrow, "You know my name?"

The woman smiled and said, "Well, it is not difficult to know the "Heavenly Dragoness" of the tournament. Your beauty, strength, and talent are the best I've seen."

Yasenia smiled and said, "You praise me too much, senior sister. Compared to your strength, I'm still no match. I don't think I could last more than ten minutes fighting you."

Isla's smile widened and asked playfully, "That means you are confident in lasting at least ten minutes against me?"

Yasenia chuckled, "Although I haven't said that... I think I have a nice chance at accomplishing that."

Isla nodded and said, "Well, we will know shortly." Yasenia tilted her head, confused.

Isla took out one paper with Yasenia's name written on it. "It seems that you are my next opponent."

Yasenia frowned and asked, "Did you manipulate it? I thought this last phase was like a blind tournament, and we shouldn't know our next opponents."

Isla laughed and said, "It is, but I have some people delivering me who my next opponent will be, orders from the Heavenly Sect Master."

Yasenia approached her, bringing her the sweet floral scent, and whispered, "Isn't that illegal? Are you not afraid I would speak about it?"

Isla smelled Yasenia's scent, but her heart didn't move. She maintained her smile and said, "I trust you. Moreover, you are the daughter of that person. I don't think you would do something so lowly."

Yasenia asked, "Do you know my mother?" 'Maybe she knows something about her that I don't.'

Isla said, with a face full of reverence, "Of course, I know her! I saw her some months ago at a conference about the destruction of the demonic sect branch. She was like an Empress walking between her subjects! I've always adored her since then!"

Isla continued praising Tatyana, and Yassenia's eyebrow twitched. Surprised, Yassenia analyzed her own feelings, 'Am I... getting jealous? Interesting; why is that?'

The more Yassenia listened, the more the feeling grew. 'This is new, I hadn't felt jealousy even when people were blatantly confessing to my sweetheart, but I am with my mom?'

Yassenia cut Isla off, saying, "Mom, come here."

She didn't speak loudly, nor didn't even use a tool. Isla was confused, 'How will she even hear you?'

Those were her thoughts only for a second because Tatyana appeared beside Yassenia in a second. Tatyana asked with a smile, "What's wrong little treasure? I was bragging to the other sect masters about you when you called me!"

Yassenia burst into laughter, and all those feelings disappeared like smoke. She said honestly, not minding about Isla. "I don't know why, but I was feeling jealous hearing senior sister Isla here speak nicely about you. Therefore, I called you."

Isla was confused, and Tatyana raised her eyebrow, surprised, "Jealous? You didn't even get jealous of Ying Yue, with whom I actually had a relationship!"

Tatyana looked at Isla and said, "Oh, you are that asshole Cough The Heavenly Sect Master's personal disciple."

Isla's eye twitched as she felt Tatyana's image crumbling more and more by the second. "Yes, it is a pleasure meeting you, Lady Death Empress! Since I saw you that day, I have admired you, and I have asked Master about you. He speaks in great detail and is also waiting for you and Yassenia to come to our sect."

Yassenia didn't know why but she found Isla's reactions extremely satisfying. so she continued, "Mom, I still feel a little jea-

Yassenia was cut off by Tatyana, who took out a couch, sat, and laid Yassenia's head on her lap in less than a second. Then, Tatyana started scratching under her chin with one hand and petting her head with the other hand. Yassenia half-closed her eyes and growled comfortably. Tatyana said, "Who is my most beautiful daughter?"

As an answer, Yassenia rubbed herself on Tatyana, growling louder, and Tatyana said, "That's right, you are~."

Isla felt something crack and then shatter into pieces. She spoke stiffly toward Yassenia, "I will see you in the coliseum, goodbye."

Yassenia was too far gone by her mother's caresses and was now a growling mess, so she didn't answer. Isla looked at Yassenia and thought, 'She is very cute, but... What is all this jealous thing? I like males. Moreover, I can't even imagine myself with Lady Death Empress.'

Tatyana changed places, carrying both to a more isolated location. They stayed together until the time of the next rounds was nearing. After some caresses, Tatyana patted the blob dragoness on her lap and said, "So, what's up with Isla."

Yasenia turned and hugged Tatyana's waist, burying her face in her belly. She said lazily, "I don't know~ I think it is because she is stronger than me, which made petty insecurities grow for a moment? What does mom think?"

Tatyana thought while petting her and said, "Maybe it is her bloodline? Do you know why Jaxon and Isla are direct disciples of the two strongest sect masters?"

Yasenia bit Tatyana's belly and growled, "Mom is the strongest!"

Tatyana chuckled and said, "But I'm not a sect master, right?"

Yasenia stopped biting and looked upwards. Then she snorted, "I'm sure mom has more secrets from me, and one of them is being the sect master of some secret organization that is much stronger than the Academy!"

Tatyana looked speechless at her daughter, "You truly have a lot of confidence in me, huh?"

To which Yasenia smirked and nodded.

Tatyana explained, "I think it was this. Since Isla knows more about me than you do, you felt jealous... You don't feel like that of overwhelmingly strong people, but you do with Isla because she is near your level of strength."

Tatyana lowered her head and kissed her forehead, "Little treasure, if you really want to know, I can tell you everything about me right now. I'm not telling you, mainly because I don't want you to consider many broad matters. I want you to advance on your own cultivation path, not following my footsteps but creating a new road."

Yasenia nodded and sat up, "I will continue my path then. However, the direction of it will always be toward you. So that, when I create my own road, the final destination will be you."

Tatyana smiled tenderly and sat on Yasenia's lap. She hooked her arms around Yasenia's neck and kissed her lovingly. Yasenia hugged Tatyana's waist and returned the kiss.

They shared a tender moment until Tatyana separated and said, "It's time, little treasure. Let's see if you can win against Isla. She is light, water, ice, and space attributed—an extremely rare quadruple attributed cultivator. Moreover, her bloodline is called [Profound Ocean Divine], which is related to the Divine race."

Yasenia and Tatyana stood up and left for the coliseum. Tatyana said, "I won't be the one that takes care of watching the participants from here on. But know that I'm always watching. I will be with the other five. Good luck, little treasure."

Tatyana then disappeared after leaving Yasenia in the middle of the participants. The person responsible saw that Yasenia appeared with a senior and was suspicious. However, he received a message, and everything cleared up.

The announcer appeared at the center of the coliseum. His handsome face made people from the stand whistle and scream for him. The man laughed, and his magnetic voice was heard, "We've reached the top 100! All the participants here have gained a second entry jade. They can do with them anything they want, sell it, break it, or even eat it."

The people laughed. Then, he continued, "From now on, all the battles will happen inside the coliseum! The participants will use the arenas in the middle to fight! As you can see, the arenas are now only four! The previous ten arenas of one square kilometer each have been divided. Now each of them has four square kilometers!"

He continued, "The battles will happen following a tournament tree! You can see it... there!"

He pointed at the sky, and a giant illusionary scroll unfurled in the sky atop the massive coliseum. They could see the names of the 126 participants and who they were against.

Yasenia looked at the sky and saw the ancient-looking scroll. She searched her name and spotted it on the far right. She was paired against Isla, 'So it is true... Let's focus. I must get the shield for my baby!'

The announcer said, "Let's begin the final section! Starting from the right pair to the left one! Let's welcome our first competitor, Isla! She is one of the favorites and hasn't broken a sweat to reach here! Her swordplay is beautiful and ethereal. Her quadruple attribute affinity has made her opponents unable to touch her robes. And her beauty is above most!"

The crowd cheered and shouted compliments. The noise more than two million people made was deafening!

The announcer exclaimed, "Isla's opponent isn't someone to scoff at. She is overwhelming; she is like an unstoppable force of nature; she uses Sun, Moon, and star attribute to make her opponents despair! The publicly crowned Heavenly Dragoness and the dark horse of the competition! The sole level one Mental Nourishing cultivator that made it this far! Yasenia!"

The crowd exploded again in cheers, and some banners with Yasenia's image and the word S.L.U.T could be seen.

Yasenia, who was walking toward the arena, calmly almost tripped. But she managed to maintain her composure. 'My dear fans, people might think you are insulting me without context!'

While the announcer presented the rest of the participants, Isla and Yasenia talked for a bit. Yasenia started by bowing and apologizing. "I'm sorry, senior-sister, I was jealous that senior-sister knows more about my mother than I do, and I was disrespectful."

Isla laughed softly and said, "Don't worry, you are still young, and those things happen. Even I got slightly jealous when I saw Lady Death Empress behave so gently with you. She is completely different than when she is in front of others."

Chapter 122

...Yasenia started by bowing and apologizing. "I'm sorry, senior-sister, I was jealous that senior-sister knows more about my mother than I do, and I was disrespectful."

Isla laughed softly and said, "Don't worry, you are still young, and those things happen. Even I got slightly jealous when I saw Lady Death Empress behave so gently with you. She is completely different than when she is in front of others."

While they were talking, the announcer presented the fourth and final team that would battle. Then he began the countdown. “Now that you know all of our participants... Let’s begin! Ten! Nine!... ”

Isla surrounded herself in blue and yellow Valkyrie-like armor and took out a broadsword. And Yaseenia used her [Celestial Coat], covering herself in a silvery-golden glow with starlight around. ‘Not only is she stronger, but she also has the evolved coat...’

Comparing the current aura release, Yaseenia’s fell short by a large amount. The spectators were skeptical, not knowing if Yaseenia could last a single exchange. However...

“Three! Two! One! Begin!”

Yaseenia’s aura expanded as she directly used [Day and Night]! Her presence grew at exponential speeds, becoming completely outrageous. Isla’s current aura and hers clashed!

The stage cracked as Yaseenia’s aura overpowered Isla’s! It continued forward, and the shockwave reached Isla. Nonetheless, the effect the shockwave had on Isla was minimal. It blew her hair like a strong gale and nothing more. Isla smirked and said, “Impressive, this berserk skill is extremely strong. I wouldn’t be your match if we were at the same cultivation level. However, how much can your body take of it, Yaseenia?”

Yaseenia smiled, battle hungry as the black phantom sky appeared. “Let’s find out.”

Her eye color changed to silver as her demeanor became gentle, like the moon that guards you at night. Then, Yaseenia’s whisper echoed around. “In a [Moonless night], under the [Starry Sky], I fight, [Lingering Stars] on my side.”

Yaseenia spun once while white lights began appearing around her. After the spin a silver domain spread, covering most of the arena. Then, she shot forward with her sword behind her, creating a shockwave.

Isla also charged forward using her movement technique, leaving a blue and yellow trail behind her.

Yaseenia continued her chant, her whisper resounding, “The [Moon Charge]s into the sky, covering my body with its light. [Celestial coat] envelop, make my might develop.”

As the sky changed with Yaseenia’s words, the silvery-golden aura surrounding Yaseenia strengthened. Then, she pointed her sword forward, and a silver radiance appeared at the tip of her sword.

Yaseenia stomped the ground, accelerating further and making the silver radiance surround her body.

They reached each other, and giant sword and broadsword collided. Silver and yellow-blue lights consumed their arena as a big explosion followed.

The spectators focused on the aftermath of the first clash, and they could see that Yaseenia managed to push Isla, making her feet slide.

As she slid backward, Isla felt her sword vibrating and thought. ‘She is stronger than I predicted, and her domain is absorbing my energy... I will have to go a little serious.’

“[Oceanic domain].”

While Isla slid, Yaseña's whisper spread around, "[Crescent Moon] spreads soft light. The [Wanning Moon] supports my fight."

Yaseña's body, tail, and sword were enhanced by [Wanning Moon], adding the chilling Moon attribute, increasing her lethality. Then, Yaseña's silver slit eyes thinned as her muscles moved extremely coordinated, doing a perfect horizontal slash, she let the momentum spin her as her sword tail created another crescent and the cycle repeated. A barrage of [Crescent Moon] attacks shot toward Isla.

Isla managed to stop sliding after almost 300m, just as Yaseña sent the first crescent. She swung her 90cm long broadsword rapidly, sending numerous light-attribute projectiles towards the silver crescents.

