

Heaven 27

Chapter 27

After hearing that Angel clenched her little fist while looking down, but she heard Yasenias continue "...But, know that I'm extremely unwilling, I love you, Angel, during this month interacting with you, I was able to taste what a normal relationship was. So, I'm not only grateful but also deeply in love with you."

She curled her tail and arms possessively around Angel and continued "That is why..." she looked at the soft blue eyes that were watering with her golden ones and continued softly "I don't want you to leave me. I really don't."

Angel started crying and said a little choked "I also sob don't w-want to leave you sob It's just that, knowing one thing a-and sob that thing happening feels really different."

Yasenia sat up on the bed and cradled her. Angel said nervously after calming down a little "C-can I know who s-she is?"

Seeing the obvious insecurities in her face, Yasenia couldn't help it anymore. She dove downwards capturing her lips. Tasting the slightly salty lips she felt both happiness and sadness. Happy that Angel loved her, sad because she made her baby cry.

She really didn't like harems, but here she was doing one for herself, for an extremely selfish reason too, however, she won't stop.

No matter how hypocritical, in this world where only might gives you voice, she will stop at nothing for gaining enough power to protect those dear to her! The rest of the world be damned!

After she finished kissing Angel until she was limp in her embrace, she started telling her about Andrea, what they spoke, and how it ended in what it did.

Angel was amazed by this senior speed in seducing Yasenia, however, thinking about herself she laughed. Seeing her finally laugh Yasenia smiled too. "What are you laughing at, baby? How about you tell this big sister~"

Angel said with a proud smile "Even if she was fast, I'm the fastest getting you! I seduced you in one afternoon! Hahaha"

Yasenia smiled with a pampering smile "En, my little angel grabbed my heart the fastest."

Angel smiled and started kissing Yasenia. 'I really love her... I want to stay by her side... Even if others come, I can always appreciate the fact that I was here before them. Even if there is still this other lover... Here in the academy, I was able to capture this extraordinary woman's heart first. I could say that I am blessed, what is there to be sad?'

Angel stopped kissing her and both laid back down on the bed in their usual position. Angel said whispering "Yasenia..."

Yasenia caressed her head and asked, "What is it, baby?"

Angel hugged her tighter "I love you, with all my heart."

Yasenia curled her tail protectively around Angel and smiled tenderly "I love you too Angel, more than you think." Both of them fell asleep shortly after.

The next day went by fast, and the classes ended. Yasenias was walking towards the back of the mountain, she couldn't help but feel blessed having Angel by her side.

Then she said while looking towards the sky "Since they gave up their chance to have a life with a lover that can be loyal to them, I will give my all to protect them. Even if I have to become this Heaven and Earth!"

An extremely loud thunder sounded! RRUUUUUUMBLE But Yasenias wasn't cowered! She focused her gaze on the clear sky as if steeling herself to anything that the heavens will throw at her. Then, one silent yet fast lighting hit Yasenias Bang! The strength behind it almost floored her on the ground!

Yasenias had her skin charred and her knees bent, but she was still standing! Feeling that the heavens won't attack again, she took one healing pill and used her [Celestial coat] to upgrade her regeneration.

In half an hour she was completely healed. She used a portable bath, refreshed, and put on the cultivation robes that she had mended with a single-use clothes-mending formation. Then she continued advancing as if nothing happened.

She had tons of that type of formation given to her by Tatyana, the only downside was that it only worked on Low-level heavenly treasures and below.

Yasenias then looked towards the horizon and waited for Andrea to appear, She wouldn't mind starting a relationship with her.

Not only was Andrea beautiful, but she also has a very outgoing nature, she seems reliable and she is talented enough to be part of the inner disciple violet class.

This kind of person, she wouldn't mind sharing a piece of her heart with her. When the sky was starting to get an orange color, Yasenias heard footsteps behind her. She turned around with a smile.

Andrea was walking towards the mountain, she was a little nervous 'Will this go like the other times?'

When she reached the place, she froze at the beautiful picture in front of her. Yasenias was giving her back to her with the Sunset behind making Yasenias have a soft orange glow enveloping her. Then, she saw her turning and that pair of deep golden slit eyes looked at her. When Yasenias saw her, she smiled gently, and combined with the landscape it was truly an image that she would love to paint, no matter what happens today.

Yasenias walked towards Andrea. She spoke softly "Since you are here, I will tell you about myself as I promised. If you still want to form a relationship after that. Then, today you will gain me as your girlfriend. I will never lie to you, and whenever we have problems, I would like to share with each other and find solutions."

When Yasenias finished speaking Andrea woke up from her stupor and said, "Before you speak... I would like to tell you something about me. You have, however, to swear that you won't tell to anyone about it."