The attacks collided, and Yaseña's crescent destroyed her skill twice before dissipating. Isla needed two sword swings for each silver crescent, and Yaseña's attack speed and hers were practically the same. Isla remained calm as she thought, 'I can't continue like this.'

Isla planted her feet on the ground cracking it. Her aura swelled and chanted, her voice imposing. "[Endless Light Waves]."

Her sword blurred as giant yellow waves appeared before her, comparable to the silver crescents. The first wave clashed with a crescent, and they annulled each other. This time, the attacks were paired in strength!

The two women fired one attack after another on each other, sending shockwaves everywhere.

The people in the stands were cheering loudly at their display of incredible might. "Go, Yaseña! Summon the stars!"

"Isla, keep it up!"

The disciples of the Heavenly Sect were dumbfounded, "How can some at the first level keep up with senior sister's [Endless Light Waves]!?"

"That dragoness is insane!"

On the other side, Gerd and his allies had ugly faces as they watched the match, "Even if I hate to admit it, Yaseña is too strong. Only Jaxon can somewhat face her."

Some bit their lips and said, "But she killed Elias! Are you going to let her get away like that!?"

Gerd smirked and said, "Even if she is strong, her closest people aren't. We just have to wait for the right chance." The others nodded.

Yaseña frowned a little as she continued her attacks. Then, her iris began gaining a golden color as she steeled herself. 'I will have to go above and beyond!'

Her meridians circulated her energy and expanded as Yaseña prepared to deliver two powerful skills. Then, Yaseña's voice rose in tone as the sky changed to bluish orange colors. "As the Moon hides, [Dawn] looms. As the Moon hides, [Starfall] blooms."

Yasenia took a step forward and lifted her sword above her head, then she swung it vertically, sending a devastating silvery-golden energy wave! Moreover, as the giant destruction wave approached Isla, the more than 200 stars in the phantom sky fell towards her simultaneously.

The spectators' eyes opened widely at the strength of Yasenia's attack. Isla also became surprised, and she hastily activated her defenses. She poured energy crazily as she shouted, "[WATER DOME], [SPACE LOCK], [ICE REINFORCEMENT]."

The water dome appeared around Isla, and a transparent wave locked it in place. Then, an Ice structure reinforced the dome making a triple-layer defense.

The stars were faster than the energy wave and rained on Isla's shield, creating countless explosions and making it tremble. The stars destroyed her [Space Lock] and damaged the Ice reinforcement. Without giving a breathing chance to Isla, [Dawn] arrived.

The destructive wave impacted the water-ice dome with trampling strength...

BOOOM!

CRASH!

...shattering it. Weakened, the attack loomed over Isla.

With no other way, Isla reinforced her armor as she crossed her sword in front of her.

BANG!

Isla felt her energy armor crack as her feet left the ground. Then, she was sent flying with terrible speed backward.

Yasenia didn't want to let the chance go, so she used more skills even if her meridians hurt. Her eyes glowed with golden light as her voice echoed around, "The [Sun Charge]s into the sky, The [Lingering stars] disappear."

The floor under her got completely covered in cracks as she pushed her body forwards, transforming into a golden streak.

Isla tumbled on the ground and managed to regain balance, 'She sent me flying!? Such a powerful attack! Thankfully, I mitigated most of the damage- She is already coming!? She isn't even letting her own body rest!'

Isla hastily chanted, "[Oceanic Divine Battle Dance]."

BOOM!

A big golden explosion occurred, and Isla was sent back, almost reaching the end of the two-kilometer-long arena. However, she was undamaged.

Yasenia approached again as she said with strong belief, "Now is [Sunrise], Now is my battle chance."

Yasenia and Isla charged at each other and exchanged sword attacks. Yasenia utilized her continuous [Sunrise] strikes, as Isla countered and attacked back using the [Oceanic Divine Battle Dance].

Now, there was an exchange of destruction against elegance in the arena.

Gold against Blue.

A Dragon and a Divine.

Everyone held their breath as the battle moved around the arena.

Yasenia's attacks combined her sword and tail intricately, leaving the ground scorched and frosted.

Isla's attacks were precise and managed to block her attacks, creating chances to counterattack and make the dragoness bleed.

Yasenia ignored her injuries, as they were regenerating thanks to her natural regeneration and her [Celestial Coat]. She continued using [Sunrise] until she was fully charged with Sun energy.

Her skin was glowing golden, and her tail was also completely golden. She made a rising strike as she shouted, "SCRAM!"

BANG!

Isla received the attack and was pushed back by the golden vertical crescent shot from Yasenia's sword. She frowned as she thought, 'What is she doing? No matter what it is, I won't let you!'

Isla tried to stop herself from sliding, pushing against the crescent. "HAAAA!!!"

BANG!

Isla managed to destroy the crescent and shot towards Yasenia. However, by the time she did that, Yasenia had already ended her chant!

Yasenia pointed the sword at the phantom Sun in the middle of the blue sky!

Her voice was as imposing as the Sun in the heavens!

"AS THE TIME PASSES! AS THE MIDDAY LOOMS! MY TIME ARRIVES! WHAT COMES IS [NOON]!"

While Isla was in mid-charge, Yasenia's body exploded in golden radiance as if a second sun appeared in the middle of the arena!

Isla bit her lips and stopped her charge, preparing her defenses. "[Water dome], [Ice reinforcement], [Spatial lock], [Oceanic blessing]!"

This time she added another layer, making it sturdier than before. Moreover, she focused her defenses on the frontal half of the dome.

When Isla finished setting up her defenses, Yasenia lowered her sword, and an enormous sword-shaped sunbeam fired from her sword. It covered the arena before her completely, leaving her opponent with no choice but to block. Moreover, thanks to [Day and Night], the phantom Sun also fired from the sky, carrying celestial judgment onto Yasenia's enemy.

The two giant sunbeams scorched everything in their way and reached the blue and white dome. The impact bent the dome inwards and Isla, who was connected to the dome, felt like a meteor had hit her.

The first layer was destroyed almost instantly, and the ice layer cracked everywhere. The beams continued, and the ice layer exploded, leaving only a blue dome separating Isla and the catastrophic attack. Isla shouted, pouring energy into the dome, "HAAAA!!!"

Yasenia had blood on the corner of her mouth, eyes, and nose as she channeled the attack, and her meridians and Dantian pumped energy crazily. "ROAAAARR!!!!"

The beam took a blurred draconic shape and fired toward Isla!

Isla closed her eyes, and her blue aura turned yellow before the attack collided.

The draconic sunbeam consumed the dome and Isla!

BOOOM!!!!

The spectators held their breath as they waited for everything to settle.

Chapter 123

...With only a blue dome separating her front from the sunbeam, Isla shouted, pouring energy into the dome, "HAAAA!!!"

Yasenia had blood on the corner of her mouth, eyes, and nose as she channeled the attack, and her meridians and Dantian pumped energy crazily. "ROAAAARR!!!!"

The beam took a blurred draconic shape and fired toward Isla!

Isla closed her eyes, and her blue aura turned yellow before the attack collided.

The draconic sunbeam consumed the dome and Isla!

BOOOM!!!!

The spectators held their breath as they waited for everything to settle.

After a short moment, they heard Yasenia's imposing voice, the sound wave blowing the dust away, "As the dust settles! As the day ends! [Sunset] approaches! My strength Transcends!"

Yasenia appeared, with blood flowing from the corner of her mouth, eyes, and nose. Her skin was split in some places, pouring blood. Even if she portrayed a sorry sight, her golden eyes radiated light and battle-will.

Suddenly, Isla's voice echoed as if answering Yasenia's chant, "Wake up, my blood, and make living beings kneel in reverence! [Oceanic Divine Transformation]."

Isla's aura exploded and cleared all the debris and dust from the arena. Her Valkyrie armor was in tatters, and her cultivation robes were partially destroyed. She had burns on her skin, but her eyes remained calm. Then, six-light spots appeared on her back, and woosh, six white feathered wings with light blue streaks manifested.

Everyone opened their eyes, stunned. Tatyana was with the other girls, and when she saw this, she closed her eyes and said, "I expected something like this, but... Sigh."

Evelyn picked up something from her tone and asked, “She will lose, right?”

Tatyana nodded. Angel shook her head and was about to retort, but seeing Tatyana’s expression, she couldn’t bring herself to speak.

On the destroyed arena, Yasenia continued charging toward Isla fearlessly. ‘No matter what, I will never surrender! Even if the opponent seems unsurmountable, I will fight! If I have one last breath, I will use it to fight! Especially when retreat is not an option!’

Isla levitated as she spoke, “To think you injured me this much... It seems that you weren’t all talk. However, the match ends here.”

Isla flapped her wings once and disappeared; a moment later, she was before Yasenia swinging her sword downward.

Yasenia’s instinctively reacted, and she hastily used her sword, slashing as strong as she could, “[SUNSET]!”

Bang!!

The swords collided, and the strength of Isla’s slash shot Yasenia flying backward without control. For Yasenia, the impact felt like a mountain hitting her and almost ripped her arms off. Thankfully, she managed to maintain the grip on her sword.

Yasenia gritted her bloody teeth and pierced the ground with the sword while tumbling, regaining her posture while sliding backward. Isla flapped her wings again and chased after Yasenia with scary speed.

Yasenia saw a blur approaching and used her sword and tail to block.

BANG!

Isla’s second attack landed, and like a beast ramming a mortal, Yasenia was shot backward with tremendous speed.

She had split skin, broken bones, even the ones in her tail, and her inner organs were tumbling.

She hit the arena’s transparent wall heavily and got the air knocked out of her; even her skull cracked.

Isla flapped and appeared before her again. She lifted the sword upward and looked down at the badly injured dragoness.

Because of the heavy hit on her head, Yasenia saw everything blurry, how Isla appeared, how she lifted her sword...

Yasenia spoke with a tone so weak that it didn’t even reach a whisper, a voice that seemed like her last breath... However, the word wasn’t “surrender” or something similar.

Yasenia chanted a skill, fighting with this last breath.

All the stars fell onto them with tremendous speed, intending to bring down both together.

Isla couldn't help but praise Yasenya, impressed.

“Good fight.”

Then, she slashed downward, faster than the falling stars.

Slash!

The monitoring senior appeared and stopped Isla's sword. With a hand wave, he made the falling stars disperse. Then, he raised his voice and declared the winner, “Isla wins!”

Cheers exploded from the stands as they shouted Isla's name.

Meanwhile, Yasenya couldn't hold consciousness anymore and fell limply forward. Isla hastily moved to catch her.

However, before anyone could approach, Tatyana appeared and supported Yasenya gently, extremely gently, as if carrying a fragile treasure. Even the spectators could feel the care in that gesture.

Tatyana spoke with an eerily calm voice that echoed in the whole Coliseum, “Bring the best medical cultivators. If a single after-effect is left in my daughter, I will add everyone in the medical department to my undead army.”

The transcendent level medical staff instantly appeared beside Yasenya and started treating her the best they could. Everyone held their breath as they saw this happening.

A short while later, one of them said, “We can move her now.”

Tatyana and most of the medical staff used their movement techniques and disappeared from the spot.

The ones that remained approached Isla and diagnosed her. Seeing that she could move, the staff carried her to the infirmary; her injuries weren't light after all. Isla looked at her wounds and thought, ‘Overconfidence is a serious killer. If I had used my whole strength, like Yasenya did, from the beginning, I would have won a lot easier. Thank you for the battle, Yasenya. It taught me a lot.’

Now that everything had ended, the spectators had chills running up their spines.

“That battle was insane!”

“It was not a Mental Nourishing realm battle; I bet those attacks reached the Unification realm strength!”

“Do you know what the scariest fact is? Yasenya is only in the first level of the Mental Nourishing realm!”

Only now did the spectators around remember. They opened their eyes, completely frightened.

On Another side of the arena, some people discussed Tatyana.

“That woman is Katherine, the academy's headmistress, right?”

A nearby senior cultivator exclaimed, “Yasenya is her daughter!? I heard that she was very opposed to having children! A very strange thing on cultivators of her level...”

One person nearby frowned and asked, “Wait, isn’t her name Countess Tatyana from the Moon empire?”

“I’ve heard that Countess Tatyana is moving. All the maids, guards, and other staff, put their whole state inside spatial rings and left!”

An elderly man looked strangely at them and said, “You are all wrong! She is the [Death Empress], one of the protectors of the Demonic Sect. I remember seeing her 2000 years ago in the demonic side.”

An elderly woman spoke to him, “I think you remembered wrongly. I saw her 7000 years ago as the protector of the Heavenly sect! They called her [Death Consuming Seer]. I can’t be wrong because having red eyes like hers is very rare.”

The elderly man snorted, “16 000 years ago; she was in a relationship with the demonic sect leader! I can’t be wrong about this, can I?”

The elderly woman shook her head, “How could she be with him when 12 000 years ago she was with the Heavenly Sect leader? Is dementia getting you, old mummy!?”

“O-old what!? Do you want to fight?”

Everyone looked at the two elders, stunned. ‘Just how many titles and identities does she have!?’

In the infirmary, the seniors were shocked by Yasenias body regeneration. One of them couldn’t help but speak. “Lady Tatyana, your daughter’s body regeneration is amazing. Even if we didn’t do anything, she would have been completely healed in one or two weeks at most! Better yet, she wouldn’t have any defects in her body.”

Tatyana nodded and asked, “How much time will you need to heal her completely?”

A female physician asked, “Do you have any haste, Lady Tatyana? The worst injury is in the head and dantian area. Next would be her meridians, which have overexerted too much, and her bones, which shattered in her ribcage and arm area. Luckily, they didn’t damage the heart enough to need first aid. Yasenias vitality and energy maintain everything together and regenerate her slowly.”

Tatyana heard about the most serious injuries calmly. When the doctor finished speaking, Tatyana shook her head and answered her question. “The tournament ended for me the moment my little treasure lost. We don’t have any haste; take all the time you think is best.”

The female physician nodded and said, “We recommend you to let her heal naturally under the care of one of us or a doctor of the same skill. It will be beneficial to Yasenias. In case of choosing the second option, we will guide that person in everything we’ve done until now and pass the treatment to them” The rest nodded, confirming her words.

Tatyana nodded and said, “I have already called my personal doctor. She will be here shortly with Yasenias personal maids, her disciples. The moment they arrive, explain everything in detail to them. After I hear their opinion, we will decide what to do.”

The doctors bowed in acknowledgment. They weren’t arrogant enough to say that they were better than the legendary Death Empress’s PERSONAL doctor. They were more eager than anything else to get to know this person. They might learn something new today.

Tatyana moved to the bed where Yasenya lay bare with enhanced bandages that help align bones and improve the body's natural healing properties. Tatyana didn't mind the medical staff seeing Yasenya naked. She rather let them investigate her thoroughly and prevent any small injuries from escaping them than be an unreasonable person and not let them do their job.

When the doctors saw the male sex, they were surprised, but nothing more. They aren't thousand-year-old cultivators for anything.

Three minutes later, Andrea and the others arrived. Tatyana opened the door with her aura and let them pass.

Angel first looked around and saw no one but Tatyana near Yasenya, confirming that she won't bother the doctors. She ran toward Yasenya with teary eyes. "How is she? Is there anything wrong? Do we..."

Before Angel rambled more, Tatyana said gently, "Don't worry, it seems that her natural regeneration enhanced by the beauty pill is miraculous. She just needs rest. Moreover, her personal maids and my personal doctor are coming. They will be here shortly-" Bang!

"What happened to my young miss! Do I need to skin someone alive, Lady Tatyana!?"

"Slow down, sister. What if the young miss is sleeping? Do you want to wake her up?"

"You two are always so impatient. How often have I told you that patience is key in medicine?"

The first woman who entered was beautiful, with long blonde hair and a murderous aura around her. She seemed ready to slaughter devils and gods alike to avenge Yasenya.

The second one had the same face as the first, but with a shorter hair, she had a calmer aura around her, but if you looked closely, she was as quiet as a lake, without revealing the horrors under the mirror-like water. It was clear that these two sisters were completely loyal to Yasenya, ready to burn the world for her if needed.

The third woman had chestnut-colored short hair styled in a bob. Her icy blue eyes and stern face would make anyone straighten their back with a single look. She was much calmer than the other two because she understood how Tatyana operated. Since there wasn't an undead army outside... yet, there wasn't anything to worry about... Most likely.

Tatyana spoke to them, "Stop with the nonsense. Don't you see that I'm not burning this whole city with my army... Yet. What is there to worry about?"

Dr. Ava nodded, 'Just like I thought.'

Chapter 124

Tatyana spoke to them, "Stop with the nonsense. Don't you see that I'm not burning this whole city with my army... Yet. What is there to worry about?"

Dr. Ava nodded sagely, 'I knew it.'

The sisters were also enlightened, while the rest of the people were looking horrified at Tatyana. 'She won't do it, right? Right!?'

Tatyana motioned the doctors to get to work.

Dr. Ava approached and listened to their treatment process and what they used. Dr. Ava said sternly, "Thankfully, her regeneration factor is tremendous, or you would have hurt her. Remember, when using bone aligning bandages, you first have to remove the splinters. This is something very basic. So basic I don't even teach about it! How the hell did you all forget!?"

Dr. Ava approached Yasenia and took out a bistoury. She used her light energy to disinfect everything around Yasenia, killing everything harmful.

Then, using nature energy, she created a drug to lower her body activity to prevent Yasenia from bleeding out. When it took effect, she opened Yasenia's chest directly, showing her organs to the world.

Angel, looking at a medical procedure for the first time, instantly fainted after seeing her dear Yasenia being opened wide in the middle like some sort of fish.

On the other side, Kali didn't even blink the whole time; she was absorbing everything to use in the future if needed. Since she was with Yasenia, she will strive to become the best doctor beside her.

Dr. Ava said calmly, "I know that being near Lady Tatyana is quite scary, but if you do your job wrongly, her being scary is the last thing you will have to worry about. You had to do surgery, but you were scared that Lady Tatyana would be against opening her little dearest daughter. Foolish! She is older than all of you together. Do you think she doesn't know right from wrong?"

Dr. Ava continued, "Tatyana wouldn't even blink if her daughter had to be dismantled and then put together again if this meant Yasenia being completely healed, not to mention just a little opening like you had to do. She has seen horrors in her life you can't even begin to comprehend."

Tatyana's eyebrow twitched, and she said, "However, I'm not broken enough to know that dismantling her should be the last resort."

Dr. Ava looked with wonder at Tatyana, "Did giving birth to Yasenia return a little bit of common sense to that broken head of yours? Interesting, I may have to study it in the future."

Tatyana felt even her lips twitch. This woman was one of the few that could taunt and mock her without fearing her unless they crossed a very deep line. Tatyana was like a paper tiger for them.

Dr. Ava ended the surgery and managed to get all the splinters out within 5 minutes. Even if she could do it within seconds, she showed the attentive girl some tips without talking.

Then, she called Anna and Eve to help her close her open chest. Without leaving a single capillary out, Dr. Ava scanned Yasenia's body and nodded, satisfied.

She closed the wounds using a thread made of Nature energy. These threads would dissolve into Yasenia as her wounds healed. Then, she re-bandaged her with new bone-aligning bandages.

Angel woke up and looked around. Seeing Yasenia bandaged, she sighed in relief and said, "Thank goodness it was a dream. Why would a doctor open my dear Yasenia like a food can?"

Dr. Ava was about to correct her, but she felt Tatyana's gaze stopping her. Therefore, she didn't break the little girl's beautiful misunderstanding.

Dr. Ava said what she planned to say before, "Lady Tatyana, since you have ended this massive training program you've organized for your daughter's sake. Cough I mean, since the tournament ended, let's leave Yasenya to recover naturally. As the other doctors said, it will be more beneficial. It will improve her healing factor since her body is learning to recover from an almost dead state... Again."

The others definitely ignored the last word Dr. Ava said since it would be too much for their weak hearts after seeing such an operation.

Anna asked Tatyana, "Lady Tatyana, may I know who was the one that beat up young miss so badly?"

Tatyana nodded, "You can, but promise you won't do anything. I could be called a reasonable Yandere, but you can get out of control easily."

The others looked at the absolute murder god that instills fear just with her name at whole continents and races and almost spat blood at her shamelessness.

While taking out a notepad, Dr. Ava commented, "It seems that your shamelessness has increased since you gave birth. Anything more you find yourself different from before?"

This time it was Tatyana who almost spat blood. She reflected on life as she said, "No matter how strong, you can't argue nor win against your personal doctor. They know you the best... What a tragedy."

Dr. Ava nodded and wrote as she said, "It seems that common sense has greatly returned, and you are starting to state obvious facts. Anything more?"

Tatyana ignored her and lay beside Yasenya, "Please wake up soon, little treasure. You are the only one that understands me."

Dr. Ava said, "You are also delirious. How can someone understand you? You are more chaotic than the energies inside a supernova. Anything more?"

Tatyana just shut up and focused on her daughter's sleeping and bandaged face. Dr. Ava nodded, "Recurring to silence to escape reality. It seems that denial is also a problem..."

The people at the side were stiff. It was like watching a mortal play with the beast's claws while the beast was looking straight at that person.

The moment was extremely tense, not knowing when will the beast just chomp the unbridled sinner!

Since they've relegated all their responsibilities to Dr. Ava, the doctors left, leaving only the family inside. Of course, it was to give them space, and it was certainly not because they feared getting hit by a stray bullet after Dr. Ava's blatant provocations.

At the same time, in another part of the world, very far away, and in a place with an arid environment and a red sky, a discussion was going on inside a sky-reaching, black, and imposing tower.

On the highest floor, three humanoids were discussing some plans. Two were sitting on a throne, and the other was standing before them. However, these three humanoids had a terrible aura around them and were quite different from normal humans.

One of them had more than 9 meters of height and reddish skin. His enormous two pairs of fleshy wings had magma dripping from them, and a black fire burned in his eye sockets. Two black frontal horns went up from his forehead, and he had extremely sharp black claws. Unlike his scary appearance, he wore silver knightly armor with red runes engraved on it, and a 7m tall sword was stabbed at the side of the throne he was sitting.

The other one had greenish skin and had 3 meters in height. However, her aura wasn't less imposing than the red one. She sat on another throne with black armor filled with pointy edges and green runes. She also had two pairs of fleshy wings, releasing fumes that would easily melt Dantian spiritualization realm practitioners. She had a couple of black ram horns, and her long black hair reached her waist. Her face was beautiful, but her whole eyes were black, even the sclera, making her face somewhat disturbing. Her body form couldn't be seen because of the bulkiness of the armor.

The last one was the shorter one with two meters of height, he was also the weakest of the three of them, and he only had a single pair of wings. He was standing before the two of them, and his skin had a greyish tone. He had deep black irises, making his eyes quite attractive and mysterious. He had light metallic armor and a toned body. His face was handsome and angular. Moreover, the bull-like black horns gave him an attractive touch.

The one with reddish skin said, his voice rumbling like a clap of thunder. "Should we send an advanced unit to scout these five continents? We can send some with the incubus and succubus lineages to start breeding with the locals."

The one with green-colored skin said calmly, her voice enchanting, "They already know we are going. I think this is the fastest we've been discovered since you took charge... As the locals call it, we could send our juniors to the "demonic faction." It will be a nice experience if they survive."

The one with the grey skin protested loudly, "Why have the two of you become such cowards!? We should send an advanced combat unit to instill fear into them so that more people become our allies!"

The other two sighed, and the green skin one said, "Jurtork, I know you are still angry about that woman sneakily leaving. You've been going head first in all our expeditions to find her, but you've failed time and time again. More than 40 000 years have passed. Can't you let it rest? Your other breeders will become jealous again."

The grey demon, Jurtork, said. "But it was thanks to her that my cultivation advanced so fast at that time, making me reach what I am today! Now that I am almost at the demon Emperor realm, I want to make her my breeder Empress!"

The red demon shook his head and said to the green one, "Let him be, Nimune. He will just rampage around until he doesn't find her, kidnap some red-eyed women, and return."