Yasenias frowned a little and said "I can't swear that, I promised some people that I will never lie nor keep things from them. I won't be able to keep that oath when that happens."

Before Andrea spoke Yasenia continued “However, I can swear that I won’t tell anybody unless you give me the go-ahead. How about it? I will compromise and trust your character.”

Andrea nodded. Yasenia then said, “I swear to the heavens that I Yasenia won’t speak about what Andrea considers her secret to anybody unless I am permitted by her!”

Then A golden chain shot from the void and pierced her on the chest. The chain dissolved and went inside Yasenia completing the oath.

Andrea and Yasenia moved to the side and sat on a flat rock looking at the sunset. Andrea started to speak “You know, I have always been admired by a lot of girls and boys, being confessed was a normal occurrence before and after I started cultivation. I never accepted before I started cultivating, but I did after that.”

Andrea started reminiscing “I started a relationship with a cute girl that confessed to me at that time. We advanced our relationship quite well, we liked each other... Everything was going well, until the night that we were about to have our first time came.”

Andrea said a little unnaturally “I have, the male sex and the female sex. When that girl saw it she was... disgusted, and after some talks with her and making her swear that she won’t tell anybody, she broke up with me. Since then, before starting a relationship, I always made people swear this oath and tell them about it. Be it male or female, neither of them accepted after knowing about it. People think that I rejected them, but it was actually the contrary.”

Andrea looked a little fearfully at Yasenia, not wanting to see the disgusted face. However, what met her was a beautiful smiling face! Andrea was a little angry “What are you smiling at? Do you think this is funny?”

Yasenia couldn’t help it anymore and launched herself at Andrea. Andrea caught the soft and fragrant body between her arms and looked down a little dazed to the smiling beautiful face.

Andrea couldn’t stop her heart from beating faster because of the mess that her feelings currently were.

Yasenia looked up from Andrea’s embrace and started laughing a little “I didn’t know what serious thing you were going to tell me, but to think that you are the same as me! Hahaha, it seems that those group of disciples were right! A match made in heaven, hahaha.”

Even being in the Mental nourishing realm Andrea felt her brain strain trying to comprehend what Yasenia just said.

Yasenia looked playfully and seeing the frozen person, she smiled seductively and took one of Andrea’s hands and guide it downwards. Then she pressed it in a certain part, Yasenia tip-toed and whispered huskily “Do you understand now?”

Then, using her tail to caress her spine and licking Andrea’s ears she said “It seems that we are going to have a lot of fun together~”

After touching down there, the frozen Andrea petrified a little more, but after being softened by Yasenia’s whispers, caresses and finally being licked in her ear, the electric sensations brought her back.

She turned Yasenia's face with her hand and kissed her strongly. Yasenia responded by tangling herself like a snake around Andrea and returning her hungry kisses with bites, licks, and some playful sucking.

After a while, Andrea separated and looked down saying with her deep and clear voice "I'm very happy Yasenia. You were the last person I wanted to try having a relationship with, Who would have known..."

Andrea chuckled a little. Then, remembering Yasenia's words at the beginning she asked "By the way, what were you about to tell me?" This time it was Yasenia who froze.

Yasenia separated and looked at Andrea awkwardly 'Crap, I let myself get carried away because it is the first time I meet someone like me!'

She cleared her voice and said, "Well, uh, at first I was also going to say about me having both sexes, but the most important thing is about my Constitution."

Yasenia continues "I already told you that I will be crystal clear about my affairs to my lovers, so I will be blunt. My constitution will rise my lust a lot, I'm feeling it more strongly since my bloodline awakening. In short, I won't only have one lover."

Andrea raised an eyebrow and said "So you are making a harem because of this. And now you are going to tell me that I will have to accept other people being in a relationship with you..."

Yasenia nodded, she was about to continue when Andrea said "Okay, I accept"

Yasenia this time was truly stumped. Did she care so little about her lover having a relationship with other people? Seeing her face Andrea laughed "Don't misunderstand, I am accepting because two reasons. First, the girls or boys, of your harem won't dislike my body because... Well, if they don't mind about yours, they won't about mine, right?"

Yasenia nodded convinced "The second point is that if what you say is true, and I don't doubt you. I rather 'fight' you with the help of others or I will be overwhelmed."

Andrea was a little shy saying the next "Even with this big body of mine... I have very little sexual stamina. I don't want you to become frustrated because of this... "

Yasenia looked at Andrea and then jumped again into her embrace "You are so big yet how can you can be so cute! Ahhh! I like you more and more!"

Yasenia then smiled and tiptoed almost touching their lips, then she sensually said looking at her light green eyes, "Don't worry darling, I will, at most, only make you become addicted to the pleasure I will give you~"

Then she invaded her mouth with her long and soft tongue. Both of them hugged beside the setting sun and explored each other's mouths until the sky became dark...