The green demon, Nimune, frowned. "But this continent has some high-level cultivators. Burxis, he may die this time. We are even sending peak-level Demon Dukes and demon Monarchs as an advanced unit. Even if he is a high-level Demon Monarch, he might die."

The red demon, Burxis, said. "If he dies, then he dies. Since when have you started fearing death? This isn't like a demon Emperor should behave."

Nimune sighed and looked at Jurtork. "This will be the last time. From the next time onward, leave this task to the advanced unit."

Jurtork laughed, making the space around him tremble. "Thank you, Mother Empress! However, you worry too much; the Divines haven't sent anyone yet! What could happen? Hahaha."

Meanwhile, the tournament day has just ended, and tomorrow the last battles will happen. However, the group of girls didn't care. The group stayed in the infirmary, waiting for Yasenya to wake up. After steeling herself, Kali approached Dr. Ava and asked, "Senior, can I become your disciple? Your medical arts are the most advanced I've ever seen."

Dr. Ava looked at Kali's eyes as if she could look past the veil and insecurities. Kali couldn't help but have her heart rate accelerate. Dr. Ava opened her mouth and spoke without breaking eye contact. "I can cure your scars."

Kali's eyes widened and trembled.

Tatyana said sternly, this time with zero playfulness. "Avalonia, I hope you know what you are doing, or there will be consequences."

Dr. Ava nodded and focused on Kali again.

Chapter 125

...After steeling herself, Kali approached Dr. Ava and asked, "Senior, can I become your disciple? Your medical arts are the most advanced I've ever seen."

Dr. Ava looked at Kali's eyes as if she could look past the veil and insecurities. Kali couldn't help but have her heart rate accelerate. Dr. Ava opened her mouth and spoke without breaking eye contact. "I can cure your scars."

Kali's eyes widened and trembled.

Tatyana said sternly, this time with zero playfulness. "Avalonia, I hope you know what you are doing, or there will be consequences."

Dr. Ava nodded and focused on Kali again.

She faced Kali and said, "I will cure your scars, but I won't be your master if you agree. That is my first offer. I'm not so free to teach my medical knowledge to someone I don't know anything about. Less to someone I don't know when will be consumed by her heart demons."

Kali clenched her fist and resisted the urge to accept without listening to the other offers. Avalonia waited a moment, and seeing that she managed to stop herself, she continued, "My condition for you to become my side disciple is that knowing that I can heal you, I won't ever do it. I will teach you medicine, and when your skills are good enough, you will heal your scars yourself."

Kali nodded, and Avalonia continued, “My final offer is: I will make you my personal disciple and guide you step by step, but I won’t ever let you heal your scars. If you someday heal them, I will inflict even worse scars myself, without caring about Yassenia’s or Tatyana’s opinion on the matter. Now choose.”

Kali debated in her head, ‘Heal my scars, wait to be strong enough, and then heal them myself, or gain an unrivaled teacher in medicine but continue living with these scars the rest of my life.’

Kali looked down and bit her lips, ‘Should I just heal them? I have Elder Fredrick in the Academy, that is also extremely skilled in alchemy. He should know medical arts, but....’

Kali clenched her fist so much that blood flowed because her nails were digging up her flesh, ‘Dr. Ava is the personal doctor of someone as strong as the Headmistress! There is no way that Elder Fredrick comes even close to her skill! Should I just live with this shame and humiliation for life? And gain a peerless teacher?’

Kali thought, and after ten minutes of struggling, she raised her head and looked at Dr. Ava with determination. Avalonia’s eyes flashed as she looked at that pair of eyes, ‘Similar, very similar to... myself.’

Kali spoke, “I reject the first offer! If I take the easy path, I will regret it in the future. However, I also reject the third offer!”

Avalonia hid her smile and asked, “Why? Is having a pretty face that important? You could use human-skin masks and appear as pretty as you want.”

Kali’s voice was unwavering as she spoke, “Because, even if committing everything for the good of others may be what an ideal person would do, it is always necessary to have a backdoor open. Moreover, while I will live for others... I also live for myself!”

Avalonia smirked and said, “Since you are also proficient in alchemy, I will take you as my personal disciple. Prepare yourself, Kali. Being under my tutelage is not an easy thing!”

Kali’s eyes widened in surprise, and she made a stupid sound, “Huh?”

The others laughed, and Anna and Eve approached her, they wound their arms around her shoulder, and Anna said, “To think I will have the wife of my dear miss as a junior sister! What a joyful day!”

Eve said, “To think I will have another person to share my desperation of learning under Dr. Ava! What a joyful day!”

Kali smiled a little and said, “No matter how hard, I will become the best doctor beside Yassenia!”

Avalonia nodded and said, “Well said.”

She turned toward Tatyana and said, “Did I overstep? I wanted to see her determination before saying yes.”

Tatyana said, “You didn’t. However, if you are going to do something like this in the future, do it while little treasure is awake. I don’t want one of her wives suddenly leaving because of pressure while she is asleep.”

Avalonia nodded again. Kali asked, "What would you have done if I chose any of the other two options?"

Avalonia said mercilessly, "Follow them. If you had decided the third option, I would have also taken you as a personal disciple, but my enthusiasm for teaching a person who doesn't even care for themselves would be quite low."

Avalonia continued, "If you had chosen the first option, I would have healed you but never speak to you again. Moreover, you wouldn't have gone too far on the cultivation road since your heart demons would have consumed you, no matter what Yasenia did."

Kali tilted her head, and Anna said, "Silly junior sister, the worst heart demons are created when we overcome a traumatic experience without actual effort! Like memory wiping or healing through simple means. Although I think young miss wouldn't have abandoned you, you would have, at most, reached the Dantian Spiritualization realm. Young miss is bound to become someone extremely strong! Dantian spiritualization realms will become nothing but ants for the young miss."

Cecile frowned and asked, "Are you telling us that we shouldn't use it if we find something that could solve our problems easily?"

Eve said, "Why are you looking at the world as black or white? There are much more colors in life. You have to become discerning to know how to differentiate these things. The road is long, and our lifespan is extremely long. Learning through the years and gaining experience is how we advance in the cultivation road. How do you think the first cultivators reached new heights? Trying again and again and again!"

Tatyana said, "Let's see Yasenia's fight against Isla again. I will explain some things that Isla did wrong. In truth, Yasenia wouldn't even have had the ability to hurt her if Isla had played her cards well enough. This will help all of you to learn not to make the same mistakes."

The girls sat, and Tatyana reproduced the video.

When midnight arrived, they heard rustling from the bed, so Tatyana stopped speaking. Anna and Eve were already by Yasenia's side, with several things she may ask for.

Yasenia opened her eyes and looked at the ceiling. Her golden-red slit eyes glowed softly in the night, giving her an ethereal beauty.

No one said anything as Yasenia just looked at the ceiling, recalling why she was there; the head concussion caused a short-term memory loss. However, she soon remembered everything, and she spoke with a sigh, "I lost."

Anna, at the side, said, "Young Miss, your fight against Isla was impressive. The fact that you managed to damage her so much is an accomplishment other people would be proud of."

Yasenia smiled and said, "Good to have you by my side again, Anna, Eve."

They smiled and said, "We are back, miss!"

Angel approached her side, and when Yasenia reflexively moved her tail to pick her up, she hissed in pain, her lovers panicked, and Avalonia said, "Young miss, the bones of your tail broke in 27 parts. I do not recommend moving it."

Yasenia moved her neck to look at Avalonia but yelped in pain again. Avalonia said, “Your neck muscles are also torn because of the impact on the arena wall. I also recommend not moving the neck.”

Yasenia exclaimed, “Say everything I can’t move at once!!”

Avalonia said, “I think I would end faster saying what can you move.”

Yasenia became stupefied and used her energy to analyze herself. After a while, she said, “How am I still alive?”

Andrea, Evelyn, Tatyana, Anna, and Eve burst into laughter, and the others frowned. Avalonia said, “I was asking that to myself while watching your battle; the fact that your meridians didn’t burst was a miracle in itself, you being able to speak after hitting your head so hard with the arena wall... I can include that in the mysteries of the world book, and it would be accepted. You should have fainted instantly after that kind of impact, yet you managed to use a skill like [Starfall]...”

Tatyana said, “It seems that the one supervising the match was bought by the Heavenly Sect and didn’t end the match until a sure kill attack landed. Of course, I will have to have a nice chat with that bastard afterward....”

Yasenia frowned and asked, “Why can’t I use [Day and Night] to its full potential? With the amount of energy usage I was using, if I did [Midnight] followed by my finisher, [Falling sky], I would have directly died because of the aftershock.”

Tatyana said, “Little treasure, that skill enters the qualifications of berserk skill. Those types of skills are normally used as the last resort, especially when fighting at full strength. [Day and Night] is especially strong between them.”

Yasenia blinked in understanding, avoiding moving her body. Tatyana continued, “little treasure, what are you constantly doing through [Day and Night]?”

Yasenia thought and answered doubtfully, “Gathering energy?”

Tatyana nodded, “Your skills gather energy inside you, be it Moon or Sun energy, to release them using [Noon], [Full Moon], [Starfall], or [Midnight]. Moreover, in the middle of [Day and Night], you use [Dawn] and [Dusk] to conserve the previously accumulated energy. Imagine that you don’t use [Full Moon], [Noon], or [Starfall], and you accumulate everything, releasing it with [Midnight].”

Yasenia smiled wryly and said, “I die.”

Tatyana nodded, “This time, you didn’t use [Full Moon] because you didn’t need it. How did you feel after using [Noon]?”

Yasenia said, “I felt like I was about to burst. However, after using the skill, I felt lighter. I was even able to react to Isla’s transformed state with my slower [Sunset] attack. Sigh Will I never be able to fully use [Day and Night]?”

Tatyana shrugged and said, “That depends on what kind of innate skills you develop when you reach the Unification Realm. Maybe when advancing in the [Connection with Celestial Bodies], you will unlock a skill that lets you use it. Maybe the movement technique you will start learning when you reach the Unification realm will help. You can also have the luck of eating a treasure in the secret realm....”

Yasenia got impressed at all her options. Tatyana smirked and said, “The options are countless, little treasure. Remember, there is always a way. You just have to learn to see the opportunity and not let go.”

Tatyana turned toward the others and said, “This goes for all of you. Sacrificing yourself is normally the easiest way to accomplish something. The most difficult thing is achieving something and not sacrificing anything to get it. That is the optimal way you must approach every problem. First, think about how you can get what you need and leave that situation, unscratched. Only after all your options have run out should you begin to think about what you can sacrifice to get everything else. Ask yourselves, Is it worth it? If it is, then act on it.”

Tatyana looked at everyone and said, “It is time to return to the Academy! I’ve already got the entry jades for each of you, so don’t worry.”

Chapter 126

Tatyana looked at everyone and said, “It is time to return to the Academy! I’ve already got the entry jades for each of you, so don’t worry.”

Tatyana looked at Yasenia and said, “You’ve got quite a few things from this trip!”

Yasenia chuckled a little, even if it hurt, and said, “The best I managed to catch in this trip is my honey~.”

Kali, at the side, blushed under the veil and looked down. Yasenia asked Anne and Eve, “Will you be living with us from now on?”

Anna asked sadly, “Does the miss not want to have us near?”

Eve said dramatically, “Young miss grows so fast, she doesn’t need us anymore! I still can remember how I changed the wet sheets and all the times she needed our help to bathe!”

Yasenia blushed a little, and Anna said, “Right? I can still remember when she peaked at us when she was little! How she sneakily looked when we bathed with her, she was so cute I had the impulse to just glomp her regarding the age!”

Yasenia blushed a little more, and Eve finished her, taking out a photo of naked little Yasenia with a towel covering her waist down and sneaking a peek at Anna, who turned to take something—and showing it to everyone. “The best thing was that she thought we didn’t know that she was looking! My heart demons whispered daily those times!”

Yasenia exclaimed, embarrassed, “How can you blame me when you both and the other maids always entered naked at the bath with me! Worse, you started being naked in the bath when I started receiving sexual education! The only reason I didn’t attack you was that I was shy at that time!”

Yasenia came to herself, and for the first time, she blushed hard. Aggravated, she turned toward Tatyana, only to see her with blood flowing from her nose and taking photos at an impressive speed of her previously blushing and now aggravated face. Feeling even more wronged, she turned towards Cecile, who had fainted with Angel and Evelyn from cuteness overload seeing the photo of naked little Yasenia.

Kali and Andrea approached and patted her head; Yasenia looked at Andrea and exclaimed, “My honey and darling are the only ones who care about meee! Waaah!”

Andrea said, speaking gently with her deep and charming voice, “Don’t worry, Yasenia, we are also at our limits. You can even see blood dripping from Kali’s veil.”

Yasenia wished she could move to punish them, but she couldn’t, so she just went to sleep.

The night passed, and the next day came. Yasenia woke up and saw that her wives were sleeping at the side of her bed. Anna, Eve, and Dr. Ava were awake and standing by her side. However, she didn’t see Tatyana.

Anna opened a mental link and said, “Lady Tatyana is speaking with the bastard- Cough Heavenly sect leader. She will return shortly.”

Yasenia asked, “Did the tournament end? Who is the one that got the shield?”

Anna answered, “It was Jaxon. The final was against Isla, and she used her full strength from the beginning. After entering her Transformed state and hurting Jaxon badly, he suddenly transformed into a demonic form and recovered from his injuries. Then, with this new strength, he managed to beat Isla barely.”

Yasenia hummed, “Isla didn’t go all out against me from the beginning. Was she underestimating me?”

Eve entered the conversation, “I think it was partially because of that. She didn’t think you could hurt her so badly.”

Yasenia nodded and asked, “What is the plan for today?”

Eve answered, “We will go back to the Academy and find a mansion for all of us to live in. We will remain as your personal maids, and some of our juniors will become young miss’s wife’s personal maids.”

Yasenia whined through the link, “But I want to take care of my dears myself~.”

Eve and Anna answered instantly, “Then we won’t call our coworkers.”

Avalonia chopped their heads and said, “Can’t you see that she is faking it?”

Anna and Eve answered, “So what? We have to agree if our miss asks for something with that tone! That is the law of the world! The primordial law was created after young miss was born!”

They received another chop, and Avalonia stimulated the pain sensors, making them almost shout in pain and fall to their knees. To be able to make that to battle hardened seniors with a single chop... You could imagine Dr. Ava’s skill.

Avalonia said to Yasenia, “The maids will be experts in your wives’ field. They will help them with daily chores, and they will also become their advisors. Having someone under them will be a nice experience for the future. And they will come in handy when you can’t pay attention to them.”

Yasenia nodded in acknowledgment. “I guess mom wants to educate them in different areas. Moreover, having someone they can rely on beside me is good... Who would be of the maids?”

Maybe Flora? I really liked being near her... Alaia was also very nice to be around. She is the one I took the habit of putting my dears' face between my breasts from, hahaha."

Anna and Eve chuckled, and Anna said, "Then, young miss should be happy because the two of them will come~ Moreover, there are surprises~."

Yasenia was confused at their mysterious tone but nodded nonetheless.

Angel and the rest began to wake up, so, Yasenia and the rest stopped speaking through the mental link. Half an hour later, Tatyana returned accompanied by the Heavenly Sect leader. Yasenia and the rest looked strangely at his face, and the Heavenly sect leader smiled wryly.

Guan Yu spoke with a slightly muffled voice because of the beating he took from Tatyana. "I'm sorry, Yasenia, my underhanded methods almost hurt you very badly."

Yasenia chuckled, amused. "Don't worry, senior. I can understand why someone would want to give an advantage to their personal disciple. If I had fought against Jaxon, the Demonic sect leader would be here instead of you."

Guan Yu smirked and nodded, then he took out some pill bottles, "As compensation, I will give you and your wives these pills."

Anna approached and took them from him, while Eve took out a table that could go on the bed so that Yasenia didn't have to move. After they placed all the jars, Eve raised Yasenia's body, then Anna put a pillow on her back, and Eve helped Yasenia lay onto it, positioning her in a seated position that wouldn't hurt her.

Angel and the rest were impressed at their seamless coordination.

Guan Yu said, "I've heard that you haven't eaten the attribute enhancing pills, so I brought enough for all the elements of you and your wives."

Yasenia looked stupefied at the 16 bottles on top of the table.

There were two bottles with [Light Enhancing Pill]s, two bottles with [Sun Enhancing Pill]s, two bottles with [Moon Enhancing Pill], one bottle with [Star Enhancing Pill], one bottle with [Wind Enhancing Pill], one bottle with [Space Enhancing Pill], one bottle with [Metal Enhancing Pill], one bottle with [Glass Enhancing Pill], one bottle with [Lightning Enhancing Pill], one bottle with [Wood Enhancing Pill], one bottle with [Nature Enhancing Pill], and one bottle with [Life Enhancing Pill].

Each bottle had five pills except the [Light Enhancing Bottle]s that had four pills each since Evelyn and Angel had already consumed one.

Yasenia waved her hand and kept the bottles inside her ring, then she said, "I will take them. However, I think this was excessive as compensation."

Guan Yu shook his head and said, "Take it as an investment. I hope we become allies into the future."

Yasenia sighed and said, “Although I can’t promise to become allies, know that I will remember this favor.”

Guan Yu nodded, “Hearing that I’m-.”

Tatyana cut him and said, “Stop trying to trip my daughter with words in front of my face. You’ve given something, and she is satisfied, so you are free to go.”

Guan Yu sighed and said, “Sure, I hope you visit our sect in the future. We have beast-humans in it, unlike the Academy~.”

Tatyana tsked and said, “The Academy will also be admitting beast-humans from next year onward. I didn’t admit them in the past because it would be too much of a bother controlling discrimination and similar.”

Guan Yu chuckled and turned, “Until we see again.” Then he disappeared like a light beam.

Evelyn said, “As Tatyana said, they are people that can stab you with a smile on their face. You were sharp there, Yasenia. He almost tricked you into promising to become allies in the future.”

Yasenia shook her head, “I haven’t been educated these 20 years for nothing. Thankfully I developed a lot faster, and I have learned much more than what a 20-year-old can. Mom, the harsh lessons are starting to give a result.”

Tatyana said, “Who was the one complaining, ‘For what will be this useful for in the future?’ Can you refresh my memory, little treasure?”

Yasenia pouted, “Is it fun making fun of me? Has someone kidnapped you, and all of you are replacements!? Is that it!?” The rest chuckled.

Yasenia said, to Eve, “Remember to note about Jaxon’s whereabouts. I am going to recover the shield when my wounds get better.”

Angel approached and kissed Yasenia’s cheek, “Yasenia, let it be. Moreover, won’t the person with the shield go to the secret realm? We can trap him there. However, knowing that Jaxon is as strong as Isla... We must train harder and be able to match them.”

Yasenia looked at Angel and sighed, “Sorry, baby. I couldn’t get you the shield...”

Angel kissed Yasenia’s lips this time and said gently, “Yasenia, the fact that you entered the top 100 in this tournament only being a level one cultivator is a feat everyone will talk about. Having you in one piece by my side is the most important. Next time surrender before you get so badly injured. Seeing you like this hurts my heart.”

Yasenia looked at Angel’s blue eyes and, seeing the hidden distress, her face softened, “My baby has spoken; what is there to discuss, right?”

Angel puffed her chest and said, “But of course!” Making everyone laugh.

Tatyana ordered, “Picked up everything? We are leaving!”

Anna disappeared to get everything from the inn, and Eve picked up everything they could need from the infirmary.

Thirty minutes later, they mounted a flying, luxurious boat that Tatyana took out from her ring. The ship had a very strange design, made of bones and black metallic material. It had golden runes all around and gave a powerful aura.

Tatyana put energy into it, and they disappeared from Champion City, returning to the Academy. Therefore, closing this chapter of their lives.

Chapter 127

Yasenia was lying on a floating bed, with Kali seated on one side and Angel on the other, and the other girls were sitting around her. She looked at the city, which was fading away on the horizon, and sighed, “A lot has happened these two weeks....”

Angel nodded, “I’ve learned a lot of new things, and I’ve become much stronger.”

Kali smiled under the veil and said, “I’ve gained something I couldn’t have ever imagined I would.”

Evelyn said with a chuckle, “I’ve lost, and that made me realize that I have to keep improving myself.”

Cecile said, “I’ve relived the feeling of loss again and realized how important my lover is to me. Thankfully, I’ve gained new strength to protect her with.”

Andrea also joined, saying in her deep voice. “I’ve learned to love myself, not to be embarrassed about what I have, and I’ve recovered my determination to become stronger.”

Yasenia looked at them and smiled, “I’ve become more determined to become stronger, and the things I must protect have grown by one.”

Tatyana approached and hugged Yasenia softly from behind, “I’ve awakened from my long sleep.”

Tatyana finished speaking when the city completely disappeared from their sights. Yasenia asked, “what are we going to do when we reach the Academy, mom?”

Tatyana kissed her cheek and said, “We will first go to see your new mansion. It has space for all of you to live comfortably. Then, we will present your dears their personal maids, and, if you want, you can begin decorating the mansion...”

Yasenia chuckled, “In short, you don’t have anything planned.”

The rest also laughed, and Tatyana shrugged, “Live as you go. Having everything planned is sometimes very boring.”

Evelyn asked curiously, “Did you have a time you lived like that, Tatyana?”

Tatyana nodded, “Oh, I sure did. When I learned to control my Fate attribute better, I thought I had to keep everything under control and that I would be able to do anything I wanted. I mean, if you can control the future, you should be able to control the present, right? But later will I find that it isn’t like that at all. The more I tried to control the future, the worst it became; until I lost someone important to me—my sworn brother.”

They became silent for a moment, and Tatyana said. “The thing you have to control to know the future is the present. The more control you have over the present, the better things will unfold in the future. Like cultivation, studying, and life itself. You have to have a foundation; otherwise, it will all crumble eventually.”

Yasenia cursed, she couldn't move right now, and she wanted to hug her mom! However, who was Tatyana? The biggest daughtercon you will ever meet! So, feeling her daughter's desire, she leaned from behind and hugged her tight, giving her a tender kiss on the cheek. Yasenia smiled happily, "I love you, mom!"

Tatyana and the rest chuckled. Andrea asked, "So... I'm quite curious about these "personal maids," anything you want to share with us, Tatyana?"

Tatyana looked at Anna and Eve and said, "Anything you want to warn them about?"

Both said simultaneously, "Never revile, badmouth, or talk bad about young miss in front of them with bad intentions."

Evelyn raised an eyebrow, "So they are our personal maids, but they are loyal to Yasenia? Won't they tell anything we discuss with them to her? Not that I want to hide things from Yasenia, mind you. But some privacy wouldn't be bad for our relationship."

Yasenia internally agreed but didn't say anything; she wanted to know Anna's and Eve's answers. Eve said, "Don't worry, everything you discuss with them, they will keep a secret. Unless, in their judgment, it is about plotting something that may hurt young miss in any way or form. Be reassured that they are under oath."

Evelyn smirked, "Quite a... Broad oath."

Anna and Eve looked at Evelyn, thinking, 'She is quite sharp; young miss has found a good mate.'

Andrea also caught on to it but didn't say anything. She prefers it this way. However, Yasenia wasn't as happy; she wanted her dears to be able to be themselves around their personal maids. 'I will speak later to them.'

Kali asked, surprised, "So... These maids are totally loyal to Yasenia?"

Anna puffed her chest and said, "But of course! We are a special maid division trained to be closest to young miss. At first, they weren't too excited, but the moment they saw the one-month-old young miss, they all fell in love head over heels with her. How could they not? Young miss was, is, and will be the cutest child under the heavens!"

Yasenia's wives were stumped at her enthusiasm. Cecile asked, "So you were excited? Since you have said, "They," I suppose you two are different."

Yasenia chuckled and said, "Well, Anna and Eve helped mom with the delivery. So they saw me as soon as I was born."

Eve nodded, "I was completely stupefied at the beginning. How could Lady Tatyana's child have a tail? But the moment young miss opened her beautiful eyes; my soul got charmed away."

Anna corrected, "Our."

Eve nodded, "Our."

Even Tatyana nodded, "Our."

The others were about to nod and follow along but snapped out of it. ‘Why were we always pulled in that cycle!? Does the word “our” have spreading powers!?’

Tatyana’s boat was much faster than the battleship. Therefore, it reached the Academy in hours. It was nearing dusk when they arrived.

Yasenia looked at the cylindrical tower that pierced the clouds and seemed to have no end. The floors seemed clearly separated by enormous circular columns with different races and carvings. Some columns had people fighting, others people adoring the tower, and others had beasts on them...

What was interesting was that the floors were the same size from the outside, but from what Yasenia had heard, the tower floors kept getting bigger the higher one progressed. Resources inside the tower seemed unending as people had been plundering it for millennia without seeing a clear decrease in loot, but the resources at that time weren’t that special.

Nonetheless, there was a big jump in popularity after the Rising Talent Academy was built around it because after the Academy settled here, the resources inside gained in quality. Even the environment became more habitable inside the tower.

Because of these countless treasures hidden away inside it, people began living there. Of course, regardless of the mysterious quality increase of living conditions inside, the higher one advanced, the stronger flora and fauna became, to the point that it was essentially impossible to build settlements.

There were two requirements to enter the tower; to be in or above the Unification Realm or be born inside it.

The competition there was brutal because of the abundant high-level cultivators, but the rewards were also impressive, making people unable to resist the tempting call of riches.

Yasenia asked curiously from the floating bed. “How did you build that heaven-reaching tower, mom?”

Tatyana looked at the circular tower and said, “I haven’t built that; that is beyond my capabilities. That tower has been here since I reached this continent. It was the place where the three Empires met and a place where their talented juniors entered. Since I liked it, and the geological position puts it in the middle of the Sky Continent, I decided to take it for myself.”

Yasenia continued asking, “Why did it suddenly gain popularity? The library books say that the tower began giving more resources miraculously after you conquered these lands.”

The others perked up as Tatyana answered, “In reality, there wasn’t anything miraculous. This tower was in a dormant state, and I activated it.”

Yasenia continued asking since her mother seemed to love letting her die with the curiosity. “How did you activate it, mom?”

Tatyana chuckled and said, “I climbed it for some hundreds of years, trying to reach my limit. However, I underestimated it, and the creatures inside became too much for me to handle. I tried to hide away from them and realized that the beasts didn’t follow me if I went in a particular direction. I went there and reached an altar of some sort.”

Tatyana said lightly, “When I entered, there was a big formation. It was damaged so I took some years to fix it since I was bored. This activated it and gave me a map to some kind of ancient tomb.”

Yasenia and her wives had the impulse to cough blood and die, ‘How can you tell a story so exceptional as if it was another walk in the park!? I want to know the details!’

Yasenia said, exasperated, “You won’t tell the details, right?”

Tatyana smiled happily, “My little treasure is learning more and more about her mother. Mommy is so proud, little treasure~.”

Even if the others took it as sarcasm, Yasenia was actually happy at her praise. Yasenia looked at her mom and asked the question that she knew her wives had in mind. “So, how was the war against the Empires, mom? I bet they tried to take it back from you after you conquered it, right? I’ve heard from Cecile that the Empires retired after you appeared on the battlefield without fighting, but how did that happen?”

Tatyana chuckled, took out a book named [Heaven, Earth, Me: Rise of the Death Empress], and read it, “This is something that happened 1700 years ago....”

1700 years ago...

Inside a branch of the demonic sect, an otherworldly beautiful woman with raven black hair sat drinking a cup of blood. Her hair reached below her soft and plump butt, and her imposing red eyes emitted a bone-chilling aura.

Her face had innate elegance, and her body was perfected to the last skin patch. Her beauty, to put it simply, was something that charmed females and males alike.

However, her face seemed to be covered by a layer of frost, and her aura, fitting to that of a ruler, made people feel without a choice but to obey her words.

In front of her, a very petite woman of 140cm in height was seated, accompanying her, but drinking just tea.

She had an extremely charming face that made people want to kiss her until they suffocated with her lips and died in her embrace. Her hair was a beautiful red color, contrasting with her vibrant green eyes, and her slim body made people want to taste the taboo feeling emanating from her.

The petite’s woman voice was extremely charming as she said seductively, “My love~ Want to have some fun with me?”

The woman with black hair directed her gaze toward the petite woman. Those red eyes seemed to carry oceans of blood, and the petite woman had the impression of seeing mountains of corpses around the woman; she couldn’t help but become extremely aroused.

The black-haired woman put the cup on top of the bone table and stood up, then walked toward the bedrooms through the black stone-decorated passage. The petite woman also stood up and followed. The tyrannical black-haired woman was all she lived for, all she loved in this world.

The woman spoke; her voice was imposing, as if it had weight, “Rita, we’ve just finished our session. I’m not in the mood.”

The petite woman, Rita, smirked playfully and moved to her side, “Tatyana~ I’m not talking about that fun~ You will make me blush!”

Rita asked, “Have you gone to the [Heaven Reaching tower]? It is on the righteous side, at the point where the three Empires intersect. How about we go there and have some fun?”

Tatyana stopped walking and thought about it, “The righteous side....”

Rita knew what she was referring to with that tone, so she said, “Don’t worry, my love, I won’t become jealous of something that happened some thousand years ago! We are nearing our thousandth anniversary. I’m not going to let something like that spoil our mood~.”

Tatyana looked at the petite girl and sighed, “Sure, let’s go. I’ve seen it in pictures, but I have never gone near it.”

Rita clapped happily and then hugged Tatyana, “I love you~.”

Tatyana just patted her head and said, “Let’s go.”

Rita smiled and nodded. She took out a luxurious flying boat made of white bones and black metallic material. Then, they mounted and disappeared from the spot.

Chapter 128

They sped up through the continent and reached the tower some days later. The surroundings had different buildings, but they were like tiny protrusions on the ground compared to the enormous tower.

Tatyana and Rita descended in front of the entrance and looked at it, impressed. “I never thought that I wouldn’t be able to look at the end of it....”

Rita chuckled and said, “Not even divination skills work! It is one of the things that we don’t know where it came from. I think it is an inheritance of some sort.”

Tatyana nodded, “The ones that can build something like this are God-level cultivators.”

She looked around at the cultivators entering and going out of it. The atmosphere was somewhat dull, but there was fierce competitiveness emanating from all of them. Some groups looked at each other with killing intent, and Tatyana was sure something had happened between them. Others were more independent as they didn’t even look around. There were also charming males and females attracting the cultivators that entered.

A single man approached them with his top open, showing a perfect body. “Hello beautiful, would you like to-.”

Tatyana waved her hand in his direction, and everything ten kilometers in that direction began decomposing and turning into dust in a span of some seconds. Trees, vegetation, people, and beasts alike died, regardless of age, regardless of sex, regardless of who they were.

Tatyana delivered death to everything in that direction, and thus, that area became a place filled with death energy. Then, a wind lifted those ashes and carried everything away, effectively deleting all of that from existence. As if it was never there.

The people that saw what happened had chills going through their spines. Some became so terrified that run away while screaming.

Tatyana ignored everything and approached the tower with Rita in tow, completely unfeeling of her action.

She reached the tower's side and caressed the beige stone as she looked at the more than 1km tall columns that separated each floor. She walked around slowly, looking at the designs of different creatures, cultures, religions, and races—some of the carved races she had never seen before.

Tatyana asked, "Do you like it here, Rita?"

Rita nodded, "It's not bad~."

Tatyana spoke with a calm tone. "I also like it a lot... How about we build our own sect here?"

Rita's eyes shined, and she nodded like a woodpecker, "Good idea! But... The three Empires own this- "

Tatyana spoke imposingly, her words carrying the weight of her profound cultivation. "This eminence said that I wanted this. Who are they not to relent and give it?"

Rita jumped and hugged Tatyana's neck, kissing her, "You are the best~."

Tatyana hugged her waist with one arm and smiled thinly, "Far from it..." Then her face became expressionless again.

Rita clung to Tatyana while Tatyana walked around, observing the tower's architecture. It also had some visible formations around, but they were far too complex for Tatyana to understand. 'How could I miss this incredible place until now? Well, I know how... To busy trying to find someone to love.'

Tatyana looked around; the world seemed grey for her. It had lost its colors a long time ago. Not even Rita or the tower aroused feelings in her. If she weren't consciously taking care of her appearance, she wouldn't be surprised if her temples had begun growing white hair by now... 'Will I have to... Continue living like this? Unable to feel anything in this boring world? Only striving for supremacy? Revenge, death, revenge, death... Maybe... I should just... Die.'

Rita's kiss on her cheek brought her back from her thoughts, "What are you thinking about, my love? You seemed a little depressed. Do you want me to cheer you up in bed again~?"

Tatyana shook her head and said, her voice without a change of tone. "Don't worry; it was nothing important. What do you think of the tower and its surroundings, Rita?"

Rita tilted her head, "Didn't you just ask?"

Tatyana said, "Oh, that's right..."

Rita floated and looked around, "Not bad; I like it here~. I still worry about the retaliation of the empires, but I think we can handle it if we don't snatch too much territory, right?"

Tatyana also flew up and looked below her, "What do you think about the name? Do you have anything in mind?"

Rita shook her head and said, "What about you?"

Tatyana thought for a moment, and she said, "How about we call it... Rising Talent Academy?"

Rita laughed and moved in front of her, “Why that name? Are you using the things you’ve learned from transmigrators again? It’s better to call it sect~.”

Rita chuckled and said, “You really like their culture! Especially those that come from Earth!”

Tatyana shook her head and said, “We can change to that, but I called it like that because it can be shortened to Rita Academy.”

Rita opened her eyes widely and then jumped into Tatyana’s arms, laughing happily. “Sure! Let’s call it that way! I love you, Tatyana!”

Tatyana nodded and caressed her red hair, looking toward the top of the tower. ‘Will I find something worth it inside of you? Or will there be more disappointment?’

Tatyana sighed, feeling tired.

On this day, Tatyana formed the Rita sect. She called her supervisors from her main headquarters, and without speaking with the Empires, she began building the Adacemy around the tower. Those that spoke against it were killed without mercy.

At first, the Empires sent letters, saying that creating something there was not allowed and that the power that made something there would be attacked by the forces of the entirety of the righteous side.

Tatyana just ignored everything and recruited people. During the first 20 years, she got four of her trusted subordinates as the Elders of the Academy and distributed the administration work. Then she created the rules and started drawing the defensive formation with one of them, Elder Linda.

They didn’t move for such a long time because of the perception of time from high-level cultivators. Twenty years were, for them, quite a short period of time.

After the Empires noticed that their warnings were ignored, they sent some troops to test the strength of the power there. However, Tatyana and Rita annihilated the ten thousand soldiers easily in one fell swoop.

The empires sent some more expeditions, but all of them were unsuccessful. Meanwhile, time passed, and the formation took form with scary speed, especially for one of that size.

The Empires didn’t want to lose the tower, so they prepared an attack led by the rulers of each Empire and their strongest forces, ready to exterminate them and show the world their might.

Therefore, the day reached when the three Empires had the Academy forces completely surrounded inside an area of 500 000 square kilometers. (As big as Spain)

The voice of the Sun Emperor, with the help of the energy, echoed around the area, covering everything with his imposing presence. “We’ve advised you, again and again, telling you not to do something you will regret. We can let you go if you comply with our demands. Disappear and dismantle the formation.”

However, what answered was a female voice. This voice spread her aura around with tyrannical might, pushing back the Sun Emperor’s aura and flooding everything with horrible killing intent that made some people feel sick. “Retreat before both our sides receive enough losses to benefit third parties. I won’t take too much land, and I will also allow your juniors to enter the tower. I will take land until I have access to some forbidden lands and stop there. I can even make an oath if you want.”

The Star Empress said, supporting the Sun Emperors aura with her ethereal and mysterious aura, fighting against the horrible flooding killing intent, “Even if your top cultivators are as strong as ours, we overwhelm your lesser cultivators 1 to 30 000! You don’t have the army necessary to make that claim!”

After the Star Empress spoke, laughter echoed around, at first low, “Hahaha...” But the longer it went, “... HahahaHAHA....” The louder and crazier it got, “...HAHAHAHAHA!!!”

Tatyana’s voice reverberated through the land as she said, “You who rules the undead, you who, even with that ascendancy, is under my command. Awaken, [Sovereign Of The Underworld: Undead Empress]!”

A black spatial crack opened in space as everyone looked horrified at the amount of death aura pouring through. The humanoid figure that appeared was a woman with an otherworldly beauty; her aura was ethereal and with a royal demeanor. She was wearing a royal green and white dress that accentuated her beauty.

However, Tatyana didn’t stop there. Her voice echoed again, with no less strength than before! “You who rules the undead, you who, even with that supremacy, is under my command. Awaken, [Sovereign of the Underworld: Undead Emperor]!”

Another crack opened beside Tatyana, pouring even more death energy into the ambient and obscuring the day into an ominous night. The humanoid figure that appeared was a man with an extremely handsome countenance, his aura dominant and with a Tyrannical demeanor. He wore royal black and white garments that accentuated his perfectly sculpted body.

The worse thing was that these two had an aura similar to Tatyana’s in strength!

The spectating rulers were frowning. They could have attacked, but this would mean pulling the trigger and beginning an all-out war without the option of retreating.

Even if the tower and their pride were important, their Empire’s overall strength was more important. They couldn’t throw the lives of their country’s top masters without thinking of the consequences. Therefore, they wanted to see what she had in reserve and attack or retreat after understanding her strength.

Tatyana knew this, and her smile became face-splitting. Her voice echoed one more time! “You who rules the undead, you who, even with that authority, is under my command. Awaken, [Sovereign Of The Underworld: Undead Grand Marshal]!”

The space crack that opened this time was above them, and its size was a sky-shrouding 60km wide! Through it, the head of a giant armored undead dragon appeared. It opened its mouth and let out a heaven-shaking roar.

“RROOOOAAAR!!!!!!”

The deep and resounding dragon roar made the space fabric tremble as soundwaves washed everything with deafening volume. The dragon kept going through the crack, with its 40km wide wingspan, until its whole body appeared. On top of the dragon's head, an armored humanoid stood. They could spot him because, even with his minuscule size compared to the dragon, his aura was stronger than it! Almost on the same level as the two humanoids that Tatyana summoned before.

Then, the dragon flashed behind Tatyana, and the humanoid figure floated beside the other three. Tatyana's aura release increased one more time! And the three summons chanted, their voice spreading around.

The [Undead Emperor] spoke, his voice deep and charming, "As the enemies rise, as the war is near, our Empress calls summons us."

The [Undead Empress] followed, her voice gentle but unmistakably powerful, "As the swords rise, as the bows tense, our Empress calls strengthens us."

The [Undead Grand Marshal]'s voice sounded distorted but carried an irresistible might that made others obey him. "As the horses charge, as the dragons roar, our Empress calls commands us."

The three said simultaneously, "We swear on the breath that you give us. We will never retreat; we will be your army!"

Tatyana's voice echoed around, carrying a wave of death energy that made all people present suffocate, "[Death Empress Decree: Legion Summoning]."

The space cracked everywhere within a 250km radius of Tatyana, and countless undead flooded from the cracks. The undead began filling the land with laments and agonized howls. Some could fly, some were enormous, and others had terrifying auras. Then, when the number of undead reached 100 000 000. Tatyana stopped the skill, ending the summoning.

Tatyana exclaimed, "Do I have the right to speak now!? HAHAAHAHA!!!"

Everyone present was terrified. Inside that army, they could feel some presences that neared the transcendent level!

The Emperors had their eyes open widely, and the Star Empress suddenly screamed, "You are the [Death Consuming Seer]! What are you doing with demonic people!?"

With a touch of ridicule, Tatyana said, "Only now do you realize?"

Her voice now carried the weight of her cultivation as she spoke, "I ask again. Do I have the right to build my sect here, yes or no? Answer!"

The three Emperors looked at the giant army of 100 000 000 that had just appeared out of thin air thoughtfully. They looked at their soldiers and saw that most of them were completely terrified. Some were even mumbling things like [Death Empress] and other titles. Now more respectful, the Moon Emperor asked, "Is what you said earlier still on board?"

Tatyana laughed, "Sure, but now I want welcoming presents and for you to spread the name of my Rising Academy Academy! Unsummoning so many of my cuties is such a bother I may as well send them to one Empire until they disappear naturally~."

The Rulers spoke through a link for a moment, and the Star Empress said, "We accept. Retreat!"

The lower-level cultivators retreated fast, leaving only the high-level ones around.

The three Emperors asked their advisors the same question, “How many Transcendent realm cultivators do we need to beat her?”

The answers to the three Emperors were similar. The advisors said, “Between 50~70 and at least four high-level ones. This is considering if she just used half of her strength. If she didn’t use even that amount of strength... However, even if that was her full strength, which I doubt, she will be considered a terrifying powerhouse from now on. She can be considered a monster just under the Heavenly Sect Master and the Demonic Sect Master level.”

The three Emperors sighed and thought, ‘We will be laughed at because of this... Well, better than losing most of our troops and making those watching scavengers happy....’

Back to the present...

“...And so, they retreated without fighting.” Said Tatyana with a smile. Then, she closed the book and kept it in her ring.

The others were listening with completely opened mouths... Well, except Yasenias, who was looking at Tatyana with adoration. Tatyana looked at Yasenias and gulped, ‘Thankfully, she is injured, so I can easily control myself... Little treasure, I will have my compensation when you recover!’

Evelyn asked, “Say, Tatyana... How big is your army?”

Tatyana shrugged and said, “I don’t know.”

The rest choked, ‘If this isn’t flaunting her power, I don’t know what it is!’

What they didn’t know was that Tatyana was 100% serious, and she didn’t actually know the size of her army. She stopped counting after the billion.

While Tatyana was telling the tale, they reached the mansion.

Yasenias observed and saw that it was quite big compared with the three-room house she was in before. This villa had a big main building with four floors and two side buildings with two floors.

The side buildings were 100m apart from the main house, leaving space between them filled with a nice gardening area. The decoration was delicate but not excessive, and the walls were mainly white with some grey and blue accents.

After crossing the main gate, there was a garden with a paved road to the main door that separated going to the other buildings. They went to the main building and reached the wooden door. It was simple yet elegant, with a beautiful design of a dragon going through the door frame.

Anna opened it, and they entered.

Inside, a surprise awaited them. Five maids were waiting for them. However, four of them were beast-humans!

But, even if the others were impressed because they weren’t expecting beast-human maids. Yasenias was completely flabbergasted.

She looked on and on, trying to find something that didn't match those faces in her memory, but she wasn't able to. She couldn't help but exclaim, "Weren't you humans!? How have you suddenly become beast-human!?"

They chuckled and said simultaneously, "At orders of Lady Tatyana, we hid our beast-human traits with the help of pills during the last 20 years."

Yasenia wanted to whip her head toward Tatyana, but her neck hurt! So she just looked at her with disbelief in her eyes. "Why would you do that?"

Tatyana calmly said, "I didn't want you to gain favoritism toward beast-humans. Or who knows if you started a revolution for the beast-humans in this continent."

With that explanation, Yasenia, Evelyn, and Andrea understood. But Kali, Cecile, and Angel were completely lost, unable to comprehend what Tatyana tried to explain.

Yasenia sighed and leaned back on the bed, "Mom's intention was for me not to develop special fondness toward beast-humans because, on this continent, they are mostly slaves. If, after growing up with beast-humans that treat me well, I see the 'Bad conditions' that the rest of the beast-humans are, some ideas would start sprouting in my mind."

Angel and the others understood with that explanation. Yasenia looked at them and asked, "So... How many of you were beast-humans?"

One of them, a Dog-kin said, wagging her bushy brown tail, "Answering miss! Of the 200 maids that attended miss since you were little, 160 were beast humans. Of the 500 guards that protected young miss, 360 were beast-human!"

Yasenia looked at them in disbelief, "Are you telling me that 80% of the people I grew up with are beast-humans!?"

The four present beast-human maids were a dog-kin, a dryad, a dragon-kin, and impressively, a lamia!

The maids suddenly focused on the condition of Yasenia, and their pupils thinned or shrunk, and a murderous aura exploded from the five of them, "Who dares hurt our miss to this extent!?"

Angel and the rest shuddered, 'What kind of maids have this amount of killing intent!? They are scarier than a demon!'

Yasenia remembered another little detail that she almost forgot, 'All of the maids and female guards entered the definition of overprotective!'

Anna took a step, blocking their murderous intent, and said, "It was in a duel; Lady Tatyana has already dealt with the aftermath. Relax your auras!"

The five instantly stopped their auras and smiled happily. The lamia said, "Since Lady Tatyana dealt with them, we shouldn't worry." The others nodded.

Angel and the rest shuddered again, 'How can they change moods so fast!?'

Yasenia nodded and said, "As expected of the maids under mom, they are extraordinary."

The five of them blushed and said coquettishly, "Thank you, young miss~."

Bear with me a little. Their appearance was as follows.

First, the human; she was short, 160cm, and had beautifully tanned skin. She had a slim body and beautiful silver color eyes, with mid-length white-colored hair. Her facial features were cute, and her disposition was energetic. She presented herself with a smile, “My name is Clara! I’m very knowledgeable in hunting, beasts, and an excellent archer~ My attribute is Moon and darkness, and I’m at the sixth level of the Dantian Spiritualization Realm. I will be Miss Cecile’s personal maid. I hope we get along nicely~.”

Cecile nodded and presented herself, “I’m Cecile and also Yasenia’s [Soulmate]. I’ve gained the [Moon Phoenix] bloodline and have my attributes recently changed to Moon, wind, and space. Nice to meet you.”

Clara smirked and said to the others, “I got our miss’s [Soulmate]~ Hohoho, losers!”

The others had a vein pop in their forehead, but they relaxed; they didn’t want to scare their future masters... Well, they already did, but they were deceiving themselves, trying to eliminate the recent outburst from their memories.

The dog-kin stepped forwards. At 170cm tall, She had droopy brown dog ears and a bushy tail. Her hair was cut in a cute bob, and she had an easygoing smile. Her facial features were soft and gentle. Her body was somewhat curvy but without entering the voluptuous line. Her voice was also gentle, “My name is Leila, and I’m an expert blacksmith. My attributes are fire, earth, and metal. My weapon of choice is a Halberd, and my level is, like Clara, at the sixth of the Dantian Spiritualization realm. I will be taking care of miss Andrea; order me as you like.”

Andrea smiled gently and said in her deep voice, “I’m Andrea. My elements are Sun and Metal; I hope we can make the best equipment for Yasenia together.”

Leila’s smile widened, and her tail wagged, “Yes!”

The dragon-kin stepped forward with a seductive smile. She had two big yellow-colored dragon wings and one armored tail of the same color that was 1.5m long. She was 180cm tall and as voluptuous as Yasenia. Her slit eyes were a charming blue color, and her long hair was also yellow, with two blue dragon horns growing at the sides of her head and pointing forward.

Yasenia couldn’t help but stare, ‘Alaia has become so beautiful~.’

As you should be able to guess, most of Yasenia’s habits came from this woman. Her voice was also pleasant as she presented herself, “My name is Alaia, and I’m an expert alchemist. My Attributes are Lightning and water, and I’m am of the bloodline of [Thunderous Serpent dragon]. My weapon of choice is a spear, and my level is the highest of us five. I’m at the ninth level of the Dantian Spiritualization realm.”

Alaia’s voice became sensual as she spoke to Evelyn, “I will be taking care of miss Evelyn in every way she wants~.”

Yasenia looked at Evelyn, who had her gaze locked on Alaia’s big breasts, and smirked playfully, “Dear, don’t you have anything to say~?”

Evelyn woke up from her stupor and hastily said, looking back and forth between Yasenia and Alaia, “I’m Evelyn! I uh, Glad you are the one- I mean, it seems that what Tatyana said about dragonesses is the truth... Ugh, that’s not it! I’m quite mediocre in Alchemy, so I hope you can teach me!”

Alaia and Yasenia burst into laughter, making Evelyn wish she had a cross-eye to look at both bouncing bosoms simultaneously! ‘My life is only improving by the day!’

Next was the dryad. Her height was 170cm, and she had light green skin and branches with leaves as her hair. She had a beautiful big pair of breasts and a lean body, with a beautiful floral dress. Her facial features were as beautiful as nature, and her verdant green eyes also gave a sense of gentleness. Her refreshing scent was calming and relaxing. Yasenia couldn’t help but ask, suspicious, “Flora... From where were the vegetables I ate?”

Flora, who was about to present herself, blushed, giving her cheeks a deeper greenish color, “My, my~ Young miss, what kind of things are you asking in front of everyone~ Of course, they came from me! Seeing you eating them with delight is something I was always looking forward to~.”

Yasenia looked at her helplessly and said, a little teasingly, “Well, know that you are delicious~.”

Flora hid her face with her hands as her hair started ruffling, and even flowers grew on it, “Young miss~ Do not say something like this~. You are embarrassing me~.”

Kali was attracted to the dryad’s pure life energy and natural energy. Flora recovered from Yasenia’s sneak attack and looked at Kali with a gentle smile, “Miss Kali, as young miss said, my name is Flora. I’m the best alchemist under the Lady Tatyana between the ones under the Transcendence realm. My elements are Life, Nature, and Wood, and my plant summoning skills are also top-notch. I’m also extremely knowledgeable in flora and healing arts. Oh! I almost forgot I’m at the eighth level of the Dantian spiritualization realm. I hope we can learn from each other from now on~.”

Kali looked down, making her veil weave, and said, “My name is Kali, Lady Flora. I will be under your care.”

Yasenia patted Kali’s head. Kali looked at Yasenia, and seeing her gentle gaze, she was determined to make her objective real. ‘With Flora and Dr. Ava. The only thing I have to do is work hard!’

Finally, the lamia slithered forward with her long, seven-meter serpentine red tail. She was also voluptuous but with a more ‘motherly’ disposition. She had red slit eyes and long red hair with round facial features. “My name is Seleniashas, or Selena for short. I’m a formation master with a lot of experience. My attributes are Light, glass, and fire, and I like fighting on the frontlines with a shield and a sword. My cultivation level is at the seventh level of the Dantian Spiritualization realm. Miss Angel, I’m going to be your personal maid. I’m extra cuddly so expect a lot of skin ship~ fufufu~.”

Angel smiled shyly, “My name is Angel; I hope we can get along nicely....”

Selena slithered forward and picked up Angel, then she curled her tail, making a seat, and sat Angel, hugging her from behind. “You are very cute, miss Angel~.”

Angel was surprised at the softness of the scaled tail. ‘So comfy~.’

Yasenia looked at Tatyana sideways and asked through a mental link, 'Why did you pick the most enticing for each of them? It is like each of the maids have one trait of mine that my dears like.'

Tatyana smiled tauntingly, 'Are you jealous? Are you afraid that your dears will leave you for them~?'

Yasenia rolled her eyes, 'Am I someone with confidence issues? The ones scared should be my dears and mom because some of them are quite attractive and I'm getting tempted~.'

Tatyana's taunting smile cracked a little and then transformed into a sweet smile, 'Dear, remember that your wife slots are used~ If you want to fuck them, I don't care, but do not dare to deepen your relationship to lovers with them~. Am. I. Clear~?'

Yasenia almost spurted blood, 'What do you mean that you don't care if I have sex with them!? Why do all of my lovers, my mom included, want to see me having sex with another woman!?'

Tatyana chuckled and didn't answer her. Tatyana didn't care because she saw sex like any other activity. After so many years, for Tatyana, sex wasn't anything special. What mattered to most long-lived cultivators like Tatyana was their partner's feelings for other people. Of course, if Yasenia slept around without any care, Tatyana wouldn't be indifferent.

The maids were special because they had been trained to be Yasenia's, and not figuratively. Since the moment Yasenia hit the age when she could start sexual relationships, all the maids have stopped having sex with other people. Of course, none of them were in a romantic relationship since that was a condition to join the maid ranks, being free of a romantic partner.

Moreover, those who had a physical relationship with other people, be it for fun or dual cultivation, stopped having them when Yasenia was of age to have sexual relationships.

Furthermore, in Tatyana's opinion, dual cultivating with the maids will further strengthen her little treasure's cultivation.

After the maids presented themselves, they guided them through the mansion. Selena slithered at the front while explaining; her voice was mellow with an accent in the letter 's'. "This mansion is built over miss Andrea's previous two-story house. We have reformed it since it had only five bedrooms and a smithy."

Selena looked at the side building and said, "We've moved the smithy to one of the side buildings, making the five bedrooms on the second floor bigger. Then, we added a third floor for the main bedroom and four study rooms. Each room has its own bathroom. The fourth floor is mostly a storage room and treasury. There is also a stargazing room. "

Clara continued explaining, her voice lively, "The first floor is similar to what it was before, so miss Andrea should be familiar with it. We've changed the furniture to give a homey and relaxing feeling. Since we know that young miss likes cooking, the kitchen has been completely transformed, and it is now equipped with better tools. There is a living room and a banquet room, just in case young miss and her wives want to have a party or something like that. There is also a porch with reclinable chairs, and the breeze there is soft and refreshing."

Flora continued, her voice gentle and relaxing, “The backyard has nine square kilometers, with training and cultivation areas. The front garden is mostly decoration, but we can change it on demand. There is also a place to grow spirit plants or vegetables.”

Yasenia teased her, “What a pity. I thought we would eat your delicious vegetables again.”

Flora blushed and looked at Yasenia with reproach, “What does young miss take me for!? I will only feed those things to young miss! I’m not a loose woman!”

They were about to chuckle when they picked up something strange from her choice of words. ‘Loose woman?’

Yasenia decided to learn more deeply about non-humans, lest she proposes to someone without knowing! Well, Flora was a lost battle since she had been eating her vegetables all her life!

All her wives shared this thought and decided to read about the customs of beast-humans.

Alaia said, her voice deep and seductive, “One of the side buildings is our maid quarters. If you want something from us, we will always be at your service no matter the hour. Each of you will also have a jade to communicate with us.”

They did a tour around the maid quarters and saw different equipment. From weapons to side profession tools. From cultivation rooms to a prison area below it. Angel asked Selena, “why is a prison built here?”

Selena smiled at Angel and answered, “For the fools that try to enter here with bad intentions towards our young miss. Death is too cheap, so we torture them here until our anger subsides. Oh, we also take out information of them.”

Angel nodded and continued looking at the different torture tools around, unfazed by what Selena had just said. In our baby’s opinion, that was a proper punishment!

After walking around the prison, they went to the last building.

Leila described the area; her voice had a gentle and servile tone, “This building is divided into four parts. There is a smithy, two alchemy rooms, and a formation room. Each room is isolated from the others, so don’t worry about interference from the outside. Lady Tatyana has provided the tools inside.”

Leila smiled at them and said, “Moreover, they are completely yours! All the tools here are high-level Heaven ranked, and there is also a ring in each room. Young miss chose the designs, and then Tatyana enchanted them to become powerful high-level storage rings.”

The five of them widened their eyes and looked toward the two people on the floating bed. Yasenia smiled and said, “I hope you like them. I used the tournament nights to select them with mom. There are also some other miscellaneous things you might need and....”

Evelyn, Andrea, Angel, and Cecile approached without letting Yasenia finish and showered her with love carefully so that they didn’t hurt her. Then, they moved toward Tatyana and bowed in thanks. Angel even jumped into Tatyana’s embrace and laughed happily.

All of them except Kali, who just bowed in thanks, looking a little awkwardly at them. Yasenia called her, “Honey, come here.” After she spoke, Yasenia patted her left side, which was free.

Kali moved and sat a little shyly. They have only kissed, and because of Yaseña's injuries, they couldn't become more intimate. Yaseña chuckled internally, 'And here I thought I could go on the offensive with honey... Isla, I curse you so that you sneeze in the worst possible moment!'

They continued the tour around the mansion, and Yaseña asked, "So how many credits from us have you used to build this?"

Tatyana chuckled and asked, "How did you know that I used your credits?"

Yaseña snickered, "I don't believe for a second that mom, who normally is extremely stingy, will help us this much."

Tatyana laughed and said, "Well, you are not wrong. I've used 99.9% of what you had saved, leaving you with only 10 000 Credits."

They looked at her with stupefied faces, and Evelyn exclaimed, "We didn't have that many credits- Wait." She turned toward Kali and Andrea, who were frozen.

Andrea thought tearfully, 'My 7 000 000 credits... gone, like that.'

Kali thought with a hurting heart, 'My 2 500 000 credits... gone, like that.'

Yaseña said, "So we have one-fiftieth of what our group had. Since Evelyn, Cecile, Angel, and I made 500 000 in the past months.... The Fanclub girls are very generous when buying my photos from Evelyn."

Yaseña saw her darling and honey's state, so she said, "H-Honey, darling, look at it from the bright side, 10 000 credits is the monthly allowance for inner violet disciples. Moreover, our wealth will skyrocket with our new house and all of us working together!"

Andrea and Kali looked at Yaseña, and Yaseña said, "Also, we can change our coins to credits! And... After selling everything useless, we will have quite the treasury, don't you think? Moreover, this is our first home~."

Kali smiled under the veil and leaned on Yaseña. Andrea walked toward her to hug her softly, "As expected of our dragoness, she knows how to cheer us up~." Then she gave Yaseña a peck as a reward, making Yaseña smile happily.

They walked toward the living room, talking about the house with smiles. The seven maids followed from behind. Tatyana's jade communication jade vibrated, and she took it. An angry voice sounded on the other side, "Madwoman! The Long and Tang families are going crazy, saying that Yaseña and you have fled from the tournament because of fear or something like that. They are smearing your and her name very badly! Couldn't you just wait for it to end before leaving!?"

Tatyana raised her eyebrow and said, "Are you sure we can't go to war with them? I really want to expand my army. I'm quite confident in winning against their ancestors."

The woman on the other side screamed, "And give me more work!? Not only are you mad, but the age has started affecting your memory! Who disappeared into a forsaken tomb for almost a millennium!? Do you have any idea of the-"

Tatyana said, “Then let them smear all they want. It is not like Yasenia and I need a reputation. She just has to show up in person once, and she will charm everyone, making the opinions change.” Then she cut the communication.

The woman on the other side looked at the jade, completely baffled, and then screamed, “I’m going to beat you up! “She just has to show up in person once,” MY ASS! What the hell? Do you think your daughter is a goddess or something!? WORSE, do you really think you don’t need a reputation!? I need to speak with our allies that may also want to leave and-”

The author also cut that woman, focusing on our group again. Yasenia asked, “What is the plan until the secret realm opens?”

Andrea said, “We should try to advance all we can in cultivation levels and widen our repertory of skills.”

Evelyn said, “Andrea, can you develop something to feel each other? We may be thrown to different locations when we enter through the portal. Maybe, with the help of all of us, we can create something.”

Yasenia asked, “Doesn’t that already exist in the market? We could buy it.”

Andrea shook her head, “Although it exists, other people can interfere with it. We need to adjust it for us to be more private. Like creating a private message red instead of a wide communication network that connects some commercial equipment.”

Kali proposed, “Umm, why not create a spiritual connection between us so that we can feel each other? Similar to the dual-cultivation connection, but deeper and more precise.”

Tatyana raised her eyebrow and said, “Kali, that is quite dangerous.”

Kali asked, confused, “Why?”

Tatyana said, “What if any of you don’t want to see each other or the relationship breaks? Are you prepared to live with that connection for life?”

All of them began thinking. Yasenia said, “I think we should focus on developing the tool. Although I’m very tempted to try what honey just said and tie all of you to me... I don’t find it healthy for our relationship. I want all of you to have some privacy and not feel chained to me...”
